Distribution as set up by law is a three-fold apportionment: 62 per cent goes to the trunk highway fund; 29 per cent to the county state aid highway fund; and 9 per cent to the municipal state aid fund, shared by 77 municipalities of 5,000 population and over.

The counties this year will receive $29,496,290 compared to $28,398,346 in 1962. The municipalities will receive $9,154,021 this year compared to $9,037,697 in 1962.

Allotments to other counties in this section of the state include Marshall, $532,767; Red Lake, $180,186; Polk, $724,283; Roseau, $399,767; Kittson, $307,528; Beltrami, $377,239; Clearwater, $265,001; and Mahnomen, $178,151.

'63 Weed and Seed Conference Feb. 7

Township Officers Are Required to Be Present

The annual plant industry conference or weed and seed meeting, for Pennington county has been called for 10:00 a. m. on Thursday, February 7, at the city Auditorium in Thief River Falls. Township officers and mayors or their assistants are required by law to attend this conference. The latest information on chemicals and their proper use in spraying weed infested crops will be given, and methods of control of insect pests and plant diseases will be presented. The procedure to follow in carrying out regulatory duties will also be discussed.

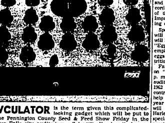
The requirements for selling agricultural seed by dealers, farmers, sales clerks, auctioneers and others will be explained. Information of importance to those who are purchasing seed will be emphasized.

Bray Insurance Company To Meet

Two directors and a member of the board of audit will be elected when the annual meeting of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance company is held Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. in the St. Hilaire school auditorium. Financial report of the company will be given and other business pertaining to the company will be transacted.

Varied Program Promised . . .

Plans Near Completion for Seed & Feed Show



COWCULATOR is the term given this complicated-looking gadget which will be put to use at the Pennington County Seed & Feed Show Friday in the Thief River Falls city auditorium. Scientifically described as a portable electric analogue computer, the suitcase-size machine is designed to make the many calculations required to arrive at a feeding recommendation for an individual cow. One of 12 machines in existence in the United States today, the computer is owned by Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., and will be operated by George Hildre at the show.

Planning is nearing completion for the Sixth Annual Pennington County Seed and Feed show to be held at Thief River Falls on Friday, February 1. A varied program for farmers, homemakers and youth has been arranged, according to Silas Hanson, president of the Pennington County Crop Improvement association, sponsoring organization.

Speaking program of the show will start at 1 p. m. Homemakers will hear a discussion on the topic, "Eggs Around the Clock," and emphasis will be on ways of using eggs in various foods and the nutrition of this product.

Farmers will hear a discussion on "Weed Control in 1963" at 1 p. m. in the basement of the city auditorium. Wet soil conditions in 1962 have resulted in poor weed control and practices which will help to control them for the new year will be aired. Crop varieties will also be discussed with Dr. Harley Otto, extension agronomy specialist at the University of Minnesota, in charge of this part of the program.

Theme of discussion for the Seed and Feed Show this year is Rural Area Development. Two speakers will present information on what RAD is, how it functions and what people and communities can achieve under this program. They will be Ken Egertson, extension economist in marketing, and Helge Nygren, RAD consultant with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Farmers, 4-H'ers, and FFA members will have a chance to exhibit millet, hay, silage, potatoes, grains, grass and legume seeds in various classes of the show. The grain and grass samples can be cleaned — in which case a one-quart sample is needed; they can be bin-run — where one bushel of grain or a peck of legume or grass is shown; or exhibits of certified grain can be shown along with the tag showing certification.

All crop exhibits must be at the city auditorium by 10 a. m. Friday, February 1, or they may be brought to the extension office before the date of the show. Premium money will be paid in all classes.

The homemakers and 4-H'ers are invited to bring baked goods using eggs in the recipe. These can be cakes, cookies, desserts and yeast rolls. There will also be a class where half-dozen eggs will be exhibited. Recipes must accompany the baked goods. Premium money will be paid in each class where entries are received. Exhibits must be brought to the auditoirum at Thief River Falls by 12:30 p. m. on Friday, February 1.

More information on classes of baked good can be secured by calling Miss Laura Duerst, Pennington county home agent, at MU 1-2116.

Residents of Thief River Falls, and rural residents of Marshall, Red Lake and Pennington counties are invited to take part in the

Goddard Reveals Penney Co. Plans for New Store

Morris Goddard

More detailed information on plans for construction of a new J. C. Penny Company department store in Thief River Falls were released today by Morris Goddard, store manager. The new building will be a one-story and basement structure extending 100 feet south on Main Ave. from the Third Street corner, to the Bredeson property. It is expected that the new building will be ready for occupancy in the spring of 1964.

The air conditioned building will have a first floor area of 13,250 square feet and with the basement a total of 20,250 square feet. Parking facilities for 100 automobiles are being provided. Owner of the property will be Milton Swedberg, Detroit Lakes contractor.

Tentative plans call for all sales areas to be on the first floor, according to Mr. Goddard, with a part of the basement used for nonselling functions.

"We are very pleased of course" said Mr. Goddard. "This new store will enable Penney's to offer wider asrortments of merchandise, give better customer service, and more comfortable and convenient shopping facilities to more people in the Thief River Falls shopping area.

"Shopping Penney's at the handsome new store will be a pleasant and rewarding experience. This expansion is evidence of our continued faith in the future of Thief River Falls and Minnesota generally," he stated.

The new Penney's will offer maximum assortments of soft

IOOF, Rebekahs Plan Ceremonies

Joint installation ceremonies for Young Pine Lodge 221 of the Odd Fellows and Lyon Lodge 68 of the Rebekahs will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. in the lodge rooms. Incoming officers will be seated at the ceremonies which are open to the public. Lunch will be served and a dance will follow the installation.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Miller of Grand Forks, N. D. were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Nepper.

Meetings on ASCS Programs Planned

Four Sessions To Air Wheat and Feed Plans

Four educational meetings to explain the USDA 1963 wheat stabilization and feed grain programs have been arranged in Pennington county, according to Patrick W. Culkins, office manager of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. All farmers and the general public are invited to attend these meetings.

Although the sign-up period officially open on February 1 and continues through March 22, Culkins asked the cooperation of producers in not visiting the county office to sign up in the programs until all meetings have been completed.

First session will be held on Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Highlanding hall; second session will be at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Smiley hall; third session will be Tuesday, February 5, at 2 p. m. in the St. Hilaire fire hall; and the final session will be Wednesday, February 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls.

Beg an Egg and Bake a Cake . . .

Women Take Part in Seed-Feed Show

Sixteen lots of baked goods are open for competition at the Sixth Annual Pennington County Seed & Feed Show to be held Friday at the Thief River Falls city auditorium. Homemakers and 4-H club members from Pennington, Red Lake and Marshall counties are invited to enter any of the classes listed in this story.

Emphasis is being placed on eggs and their use in baking. A class for exhibit of six eggs produced from the flock of the exhibitor will also be held but eggs in baked good entries may come from any source. Exhibits must be in place by 12:30 p. m. at the city auditorium or may be brought to the county extension office prior to the show date.

No person can enter more than one article under the same lot number in any case but may enter as many lots as they wish, according to Laura Duerst, Pennington county home agent. Premiums will be awarded in each class.

At 1 p. m. Mrs. Ed Kiland of Red Lake Falls will demonstrate and speak on the topic of "Eggs Around the Clock." The demonstration will show how eggs can be used in a number of ways in addition to their use in baking. All interested persons are invited to attend the open session with an attendance prize to be awarded to one of the ladies attending the event.

Entry Possibilities

Class I will be for one half dozen eggs from the flock of the entrant.

Class II will include six types of cake. Entrants may enter any or all of the lots in this class but may make only one entry per lot. Cakes are to be unfrosted and one third of a cake is enough for entry. If the whole cake is displayed, two-thirds may be taken home after judging. Entries may include Lot 1, angel fod; Lot 2, sponge; Lot 3, sunshine; Lot 4, white or four cupcakes; Lot 5, chiffon; and Lot 6, jelly roll.

Class III will leave room for variety with only four cookies or bars needed for judging. Entries may include Lot 1, brownies, Lot 2, date and nut bar; Lot 3, miscellaneous bars; Lot 4, drop cookies; and Lot 5, miscellaneous cookies.

Class IV is for desserts with Lot 1 including three cream puffs without filling and Lot 2 including baked custard (one custard cup is enough).

Class V is for yeast rolls with only three rolls being needed for entry. Lot 1 will be for white dinner rolls, Lot 2 for dark dinner rolls and Lot 3 for sweet rolls.

City Gets $36,073 State Road Funds

The city of Thief River Falls today was notified that $36,073 has been allotted as its share of the state collected road user funds for fiscal 1963 by the Minnesota highway department in St. Paul.

Gross funds available of $9,368,975 less $187,859 for administrative account, disaster account and research account makes $9,451,125 net available for municipal state aid street fund use to be distributed among the 77 municipalities of 5,000 population or over.

Of this city's share $8,445 is for maintenance and $27,628 for construction.

Allotments to other cities in this area include Crookston, $42,331; Bemidji, $55,609; Detroit Lakes, $22,502; East Grand Forks, $21,094.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. JAMES ANDERSON

In the recipe for (butter) tarts featured last Monday, we neglected to give the traditional Canadian method of preparation of these toothsome dainties. This, incidentally, is the method used by Mrs. Anderson, and one which has won her a measure of fame as a baker.

The pastry dough, the recipe for which was given in part two last week, is rolled thin and circles cut from it large enough to line a muffin or tart tin to the top. Into each lined cup, spoon enough of the filling described in part one to fill the cup half full. (The fruit may be left whole). (This method is far simpler than the one described last week and is the one used in the shops that turn out this delicacy in the country to the north of us.) Do not cover. Bake in a hot oven, from 375 to 400 degrees, depending on your own individual oven. Watch the tarts carefully, and when just golden brown, remove from the oven. This usually takes about 10 minutes baking time.

Anyone missing the original recipe ingredients refer to the Karnival of Monday, January 21, or call MU 1-3308, evenings, for the details.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Laura Duerst

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Wool is the one fabric that permits you to restore a garment by shrinking-in the excess fullness resulting from wear regardless of garment.

To shrink in a trouser knee, first lay the trouser leg on the ironing board with the front crease facing upward. Put the wool press colth on top of the fabric. Lay the dry press cloth on top and steam until fullness has disappeared, checking progress at intervals.

The same procedure is followed to remove wrinkles at the crotch and top of trousers. Linings of the pocket must be smooth to prevent visible impression lines.

To press a sharp crease, start with the left leg, inside seam up, waist of the trousers to the left. Use two press cloths for protection. Steam press sharp crease, moving the iron toward the front of the trouser leg.

Hang trousers full length to dry thoroughly. One convenient form of hanger has clamps to hold the waistband flat, allowing the legs to fall naturally to maintain the creases. An efficient substitute is a wire coat hanger and clothes pins or safety pins.

Remember the Seed and Feed Show on Friday, February 1, in the Thief River Falls city auditorium. Everyone can take part even if they don't live on the farm. Any homemaker can bring in exhibits in any of the various lots — cake, cookies, dessert and bread. Premiums will be paid to the winners.

Also at 1 p. m. Friday, February 1, in the city auditorium there will be demonstration on uses of eggs in the diet. Homemakers will also have an opportunity to register for a door prize which will be given away at 1:30 p. m.

These honors were won in competition with the company's 250 sales representatives throughout the country.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

90,425 books were carried out of your library last year. (Fortunately, most of them were returned!) 2,815 tots toted home 42,510 of those volumes and all of the youngsters are registered borrowers at their public library. They are learning, early in life, to utilize the advantages placed before them They are developing a habit they will carry with them all their years — a good habit, a worthy habit — the habitual use of the interesting volumes placed on the shelves of their library for their individual pursual.

And, speaking of volumes — more new ones to crowd the shelves of Carnegie run the gamut of authors and subject matter.

Take down Harry and Bonaro Overstreet's latest co-effort "The Iron Curtain" and you'll learn what the Communists are walling in and walling out. You'll learn, for instance, how Khrushchev proposes to deal with his perennial source of headache — the agricultural problem. The Overstreets believe it is high time for totalitarian Communism to be confronted not by random questions and expostulations but by informed and tenacious demand that it "show cause" for its need to operate behind a barrier of electrified barbed wire, mine fields, guard towers, jamming stations, press censorship and travel restrictions". If there is a question in your mind such as, "What is the Iron Curtain?" you will find it extremely well answered in "The Iron Curtain".

Those who thoroughly enjoy leading a sophisticated life (as long as it is somebody else's life they're leading) will be pleased to note the arrival of Ludvig Bemelmans' "The Street Where the Heart Lies". Only the avid followers of his works whether the author's word or the artist's brush, are truly able to judge his artistry. Mr. Bemelmans wrote 25 books for adults and nearly that many for children. For those who have not yet had the pleasure of meeting a Bemelamans character, his newest novel, published posthumously, is an excellent way to get acquainted.

"I Take This Land" by Richard Powell is a fictional history of the Florida Everglades country in the frontier days of 1895 to 1946. There is violence and tenderness; there is the love of the land and the love of a lady, (a lady as untamed and wildly beautiful as the Big Cypress swamp country where she had her beginning). There is just about everything in this new novel because, according to the author "It is a story of people being magnificently and maddeningly human, wise and foolish, humble and proud, gentle and violent, triumphant and tragic. . ".

Short story devotees will rush to borrow "Raise High the Roof Beam, Carpenters" bound together with "Seymour, An Introduction" by J. D. Salinger. These are more about the Glass family.

Then there's "That Summer in Paris", and you remember with Morley Callaghan as you turn the pages. You'll meet yet another side of Hemingway, a different F. Scott Fitzgerald and you'll be introduced to others — Sylvia Beach, Robert McAlmon, Maxwell Perkins — and you'll see James Joyce and Sinclair Lewis, too. There are many interesting insights into the life of the characters and many interesting sidelights of the lives they led.

Plummer Nursing Student Will Be Capped Tuesday

Ruth Howard of Plummer will receive her cap from the Crookston School of Practical Nursing at a candlelight ceremony Tuesday, Feb. 5, at 8 p. m. at First Presbyterian Church in Crookston.

Times Editor Reports on Northwestern Hospital

During my recent spying mission to Northwestern Hospital I saw little of my doctor. He listened attentively to my diagnosis of what was wrong with me. I was full of symptoms. I was the patient but he obviously was trying to be patient too. As I paused for the third time to catch my breath he mumbled a few instructions to his subordinates by whom I was surrounded. At that point the doctor passed out of my life and I lost all of my constitutional rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

During the two days of my captivity, while I didn't see much of my doctor, I am beginning to suspect that my doctor saw a great deal of me. He saw me not as the handsome and vibrant young fellow that I am, but rather as a composite of muscles and cells and organs and bones — and possibly some fat — that are in the natural process of deterioration that sometimes is attributed to advancing years. With the help of a lot of eager nurses and technicians, the doctor I am sure, saw very much of me.

Some of us who are approaching middle age, and have a pleasant recollection of the friendly family doctor who came to our homes just as fast as the old mare would bring him, are inclined to resent the lack of interest in our personal affairs shown by the modern doctor. It is natural to wonder if the change is for better or for worse. I have come to the conclusion, somewhat reluctantly, that the change is much more good than bad.

Modern medicine is not yet a hundred years old. A hundred years ago Louis Pasteur, a chemist, was fighting a losing battle with the learned men of medicine over his revolutionary ideas about bacteria. The old-time family doctors of that period knew that Pasteur's ideas about bacteria were silly. None of them had ever seen a germ.

Well, we now are living in an age of advanced pasteurization. Year by year we are learning more about the invisible colonies of germs that establish themselves in our bodies and naturally seek to advance their own best interests. It is an interesting struggle for survival, a battle which we, as individuals, will of course lose. But we are making progress in improving the conditions of living while we are living, that make for more interesting lives, and that is a long step forward.

Looking back upon my two days of captivity, I become less resentful when I consider that not only did my own doctor see more of me, thru tests and peltures and charts, but the evidence was also examined by a specialist or two, and if there was occasion for doubt, many specialists were available on short notice.

The old time family doctor deserves our respect and sincere thanks. He performed miracles in medicine and surgery in an era of experimental progress. The era of trial and error probably will continue indefinitely. We never will be sure of all of the answers, and experiment is essential to progress. But it is a fact that the old time family doctor no longer is — he was — and possibly, in his passing, we have lost some things that cannot be replaced.

For the more fortunate of the old time doctors there was available an old time hospital, which also served a very worth-while purpose. The hospital facilities were limited, but they were far superior to the facilities that were available in the average home. When such facilities were available only the very sick were hospitalized, and too often the old hospital was looked upon as a place where people went to die. In the field of hospitalization, as in the field of medicine, there has been remarkable progress in a comparatively short time.

And so, having occasion to reflect upon the changes that are in the making at Northwestern Hospital, the two days that I wasted there recently were quite interesting, in spite of the tasteless, fat-free diet menu. The new Northwestern is going to be a very modern small-town hospital, making available services that generally are provided only in larger centers of population. It will be distinctive for the variety of health services it will make available.

With the completion of the new addition, Northwestern will have facilities to provide five elements or areas of patient care. A sixth type, which is in the planning stage, would be a home care program for persons who would not have to be hospitalized but could be given supervised service in their own homes.

The expanded facilities will include a six-bed unit for the critically ill who require extensive and constant care and observation. For general acute care, facilities for both adult and pediatric, medical and surgical patients, including maternity, the present hospital rooms would be available. The average stay for patients in this general care area would be six or seven days.

Chronic and rehabilitation care will be provided for in the new unit and will be available for patients hospitalized for relatively long periods. Physical and occupational therapy is already being administered in the present hospital and better facilities will be available in the new unit for this new type of health service that has proven itself to be very effective.

In this field outpatient and day care is now being provided for ambulatory patients, making the services available to larger numbers at lower costs.

One important addition to the facilities in the expanded hospital will be an enlarged x-ray department. New equipment will be included to provide services that are not now possible locally. Some of the equipment to be installed in this department is quite new in the field of radiology and is available only in the larger medical centers.

Maybe I am getting a little too enthusiastic about the health center program that is in the making so I will bow out for a cooling-off period. I am satisfied that the new Northwestern is going to be one of the best hospitals in outstate Minnesota. When a fellow needs good medical care and good hospital care it is comforting to know that good care is available.

SPREADING INTEREST AMONG MORE POEPLE is the attempt being made by the Pennington County Crop Improvement association for the Sixth Annual Seed & Feed Show to be held Friday at the Thief River Falls city auditorium. Each year a new subject is discussed at the show, and this year the attention is directed toward the Rural Areas Development (RAD) program.

In addition to the competitive crop show for grain and grass seed, there will be competition among homemakers in baking classes where eggs are important parts of the recipes used. A class for exhibits of a half-dozen eggs is also being arranged.

A significant part of the event this year will be the participation of various segments of the dairy industry. Competitive portions of the industry as well as those which complement others are cooperating in a large display. Featured in booths will be the manner in which each group serves its area of the industry and contributes toward the total goal of progress.

This one-day show will be of major importance for farmers to attend and merits the support of city folks as well. Noted speakers will discuss the RAD program to give the public a better understanding of its aims and purposes. An indication as to what the program can do will also be given.

The Seed and Feed Show is one of a number of agricultural promotions which take place in Thief River Falls each year. Combined with Dairy Day, county fair, Top of the Nation Dairy Sale, Purebred Ram Sale, 4-H banquet, Agri-Business Day and other events, the Seed & Feed Show is a tribute to this agricultural community.

This is the time of year when income tax is given more criticism than at any other time. This method of extracting revenue from the public for the operation of government first came into being 48 years ago. At that time a married man earning $5,000 a year paid $10 in taxes. The rate was one per cent with the first $4,000 exempt. The man earning $20,000 to $50,000 paid two per cent and the tax on income of $500,000 was $25,020.

Now consider the present burden of income taxes on the public, and the much-depleted value of the dollar. A married man with $5,000 income now pays $1,020 and the man who earns $500,000 pays $404,640. Just how far can we go to reach the saturation point?

Here is an interesting observation: "Pants are made for men and not women. Women are made for men and not pants. When a man pants for a woman, and a woman pants for a man, that's a pair of pants. Such pants do not always last, and then there are breeches of promise. This often turns into a suit—and that's a suit with two pair of pants."

Mrs. Jaycees To Sponsor Film on Cystic Fibrosis

"Pied Piper" Will Be Shown Tonight; Public Inivted To View Film

As a local portion of a state wide project, the Thief River Falls chapter of the Mrs. Jaycees will sponsor a film on Cystic Fibrosis at 8:30 p. m. today in the meeting room of the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls. "Pied Piper" is the title of the film to be shown.

Support of research in the cause and cure of Cystic Fibrosis is a state-wide project of the Mrs. Jaycees in Minnesota and the local chapter has participated to a large extent. Testing kit to detect the disease was contributed to Northwestern Hospital and cash contributions have been made for research through the state organization.

The disease is one of infants and children which affects mainly the lungs and pancreas. It is estimated to affect one out of every 600 live births. Ten years ago the average life span of these children after diagnosis was one year; now it is eight years with an increasing number reaching their 20's.

Because of an inherited chemical disorder in the body, the symptoms of this disease are many and varied. The presence of abnormal mucus causes the child to wheeze and cough. The pancreas fails to deliver the normal digestive juices to the small intestine, causing the children to often eat ravenously and yet not gain weight. Perspiration is also abnormal as are the saliva and tears.

Research is now being conducted in more than 13 centers through the country. Persons interested in finding out more about the disease are urged to attend the public showing of the "Pied Piper" film this evening.

Homemakers Meet at Gatzke Friday

Marshall Group to Meet at Clarence Lian Home

How many hours a day to you spend in an apron? If you wear an apron, did you realize how much it contributes to your everyday appearance?

The February lesson topic for the Marshall County home program will be "Aprons", reports Marshall County Home Agent, Sandra Sarnnen.

The lesson training schedule is as follows, with each lesson beginning at 1:30 p. m.:

Friday, February 1, Clarence Lian farm, Gatzke; February 5, Filtration plant, Stephen; February 15, city auditorium, Warren; and February 18, Sportsman Club, Holt.

Included in the lesson will be a discusion of the various types of aprons for the many work and festive occasions.

Because the favorite apron is often the most practical apron, there will be discussion of practical apron fabrics and some new ideas for apron choices.

To conclude the lesson there will be construction techniques and tips.

Muzzy Cow Has High Production As 2-Year Old

Daleford Comre Darleen, a 2-year-old Holstein owned by James R. Muzzy of Thief River Falls, produced 14,300 pounds of milk and 558 pounds of butterfat in 305 days, according to official figures released by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Waistel Ila Fanny Star, a 4-year-old Holstein owned by Warren Gast of Beltrami produced 18,300 pounds of milk and 556 pounds of butterfat in 304 days. The production figures compare to an annual output of 7,211 pounds of milk and 270 pounds of butterfat by the average U. S. dairy cow, the association reports.

The University of Minnesota supervised the weighing and testing of the Holstein records as part of the breed's nation-walde herd testing programs.

MET AUDITIONS BECKON UPPER MIDWEST VOCALISTS

The annual opportunity for Upper Midwest vocalists to "make the Met" is scheduled for Northrop Auditorium, U of M, Minneapolis, February 21 and 22, with many lesser but very substantial awards other than the possible contact with the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York, where national finals will determine the over-all winner. Contestants, male or female 19 to 35, from all of Minnesota and western Wisconsin, will compete Thursday, February 21. The local winner meets winners from other sub-regional contests the following day, Friday the 22nd. Finalist in this event is awarded $300 cash and a fully paid trip to the national semi-finals in New York, where scholarships amounting to $8,000 or more, besides the possibility of singing with the Met, will reward the winners. Details are available from Opera Auditions, 109 Northrop Auditorium, Minneapolis 14.

Balanced Budget for State Hinges on Cut in U.S. Income Taxes

Gov. Elmer L. Andersen conceded Thursday that if the federal government does not cut taxes by April, the legislature would have to re-appraise the estimates he submitted Wednesday to balance his recommended $673 million budget for 1963-65.

The governor estimated the state would receive an additional $23 million in state income taxes —and possibly as much as $30 million— if Congress approves the president's recommendation for a federal tax cut.

The $23 million, together with anticipated $78 million additional revenue from economic growth, would balance Andersen's budget that calls for $101 million more than was appropriated two years ago.

After the governor finished presenting his budget to a joint session of the Senate and House, conservative Sen. Donald O. Wright of Minneapolis, chairman of the important tax committee, said he thought the "assumption of an additional $23 million is unwarranted." He also said the rate of economic growth expected by the governor is "nebulous".

"I believe Congress will not accomplish a federal tax cut while the legislature is in session nor for a long time thereafter — and there might be no actual cut," Wright said.

Andersen, asked his reaction to Wright's comment, said:

"Of course we'll have to see what the situation is in April when final determinations are made. If Congress has not acted by that time the legislature cannot rely on it.

"Revised estimates are made from month to month so the figures will have to be reapprised.

"The President said the tax cuts would be made. Congressional leaders are determined to reduce taxes. All we can do is to wait until April."

The state gets more income taxes when federal taxes are lower because state taxpayers get smaller deductions of federal income taxes paid.

Conservative leaders generally lauded the governor's message. Among them were Rep. Roy Dunn of Pelican Rapids, chairman of the House Tax Committee; House Speaker Lloyd Duxbury of Caledonia; majority House leader Aubrey Dirlam of Redwood Falls, and Rep. Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle, chairman of the House appropriations committee.

Liberal legislators and the chairman of the Democratic - Farmer - Labor party criticized the governor's message.

lines and some housewares, according to Mr. Goddard. The interior of the store will be bright and airy, highlighting modern colors favored today by people for their homes. Entire interior will have modern fluorescent lighting and items of special interest will be spotlighted to emphasize color and detail.

Directional signs and department marks will be utilized to pinpoint the location of merchandise. Straight, wide aisles will permit customers to shop the entire store in a single visit. High ceilings will add to the effect of spaciousness.

A team of hand-picked authorities on major legislation will conduct the Aircade meeting — one of 15 such sessions being held in 15 major cities across the nation. The group will travel by chartered plane to each city and will include Ladd Plumley, president of the National Chamber of Commerce, and Arch N. Booth, national executive vice president of the organization. Booth will serve as discussion leader, assuring that discussions will stay "on track", that no questions are glossed over and that a fast-paced tempo is maintained.

Registration blanks have been mailed to a number of Chamber of Commerce members and other interested persons in the area. The committee has requested that the blanks be returned by Tuesday.

Change Adopted

One change for the 1963 show was adopted at the meeting upon the suggestion of Andy Erickson of Badger. This year a county unit system will be used for placement of animals at the display area rather than a breed unit system. It was believed that this would provide a more orderly show and allow youngsters with more than one animal a better opportunity to care for it.

Also discussed but tabled for board recommendation were possibilities of incentive awards for contestants to show advanced animals and different arrangement in the parade of champions.

Conlon asked the association to avoid possible conflict within the region by purchasing the registered calf to be given away from a breeder outside of the region. Nearly all regions in the state have adopted this practice. He also asked more time for individual judging in the princess contest upon the recommendation of judges in previous years.

show and speaking program and also to bring in exhibits.

The dairy industry is combining its promotional efforts and will have nine displays. In addition cow calculator will be available to farmers who want to check on whether they are underfeeding or over feeding their cows. Any farmers wanting to do this are urged to pick up forms in the extension office, which need to be completed in order to put the right information into the machine on the cow in question.

5 Auto Mishaps In City Cause $705 in Damage

Nine Vehicles Damaged, One Citation Issued by Police Department

Five traffic accidents were investigated by Thief River Falls police during the past several days with damage estimates totaling $705 to nine of the ten cars involved in the mishaps. One citation was issued by the department.

At 1:50 p. m. Thursday a car driven by Mrs. Ruth Kortuem, city, was traveling south in the alley between Main and LaBree avenues and First and Second streets when struck by a car driven by Harold Arneson, city, leaving the west exit of the post office parking lot. Damage was estimated at $75 to the Kortuem car and $45 to the Arneson vehicle.

At 5:25 p. m. on Friday a car driven north on Arnold avenue by Ernest Helgenset, rt. 1, TRF, was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Bebe Waale, city, and traveling east on Fourth street. About $85 damage was done to the Helgenset car and none to the Waale vehicle.

At 1:30 p. m. on Saturday, a car driven by John L. Larson, rt. 3, TRF, was traveling south in the alley between Main and Knight avenues and Second and Third streets and was about to enter Second street when struck by a car driven by Mrs. Celaine Votava, city, traveling west on Second street. Damage estimates were $45 to the Larson car and $5 to the Votava car.

At 3:40 p. m. the same day a car driven by Floyd Holzknecht, city, was going south on LaBree avenue near Northwestern hospital when it hit a car owned by Clarence Wangsnes, city, and parked on the east side of the street. Holzknecht told police he swerved to avoid hitting a car pulling out of a parking space on the est side of the street. Damage was estimated at $125 to each car with Holzknecht tagged for driving too fast for conditions.

At 9:40 a. m. Sunday, a car driven by Angelo Rulli, St. Paul, was backing from a parking space on Horace avenue near Third street when struck by a car driven by Ralph T. Hunt, city, making a right turn on Horace avenue from Third street. About $75 damage was done to the Rulli car and $125 to the Hunt vehicle.

Soo Line Has Big Gain in Net Income

Railroad Company Earns $3,100,000 During 1962

The Soo Line Railroad Co. reported that its 1962 revenues rose to $80,384,470 from $74,992,428 in 1961.

Net income in 1962 was $3,100,063, compared with $663,651 in 1961. Per share earnings were $2.45, up from 52 cents.

An important factor in the increase was an improved crop picture in the North Dakota territory served by the Soo Line, but other aspects of the railroad's business also were improved.

The company also said it achieved greater operating efficiency during 1962.

December revenues were $5,899,998, up from $5,277,478 the previous year. The company had a loss of $414,471 in December, down from a loss of $722,776 the previous December.

NFO Meet Scheduled At Goodridge Wed.

An organizational meeting of the National Farmers Organization will be held Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Goodridge high school agriculture room. Local NFO members also invite the public to listen to a taped interview with Ed Pudwell and Robert Gundy, Hibbing, on the Tuesday "Community Speaks" program at 7:05 p.m. on radio station KTRF.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson
Manager Chamber of Commerce

At this time of year we all realize that freedom costs us a great deal of our personal income here in the United States. Federal, state and local taxes are all high at the present time and we can feel it. Our first temptation is to complain and that is perfectly human and natural. Perhaps some of us might even take the trouble to try to do something about it. That isn't quite so natural because many of us are complacent or we feel that there is nothing we can do about it anyway. If we do try to do something about it, however, we should keep a few American values in mind.

You will notice that even locally when people desire to cut their tax bill, the first place they try to cut is where they have the most impact — at home. The further away the government gets, the less people seem to try to do for themselves by calling for economy or efficiency in government. This is ironic. It is ironic because the closer you get to home, the more value we get locally for our tax dollar spent.

It is too serious to call it humorous, but have you noticed that people will vote negatively for a local necessity and yet will not say a word when Uncle Sam increases their annual Social Security bill by $24 per year? People refuse to build libraries and schoolhouses to educate their own people and yet scarcely react at all when the state governor and the President of the United States propose phenomenal budgets and do not even try to figure out a method of paying for them. Where is our sense of values and principles? It is questionnable whether or not we still have any.

The very reason why many of our state and federal budget requests have come to be is simply because people on a local city, county or school district level have failed to meet their responsibilities. Therefore, the politicians on higher echelons who see the needs not being satisfied locally then propose that their respective body of government come to the rescue. This is very noble of them except that we pay the bill and when the money has to run the circle through their departments the brokerage fees seems to run a little high. We also digress from the great American principle of keeping government as local as possible.

So it is not out of line for all of us to keep in mind that America was designed to follow a certain type of organizational plan. Each segment of that organization has certain responsibilities that should be met. If they are met at every level, then things keep pretty well in line and in balance. We should take care of our local obligations from now on here in Thief River Falls and take it upon ourselves to write letters, talk to others, etc., and call for economy measures at state and national levels as well.

Economy is an automatic thing when you Shop and Trade Where Bargains are Made — Here in the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

Wm. Rupprecht, 84 Dies January 24; Rites Wednesday

William Rupprecht, since 1925 a resident of this community, passed away on Thursday afternoon, January 24, at Northwestern hospital at the age of 84.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon, January 30 at 2 p. m. at the Green Funeral Chapel. Rev. A. C. Seltz will officiate, and burial will be made in Greenwood cemetery. The body will lie in state at the Green Funeral Home from tonight until time of the services on Wednesday.

Mr. Rupprecht was born April 1, 1878, at Hustisford, Wis. He moved with his parents to Mountville, Sibley County, Minnesota, when he was three years old. He attended school and grew to manhood there. At the age of 18 he moved with his parents to Excel township, Marshall county, where he farmed with them until 1907 when he moved to Montana. He homesteaded there and made his home in that state until 1925, at which time he moved to Thief River Falls. He was a member of St. John Lutheran church here.

Surviving him are one sister, Otillia (Mrs. Arthur Simonson) of Thief River Falls, and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by five brothers.

Soren Nygaard, 75, Former Area Man, Dies At Bemidji

Soren Nygaard, 75, a brother of Mrs. Bertha Fladeland of this city, and an area resident from 1917 to 1954, died unexpectedly at his home in Bemidji early Saturday morning, January 26.

Funeral services will be held at the Olson Funeral Home in Bemidji Wednesday morning, January 30, at 10:30 a. m. Burial will be made in Evergreen cemetery at Bay Falls, Minn.

Mr. Nygaard farmed in the Grygla area from 1917 until 1954. He is survived by his wife, two sons, one daughter, six grandchildren, three brothers, and two sisters.

A complete obituary will appear in a later edition of the Times.

Local Insurance Officers Attend State Meeting

Paul Thyren, president, and Edgar A. Naplin, secretary of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance company, will be among 700 delegates representing 150 Minnesota Farmers Township Mutual fire insurance companies at the 68th annual convention February 7 and 8 in Minneapolis.

Dr. Frank Ramsey, head pathologist at Iowa State University at Ames, will address the delegates on his research into lightning damage to livestock. Judy Lerstad, Miss Minnesota, will make an appearance at the Thursday evening banquet and play the saxophone number used as her talent entry in the state pageant.

Ag College Graduates Get Many Job Offers

A greater proportion of agriculture graduates from the University of Minnesota are now entering commercial employment, compared to five years ago.

Paul S. Anderson, placement director for the College of Agriculture, Forestry and Home Economics, reports that of all 1958-1961 placements of agriculture graduates, 60 per cent were in commercial positions and 40 per cent were in public agencies.

By comparison, only 37 per cent of the placements were commercial from 1951-57.

One reason for this change, according to Anderson, is increased interest in graduates with agricultural training among a wider variety of commercial firms. The placement service now maintains contact with about 500 different firms — nearly ten times as many as five years ago.

Starting salaries paid by commerical firms to agriculture graduates have risen until they are now about on a par with those paid by public agencies. For example, accepted offers of graduates in 1961 and 1962 averaged about $5,600 per year for both commercial and public agency positions.

Five years ago, starting salaries paid to Minnesota graduates in agriculture by commercial firms averaged around $4,200 annually, which was then some $400 below public agencies.

In spite of the increased importance of commercial positions, Anderson says the opportunities in public service will remain stable. One trend in public agencies is toward a greater percentage of opportunities in regulatory positions, compared to educational and service openings.

Of all commercial placements from 1958-61, slightly more than half were in technical positions and the rest were fairly evenly divided between management and sales. Of the public agency placements, about three-fourths were in education and teaching and the rest were technical.

Not all agriculture graduates receive positions through the placement service. From 1958-61, about 8 per cent entered the armed services upon graduation and about 10 per cent returned to farms as owners or tenants. About 12 per cent of the graduates have entered graduate school, including veterinary medicine.

Radio Free Europe Expands Its Drive on Communism

Radio Free Europe has added four new curtain antennas — an important addition to its arsenal for combating Communism in the Iron Curtain countries, it was announced today by Arnulf Ueland, Minnesota RFE chairman.

The antennas, installed at the RFE short-wave transmitter site in Portugal, will radiate signals twice as powerful as those produced by the antennas used previously and will help overcome Communist jamming, it was explained.

Radio Free Europe, supported by the contributions from the American people, serves as a free press in exile for its target countries, providing a broadcasting service of 18 hours a day to Poland, Hungary, and Czechoslovakia and five hours daily to Bulgaria and Romania.

Bancorporation Earnings Hit Peak

Member Bank Deposits Over $2 Billion Dec. 31

Northwest Bancorporation, affiliated banks and companies advanced to new highs in consolidated net operating earnings, loans and deposits in 1962, it was announced Tuesday.

Consolidated net operating earnings amounted to $16,400,092 in 1962, up from $16,260,530 reported for the prior year.

Gross operating earnings amounted to $105,596,932, up 9.1 per cent from $96,778,118 reported for last year. The increase reflects higher levels of loans and securities during the year, together with increased interest yields on securities. Loan interest yields were about the same as last year.

Total expenses rose to $73,292,817, up 14.8 per cent from $63,845,752 in 1961, a 45 per cent increase in interest costs being the major factor. Such increase reflects the higher rates paid on savings deposits during the year, together with sharp increases in those deposits.

Loans at December 31, 1962, amounted to $1,153,281,271, an all-time high and up $125,537,263, or 12.2 per cent from $1,027,744,008 at the end of th eprevious year.

Total consolidated deposits at December 31, 1962, after elimination of inter-bank deposits, reached a record high of $2,166,947,233, up from $1,955,193,464 a year ago. Time deposits contributed $178,870,499 of this increase, amounting to $715,445,844 at year-end.

U.S. Income Tax Booklet Offered

Available at Internal Revenue Office, St. Paul

George O. Lethert, district director of internal revenue in St. Paul, announced that the 1963 edition of "Your Federal Income Tax" is now available at the St. Paul office.

The new 144-page 1963 edition of the "Internal Revenue Service's Perennial best seller", which sold 3,000 copies in the St. Paul district last year, is designed primarily to help individual taxpayers prepare their 1962 federal income tax returns. It explains in plain, everyday language such important subjects as filing your return, exemptions for dependents, joint tax returns, using your home in your work and nontaxable sick pay, to name a few.

It also explains important changes in tax laws which will affect 1963 returns for such items as travel, entertainment and business gifts. The rules for these items have been modified, however, since the booklet was printed. The revised rules have been published in internal revenue service document No. 5049, Business Travel, Entertainment and Gifts, which is available free of charge at the St. Paul office.

You may obtain your copy of the 1963 edition for 40 cents at the tax information office in the post-office building, St. Paul. Document No. 5049 is also available upon request.

ON TOUR in this area to show modern trends in agriculture and family living was a mobile trailer sponsored by International Minerals company. Local arrangements were made by the Northland Chemical company of East Grand Forks and its warehouse managers at Thief River Falls, Stephen, Minot and Moorhead. Shown at one of the trailer tours, left to right, are Andrew Skaar and Olaf Jorde, area farmers; Carmen Syvertson, vice president of Northland Chemical company; Earl Gjernes, local warehouse manager; Mrs. Cathy Waggoner, tour guide; Leonard Skaar, area farmer; and Ray Waggoner, tour guide. The mobile unit visited the following farms while in this area. Torkel Ose, Herman Christopherson, Bert Vigen and Stenseth Bros., TRF; W. W. Turgeon, Jerome Turgeon and O. A. Baschand, Brooks; Otto Johnson, Oklee; Steiger Farms, Edgar Naplin and Don Schirrick, Red Lake Falls. The unit will return to this area in March.

Concordia College Is Given $25,000 for Hall of Music

The Kresge Foundation of Detroit, Michigan, has authorized a grant of $25,000 towards the Hvidsten Hall of Music, Dr. J. L. Knutson, president of Concordia College, Moorhead, has announced.

It is conditional upon the college raising all but the last $25,000 of the cost of the new music hall, according to Mr. Amos F. Gregory, secretary of the Kresge Foundation.

"For this reason," Dr. Knutson emphasized, "we must make every effort to bring this fund-raising effort to a successful conclusion by June 1, 1963, which is the deadline set by the Kresge Foundation.

"We are confident that our many friends will bring this special effort to a successful close by the June 1 deadline so the college may accept this magnificent gift."

State's Top Young Conservationist to Be Recognized

Minnesota's top young conservationist will be honored this spring —as soon as he is located.

The search is now on for a hard-working youth who practices as well as preaches conservation. When he is found — through a state-wide contest now getting underway — he will be feted in special ceremonies at the Northwest Boat, Sports and Travel Show at the Minneapolis Auditorium, March 29 to April 7.

Being sought is the Minnesota boy 12 to 21 years old, who has done the most to further conservation, promote sportsmanship and aid wildlife. Tree planting, soil and water conservation, protection of song and game birds, school essays and talks are among achievements desired.

The boy selected will receive the eighth annual Frank Blair Junior Conservation Achievement trophy at the Sports Show on April 6.

Application blanks are now being mailed county agents, FFA advisors, and state Schools of Agriculture. Blanks may also be obtained by writing Northwest Sports Show, 409 Times Building, Minneapolis 1, Minn.

Enrollment up at Moorhead State

A total student enrollment of 2,312 at Moorhead State College for the winter quarter represents an increase of 429 over the enrollment for the same quarter a year ago, Dr. Robert H. Hanson, registrar, announced this week.

Total enrollment for the winter quarter last year was 1,883.

On-campus enrollment for the winter quarter this year is listed at 2,097, compared with a total last year of 1,765. Off-campus enrollment is 215 this year, compared with 118 last year.

Auto Income Tax Deductions Given

Car Registration Tax and State Gas Tax Deductible

Car owners who fret over the high cost of running an automobile have one consolation — some of their expenses are deductible for federal income tax purposes, according to the Minnesota AAA.

Taxpayers who itemize deductions may deduct the following even if the car is used solely for personal, non-business purposes:

1. Automobile registration fees.
2. State gasoline taxes (5 cents per gallon in Minnesota).
3. Interest on money borrowed on the security of an automobile.
4. Losses not covered by insurance resulting from fire, storm or theft or accident provided the accident was not the result of the taxpayer's willful act or negligence, such as drunken driving.

If the car is used for business as well as personal purposes, the AAA says many other deductions are available. The taxpayer must make an honest and fair evaluation of the extent to which the car is used for business use.

A leaflet giving details, including new rules on depreciation, is available from the AAA on request.

Citrus Fruit Needed to Supply Vitamin C

In spite of rising prices, citrus fruits and juices are still your best buy for the vitamin C you need each day.

Extension nutritionists at the University of Minnesota explain that vitamin C is needed by every cell in the body, and since it cannot be stored, a new supply is required daily for optimum health and vitality. Vitamin C is essential for healthy gums and strong blood vessels. It helps build sound bones and teeth, aids in building resistance to many infections and helps in the healing of bruises and wounds.

Citrus fruits are the best natural source of this essential vitamin. A large orange or 6 ounces (¾ cup) of orange juice, whether it is fresh, canned or reconstituted frozen concentrate, will provide the recommended allowances of vitamin C for the adult. Half a large fresh grapefruit or 6 ounces of grapefruit juice will provide slightly less vitamin C but will contribute substantially to daily needs.

Best vegetable sources of vitamin C are broccoli and green peppers. Raw cabbage is a fair source. Although tomato juice is also a fair source, it will take twice as much tomato juice as orange juice to provide the same amount of vitamin C.

A comparison of prices of the amount of foods needed to meet vitamin C requirements shows that canned grapefruit juice, canned orange juice and reconstituted orange juice concentrate are still the cheapest sources of vitamin C, the University nutritionists said.

Here are some comparative costs of foods, based on average retail prices in early January, with amounts needed to meet adult vitamin C requirements: 6 ounces canned grapefruit juice, $.03; 6 ounces canned orange juice, $.045; 6 ounces reconstituted orange juice, $.06; 6 ounces fresh orange juice, $.105; 8 ounces canned grapefruit sections, $.11; 15 ounces canned tomato juice, $.09; 12 ounces canned tomatoes, $.12; 8 ounces fresh cabbage, $.08.

Families with home-canned tomatoes and tomato juice have, of course, a low-cost source of vitamin C.

PIG GROWER

Looking for top results in Hog Production? Here are some marks to shoot at:

1. A pound of pork for 3 pounds of feed.
2. A 230 pound pig on the market in 4½ months.
3. Pork produced for 8½c to 10c feed cost per pound.

These are results being achieved by good management today. Dakota Maid Pig Grower will help you do it.

Dakota Maid Pig Grower is made up of barley with the necessary supplement added to provide a 14% balanced, pelleted ration.

College testing has demonstrated that pelleting will provide 15% to 20% greater feed efficiency than ground feed, similarly supplemented. Why is this?

The pig finds pellets highly palatable. He will eat more of them. When the feed is finely ground and then pelleted, it becomes more readily digestible. So much for the pigs . . . now for the farmer.

Why are pellets advantageous? They are labor savers, no need to spend time grinding and mixing feed. (It is a dirty job anyway.) They lend themselves to easy and economical handling in bulk, with practically no waste. They assure him of a ready source of highly nutritious feed at all times.

Comparing the Costs

The school board proceedings published in the Thusday issue of the Times contained figures on school taxes levied here and the per pupil unit maintenance and capital outlay costs of our district, and comparative figures in a number of other cities thruout the state. The board is to be commended for making these comparative figures available and thereby inviting public discussion of such matters.

The really important figures for comparison purposes are those covering the maintenance costs per pupil-unit. Maintenance costs include all of the operating expenses of the district except transportattion. It does not include capital expenditures and debt service costs.

The pupil-unit deals with enrollment in terms of state aid. A kindergarten pupil is rated one-half a pupil-unit. Elementary upils are rated one pupil-unit and junior and senior high school students are rated one-and one-half pupil-units. Under this formulla the state pays half again as much aid for high school pupils as for grade pupils, and twice as much for grade pupils as for those attending kindergarten. We therefor have more pupil-units than we have pupils and our district has well over 3,000 pupil units.

Comparisons of debt-service costs and tax mill levies are always interesting but not necessarily significant. The cost of debt service is for obligations that have been assumed and are not subject readily to change. Mill levies reflect the financial needs of a district year by year, covering capital outlay, debt service and maintenance after allowance has been made for state aid, but state aid varies a great deal, the districts with low per-pupil valuation getting substantially more than districts with high valuations.

The best figures for comparative purposes therefore are those dealing with maintenance costs per pupil-unit. The variations here come closer to measuring economical and efficient management. For instance, to get a picture of wasteful Iron Range operations the mill levy reveals nothing. It is the maintenance cost per pupil-unit that tells the story.

Following are the maintenance costs per pupil-unit of all of the larger school districts in Northwestern Minnesota as compiled by the research service of the Minnesota Education Association for the 1961-62 school year:

Thief River Falls	$357
Moorhead	352
Bemidji	349
Crookston	347
Alexandria	345
Willmar	343
Brainerd	334
East Grand Forks	332
Fergus Falls	330
Ada	319
Roseau	319
Little Falls	318
Wadena	303
Warren	303
Red Lake Falls	292
Deroit Lakes	284

In the larger districts and cities of the state costs are generally higher, but there are exceptions. At Anoka, for instance, where our good friend Morris Bye serves as Superintendent, the cost is only $294 per pupil-unit.

For our school district, with more than 3,000 pupil-units, a reduction of $1 per pupil unit would mean a saving of more than $3,000, and a $10 cut would mean a saving of more than $30,000. A cut of $25 could mean a tax reduction of 20 mills or $80,000 a year to lay on the line for necessary improvements.

The above list of comparative costs extends beyond what we normally think of as Northwestern Minnesota but this was done to bring in a few more representative cities. The fact that Thief River Falls heads the list as the school district in Northwestern Minnesota that has the highest per pupil-unit maintenance cost was not accomplished by a process of elimination. We could find only three districts in this entire corner of the state that have higher maintenance costs than ours, and each of these is a small community and in no sense comparable. We stand alone at the top of the list, and that does not speak well for our management.

It has been suggested that our vocational school may be a contributing factor in the high per pupil-unit cost. We are not in a position at this time to say yes or no on this point. The report which wa have referred to makes no menion of special departments of this kind and we are inclined to believe that they would have been mentioned if they were included. The operating cost of this type of school is paid by special state and federal aids and tuition. We will find out and report later. Several of the school districts listed above are operating departments for special and advanced training as we do here.

We are glad the board has raised this question of comparative costs. We hope that the board members will acquaint themselves thoroughly with the facts and that if they find that what we have stated as true, take prompt action to bring our operation more in line with those of our neighbors.

At Fosston a school addition has been completed and the four new classrooms will be put into service in the near future. The addition to the old elementary school cost less than $50,000. We are sure that with just a little effort a much more costly and elaborate solution for their classroom needs could have been found.

Two Good Packages

The Thursday issue of the Times carried more good news than we have been able to report for several years. Not that there have not been many favorable reports but they have been scattered. The city has had some substantial gains but to some extent they have been offset by losses.

Last week's good news had to do with two building projects, one a large hospital addition that will make possible expanded hospital services. The other was the announcement that a new home is going to be built for the J. C. Penney Company store.

Of the two announcements, the new Penney store gladdened us the most for several reasons. A 100-foot building on Main at Third is going to brighten a corner that for several years has been an eyesore and a retarding factor in the development of that area of the city. The city has indicated its intention of providing adequate parking facilities in that area and another barrier to further development in that direction will be removed.

But the most encouraging thing about this development will be its morale building effect. The closing of the Ward store had a depressing effect on the community and a couple of bad crop years have not been helpful. In spite of these reverses the city has gone forward, but not with its old time vigor. The new Penney store comes as a vote of confidence from an outside organization that does not authorize store expansion of this kind without a thorough knowledge of the area such a store will serve and the business potential of the community in which it is located.

The Penney Company has operated here more than 42 years, its first store, opened in 1920, being located in the Dobner-Meehan block across from the Red Owl. The willingness to expand is based on long experience, and the decision is the most encouraging pat-on-the-back our area has received in recent years.

The hospital expansion is an encouraging development too, especially because it too did require the support of state and federal officials and their appraisal of the community as to need for an expanded health program. Their favorable decision was also a pat on the back.

But if we had to choose between the two developments, and could have only one of them at this time, the new Penney store, and all that it means, would be our firm choice.

A Gain and A Loss

One of the unfortunate results of the Penney Company expansion may be the loss of Jung's bakery, a business that is now in its 48th year. Walter and Herb became bakers in their father's bakery in Wisconsin and came here in 1915. They developed a substantial wholesale business which, with their retail store, supports a payroll of 30 employees.

Walter Jung, now virtually the sole owner, has sold the property and equipment to Milton Swedberg but there still is hope that arrangements can be made for a continuation of the operation. Ever possibility is being checked.

Unsigned Letters

The question has been raised as to the propriety of publishing public opinion letters without the signature of the writer. The Times did publish such a letter last week and it is a good question.

We have permitted unsigned letters to be published providing they pertain to matters of public interest and are not offensive or libelous. We generally insist that we must know who the writer is, largely as a matter of self-protection. We recognize our own responsibility in such matters.

But we also recognize the public interest. On controversial school matters, for instance, there may be parents who are reluctant about expressing views that might be displeasing to educators, because of a fear that their children might be discriminated against. Such fears, whether justifiable or not, are understandable.

So in matters of this kind we will have to rely upon our own best judgment, admitting that at times that best judgment may not be good enough. But the important consideration should always be the public interest.

It was president Kennedy himself who several weeks ago released the information to the press that was so embarrassing to him and to his administration. This now is a certainty according to "the highest authority." It is not in the best interests of good government to have as our "highest authority" a person who is developing a reputation for saying things that are not true.

Russell Larson of Bemidji was an ovenight guest at the Thorfin Ostby home Tuesday, due to the stormy weather.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information of assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—I see the VA pays pension under a heading "Civil War Pensions". I thought all the Civil War veterans were dead.

A—Pensions for Civil War dependents are paid to widows and helpless children of Civil War veterans. There are about 3,000 on the rolls.

Q—If a wife is a veteran, can she obtain a VA loan for a home even if her husband is not a veteran?

A—Veterans' benefits draw no line between the sexes thus a woman veteran is eligible for a home loan guaranty. However, many women veterans might be unable to obtain loans because of low annual income or doubts concerning long term employment. Your nearest VA office could advise you on this matter.

Q—Can I allow my annual GI insurance dividend to remain on deposit to meet future premiums?

A—Yes, you may. Notify the VA office where you pay your premiums of your intention to allow your dividend to remain on deposit.

THE ANDERSEN LETTER

from Gov. Elmer L. Andersen

The Biennial Budget.

Earlier I discussed the budget making process. Last week Wednesday I delivered the budget message. When I said "this budget requires no new taxes nor increase in taxes" the legislators broke into applause.

Actually our financial condition has improved a good deal in two years. The two main reasons are we have more people working at higher pay and we have instituted many economies to spend less. The withholding tax has had some effect in bringing cheaters on the tax rolls, but this is far less of a factor than some would claim. The Department of Taxation is studying a sample batch of returns to get specific information on the impact of the withholding system of collection. Withholding is working well and I do not regret supporting it and helping get it approved by the Senate where it had bogged down under the previous administration.

On the spending side, my budget provides 85 per cent of the total recommended increase for education alone. We need to make this investment. We will have an increase of 41,000 youngsters in grade and high school these next two years. Likewise enrollments are soaring in our state colleges, junior colleges and at the University. I put in a special plea for increased emphasis on research and graduate school training at the University. This is not only important for the people getting the training but is vital to the economic growth of our area.

Of the $107 million increase in appropriations, $85.8 million was for all education—or 85 per cent of the total increase.

Another fact emphasized was that the budget is not for state government alone. Actually more than half of the total budget—$369 million or 55 per cent of the total of $673 million is state aid to local government. If the state didn't raise the money in other ways and send it to local government, your local property taxes would be higher than they are now.

There is a good deal in the budget to expand community mental health centers, improve care at our mental hospitals and provide better care and service to the mentally retarded, and expand services to older people.

Our corrections and crime prevention work was moved ahead substantially. I went particularly strong for more support for tourist promotion, industrial development, research, and advertising for Minnesota agricultural products.

People in the Department of Administration and I were both highly pleased at the many compliments for the form of the budget. It contains much more explanatory and descriptive matter than ever before.

This is a balanced budget that will wind up with a reserve in both income tax and general revenue funds.

Sub-Zero Climes Continue; Colder Weather Tomorrow

February To Hold No Promise of Spring If Past Gives Indication

This area's period of sub-zero cold was extended to 10 days with minus readings during the past several days. The last time the mercury rose above the zero mark was on January 17 when a high of 13 degrees was noted, according to the records maintained by North Central Airlines personnel at the Thief River Falls municipal airport.

Low temperatures have remained below zero for the past 20 days with the warmest low reading during that period being —4 degrees on January 9 as the cold spell set in on the area. Coldest reading was —32 degrees on January 22. Only an inch of snow has been received during the month, that falling on January 20. Last year there were 19 consecutive sub-zero lows in January with the lowest being —35 degrees on January 17.

Some relief from the cold may be expected in February but that month does not mean spring is here. Last year there were only five sub-zero high readings — but one of them was — 18 degrees on February 28 when the season's low of —37 degrees was also reached. A total of 14.9 inches of snow fell that month and March opened with a —35 reading. Low temperatures in January last year averaged 10.42 degrees below zero.

The weatherman calls for occasional cloudiness today and tonight with the possibility of scattered snow flurries. Fair skies should prevail tomorrow although colder weather is foreseen for tonight and tomorrow. Highs today are expected to range from 2 to 10 degrees above zero with lows tonight from 12 to 20 below zero.

Legion Members Invited to Parley at Fargo Feb. 10

Donald M. Miller, Worthington, state commander of The American Legion, has announced that more than 20 of the top Legion officials throughout Minnesota will accompany him to a national commander's regional conference at Fargo, North Dakota, February 10th.

The meeting is open to all Legionnaires, according to Miller, and its purpose is to acquaint members with new and recent developments in Legion programs, and to help organize better support of legislation helpful to veterans. The occasion is also to be used as a stimulant to an already expanding membership drive, he added.

Miller said there is evidence that the Legion, recognized as the largest veterans organization in the world, is continuing to grow in numbers; while death loses amounted to about 55,000 nationally the past year, total 1962 membership increased nearly 7,000 over 1961.

Tax Returns Are First Class Mail, Need High Rate

Warning to persons completing income tax returns and mailing them to the government was given today by R. J. Dryden, Thief River Falls postmaster. The warning is particularly appropriate for those who plan to send in a number of returns in one envelope.

"Under the Private Express Statutes an income tax return is a letter, and when several returns are included in one envelope by a person or firm who prepared the returns for clients, at least one rate of first-class postage must be paid for each return," Dryden said.

"The patron mailing the returns should indicate on the outside of the envelope how many separate returns are contained therein. Postage will not be based on the total weight of the piece, but on the number of returns in the envelope and will never be less than five cents an ounce for the total weight."

MINNESOTANS MEET IN CALIFORNIA

The California magnet continues to draw Minnesotans, both as vacationers and permanent transplants. For which reasons February 8, March 3 and 8, and April 12 are significant dates to traveling Minnesotans. The Minnesota State Society of Southern California meets the second Friday of each Month in the Whittier recreation center. And the Society's annual midwinter picnic is scheduled for Sunday, March 3, in Long Beach recreation park, with a band concert as the main attraction. President Lawrence S. Chermak and all of his enthusiastic colleagues promise a very cordial welcome to all visiting Minnesotans at both the picnic and their regular meetings.

Medics Advise on Emergency Calls

Should Learn Measures to Be Undertaken until the Physician Arrives

If you ever have the crucial job of summoning medical help when there is serious injury or sudden illness, the Minnesota State Medical association urges that you remember this important rule:

Ask what first aid measures to take until the doctor arrives.

In some cases a delay of even a few minutes may result in death. Some instances which demand immediate first aid are cessation of breathing, severe bleeding, and poisoning. Rescue squads save extremely few people who have stopped breathing unless someone has given artificial respiration before they arrive.

Unfortunately, the Association says it is rather common to find that people throw all responsibility on the physician or the rescue squad, taking no action themselves except to telephone for help. Sometimes they do not know what to do; other times they are too excited and confused to think and act wisely. The urgency of a situation, and the resulting panic, may lead people to give grossly improper care for burns, internal injuries, and extensive lacerations.

Responsibility for providing proper medical care, says the Association, lies upon those people at the scene of the accident, as well as upon physicians and ambulance personnel.

Social Security Man Here Tuesday

A representative of the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium Tuesday, January 29, at 10 a. m. Individuals who have questions regarding social security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Happy Acres

Happy Acres 4-H club held its meeting January 15 and the 4-H plays were discussed. Since safety is our club project, we decided to put fire numbers on each of the mailboxes of the people living along the airport road and mile section-line roads around it. It was also decided, with quite a few of our members enrolled in the horse project, to ride our horses and have a picnic when the weather gets nicer.

Lunch was served by the Arnold Gunderson and Tim Brelland families.

Fargo Central Quint Tips Prowlers 67-60

The basketball Prowlers turned in a below-par effort at Fargo on Friday night, and this loose play combined with some exceptional clutch shooting by the Midgets' Mike McNair gave coach John Buchli's Fargo Central squad a 67 to 60 win.

The Prowlers will play the Crookston Central Pirates at Crookston on Friday night in a District 31 game; and on Saturday night, on the local floor, will meet the Bemidji Lumberjacks. The Prowlers are unbeaten in district play having a mark of four wins and no losses.

In Friday night's game at Fargo, and which was played on the Franklin junior high school court, the Midgets, with McNair and Pat Triggs leading the attack, gained a 21 to 12 lead in the first period. The Prowlers and the Midgets were tied at 5-all early in the period, but a drive-in by Triggs and a one-handed toss by McNair pushed coach Buchli's squad into the lead.

The Prowlers turned in a better brand of basketball in the second period, and at one time had pared the Fargo lead to 31 to 26, but the Midgets choked off the rally and held a 36 to 27 lead at the intermission.

After adding five points to their lead in the third period, outpointing the Prowlers, 15 to 10, the Midgets, in the fourth period, had some anxious moments when the locals, with four reserves in the game joining starter Tom Lindberg, sliced the Fargo lead to three points, 61 to 58, with less than two minutes to play. Lindberg tossed in five Prowler field goals during the period. But McNair, on a pair of field goals, and a pair of free throws by Steve Danovic, "insured" the game for the Fargo Central squad.

McNair was the game's high scorer with 25 points. Lindberg, who played a strong all-round game for the Prowlers, tallied 18 points; and Ken Larson, with three field goals and eight free throws in eight tries, scored 14 points.

St. Paul Johnson Six Edges Prowlers 3-1

A pair of second-period goals, scored by Bob Shattuck in less than thirty seconds, broke a 1-all tie and provided coach Rube Gustafson's powerful St. Paul Johnson high school hockey team with a 3 to 1 win over the Prowlers in a game played before the season's largest crowd at the Arena rink on Saturday night.

Coach Gene Sack's squad will engage in three Region Eight conference games, this week. Tuesday night, Jan. 29, the Prowlers will play coach Ken Wellen's Hallock Bears on the Arena ice here. On Friday, Feb. 1, the Prowlers A and B squads will play at Roseau; and on Saturday, Feb. 2, the Prowler varsity will play the Baudette Bears at Baudette. The Prowlers will conclude their pre-tournament schedule by meeting the Warroad Warriors in the Arena rink here on Tuesday, Feb. 5.

In Saturday night's well-played and entertaining tilt, the Prowlers gained an early lead when, at the 3:01 mark of the first period, Tony Poole, with a blazing slap shot from the blue-line, found the left end corner of the north goal for a Prowler tally. The locals held that lead until the 10:38 mark when sophomore Bill Weller, recovering his own rebound, sent a drive between Dave Erickson's legs and into the south goal.

The St. Paul squad, rated the state's top prep team, notched a pair of quick goals in the second period to take control of the game. Bob Shattuck, coming out of the penalty box, poke-checked the puck away from a Prowler in center-ice and then broke away for a solo rush that carried to the goal-mouth, and, with a feint, pulled the Prowler goalie to the right of the cage and then flipped a backhanded shot into the open net. Seconds later, following a face-off in the Prowler zone, Shattuck, with center Hughes controlling the draw beat Erickson from close-in.

In a preliminary game, coach George Schlieff's Prowler 'B' squad, with Don Loeffler scoring a pair of goals, defeated the Red Lake Falls 'B' squad, 5 to 0. The Prowler B's will meet the Hallock B's in a 6:30 game this evening, Monday.

Prowler 'B' Quint Bows to Fargo 'B's

Lost 53 to 42 in Game at Fargo Friday Evening

Coach John Torgerson's Fargo high school 'B' squad, defeated the Prowler 'B' squad, 53 to 42, in a preliminary game played at Fargo on Friday night. The Midgets were paced by Oliver Cornelius, a six foot sophomore forward, who tallied six field goals and seven free throws for a 19 point effort.

Rich Nelson was the highpoint player for the Prowlers B's with 13 points, having five field goals and three free throws.

The Fargo B's gained a 14 to 10 lead in the first period, due largely to Cornelius' four field goals. The Midgets increased their lead to 26 to 17 at the intermission, outpointing coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowlers, 12 to 7, in the second period.

A RARITY in curling was turned in by Harland (Skippy) Knutson's rink in a Glennbar league match here last week, with the rink scoring an eight-ender. The Knutson rink curled the Morris Roadfelt rink on sheet number one at the Fair Grounds arena, and in the second end of the match, the Knutsons placed all eight of their rocks inside the rings. The rink members are, left to right, Harland Knutson, Rudy Rude and Everett Amundgaard. It was the first eight-ender scored at the local arena and was accomplished with the Knutson rink a man short — resulting in two of the team members throwing three rocks each.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

He'll Always Be Welcome

Saturday night's St. Paul Johnson vs. Prowlers hockey game, and which was enjoyed by the large crowd of fans, marked the last time that Rube Gustafson will appear here as coach of the Governors.

It will not be the last time, though, that the jovial Gustafson will visit here. Following this hockey season, Gustafson will be promoted to athletic director at St. Paul Johnson, and his assistant Louis Cofronelo will take over the varsity hockey coaching reins. Gustafson, who arranged the St. Paul Johnsons annual trip up into this area, with the Governors meeting Roseau and Thief River Falls on the two-game jaunt, will accompany the team in the future years. And I hope that Rube has many of these future years. The St. Paul Johnson hockey game is always an attraction on the local schedule.

And that was a solid and talented squad that coach Gustafson sent on the ice Saturday night, and the Prowlers can take much credit for holding this team, the state's top-ranked club, to a 3 to 1 score. And two of these scores came as the result of Prowler "mistakes".

On Friday night, in an overtime game, the St. Paul Johnson team scored a 3 to 2 win over the Roseau Rams at Roseau. That win marked the second time this season that the Governors had bested the Rams as in an earlier game, played in St. Paul, Johnson had tallied a 3 to 1 win. But I'm not convinced that the Governors are a better team than the Rams, and I hope that the two teams meet in the state tournament. On Saturday afternoon, playing at International Falls, the Rams played the Broncos to a 3 to 3 tie.

Coach Gene Sack's Prowlers, who have shown great improvement since their season-opening loss to the Grand Forks Redskins, are in a ding-dong battle, with East Grand Forks, Baudette, and Warroad, for second place in the Region Eight standings. With two teams from this Region being eligible for the state tournament this season, that second spot, which, along with number one, gains seeding directly into the regional tournament, is a strategic position. It's worth the effort that the Prowlers will face this week when they meet Hallock on Tuesday night, Roseau on Friday night, and Baudette on Saturday night. The locals will conclude their 1962-63 schedule by playing Warroad here on Feb. 5.

There Must Be Solution

When you saw the crowd of hockey fans who braved the fifteen below-zero weather and were in the local Arena on Saturday night for the St. Paul Johnson game, you must realize that hockey has an intense spectator appeal. It's a trial and tribulation to watch a game in the cramped confines of the Arena, for it's a stand-up proposition. And for the older fans this proves too formidable a task.

Many plans have been proposed, but nothing definite has reached the architect's drafting board. The Arena ice sheet is 79 feet wide, and 174 feet long, and that's not too bad. The rink, and the Arena, could be increased in length by moving the south end to the side walk, and gain about ninety feet. This would provide an ice sheet 180 or 185 feet long, with adequate seating in the end zones. This seating arrangement is in use at the Winter Sports Building at Grand Forks, and in many of the arenas in Canada. And along with increasing the length of the Arena building, it would probably be feasible to install an artificial ice plant. This would be much cheaper than planning on a new building to house the hockey activities.

The Arena has many advantages, being centrally located, ample parking, and easily accessible by high school and grade school students.

But this project has to be a combined effort by all hockey boosters, the Eagles, the Vets, the Legion, the Elks, the Service clubs, and everyone interested in junior and senior hockey.

Women Curlers in Matches Thursday

Five Rinks Are Closely Bunched for Top Spot

Betty Liden vs. Margaret Ose.
Clara Mae Swanson vs. Helen Olson.
9:00 P.M. draw:
Bonnie Tunberg vs. Lois Amundgaard.
Fern Liden vs. May Jahr.

Last week's league leaders in the women's curling league—the Fern Liden and the Lois Amundgaard rinks—both suffered defeats in the week's play, and dropped a couple of rungs in the league standings. The Clara Mae Swanson rink, making its first start of the season, defeated the Fern Liden foursome; and the highly-regarded May Jahr rink defeated the Lois Amundgaard rink.

This week's play will find the Swanson rink attempting to maintain its undefeated status in a match against the Helen Olson rink at 7:00 p. m. on Thursday. And at 9:00 p. m., the Fern Liden rink and the May Jahr rink will meet in a match that should provide some excitement. The two rinks share second place with the Alice Liden and Bonnie Tunberg rinks.

HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS IN HIGH WINTER GEAR

Calendar of the Minnesota State High School league is pretty well filled from now until mid-June. High school ski meet and debate tournament are the same February dates, 15th and 16th, skiing in Duluth, forensics in Minneapolis. Hockey playoffs are coincidental with the annual meeting of the Minnesota Newspaper Association, February 21-23, the press in Minneapolis, pucksters in St. Paul. March 1 and 2 brings the swim meet to Cooke Hall at the University, the wrestling meet to Mankato. Gymnastic meet is March 9 in Ramsey High, St. Paul Drama and speech festivals, tennis, golf, track and baseball come later in the season. Right now more schools are pointing toward the state basketball tournament than any other contest, with district tournaments scheduled for the period March 4-9, regional 11-16, state (Williams Arena, U of M) March 21-23. Scarce and coveted season tickets for this annual spectacle are available to the general public subject to holder priorities going back a great many years. League schools are allotted small blocks in proportion to their enrollment, and 3,200 seats are held for the eight schools participating in the tournament.

Ping-pong, or table tennis, was first played at the end of the 19th century, and was originated by a sporting goods dealer in London, England.

Hockey Thieves Trip Roseau 8-2

The senior hockey Thieves, paced by the hustling play of Eddie Holmes, who scored three goals, snapped a three-game losing streak on Sunday afternoon by defeating the Roseau Cloverleafs, 8 to 2, in a Northwest Hockey league game played on the Arena ice. The Thieves, picking up two points in the league standings by their victory, maintained their league lead, holding a slight edge over the oncoming Grand Forks Warriors. On Sunday, Feb. 3, the Thieves will meet coach Bud Salem's Crookston Pirates at Crookston.

In a pair of entertaining preliminary games played on Sunday afternoon at the Arena, the Eagles Bantams team, by a 6 to 1 score, defeated the East Grand Forks Bantams. And the local V. F. W. Midgets, on a come-from-behind effort, defeated coach Jimmy Williams East Grand Forks Midgets 5 to 4, in a Ninth District Midget Hockey conference game.

In the senior hockey game, the Thieves gained a 1 to 0 first period lead on Monty Markstrom's goal at the 12:14 mark. The playmaking center banged a rebound shot past goalie Darwin Johnson and into the north goal.

In the second period the locals, on goals by Larry Poole, Markstrom, and a pair by Holmes, moved into a 4 to 0 lead before Wayne Hites, just before the period's end, beat Rod Collins on a long shot that bounced erratically and entered the goal.

In the final period, DelRay Offerdahl, Holmes, and Larry Poole notched goals for the locals. Jeff Vacura, from close in, scored the Roseau tally with Chuck Nordvall and Earl Johnson on the assists.

CONTAINER for the shipment of eyes for corneal transplant to the Lions Eye Bank at the University of Minnesota has been furnished to Northwestern Hospital by the Thief River Falls Lions club. The eye bank keeps a list of donors who offer their eyes to the bank after death so that others may be able to see or have their vision repaired or improved. The container is a cardboard box with a smaller box inside to hold two glass jars for donor eyes. The box is packed with ice and shipped to Minneapolis through the state highway patrol.

An Eye for an Eye . . .

Local Lions Join Eye Bank Project

Thief River Falls Lions club is participating in the Minnesota Lions Eye Bank which was established three years ago. The University of Minnesota directs the eye bank program under the direction of Dr. John E. Harris, professor and ophthalmology department head in the medical school.

As part of its participation in the program, the local club has undertaken the project of supplying Northwestern hospital in this city with containers for the shipment of eyes to the University of Minnesota — Club members and other interested persons in the community have signed cards authorizing the use of their eyes after death for corneal transplants.

During 1962 the eye bank received eyes from 122 donors but was far from able to keep up with the demand. "We're always behind—unable to help 10 or 15 people who need corneal transplants," Dr. Harris said. "We do not have enough eyes and must take care of the truly desperate or emergency cases.

"Transplants are done to help a person see better or to provide a replacement for ruptured or severely diseased corneas," Dr. Harris said. All eyes for the bank are taken from dead persons and approval is required from the next-of-kin even if the individual had bequeathed his eyes to the bank.

The cornea is a transparent disk of hard tissue at the front of the eyeball and the light or image is transmitted through it. In certain eye diseases, the cornea becomes clouded, damaged or changed and sight is reduced or lost entirely.

Sight can sometimes be restored by transplanting a cornea or part of it from another person's eye. For some types of transplants a cornea must be secured within a few hours of the donor's death. In other cases, where only part of the corneal thickness has to be replaced, the transplant material can be taken from a cornea that has been "stored" in the eye bank under sterile conditions.

Persons who have been sightless for as long as 25 years have been given sight by corneal transplant surgery. Lions clubs help maintain a statewide donor register and the highway patrol transports eyes in special containers from outstate points to the university.

Containers consist of two glass jars with labels and a cardboard box which holds the jars and ice to keep the eyes frozen until they reach their destination. At present most eyes come from patients who die at University, Veterans, Minneapolis General and St. Paul Ancker hospitals, which have working affiliations with the university.

Red Lake Co-op. Arranges Three District Meetings

Sessions To Nominate Directors for Election In TRF on April 3rd

Three district meetings have been arranged by the board of directors of Red Lake Electric Cooperative, Inc., to nominate a director from each district to be elected at the annual meeting in Thief River Falls on April 3. Other business concerning operations of the cooperative may be discussed at the district meetings.

District One will meet February 4 at 8 p. m. at St. Peter's church basement in Gentilly; District Five will meet February 6 at 1:30 p. m. at the St. Anthony's church in Terrebonne; and District Four will meet February 7 at 1:30 p. m. at the community hall in Oklee.

Directors currently representing the districts include Joseph Brunelle, District One; Millard Dailey, District Five; and Lars Larson, District Four. While the meetings are not restricted to only members of a particular district, only members of the district are allowed to nominate or vote on nominees. The programs will consist of movies, entertainment, reports, business session and free lunch.

Two area informational meetings have also been set by the cooperative in February. One will be held at the Smiley hall in Smiley township at 8 p. m. on February 11 and the other at the American Legion club rooms in Middle River at 8 p. m. on February 12.

These meetings are not official but will be held in conjunction with the district meetings. Main purpose is to present a report on the year's operations and provide a general gathering of the members in the area. Reports, entertainment, movies and lunch are scheduled on the program and all members of the cooperative are urged to attend.

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs Will Install Officers

Joint installation of officers of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will be held tonight at 8 p. m. in the Odd Fellows hall with the ceremonies open to the public. A social time including lunch and a dance will follow the program.

Alfred Longren will be installed as Noble grand of Young Pine Lodge 221 of the Odd Fellows with Jorgen Austad as vice grand. Mrs. Cora Perkins will be installed as noble grand of the Rebekahs with Mrs. Alma Lund as vice grand. These officers, together with other elective and appointive officers, will be seated under the direction of a special installation team.

Neal Fox Heads Local Board of Salvation Army

Neal Fox was elected chairman of the Thief River Falls Salvation Army board to succeed Fred Mittelstadt at the annual meeting of the board held Wednesday evening in the Rex Cafe.

Other officers elected include Charles Emanuel, vice chairman; Elton Cummings, secretary; and Alvin Anseby, reelected treasurer. Reports were given by the building committee and the rural service committee which has been organized to better serve the rural areas of the territory.

Envoy Carl Paulson presented his financial report for 1962 and compared it with 1961 figures. He also presented the statistical report showing what work had been accomplished by the local unit this year.

Marshall County Board Hears of Land Compromise

Deputy Commissioner of Conservation Proposes Legislative Agreement

Marshall county board of commissioners and the Minnesota Department of Conservation are reported somewhat closer on a compromise in the eastern Marshall land controversy as a result of a meeting Tuesday in Warren. Richard Knox, deputy commissioner of conservation, met with the county board to discuss a settlement through legislative action.

Effect of the legislation would be to classify all land in the conservation area of the county into four classes. Class IV would be for lands classified as agricultural and it is expected that this would be about 56 per cent of the total conservation area in the county. Lands in this class would be subject to sale at the discretion of the county board.

Class I land would be used for intensive game and fish management and not subject to sale; Class II land would be forestry land subject to sale on approval of the commissioner of conservation; and Class III land would be handled by the division of lands and minerals and subject to sale upon approval by the commissioner of conservation.

The conservation department will have the legislation drafted in time to present it to the county board at its regular session next Tuesday. Board members were polled informally and generally approved of the plan but not in a unanimous decision.

March 5 Date Set for School Bond Election

Federal Approval Given for New Hospital Addition

Complete approval of the new addition to Northwestern Hospital was received this morning by Norman Peterson, hospital administrator, from the U. S. Public Health Service in Kansas City, Mo. The architect has now been notified of the final approval by the federal body and is authorized to proceed with final acceptance of bids for the new addition. Approval covers the granting of both federal Hill-Burton and accelerated works program funds.

The award will be presented at the Boss-Employee Banquet to be held Wednesday, February 20, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars club rooms.

Blanks for submitting names of candidates are available at Northern and Union State Banks and First Federal Savings & Loan association. They may also be obtained from Marvin Lundin at the Thief River Falls Times office. Deadline for entry is February 15 and information needed in included on the nomination form.

David Moran, assistant vice president of traffic and sales for North Central Airlines, will be guest speaker at the event. Awards to be presented in addition to the Outstanding Young Man Award will be the Outstanding Boss Award and the Outstanding Young Farmer Award.

Tickets will go on sale next week at $2 each, according to Fred Ballou, banquet chairman. Attendance at the event is expected to total more than 100 people.

1963 Meeting of the Valley Home Society Feb. 5th

Three Directors to Be Elected and Vote Taken on Amending By-laws

Three members of the board of directors of the Valley Home Society are scheduled to be elected at the annual meeting next Tuesday evening, February 5, at 7:30 in the basement assembly room in the city Auditorium.

Directors whose terms are expiring are Randall Noper, chairman of the building committee; Geo. A. Belto and Earle Ripley. The number of board members is being reduced from 15 to nine. Directors who have resigned their posts included Robert A. Wurst, Olger Green and Rufus Olson, all of Thief River Falls; and Carl Johnson and C. G. Peterson, both of Warren.

The decision to reduce the number of board members will come up for formal approval at Tuesday's meeting in the form of a proposed amendment to the by-laws, which also provides for the election of three directors each year for three-year terms.

In behalf of the society, Stuart McLeod, secretary, invited all interested persons to attend the meeting. Reports will be made on progress in construction of the new nursing home, now nearing completion in Thief River Falls.

Bray Insurance Meet Is Feb. 13

Annual meeting of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance company will be held Wednesday, February 13, at 1:30 p. m. in the St. Hilaire school auditorium, according to Edgar A. Naplin, secretary. A Times news story Monday listed the meeting date as Wednesday, but did not indicate February 13. The Times regrets the error and any inconvenience caused the stockholders and officers of the company.

ELECTED president of the Minnesota Association of County Auditors at its annual convention in Hotel Lowry, St. Paul, last Friday was C. W. Rodekuhr, Pennington county auditor, who was promoted from first vice president. Others elected were Einar R. Anderson, Crow Wing county, first vice president; Martin Vanseth, Polk county, second vice president; Robert Penner, Douglas county, third vice president; and Miss Dolores Hauge, Caledonia, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Association for Retarded to Hold Membership Drive

Pennington-Red Lake Co. Group Will Start Local Campaign February 1st

A membership of forty-five will be the goal of the Pennington-Red Lake Association for Retarded Children when it launches its annual membership drive February 1.

The Pennington - Red Lake association is one of 57 local chapters of the Minnesota Association for Retarded Children which will join in a statewide campaign throughout February to increase their membership rolls. Goal for the entire state is 700 new members.

"This is a drive to increase membership and is not a fund-raising campaign," explained Mrs. Morris Odegaard, president of the local association. Its annual campaign for funds was held in November except in those areas where it was part of a United Fund or Community Chest.

Parents and relatives of the mentally retarded; teachers, social workers, and others working in the field of mental retardation; and all other citizens interested in improving the welfare of the retarded are welcome to join the organization.

"Results of the associations' work are reflected in the increasing number and improving quality of the service and programs available to the retarded," said Mrs. Odegaard. "But although we have made progress, there is much, much more to be done. The mentally retarded urgently need our help. Anyone interested in joining our association should contact our membership chairman, Mrs. Ted Booth, of Thief River Falls."

Board Approves 10-Mill Levy If Issue Is Passed

Between the hours of 4:30 and 9 p. m. on Tuesday, March 5, voters of School District 564 will vote at room 111 in Lincoln high school in a bond election for new school construction. Setting of the date and time took place at a special meeting of the board of education Tuesday evening at Lincoln high school.

Official wording of the two-question ballot which will be presented to the district's voters was also provided at the meeting by Donald E. Swenson, representing the bond consultant firm of T. G. Evensen and Associates. Approval of the two-question ballot was given at a previous meeting of the board but the official wording was referred to bonding atttorneys.

Part One of the question to be placed before the voters is as follows: "Shall the School Board of Independent School District No. 564, Minnesota, be authorized to borrow money and issue the negotiable coupon general obligation bonds of the District in an amount not exceeding $1,195,000 for the acquisition and betterment of a junior high school?"

Part Two will read: "If the authority requested under question No. 1 above is granted, shall the School Board of Independent School District No. 564, Minnesota, be further authorized to borrow additional money and issue the negotiable coupon general obligation bonds of the District in an amount not exceeding $300,000 for the acquisition and betterment of an elementary school and for the betterment of existing school buildings?"

Three new possible bonding schedules were presented by Swenson at the meeting for consideration by the board and considerable discussion was held. A motion by John Burtness to set board policy as financing the bond issue with a six-mill additional levy, tabled at the last meeting, was revived and seconded by Rufus Olson. In a roll call vote, the motion was defeated 5-2 with Burtness and Olson favoring the proposal and Lloyd Howick, Robert Bredeson, Morris Owen, Howard Hoel and K. Russell Anderson opposing it.

Favor 10-Mill Levy

Owen then presented a motion that board policy favor financing the issue with a 10-mill additional tax levy, similar to a schedule presented by the bonding consultant. Howick seconded

Council To Call For Bids on Truck

Bids Will Be Received By City February 26

Thief River Falls city council discussed a number of items of business when the members met Tuesday evening at the municipal liquor store. The meeting concluded the council's series of visits as a group to all of the city's various departments since January 1.

In the only definite action taken at the meeting, the council issued a call for bids on a truck for the utilities department with bids to be opened on February 26, at a special or adjourned meeting.

Thomas Fuller, manager of the municipal liquor store, showed council members the bookkeeping system used, how various departments of the store are handled and noted the amount of inventory which the store carries. At present the city has under consideration the construction of a drive-in package window at the alley on the west end of the store. Action was deferred pending further committe work.

Also discussed was the question of land acquisition at the airport and the committee was also instructed to do further checking on availability and cost. To the sanitation committe was referred the proposal to have the city's garbage collection done by a private individual on a lease basis.

Mrs. E. F. (Alice) Kiland received her BS and MS degrees in home economics from Staut State College in Wisconsin. She has taught high school and home economics at the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks. She will be the featured speaker at the women's session of the Seed and Feed Show Friday.

Ken Egertson was born in Jackson county, earned his BS degree with distinction from the University of Minnesota and also holds an MS degree from that school. He has been active in 4-H and FFA work and has served as extension marketing specialist with the U of M since 1958.

Dr. Harley Otto is a native of Kansas and holds a BS degree from Colorado State University and PhD from Cornell. He was assistant professor of plant breeding at Cornell and joined the University of Minnesota as extension agronomist in 1958.

Helge Nygren was born near Bismarck, N. D., and has farmed in the Flasher, N. D., area during his adult life. Active in many community projects, he headed the school consolidation drive for several western Dakota counties, was state president of the REA associations for North Dakota and is now RAD consultant for a five-state area.

Seed & Feed Show Program Arranged

Community development through Rural Areas Development (RAD) will be emphasized at Thief River Falls on Friday when the Sixth Annual Pennington County Seed & Feed Show is held in the city auditorium. Two speakers will explain the organization, function and operation of the program with the public invited to attend and learn what can be accomplished through RAD.

Dr. Harley Otto, extension agronomist at the University of Minnesota, will open the speaking program at 1 p. m., discussing "Weed Control for 1963". This portion of the meeting will be in the basement meeting room of the auditorium. Homemakers will gather at 1 p. m. in the auditorium when Mrs. E. F. (Alice) Kiland of Red Lake Falls will discuss "Eggs Around the Clock".

At 1:30 p. m. the men and women attending the event will join in the educational session on Rural Areas Development. Residents of Thief River Falls, Pennington, east Marshall and Red Lake counties are invited to participate. Ken Egertson, extension economist from the University of Minnesota, will review "Organization and Function of RAD". Helge Nygren, area RAD consultant with the Rural Electrification Administration, will talk on "RAD Operation".

Farmers, 4-H club and Future Farmers of America members are urged to bring in grain, legume and grass exhibits, according to Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agricultural agent. These can be cleaned samples, bin-run or certified grain or seed with tag attached.

Homemakers and 4-H members are invited to bring in cookies, cakes, desserts and yeast rolls which have eggs included as part of the recipes. The recipe must be included with each entry in these divisions. A special class for exhibit of one-half dozen eggs from the flock of the exhibitor is also being arranged.

Under the supervision of Peter Probasco, vocational agriculture instructor at Lincoln high school, an FFA grain clinic will be held Friday morning. FFA chapters from the area will be participating and include: Plummer, Tom Hasset, instructor; Goodridge, Larry Foley, instructor; and Middle River, Ambrose Moenkedick, instructor.

Nine dairy organizations will co-operate in sponsoring booths under a dairy banner at the show this year. Each organization will show its portion of service the the dairy industry. Free milk will be served to persons attending and a contest will be sponsored by the Pennington DHIA to allow people to guess the order of production from pictures of six cattle in local herds.

TRF Will Host Region 8 Debate Tournament Sat.

Thief River Falls will host the Region 8 high school debate tournament on Saturday with 11 schools registered to participate in the event. If all schools do compete, the three top teams in the region will be qualified to enter the state tournament to be held February 15 and 16 at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

Debating will open at 1 p. m. with schools from Ada, Greenbush, Roseau, Hallock, Thief River Falls, Karlstad, Twin Valley, Fertile, Greenbush, Warren and Mahnomen competing. This years debate question is "Resolved: That the United States should promote a common market for the Western Hemisphere."

Mary Ann Radniecki Is Bride of R. W. Lambert

Miss Mary Ann Radniecki of Trail and Richard W. Lambert of Brooks were united in marriage December 29 at St. Vincent DePaul Catholic Church at Plummer with Father Daniel Noah officiating at the double-ring ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Casimir W. Radniecki of Trail, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter U. Lambert of Brooks.

Potted poinsettias and holly graced the altar. Organist Miss Susan Schumacher of Plummer played the processional, and Mass was sung by the church choir. Miss Roxanne Radniecki of Oklee, cousin of the bride, sang, "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," as the couple knelt at the manger scene and the bride offered white roses from her bouquet.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of Skinner taffeta with a fitted bodice trimmed with French Chantilly lace top and the scalloped neckline enhanced with sequins and pearls. The sleeves were long and tapered, and the full gathered overskirt edged with wide Chantilly lace featured small lace motifs on the front flounce and a taffeta bow at bottom back over a ruffle of taffeta. Her fingertip veil fell from a triple tiered crown of crystals and pearls. Her only jewelry, a miniature silver cross, was a gift from the groom. She carried a cascade style bouquet featuring a red poinsettia accented by white garnet roses and variegated holly entwined with her grandmother's white rosary.

Mrs. Donald Berg, Bemidji, was matron of honor for her sister, with Mrs. Kenneth Sorenson of Minneapolis and Miss Sandra Lambert of Brooks, sister of the groom, as the other attendants. They wore identical street length gowns of emerald green velveteen, with matching shoes. Matching circular veils were attached to headbands of velvet and holly. Each carried a cascade style bouquet of feathered white carnations and holly accented by silver ornaments and red garnet roses with a white frosted wedding bell suspended from red velvet tubing. White gloves and a crystal star pendant, gifts from the bride, completed their attire.

Miss Marcia Radniecki, the bride's cousin, was flower girl. Her dress was styled like the bride's. She carried a white lace basket trimmed with red garnet roses and greens, and dropped rose petals in the aisle. Rings were carried by Randy Radniecki, cousin of the bride.

Don Bergeron of Milwaukee, Wis., was best man, with Bob Lambert, Milwaukee, brother of the groom, and Michael Radniecki, Trail, brother of the bride, as groomsmen. Seating the guests were Donald Berg of Bemidji and Earl Vrna of Minneapolis, brothers-in-law of the bride and groom, respectively. All the men of the party wore dark suits and white carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Radniecki chose a coffee brown suit with matching accessories, while the groom's mother wore a brown and beige three-piece suit with matching accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations and yellow roses and holly. Corsages and boutonnieres were also presented the grandparents of the couple.

275 guests were received at the reception given by the bride's parents following the ceremony and held at the Plummer community hall, with the Christian Mothers of the church serving. Host and hostess were the bride's uncle and aunt, the Richard Radnieckies. Floral arrangements on the bridal table consisted of frosted evergreen, variegated holly, silver balls and candles, with a miniature bridal pair holding rosaries and with a pair of frosted wedding bells as the focal point. Centering the bridal table was a four-tiered cake topped with a bridal couple in miniature and decorated with red garnet rosebuds and holly at the base. It was baked and decorated by Mrs. Clarence Ellickson of Oklee, and cut and served by Mrs. Earl Vrna, Minneapolis, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Al Radniecki of Oklee, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Willard Stromberg of this city and Mrs. Dewey Lambert, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively, poured. Waitresses were Sharon and Carol Lambert and Regene and Debbie Radniecki. At the guest book was Miss Cheri Jensen, while Misses Karen Chervestad and Carol Mandt of Oklee served punch. Misses Linda Ellickson of Bemidji, Barbara Stromberg, Minneapolis, and Penny Radniecki of Oklee and Renay Radniecki of Crookston arranged the gifts. Serving groom's cake were Patricia and Rebecca Radniecki and Joanne and Gail Lambert.

For their wedding trip to Minneapolis and Winnipeg, Canada, the bride chose a suit of avocado green, brown and orange with brown accessories and a corsage of white roses and holly. On their return, they are making their home in Bemidji.

Mrs. Lambert, a 1960 graduate of Oklee high school and later of the area vocational school cosmetology department in this city, is employed at Peggy's beauty shop in Bemidji. He husband also graduated from Oklee high school and is presently employed with Dewey's Decorators of Oklee.—Photo by Neal Fox Studio.

Elaine's CHATTER

January could be, and usually is, a dull month. It is the time when you are trying to recover from that strange malady called "generosityitis," which overtook you during December. We are having quite a winter and also a deluge of bills raining on our desks.

In case you have forgotten just what you gave someone for Christmas, it is being brought to light in a very profound way, now you see those Christmas gifts in the stark light of envelopes with windows in them.

That's January for you. We think that if you looked at the Almanac, it would say "this is the time of year to go south, sleep late, read books and save money."

Well, there are some things we can help you with at ELAINE'S. We are still "sailing" away with our clearance sale, and you will still find many, many bargains in winter clothing.

Every thing is reduced in Skirts, Slacks, Sweaters and Blouses to match. Car Coats, Jackets, untrimmed coats and fur trimmed coats . . . now is the time to choose a winter coat for now and next year. We don't have too many left but there just might be the one you want. You'll save enough money to buy yourself a dress . . . these too are reduced in price.

Heard on TV the other night that 3% of our national income is spent for education. Russia spends 7% of her national income for education. If we raise our national income, spend less for education, we soon would become morons.

Three percent seems like a very, very small investment in something so great as our Children. Wouldn't it be better to spend a little more for education and then spend less for correctional institutions? ? ? It's still only money.

If JFK wants to help the tax burden and further education, why not let the cost of sending a child to college be a deductible item

Tenn., S. Carolina Entries Winners In Wool Contest

Miss Adele Kinsey of Knoxville, Tenn., topped the senior division of the national Make It Yourself with Wool contest by modeling a red, light-weight wool cocktail dress at the pageant held last week in Las Vegas, Nev. Miss Joann Odegaard of Gonvick won the title in that division last year.

Miss Kinsey, 19, is a sophomore at the University of Tennessee. Miss Peggy Culler of Pinewood, S. C., won the national junior division with a black sheath dress and a coat ensemble. Both national winners will receive expense-paid trips to Hawaii and a set of luggage.

Only Minnesota winner in the event was Miss Patricia Lou Berglund of Scandia who modeled the best wool ensemble in the junior division. The contest attracted more than 10,000 entrants in district and state competition across the nation. Finals were held in conjunction with the national convention of the wool growers association.

VFW Auxiliary Begins Plans For Dist. Rally

VFW Auxiliary meeting held Monday night at the club rooms and presided over by Mrs. Arnold Kelley, included in its business a discussion of the forthcoming district 9 rally. The event, to be held here on March 10, is still in the preliminary planning stages.

Rehabilitation chairman Mrs. Naomi Bredeson asked members to donate old magazines or pictures which can be used in making scrapbooks for the mentally retarded children. Mrs. Kelley requested that all those who sold candy during the candy sale in December turn in the proceeds to her at the earliest possible date.

Following the meeting, hostesses Mmes. Selmer Wold, Vernon Wold, Charles Krause and George Larson, served lunch.

Loretta A. Lee Exchanges Vows With N. Berggren

Miss Loretta Arlett Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Lee of Newfolden, became the bride of Newell T. Berggren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Yngve Berggren of Karlstad on Saturday, January 5 at an evening wedding at Bethlehem Lutheran Church of Newfolden, with Rev. Oscarson officiating. The double-ring ceremony was used in the presence of the immediate family.

Bonita Hodik presended at the organ, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Fisher who sang "The Wedding Prayer" before the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of white slipper satin, the fitted bodice featuring a scalloped neckline with tiny sequins. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion net was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Donna Lee, her sister, attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a dress of lilac lace over satin. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Eugene Berggren.

Following the ceremony, the couple were honored at a reception held at the home of the bride's parents. A three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the table. The cake was cut by Mrs. Caroll Lindstrom, sister of the groom.

The bride is a 1959 graduate of Newfolden high school and the groom is a 1956 graduate of Strandquist high school.

The couple are at home at 1020 University avenue, Grand Forks, N. D.

Social Security for Farmers Is Explained

Farmers — perhaps more than any other group in the population —are keenly aware of the changes wrought in nature by the four seasons. They have to be—Their livelihoods depend almost entirely on how they plan for and adjust their activities to the cycle of the seasons.

Another time of the year that farmers are alert to has again arrived. This is the time when they begin looking over the books to see what they must report to Uncle Sam on their federal income tax returns for the year just past. And they know that since 1955, these same tax returns and the contributions paid with them build social security protection for them and their families against the loss of income that comes with disability, untimely death, or retirement.

It isn't just the farmer who has had an especially good year who earns social security credits. There is an optional method of reporting for farmers whose net earnings in 1962 were low or nonexistent. It works like this:

(1) If a farmer's gross income from agricultural self-employment is not more than $1,800, he may count as his net farm earnings either his actual net or two-thirds of his farm gross income;

(2) If his gross farm income is more than $1,800, and the net farm earnings are less than $1,200, he may use either his acutal net or $1,200;

But if his gross farm income is more than $1,800, and his net farm earnings are $1,200 or more, he must use the actual amount of his net earnings.

Because of the option available, a self-employed farmer with a gross income as low as $600 can obtain social security credit for 1962 — and so build protection for himself in his old age, or if he becomes disabled, and protection for his survivors in case of death.

Some farm owners who receive cash-rent or crop shares from tenant farmers can get social security credit for that income. If the farm landlord (or his agent), under his agreement with his tenant, materially participates in the production or management of production of the farm crops raised on his land, this income may be reported for social security purposes.

Information regarding taxes due and tax return forms can be obtained at the Internal Revenue Office at St. Paul, Minn. If you have any questions about old-age, survivors, or disability insurance, the people in the social security office at Grand Forks, North Dakota will be glad to assist you.

Court Gives Two Suspended Terms

Police Department and Patrol Bring Charges

Two defendants appearing before Judge Stanley N. Mortenson in Thief River Falls municipal court on Monday were given suspended jail sentences, two cases were continued and one law violator forfeited a $20 bond.

Dennis Hill, city was charged by the police department with drinking by a minor and was given a five-day suspended jail senence. Donald LaFave, city, was given 30-day suspended jail sentences on each count of careless driving and driving after suspension of his driver's license.

The careless driving charge arose from an accident on January 20 when a car driven by LaFave struck a lamp post near the Piggly-Wiggly Supermarket. In the accident report carried in the Times, Glenn Haugen was listed as the driver of the car involved in the accident, but further police investigation resulted in the charges made as above.

In one case brought by the highway patrol, Robert Hiland of Grand Forks forfeited bond of $20 on a speeding charge.

Crookston City Engineer Fired

Accused of Using City Labor in Building Home

Raymond Blessum, fired Tuesday as Crookston city engineer, said Wednesday he would contest his dismissal.

Blessum was fired for allegedly using city equipment and labor to build his new home. The Crookston city council upheld Mayor H. V. Sommer's dismissal of Blessum by a 5-3 vote at Tuesday night's meeting.

Blessum's attorney, John R. Kelley, contended that Blessum's practice of hiring city labor and equipment, billing himself and paying the bills "has long been the custom in Crookston."

Kelly said he would file pleadings next week in Polk county District court. "We're not sure what recourse we'll take at this time," he said.

Sommer alleged that Blessum also employed two draftsmen to draw up house plans, although he had denied using anyone from his office for such work.

Blessum was appointed to the $11,000-a-year job in October 1961.

Minnesota 4-H Club Alumni Honored

Effective Community Leadership Earns Citations For Excellence

Once a 4-H'er, always a 4-H'er.

That can be said about four of Minnesota's residents. Their effective community leadership rated special state citations in 1962. They were named outstanding former 4-H Club members. Their honors came through the annual 4-H Club alumni recognition program.

The four named are: Mrs. Charles Bishop, of Wells; Mrs. Albert Sarver, of Ada; Richard Fitzsimons, of Argyle; and Dr. Clifton Paulson, of Aitkin.

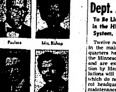
One of the objectives of the alumni recognition program is to highlight the ideals of clearer thinking, greater loyalty, larger service and better living as expressed in the 4-H Club pledge.

Mrs. Bishop, a housewife, was a 4-H Club member for nine years. She worked many hours with local 4-H'ers and their parents to improve what otherwise might have become "harmful attitudes." More than once she has been thanked for her constructive efforts in this area.

Mrs. Sarver, a home economics instructor, was a 4-H member for three years. Largely through her own work, Norman County today has a Bookmobile. It is a reality because of Mrs. Sarver's efforts. Every township in Norman County has access to library services as a result of the Bookmobile.

Fitzsimons, a farmer and 10-term State Legislative representative, was a 4-H member for eight years. He has helped develop numerous 4-H Club projects. His interest goes back to 1935 when his parents helped organize a local 4-H Club.

Dr. Paulson, a veterinarian, gives freely of his time to stimulate 4-H Club interest in Aitkin County. He has tested 4-H Club livestock before showings. In 1962 alone, he traveled 1,000 miles and donated much professional time in his work.



Each of the Minnesota 1962 4-H Club alumni recognition award winners was given a burnished copper plaque.

The alumni program has been sponsored for the last 10 years by the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Chemicals Division-Agricultural.

It is conducted nationally by the Cooperative Extension Service and the National 4-H Service Committee.

First Baptist Church Youth To Sponsor Movie

"The Tony Fontane Story", a feature length color film, will be shown at the First Baptist church in Thief River Falls on Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m., as a climax to Youth Week. "The "Tony Fontane Story"" is the true story of one of the world's great singers. "This is the first film of its kind in Christian circles and has had an overwhelming response wherever it has been shown," according to Rev. Ronald Dalzell, pastor of the local congregation.

Additional plans for Youth Week by First Baptist church includes the participation of young people in prayer meeting, Sunday school sessions and the morning worship service. As a challenge to youth, Rev. Dalzell will speak Sunday morning on the subject, "The Cry of the World".

A second showing of the film has been scheduled for 9:15 p. m. Sunday to permit members of other churches with evening services to attend.

Public Opinion

Editor, Times:

This space which is for the expression of opinions of people on topics of current interest and welfare, is one privilege of many that this democracy grants to all citizenry. And in many instances it is used in a constructive and enlightening manner.

However, on the other side of the ledger, it can be misleading and damaging to the best interests of its readers! Sensationalism and egotism has often projected itself in some items that have been contributed to this space which often places in the background true facts and distorts the real truths!

This dangerous and destructive type of writing often may be of earnest and honest intent but without enough knowledge and facts may be like a poisoned dart to a good cause.

Why not, if we do not know all the honest facts of an issue, refrain from adding more confusion to the already confused issue of the wants of our school system? Our school board is made up of people like you and me, who have spent many thankless hours and abuse in trying to solve a problem that is becoming increasingly hard to cope with, with each passing week!

In this day and age, most things must be accepted with good judgement from the experts! Our school board and our fine superintendent and his staff do not classify themselves as experts, but let's remember, you and I, that they are closer to the true facts than we are! If they are wrong, whose word can you believe and accept as the true facts? Let's be rational and use good common sense in the use of the pen as well as the use of our words! Both factors can do good to a cause, but very easily and unknowingly be detrimental also.

The cause is serious enough for you and me to take the time and find the facts before we express our opinion either by pen or words! This is our responsibility as good citizens and God-fearing men!

Motor Vehicle License Penalty Is $2.50 Feb. 1

Penalty for late registration of motor vehicles will take another jump on February 1 to a maximum figure of $2.50, according to Mrs. Marjorie Hanson, deputy registrar of motor vehicles in Thief River Falls. Current penalty is $2.

Auto owners, who for various reasons have not been driving their vehicles in the new year, may elect to register their vehicles after April 1 at no penalty, Mrs. Hanson said. State law provides that late registration penalty can be waived if the vehicle has not been operated from January 1 to April 1.

Mobile homes do not come under this law, however, the deputy registrar warned. All taxes and penalties are due regardless of whether the mobile home is in use or not—just as they would on real estate property.

12 New Teletypes Added by Highway Dept. Area Offices

To Be Linked with Points in the Highway Patrol System, Including TRF

Twelve new teletype installations in the maintenance area headquarters have been authorized by the Minnesota highway department and are expected to be in operation by March 15. The new installations will be placed only in areas which do not have a highway patrol headquarters housed with the maintenance offices.

Added teletypes will be placed in maintenance headquarters in Golden Valley, St. Paul Park, Owatonna, Mankato, Windom, Marshall, Willmar, Morris, Bemidji, Crookston, Duluth and in the maintenance section office on the third floor of the State Highway building in St. Paul.

Teletypes already connect 12 points in the highway patrol system, which in March will also be linked with the new installation points. The existing teletype centers are St. Paul central office highway patrol headquarters; St. Paul central office drivers license and motor vehicle sections; highway patrol district headquarters at Rochester, Marshall, Arden Hills, St. Paul, St. Cloud, Brainerd, Detroit Lakes, Thief River Falls and Virginia.

The object of the new teletype service is to facilitate maintenance work and to integrate existing communications. The highway department already has teletype facilities connecting with the national state police department network, the St. Paul - Minneapolis police and sheriff's departments and a direct connection with the Wisconsin Highway Patrol at Madison, Wisconsin.

Crookston Firm Robbed of Nearly $1,000 Saturday

Investigation continued this week into the theft of nearly $1,000 in merchandise taken from the Farmers Union Oil Co. in Crookston during an early Saturday morning break-in.

Police Chief Harry Dillabough said city police, the Polk county sheriff's office and the state crime bureau are conducting the investigation.

Entrance into the building was gained through the south entrance, which is an electric door, according to police.

Merchandise taken consisted of gloves, tires, battery chargers, battery lamps, wrenches, leather mitts and liners and a number of cases of gasoline additive, police said.

Warmer Weather Returns; Highs To 22 Expected

Comparatively warm weather has moved into the area for at least a day as a low of —3 was recorded last night, the sun beamed out of clearing skies this morning and the mercury began its upward climb from sub-zero hibernation. With the weather warming, however, look out for the snow which we haven't had this year.

High and low temperatures the past several days were 11 and —15 on Monday, —1 and —15 on Tuesday, 12 and —17 on Wednesday and a low of —3 degrees last night. Low temperatures have been below zero for 22 days in succession since January 9.

Mostly fair and warmer today, partly cloudy with possible scattered light snow tonight and tomorrow. Temeratures will turn colder tomorrow. Highs of 15 to 22 are expected today with lows of 2 to —8 tonight.

March 5th Date Set for School Bond Election

the motion and it carried by a 4-3 vote with Owen, Howick, Burtness and Olson favoring and Bredeson, Hoel and Anderson opposing.

Asked about the amount in which taxes would be raised by imposing the additional 10-mill levy for bond retirement, Swenson presented a list he had compiled from the 1962 mill rate sheet for the county. In Thief River Falls the non-homestead increase would be about $3 per $100 of taxes paid on 1962 assessments payable in 1963, he said. He also noted that the increase would be on general taxes only—not ditch taxes or special assessments.

Swenson also told the board that it had an obligation to the people in the district to give an indication as to the amount of tax increase which would be required for construction. It was this suggestion which prompted the votes on motions for financing through six-mill levy (defeated) and 10-mill levy.

Board member Howard Hoel offered the following written statement and asked that it be incorporated into the minutes of the meeting:

"At the school board meeting of January 23, 1963, we were presented with three possible choices regarding bond payments. I was definitely against end-loading the contract as I believe it is grossly unfair to taxpayers 20-30 years from now. Temporarily I thought that if I voted in favor of the split bond proposal for a building plan I do not approve but couldn't at present hope to change, I would be in a better position to express my opinions regarding the financing. Later I realized that my vote would be interpreted as my approval of the present building plan and I can't honestly let that impression stand. Therefore, I move that my vote in favor of the split bond proposal be rescinded and changed to a no vote. I request that this motion be recorded in the minutes of this meeting." The board granted the request.

Superintendent Reports

Supt. M. B. Hankerson was asked by the board to comment on an editorial appearing in the Times which listed the Thief River Falls school district at the top of a list of area schools in maintenance costs per pupil unit. He stated that the figures were accurate but did not present a full picture.

Maintenance costs indicate only expense of the district and do not take into consideration any of the income which the district receives. Schools, with the exception of recently-established schools at Wadena and Alexandria used in the comparison do not have area vocational schools, he noted, and this fact alone tends to create a difference in maintenance costs.

Maintenance costs are derived by taking the entire expenses of the district for one year and dividing that figure by the number of pupil units in the district. Pupil units are figured on kindergarten, elementary, junior and senior high school and vocational students. To make the figures comparative, he said, the vocational school expenses would have to be deducted. Last year vocational school expenses for rental, salaries and supplies totaled $156,093 without additional costs for heat, light, water, telephone and janitorial service, Hankerson said. Deducting this from the total maintenance cost of $1,100,369 would put maintenance cost for high school and elementary students at less than $330 rather than the $357 figure listed. This would result in the local district being ninth in the comparative list used rather than first.

Districts with area vocational schools have the following maintenance costs per pupil unit, the superintendent said: Austin, $432; Winona, $395; Mankato, $139; St. Cloud, $347; Minneapolis, $387; St. Paul, $392; and Duluth, $357.

The local district also operates special classes which many other districts do not have. Much of the cost of these is recovered in state or federal aids, but the expense is still included in the total, Hankerson said.

Lions Are Told of Hospital Addition

Norman Peterson Speaks at Meeting Wednesday

Norman Peterson, administrator of Northwestern Hospital, informed members of the Lions club at their luncheon meeting Wednesday noon of details of the award of contracts last week for the projected new addition to the institution's facilities to cost more than $800,000.

Introduced by L. A. Ihle, program chairman, Peterson stated that the low bid of the Dean L. Witcher Co. was well in line with the architects' estimates. He explained that 50 per cent of the total cost of the project will come from federal Hill-Burton and Accelerated Public Works funds.

The new facilities, Peterson said, are intended mainly to provide for the rehabilitation of elderly patients, adding that persons over the age of 65 in Minnesota have increased 74 per cent in number since 1930.

James Parkins, general chairman of the Lions district midwinter conference to be held in Thief River Falls February 16 and 17, announced that 137 reservations have already been received from thruout the district.

Eight Pennington 4Hers To Enter Speaking Contest

Eight Pennington county 4-H club members have entered the annual 4-H radio speaking contest to be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. in the courthouse meeting room in Thief River Falls. Topic of the contest this year is, "How Should 4-H Prepare Me for Responsible Citizenship?"

Talks are to be five to seven minutes in length and judging will be on the basis of 70 points for composition and 30 points for delivery. The county winner will compete in the district contest February 16 at the Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston. Last year the Pennington county winner, Kathleen Torgerson of the Steiner 4-H club, advanced to first place in the state event.

Current entries in the contest are Kenneth Larson, Kratka; Margie Vik and Linda Wik, St. Hilaire; Charlene Rude, Smiley; Regene and Michael Radniecki, Deer Park; Karen Svendsgaard, Mavie; and Faye Stucy, Deer Park.

Legis Lative Letter
from ANDREW SKAAR
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

As you know, most of the real work of a legislative body such as the Minnesota House of Representatives is done in the various committees. It is in these specialized groups, each dealing with specific types of legislation, that information is gathered, bills are "hammered" into shape, and in a very real sense, your laws are made.

Because committees are so important, therefore, it is vital that members of the House be appointed to those committees where they can make the greatest possible contribution to the State. I thought it would be interesting in this report to give you an idea of how these appointments are made and some general information on recent changes in committee structure.

Shortly after the November election, those individuals who were elected to the State House of Representatives were called to St. Paul to meet with the group, Conservative or Liberal, with which they planned to caucus. At these meetings, the two groups decided upon their respective candidates for speaker of the House, and with approximately 25 more members in their caucus, the Conservatives knew that their candidate would be elected on the first day of the Session.

The Conservative candidate was Lloyd L. Duxbury, Jr., of Caledonia, and knowing that one of his first and most important tasks as Speaker of the House would be the assignment of members to the various committees, he immediately mailed notices to all members requesting information that would help him in making these decisions. He asked about each member's background and vocation, those subjects in which he had a special interest, and in the case of former members, what their previous committee experience had been. His job was made considerably harder by the fact that over 40 per cent of the members were new.

It was after careful study and consideration of all this information — attempting to fit the right man to the right job — that Duxbury announced, during the second week of the Session, the committee assignments of the various members.

At the same time that committee assignments were announced, the Speaker also named those members who were to serve as chairmen and vice chairmen of the various groups. This Session's committees will have the benefit of experienced leadership, as each chairman has had previous experience in the House, and new members will have a good opportunity to benefit from this experience, in that almost all vice chairmen were selected from the ranks of the first-year representatives.

An unfortunate problem in making committee assignments is attempting to keep meeting-time conflicts to a minimum. With a large number of committees, it is necessary that several meet at the same time, and this must be taken into consideration in deciding on posts for individual members. If a representative would be valuable on both of two committees, but they meet at the same time, a decision must be made on where he would make the biggest contribution. As I write this, only eight out of 135 members have conflicts in their committee meeting times, and attempts are being made to resolve these.

In addition to making assignments, Speaker Duxbury had the task of realigning the committee structure of the House. The Committees on health and welfare were consolidated and are now known as the Committee on Health and Welfare. Similarly, the committees on elections and reapportionment were consolidated into the Committee on Elections and Reapportionment. The former committee on banking is now broadened in function, and is known as the Committee on Financial Institutions and Securities; and the committee on labor is now the Committee on Industrial and Employee Relations, and as such will have increased responsibilities.

The committee on state institutions was abolished, and five new committees added — Administrative Rules and Procedures, Law Enforcement and Juvenile Delinquency, Metropolitan and Urban Resources, and State and Junior Colleges.

In announcing the new lineup of 36 House committees, Speaker Duxbury stated that the consolidation of some committees and addition of others should expedite the work of the House during the 1963 Session, adding that it is the intention of the Conservative group in the House to complete work in 90 days.

"As I write this, committees have started their deliberations on bills which have been introduced thus far in the Session. We will be spending a great deal of our time during the remainder of the Session in committee work — hearing testimony, studying reports, and discussing the pros and cons of various proposals. It is anticipated that we will have a record number of bills to consider this year, and out of the large volume we hope to develop laws that will assist the State of Minnesota to progress and prosper.

$5.8 Million State Highway Bids Due

To Be Opened at Office In St. Paul February 15

A contract letting estimated at $5,827,568 will be held February 15 at the Minnesota Highway Department's central offices in St. Paul, it was announced today.

Fourteen projects have been set up in nine counties which will include concrete paving, gravel base and plant-mixed bituminous shoulders on 9.1 miles on TH 90 between Petran and Austin. When completed and opened next fall this will provide motorists with 43¼ miles of completed Interstate 90 from Petran to the junction of TH 63 south of Rochester.

A big bridge project consists of constructing the double deck Washington avenue bridge over the Mississippi river in the University area in Minneapolis.

Bids on other bridge work are asked on a highway separation carrying TH 694, east bound over TH 169 and widening the bridge on TH 694, east bound, over the Mississippi river in Brooklyn Center.

Another project consists of an underpass for TH 10 under the Great Northern tracks and a separation for new TH 10 under TH 288 (4th avenue) both in Anoka.

Mr. Bukowski was born February 12, 1933, in Wanger township, Marshall county. He attended school and grew to manhood in Thief Lake township near Middle River. Since 1959 he had made his home in Strandquist.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bukowski of Strandquist; one brother, Anthony, Wahpeton, N. D.; four sisters, Josephine, (Mrs. John Gostanczyk) Argyle; Sophie (Mrs. Loren Kylie) Askov; Clara, (Mrs. Sylvester Kasprowicz) Karlstad, and Mary Ann (Mrs. Edmund Lubarski) Strandquist.

Preceding him in death were three brothers and two sisters.

Military Rites At Bemidji For Soren Nygaard

Funeral services for Soren Nygaard, 75, who died unexpectedly at his Bemidji home on January 26, were held at the Olson Funeral Home in that city on Wednesday morning. The Reverend Earl Skifstad of Big Falls officiated and interment took place in Evergreen cemetery in Big Falls.

Mr. Nygaard was born in Stavanger, Norway, on March 27, 1887. He came to America at an early age and first lived in the Lake Park, Minn. and Reynolds, N. D. areas. He later moved to Canada for a short time. In 1917 he was married to Agnes Rasmussen at Thief River Falls. They farmed west of Grygla until retiring in 1954, at which time they moved to Bemidji, where they have lived since.

Mr. Nygaard, a veteran of World War I, during which he served in France, was buried with military honors by the Big Falls Legion post.

Surviving are his wife, two sons, Laurence of Fresno, Calif., and Allan, of Big Falls; one daughter, Mrs. John (Adeline) Swanson, Minneapolis; six grandchildren; three brothers, Ole, Waubun; Melvin and Leo, California; two sisters, Sophia Nygaard of British Columbia, Can., and Mrs. Bertha Fladeland of this city.

Water Resources to Be RRV Shows Topic

Citizens of Northwestern Minnesota who are interested in better management of water and land resources in the decades ahead are urged to attend the Water Resource Seminar scheduled during Red River Valley Winter Shows week, Crookston. The seminar will be held on Monday, February 18, at the Northwest School and Experiment Station beginning at 9:30 a. m. in Kiehle auditorium.

Water resource seminars have been held annually for four years and have become increasingly popular with those who are interested in better natural resources management. In previous years, the topic under discussion generally has been applicable to the entire Red River Basin. The committee in charge of the seminar program this year, chairmanned by Olaf C. Soine, president of the Red River Valley Development association took note of the recent interest in the Red Lake River watershed. This is the largest watershed in the Red River Basin south of Canada. The theme of the 1963 seminar is "The Red Lake River Watershed."

George Lyons of the Corps of U. S. Engineers, St. Paul, will present a one-hour's resume of all of the work that has been completed by the corps from the earliest date up until the current time of the Red Lake watershed. Melvin H. Johnson of Littlefork will speak on his many years of experience in land zoning. Mr. Johnson is providing lay leadership for the third phase of land zoning in Koochiching county. He is director of Area I, Soil Conservation district. Any watershed as large as the Red Lake Watershed must consider land zoning into the planning as the water management practices develop for the decades ahead.

A panel of experts representing almost all of the agencies that would be involved in any program of good water management will wind up the seminar — raising questions among themselves and answering questions that might come up from the audience.

Further details on this seminar will be given in newspapers at a future date.

City Band Will Hold Rehearsal

19 Fish Caught in Derby on Sunday

H. Christopherson Lands Biggest Fish During Sixth Event

Nineteen fish were caught at the Sixth Annual Fishing Derby sponsored by St. Bernard's Men's club and Boy Scout Troop 57 Sunday at Tindolph Point in Thief River Falls. Weather for the event was bright and cold but the area was crowded with fishermen and interested spectators.

Ten of the fish caught were northerns and nine were walleyes, officials of the contest revealed. Largest fish caught during the day was a 3 pound, 3 ounce northern landed by Herman Christopherson, rural Thief River Falls, who also caught an eight-ounce northern and 12-ounce walleye.

Smallest fish of the day was caught by Gordon Bjerken of Thief River Falls who coaxed a three-ounce northern to grab his bait. First fish was a 14-ounce northern landed by five-year-old Jennifer Travnicek. Youngest fisherman was three-year-old Theresa Kotaska and oldest fisherman was Andrew Carlson, 83. Contestant from the greatest distance was Henry Larson of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Other catches during the contest were made by the following anglers: Ray Saurdiff, Newfolden, 10-oz. northern; Albert Cork, city, 1 lb., 12 oz. walleye; Jim Kooyer, rural TRF, 1 lb., 2 oz. walleye and 1 lb., 5 oz. walleye; Mrs. Werner Jacobson, TRF, 2 lb., 2 oz walleye; Martin Gulbranson, TRF, 2 lb., 1 oz. walleye; Patrick Travnicek, TRF, 11 oz northern; Selmer Dimmen, 1 lb. 12 oz. walleye; Lawrence Moe, Skime, 1 lb., 4 oz. walleye; Lawrence Goethe, 4 oz. northeren; Marvin Johnson, TRF, 11 oz. northern; Lauris Krogstad, 1 lb., 8 oz. northern; Lloyd Zutz, rural TRF, 2 lb., 2 oz. walleye; and Maynard Seilley, 1 lb. 2 oz. northern.

More Than 1,000,000 Visit Itasca Park

Near-record Number Was Registered Last Year

Over one million persons visited Itasca state park last year, according to the Minnesota conservation department.

The headwaters of the Mississippi River, located within the park at Lake Itasca, continued to be a popular tourist attraction. Records show that 186,272 people visited the headwaters during the year.

There were 26,000 visitors from 49 other states and the District of Columbia and 770 persons from 54 foreign countries who signed their names on the register at the site of the headwaters.

Among the latter group were two from Russia, four from India and one who gave his home as Transylvania.

The number of campers continued to increase as they have for the past several years. There were 70,684 camp guests in the park during 1962 compared with 55,911 in 1961. The increase occurred despite poor camping weather on most weekends.

PIPELINE COMPANY PAYS $45,173 TAX IN R. L. CO.

Once again, Lakehead Pipe Line Co., Inc., rates as the Red Lake county personal property taxpayer with the biggest bill — a total of $45,173.52 which is up from $42,344.94 a year ago. The present figure is a substantial boost from its first tax bill of around $10,000 ten years ago.

ONLY PART of the crowd that attended the fishing derby held Sunday by the St. Bernard's men's club is shown in the above photo of the river near Tindolph Point in Thief River Falls. The contest this year was one of the most successful for fishermen as a total of 19 fish were caught, including a 3 pound, 3 ounce northern and several walleyes weighing more than two pounds. The men's club sponsors the derby annually in cooperation with members of the Boy Scout troop at the church with proceeds used for support of the Scout program.

YOU SAY YOU WANT A SECOND HELPING?
YES, MOTHER—I'M JUST A GROWING GIRL!
DOING LITTLE WORK, DAUGHTER USED TO EAT LIKE A HORSE—
But now—WOW!
TWO ORANGE SEEDS AND A TEASPOON OF HONEY! THAT'S A BREAKFAST?
NOW MOTHER—IT GIVES ME ALL THE ENERGY I REQUIRE!!
SHE WORKS LIKE A HORSE, AND EATS LIKE A BIRD!

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mrs. Sadie Ayers gratefully acknowledges the many acts of love and kindness shown to her during her stay in the hospital, and to all of us at her passing. "Thank you" to Doctors Wendt and Anderson and to the nurses and staff for their devoted attention, to the many friends who stayed with her, and all who sent letters, cards, and flowers. We appreciate the visits of several pastors, and Pastor Carlson's comforting messages. Thanks to Mrs. Ernest Melvie, Mrs. Wm. Halbasch, and Mr. Charles Joyce for music, and to the pallbearers. Special thanks to the friends from the Norden Church and the Good Cheer Club who served lunch at the church, and to all those who brought food to our homes. May God bless you for your thoughtfulness. It has been a real comfort to us. Eldred W. Ayers, and the Dake Ayers, Arnold Petersen, Merle Wakefield and Paul Furuseth families. 1t9p

Card of Thanks

Our sincere thanks for all the acts of kindness and sympathy shown us during our recent bereavement. Special thanks for cards, flowers and memorials, to Rev. Prowler Sextet Tips Hallock 4-2

After giving up a pair of quick goals to coach Ken Wellen's Hallock Bears in the opening minutes of hockey play here Tuesday night, coach Gene Sack's Prowlers bounced back to overcome this deficit and go on to mark up a 4 to 2 decision in a Region Eight conference game.

The Prowlers will conclude their pre-tournament schedule in the next few days. On Friday night the locals will travel to Roseau for a game against the conference-leading Roseau Rams; and on Saturday night, the Prowlers will meet the Baudette Bears at Baudette. On Tuesday night, Feb. 5, the Prowlers will meet the Warroad Warriors on the Arena rink in the schedule-ending game. The Prowlers hopes of finishing in second place in the conference standings, and so gain a bye into the regional tourney, could hinge on the outcome of Tuesday's finale.

In Tuesday's game, Hallock scored a goal at the 0:13 mark of the first period when John Peterson's centering-out pass, from deep in the southwest corner of the rink, was deflected into the Prowler net. And at the 2:32 mark, Jim Tureson, picking up a rebound off Roger Hoffman's on-goal shot, beat goalie Dave Erickson, giving the inspired Bears a 2 to 0 lead.

The Prowlers' co-captain, Tony Poole marked up the first goal for the locals when after getting a pass from John Hellquist in center ice he skated in on goalie Gary Treumer and beat the Bears net minder from close in. And at the 8:49 mark the Prowlers scored the equalizer when Elroy Frolland's long shot a bouncer was given an extra juggle by the stick of a Hallock defender and eluded the Hallock goalie.

What proved to be the game-winning tally was scored by Don Mathieu at the 11:42 and came as the result of a neat bit of solo work by the junior center Don carried the puck into the Hallock zone, coming in from the right, and, after feinting a pass, found an opening on the short side of the net.

The Prowlers added a goal at the 7:58 mark of the second period, with Poole's backhand shot beating Treumer. Hellquist, who has been making rapid progress as a right-winger, set up the play by giving a pass to Poole and then screening off a Hallock defenseman.

In a preliminary game, coach George Schieff's Prowler B squad, on goals by Roddy Carlson and Wayne Smith, defeated the Hallock B team, 2 to 0.

The summary:

Thief River Falls H. S. (4)

Goal—Erickson.
Defense—Morben (cc), R. Johnson, Anderson, Kvikstad.
Centers—Mathieu, Poole (cc).
Wings—Frolland, D. Olson, Sullivan, Hellquist.

Hallock H. S. (2)

Goal—Treumer.
Defense—Hoffman, D. Johnson, Carlson.
Centers—Ryden (cc), Tureson (cc).

Officials: Bill Sullivan and Paul Bedard.

Lincoln Mat Men Win from Crookston 36-11

Coach Al Shaff's Prowler wrestling squad won their eighth match in nine starts when, on Wednesday night in the high school gymnasium here, they defeated the Crookston Central Pirates, 36 to 11.

Next week's schedule will find the Prowlers meeting the powerful Bemidji Lumberjacks at Bemidji on Wednesday, Feb. 6; and meeting the Park Rapids Panthers at Park Rapids on Friday, Feb. 8. The Lumberjacks vs. Prowlers match had been scheduled for last Wednesday, but the cold weather forced a postponement of that match, and it has been re-scheduled for next week.

The Prowlers moved into an early lead in Wednesday night's meeting with Crookston, with Myles Olson, Roy Delorme, and Roger Wilson pinning their respective Pirate opponents.

The most evenly-contested match on the program was the Joe Taylor vs. Paul Brewer match in the 165-pound class. Taylor, giving away considerable poundage to his opponent, held the veteran Crookston wrestler to a 4-4 draw.

In the preliminary matches, coach Dale Folger's Prowler 'B' squad, with Earl Molstad, Don Berggren, and Emery Lee scoring pins, easily defeated the Crookston 'B' squad, winning by a 24 to 0 margin.

The summaries:

97-lb. Myles Olson (TRF) pinned Duane Reitmeier (C), 1:04.
103-lb. Roy Delorme (TRF) pinned Rick Kaltenberg (C), 0:22.
112-lb. Roger Wilson (TRF) pinned Tyler Hamerlik (C), 4:20.
120-lb. Gary Nereson (TRF) decisioned Loren Johnson (C), 5-1.
127-lb. Ron Shaff (TRF), won on forfeit.
133-lb. Steve Skadsen (TRF) decisioned Paul Moe (C), 4-1.
138-lb. Tom Larson (TRF) pinned Bob Young (C), 3:26.
145-lb. Miles Chapman (C) decisioned Luke Kaushagen (TRF), 6-0.
154-lb. Ken Charron (C) decisioned Dean Kaushagen (TRF), 4-2.
165-lb. Joe Taylor (TRF) and Paul Brewer, (C), draw, 4-4.
175-lb. Bob Benson (TRF) decisioned Dean Kaushagen (TRF) 4-2.
165-lb. Joe Taylor (TRF) and Paul Brewer (C), draw, 4-4.
175-lb. Bob Benson (TRF) decisioned Bill Snider (C), 8-6.
Heavyweight Charles Lembke (C) decisioned Dwight Myhrer (TRF), 5-4.
Referee: Mike Cummings.

Prowler Six Ranks Third in Region

Roseau Sextet Leads in Region 8 Conference

Region Eight High School Hockey Conference standings:

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Roseau	10	0	0	14
East Grand Forks	9	2	1	12½
Thief River Falls	8	3	0	12
Baudette	7	4	1	8½
Crookston	6	5	0	8
Warroad	6	6	0	7
Hallock	4	10	0	5
Red Lake Falls	1	8	0	1

The Roseau Rams hold a commanding lead in the Region Eight hockey conference standings, and are heavily favored to gain the region's number one rating for regional tournament play. The Rams have an opportunity to add four points to their total in the remaining games on their schedule. The second place East Grand Forks Green Wave, with a game with Warroad remaining on the schedule, can pick up but one point. The third place Prowlers, with three games remaining, can earn three points and win second place in the standings.

The Prowlers will play Roseau at Roseau on Friday night; Baudette at Baudette on Saturday night; and concluded with a game against Warroad here on Tuesday night.

12,211 Lakes Are Counted in State

Tally Still Incomplete in Cook & Lake Counties

With inventories incomplete in two of Minnesota's 87 counties, the Conservation Department's division of waters says that to date they have counted 12,211 lakes in the state.

The two counties on which the census is incomplete are Cook and Lake, both of which contain large numbers of lakes.

Although Minnesota has long been known as the "Land of 10,000 Lakes" no one ever counted them all before and it is clear now that there are a great many more than the legendary 10,000.

When counts are complete in the last two counties, it is believed that the total inventory will run between 13,000 and 14,000.

So far Otter tail county leads the list with 882 lakes, Itasca is next with 878 and St. Louis is third with 843.

Arena Rink Discussions

A gathering of hockey and ice-skating fans who are interested in solving the problems involved in the Arena rink improvements has been slated for this evening, Thursday, in the American Legion's meeting room.

Tony Dorn will be temporary chairman of the meeting, and will direct the discussions into constructive channels. It is hoped that representatives from the various clubs and organizations will be in attendance at this evening's meeting. And it is hoped, too, that at the meeting a permanent committee can be formed.

The Arena rink was erected in 1936 as a combined Works Progress Administration and city project. And they built well as the building is a sturdy structure, and will endure for many more seasons. And of course you can't beat its location.

If, after a series of meetings and discussions a reasonable plan can be drafted, and with the agreement to these plans being unanimous, I'm sure that the city council will give the committee a fair and welcome hearing.

Kid Hockey Attraction

Some fine entertainment is in store for the hockey fans who can make arrangements to be in the Arena rink on Saturday afternoon. A pair of kid hockey teams from the Earl Grey community center in Winnipeg will meet a couple of local kid teams.

At 1:00 p. m., the Eagles Midgets, coached by Paul Bedard, will play the Earl Grey Midgets; and at 2:30 p. m., the V. F. W. Bantams (they were previously called the Midgets) will play the Earl Grey juveniles.

Picking the Spares

That man-to-man meeting of the T & S Implement and the Daleford Farms bowling teams on the Monday night bowling league, ended in a draw, with each team gaining two points.

The two teams share first place in the league standings, and Monday night's match, it had been hoped, would send one or the other into first place. Not so. The T & S, with games of 856-813-879, won the odd game of the three-game series; but the Dalefords, with games of 847-890-872, won the aggregate-pin point.

And that the two teams were evenly matched can be judged by team scores. The T & S won the first game, 856 to 847, by nine pins; and the third game, 879 to 872, by seven pins.

In the individual contests, between Jim Muzzy of the Dalefords and Mel Scholin of the T & S, and Helmer Skomedal of the Dalefords and Red Thyren of the Implement, the Dalefords were the winners. Jim Muzzy had games of 198-174-175 for a 547 aggregate, while Mel Scholin had scores of 162-175-180 for a 517-pin total. And Helmer had games of 172-167-176 for a 515-pin total to outscore Red, who had games of 141-166-179 for a 486-pin total.

The Schenley's bowling team received the returns for their first place victory in the team event in the Ada bowling tournament, and the prize money amounted to $125.00. With his share of the pool, Lloyd Samuelson should be able to go on a couple of ice-fishing expeditions.

Should Jam-Pack the Gym

The basketball game that will be played here on Saturday night should attract the season's largest crowd. It's the traditional Bemidji Lumberjacks vs. Prowlers game. And when these two teams meet, it is high school rivalry at its best and finest.

That's a puzzling Bemidji team that coach Bun Fortier will bring over here. The Jacks, except for an early-season defeat by the International Falls Broncos, have been moving at an ever-winning pace. And last Saturday night, in a game played at Bemidji, the Jacks handed a highly-regarded Detroit Lakes a 55 to 33 beating. The Lumberjacks are surprising their most ardent fans by the effective brand of basketball they exhibit.

Except for big and burly Bill Rabe, who is probably the most valuable player on the Bemidji squad, the Jacks aren't physically impressive. They haven't exceptional speed, nor do they posses dangerous outside shooting, but they manage to win games, and that's the reason for playing the schedule.

And the Prowlers. Well, if coach Jack Junker's boys are having an "on" night, which they didn't in their game at Fargo, the Prowlers can beat the Jacks. And this is one of the reasons, that the gym should be filled by hopeful basketball fans on Saturday night.

Izaak Walton League Seeks Largest Tree

The Minnesota chapter of the Izaak Walton League will launch a contest on January 31 to discover the largest living specimens of native Minnesota trees growing within the state's borders.

A list of the 50 species of trees that will be considered in the contest can be obtained by writing to: Big Tree Contest, Minnesota conservation department, division of forestry, Centennial Office Bldg., St. Paul 1, Minnesota.

Contest winners will be awarded 500 tree seedling of assorted species, courtesy of the Izaak Walton league, to be deliver in the spring of 1964.

Persons who know the location of a tree which they believe to be a potential winner should write the division of forestry, giving either the legal description of the land on which the tree is growing or a sufficiently detailed location so that it can be found readily.

They must also enclose their own measurement of the circumference of the trunk 4½ feet above ground level.

The largest trees entered in each species will then be examined by personnel of the division of forestry. Records will be kept on all trees entered and the winners will be determined after the close of the contest October 31.

If two or more contestants enter the same tree, the winner will be determined on the basis of earliest postmarked entry. Any tree growing on public or private land is eligible for the contest.

Contestants must be Minnesota residents and may not be employees of the Minnesota department of conservation or officers of the Minnesota Izaak Walton League, nor officers of any of the League's chapters.

Contest judges are Dr. Frank Kaufert, director, school of forestry, University of Minnesota; William Aultfather, president of the Minnesota Izaak Walton League; and Ray Clement, supervisor of tree nurseries, division of forestry, Minnesota conservation department.

Telephone Pioneers Seek Assistance for Service to the Needy

Telephone Pioneers of America in this area are again aiding the work of New Eyes For the Needy, Inc., an international, volunteer, non-profit, non sectarian organization, according to J. M. Wilson, manager of Northwestern Bell Telephone company in Thief River Falls.

"For the second year in cooperation with Northwestern Bell, we have set up a collection box in our local phone company business office," he said. "We need metal frames in any condition, unbroken plastic frames with or without lenses, safety or sunglasses, soft eyeglass cases and bits of precious metals such as gold, silver or platinum in old watches or broken jewelry."

New Eyes For the Needy, Inc., is a unique organization. In operation for 28 years, it collects and sorts discarded eyeglasses and distributes them to hospitals and medical missions throughout the world. The work is carried on without soliciting funds. Any money needed to buy new prescription glasses for the needy is realized from the sale of the metal in metal-framed glasses and of precious metals collected.

Through the years, New Eyes For the Needy's mission has progressed and expanded to a world wide organization. It currently collects about 400,000 pairs of glasses and jewelry each year. Nearly 250,000 people have been helped by the organization; it has received over two million pairs of glasses.

Telephone Pioneers of America is a 51 year-old organization of telephone people who have more than 21 years of service in the industry. Last year, the Telephone Pioneers in the Detroit Lakes Council, including Thief River Falls, collected 850 pairs of glasses. Pioneer members here include Louise Steenerson, Susie Scholz, A. J. Cummings and L. G. Helland.

Senior Citizens Invited to Enter Talent Festival

Three to Be Chosen to Share in Winter Shows Event February 20th

A popular event at the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, is the talent festival for youth, to be held Wednesday, February 20, at 8:00 p. m. in the Central high school auditorium in Crookston.

For the first time this year, senior citizens will be invited to participate in the talent festival. The age limits on the festival for youth as well as the rules and the prizes will remain the same as previously announced.

During the "judging intermission" of the youth talent show, three senior citizens will display their talent and will compete for prizes based on audience reaction to their performance. Senior citizens, 60 years of age or older, may compete in this separate and special contest. Three prizes will be awarded in the Senior Contest: first prize, $50.00; second prize, $25.00; and third prize, $10.00. The prize money will be the same for an individual act or a group act.

An elimination contest for senior citizens will be held on Tuesday, February 19, at 1:30 p. m. in the Central high school auditorium. Three acts will be selected to appear during the festival Wednesday evening.

Senior Citizens who wish to appear in the senior competition should send their name, address, age, and a short description of the act to Allan Dragseth, Eldred, Minnesota.

The age limits for the regular annual youth talent show are 12 to 21 years of age. Cash awards to the winners are: $100.00, first prize; $75.00, second prize; and $50.00, third prize; also, all acts which appear in the evening show will receive $10.00. Any ties for first, second, or third place will split the prize money. Entries in this contest should be mailed to Allan Dragseth, Eldred, Minnesota before February 13.

Marshall County Radio Speaking Contest Monday

Fourteen Club Members To Participate in 4-H Contest at Newfolden

"How Should 4H Prepare Me For Responsible Citizenship" is the topic on which 14 Marshall county 4-H members will speak at the annual Marshall County 4-H Radio Speaking contest. It will be held at the Newfolden school community room on February 4 at 8 p. m., reports Harlem Sandberg, Marshall county 4-H club agent.

Speeches will all be between five and seven minutes long. Contestants will be judged on how well they composed the speech and on how they deliver.

Participants include Peter and Crystal Schmidt, Happy Corner; Robert Fay and Judi Olson, Tamarac Tacklers; Jackie Slusar, Boxville; Naomi Rokke, Grove Valiants; Beatrice Kasprowicz, Florian Friskies; Diane Engevik, Mary Engevik and Marion Pearson, Gatzke Busy Beavers; Kenneth Anderson and Lester Bakke, Viking; Susan Hjelle and Maureen Crummy, Argyle Hustlers.

Sponsors of the contest are the Minnesota extension service and the Jewish community relations council of Minnesota. Prizes for county winners are $5 cash, world globe and right to broadcast in district event for the champion. The reserve champion receives $3.50 cash and a world globe.

The event is open to public and anyone interested is invited to attend.

Thomas Mehlhoff Accepted at UM Veterinary School

Thomas Mehlhoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Mehlhoff of Thief River Falls, received word last week that he has been accepted for admission to veterinary medicine school on the St. Paul Campus of the University of Minnesota. He is a 1960 graduate of Lincoln high school, attended St. Olaf college at Northfield for two years and is now enrolled at the University of Minnesota.

Acceptance by the veterinary school was given on the basis of a written examination and Mehlhoff will begin the four-year course in September. While taking courses required for entrance to the school this year, Mehlhoff is also working on virology research at Swedish Hospital in Minneapolis.

CHURCH IN THE HILLS

The little frame church in this snow-blanketed mountain village lifts its tall spire above its rugged environment like a sentinel guarding a sacred trust or a lighthouse on a rock-bound coast.

Wherever man has pushed his habitations — in the bleak wastes of the polar regions, under the blazing tropical sun, or in the milder climates of the world — he has built his churches dedicated to the worship of God.

The fact that no community seems complete without its house of worship bears eloquent testimony to the universal recognition of man's need of religion.

The village church plays a vital part in the life of the community. The spiritual standards of the people are fashioned there; marriage vows are spoken at its altar, and the honored dead sleep in its sacred soil.

There it stands in every community — the little frame church — pointing the people to God, teaching them the way of life, giving them strength and faith for every need.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Stop! Now sell every drop of your milk from the fourth day

Land O'Lakes Calf Milk Replacer lets you sell all your whole milk and still raise a good, healthy calf. This milk product is highly digestible—contains 10% extra fat for 22% more calories, vitamins, trace minerals and antibiotics. It does not contain cereals which the young calf is unable to efficiently digest at an early age.

You'll save money by selling whole milk and switching the four-day-old calf to Land O'Lakes Calf Milk Replacer. Costs you less than $2 a cwt. reliquefied. Difference between this and what you get for milk is profit. Calves are properly fed.

It's the nation's No. 1 Calf Milk Replacer! In 1961, 1,500,000 calves were raised on Land O'Lakes Calf Milk Replacer. Research proves it puts on a pound of gain for 16¼¢—a dime less than 50% cereal products. Calves gained 94% faster, needed 46% less food. See your dealer. Lay in a supply now.

Garden Clubs to Meet at RRV Shows Feb. 19

A special program for garden club members has been arranged again this year during the week of the Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston. Garden Club Day is Tuesday, February 19.

Members of garden clubs in the 11th and 13th Districts of the Minnesota State Horticultural Society and other interested persons are invited for this garden club day program to be held at the Northwest School, Aggie Inn-Dining Hall building, beginning at 9:45 a. m. The program has been developed through the cooperation of Mrs. Lewis Handegaard, Hendrum, president of the 11th district society; Mrs. Orlando Chervestad, Oklee, president of the 13th district society; and B. C. Beresford, horticulturist, Northwest School and Experiment Station.

The day's schedule will open at 9:45 a. m. with registration and coffee at the Dining Hall. Immediately following, the program will begin with Mrs. Lewis Handegaard presiding. Two speakers will present garden topics and show colored slides. Mrs. Harry Schrimpf of Fargo, N. Dak., will discuss "Rose Culture in the Red River Valley", and Neal S. Holland, North Dakota State University, Fargo, will discuss "Day Lilies and Other Garden Perennials." Harold Thomforde, a member of the Winter Shows board of managers, will give a welcome to the visitors.

A luncheon at 12:00 o'clock noon in the Northwest School dining hall has been arranged for the garden club members as well as the public affairs seminar group in session that day. The speaker at the luncheon will be Dr. William C. Rogers, director of the World Affairs Center, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis.

The afternoon will be open, for those attending the morning meeting, to visit the Red River Valley Winter Shows.

Earl M. Larimer In State Post Again

Former Patrol Chief Has Rejoined Highway Dept.

Earl M. Larimer, St. Paul, a former chief in the Minnesota highway patrol and later the first director of the highway department's safety division, returned to the department January 23 as assistant safety director.

Since his resignation from the highway department in 1956, Larimer has been associated with an automobile insurance company and Motor Travel Services, Inc.

Larimer will serve as assistant to Safety Director Garnet Hall. He was appointed on the basis of his placement in a recently conducted competitive examination for the newly-created position.

Larimer joined the state Highway Patrol in 1929 when it had a complement of only nine members. He rose through the ranks, was appointed chief in 1945 and safety director in 1954.

In his new position he will assist Hall in coordination and direction of all traffic law enforcement and accident prevention activities of the state highway patrol; the drivers license division and driver examination program, accident records, safety education and safety promotion sections of the safety division.

Mrs. Folkedahl Tells of District P.T.A. Workshop

District President Invites Attendance from Lincoln PTA Group

Mrs. Sigurd Folkedahl, president of the district Parent and Teacher association, invited the public to attend a meeting on area juvenile behavior problems on February 16 when the Lincoln high school PTA met Monday evening at the school cafeteria. The juvenile workshop will be held at Washington elementary school in this city from 1 to 3:45 p. m.

Robert Flynn, vice president and representative of Lincoln PTA at school board meetings, gave a report on the sessions he has attended. A sample ballot was taken on the school expansion issue and the organization went on record as favoring the proposed program.

Proposed safety legislation in Minnesota was presented by Malcolm Magnuson, driver's license examiner, who recently returned from a safety meeting in St. Paul.

Mrs. R. J. Dryden, president of the PTA, presided at the January session.

Hostesses for the evening were mothers of 10th grade students with Mrs. Kenneth Halldin as chairman and included Mrs. Alvin Aaseby, Mrs. Albert Lafrenz, Mrs. Malcolm Magnuson and Mrs. Wilbert Maves.

Consider Trends When Selecting Occupation

One of the most important aspects a boy or girl must consider in choosing his future occupation is the current trend in employment, warns the information service of the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Because of the fast-changing American industrial scene, inevitable changes in employment are occurring for both men and women. For example, women now occupy a third of our work force. The trend of employment of more women in the service industries than in the goods-producing industries is increasing.

A decline in the number of people in farming occupations has gone on steadily for many years. Of the 69 million people employed in American industry, agriculture and government, less than 8 per cent are in farming.

Manufacturing, the key to industrial production, now employs over 16 million people. Although the number is less than five years ago, some increase is still expected in the 1960's.

But there are new job opportunities also. For example, the largest increase in employment in the last decade has been in government, particularly local government and education. An increase of 2 million each in trade and services—such as medical care, hotels and motels, laundries and dry cleaning establishments — occurred between 1950 and 1961. There has also been a rise in jobs in the fields of finance, commerce and real estate.

The U. S. Department of Labor estimates that within the next 10 years employment in the major occupational fields will change as follows: professional and technical occupations — up 27 per cent; proprietor, managerial and official —up 22 per cent; clerical and sales — up 27 per cent; industrial —up 23 per cent; service occupations — up 13 per cent; and farming — down 15 per cent.

These trends underlie the changing nature of occupations. White collar jobs are gaining steadily over blue collar jobs. The most rapid rise is in professional and technical occupations and this expansion is expected to continue. Teaching, medicine and nursing, engineering, the scientific professions, law, ministry, home economics are all included in this range of professions. And a rapidly growing demand for aides and technicians — well-trained personnel, usually with education beyond the high school level — is necessary to support these professions.

The demand for clerical and stenographic employees and skilled labor is expected to increase 25 per cent from 1960 to 1970. The increase for semi-skilled workers will be relatively smaller and no increase is expected for common labor.

Young people interested in agriculturally related occupations should not be discouraged, however. Because agriculture is related, either directly or indirectly, to all the previously mentioned occupations which are on the increase, there are many opportunities for the rural youth to expand this interest into a future occupation.

Vocational counselors give this advice: consider your interests and abilities and the trends in employment before selecting your future occupation.

Health Insurance Benefit Payments $19.5 Million a Day

Health Insurance Group Says 140 Million People Have Hospital Insurance

Health insurance benefit payments by all insuring organizations averaged an estimated $19.5 million a day during 1962, the Health Insurance Institute reported today. A decade earlier, in 1952, the benefits averaged out to $5.7 million a day.

The average daily benefit in 1962 represented an increase of some $2 million a day over the 1961 benefit average of $17.5 million a day, said the Institute. It also was a rise of $13.8 million a day over 1952's average of $5.7 million.

Health insurance benefit payments during 1962 by all insurers were estimated by the Institute at $7.1 billion, an increase of 11.5 per cent over the $6,397,000,000 paid out during 1961.

The Institute said insurance companies accounted for $3,766,000,000 of the 1962 benefits while all other insurers, including Blue Cross - Blue Shield, paid out some $3,365,000,000.

Of the insurance company benefit total for 1962, said the Institute, an estimated $2,855,000,000 went to help policyholders pay hospital, surgical and medical bills. The remaining $911,000,000 was paid to persons with loss of income insurance to help replace income cut off as a result of illness or injury, declared the Institute.

In terms of health insurance coverage, the Institute has estimated that at the end of 1962, some 140 million persons had hospital insurance, 130 million had surgical insurance, 97 million had regular medical insurance, 38 million had major medical insurance, and 43.5 million had loss of income insurance.

Don't Leave Locked Car on Highway

Danger of Practice Is Cited by Highway Dept.

The season of snowstorms brings a reminder from Minnesota highway department officials: if you must abandon your car on a state highway, don't lock it.

Some motorists — caught in a situation which prevents continuance of their trip — abandon their cars to go for help. But they leave the car locked and on the driving lanes of the highways.

"If at all possible, motorists should pull their cars off the traveled portion of the highway—but even if they cannot reach the shoulders, leave the cars unlocked so snowplow drivers can move the vehicles off the highway without damage," say the highway department maintenance engineers.

"Maintenance crews must remove abandoned vehicles for safety reasons" it is explained, "but moving a locked car or one which has been left in gear may damage the transmission of automobiles with automatic gear shifts."

The advice of the highway authorities is that if a car must be abandoned and valuables cannot be taken along, they should be locked in the glove compartment or the trunk, but the car doors left unlocked.

Public Housing

Another kitten that has turned into a cat and that may develop into a tiger is public housing. According to the Wall Street Journal, "from its small humanitarian beginning, public housing has grown to a stage where it now provides homes for one of each sixty Americans." Apparently slum clearance has not been an unmixed blessing. The problem basically has been shifted rather than solved. And, the Journal points out:

"—A number of public housing backers are beginning to worry that people who start living on taxpayers subsidies often end up liking it that way. Says Carl Feiss, a Washington planning consultant: "You're getting into a situation in which public housing children will themselves get married, live in public housing, and raise children in public housing, and you'll get a new kind of 'dependence' society." We've already gone a long way in that direction.

"So what is the solution? Unfortunately, the public housing planners see no way out of the problems created by rising government subsidies except to set up still bigger government subsidies."

As is so often the case when we attempt to solve basically private problems publicly, in the solving of one problem we create ten more. It isn't likely that any sensible solutions for this problem will be adopted in the near future. In Washington during the next two years the answer probably will be "more of the same."

A Great Game

The Manchester (England) Guardian calls our attention to the contribution that is made by the game of chess in the molding of character in Russia. The Guardian points out that in Russia the game is not only played expertly but on a very large scale. It states that, "A few years ago it was reckoned that there were two million 'registered' players, presumably members of recognized chess clubs, and efforts were being made to raise the figure to three million."

The Guardian quotes a Russian writer as saying:

"Chess is not an end in itself, but a means of raising the cultural (and thereby also the political) level of the labouring masses of the world."

The fact that chess has been a popular game in the Soviet Union is generally recognized. It was popular among the "higher classes" of old Russia. The Guardian states:

"In the current issue of "Survey" a journal of Soviet and East European studies, Mr. D. J. Richards explains the immense seriousness with which the Russians take chess, and the political and social significance which they ascribe to it. "Chess is a powerful weapon of intellectual culture" is the official view, and it is orthodox to speak of it as an art rather than as a game; "Pravda" is quoted as speaking of "this 'wise' game, standing on the frontier between science and art."

"There is something in that, as in the claim that the Russian school of chess embodies the qualities of Soviet man—his spirit of invention, his resourcefulness, his dislike of resting on his laurels, his bold solution of theoretical problems, and his exacting, critical attitude towards himself.

"Those who have encountered Russians in the field of diplomacy may have recognised their faculty, also essential in chess, patiently to build up positions of strength and to think many moves ahead—with only a rare bold gambit, which does not always succeed."

Maybe there is a proper place for chess in the extracurricular activities of our schools. We are sure it would appeal to many students who might not have a yen for football or chorus. Chess is a great game.

And we are not speaking disparagingly about football or training in the arts in any form.

No Longer Trusted

A headline tells us that President Kennedy urges Western unity. Unity certainly would be in the best interests of all of the Western nations; maybe even essential to survival.

It is significant however that Western unity has deteriorated steadily during the past two years. Nations that were on very friendly terms with us, now look upon us with some suspicion. DeGaulle of France is definitely cool. We have offended the British and the Belgians. Portugal has told us to mind our own business. On several occasions our Canadian neighbors have been highly critical. Maybe President Kennedy, on closer examination, might find that the growing lack of unity is due in part to some of his own blunders.

President Eisenhower had a knack for getting along with people that President Kennedy probably never will be able to acquire, but it would help if he would consider some of his own shortcomings in this field of diplomatic relationships. Eisenhower's success as a military man was based largely on his ability to lead without offense to his associates. He had the confidence of the allies. There was nothing tricky about him and he welcomed advice. Those same traits of character made him a great president, and it was due largely to his leadership that harmony did prevail among the Western nations during his years in office.

At the present time it is de Gaulle of France who is unhappy. The following observations by the Manchester (England) Guardian are interesting:

"The contrast between President de Gaulle's speech at his press conference on Monday and President Kennedy's State of the Union Message is an ironic footnote to President Kennedy's hopeful references to the growing disunity of the Communist world. President de Gaulle, it is clear, resents American leadership almost as much as Chairman Mao resents Russian leadership; and although France has less real strength in the Western alliance than China has in the Communist camp, she is strong enough to make herself a formidable obstacle to the wider unity of the Atlantic community which has become one of the chief aims of American foreign policy. President de Gaulle's speech foreshadows, at the least, a prolonged period of bickering in the Western world. It also poses a difficult choice for the British Government.

"President de Gaulle has succeeded in showing, more clearly than it has ever been shown in a governmental statement before, that the logic of the independent deterrent is fundamentally isolationist. His distrust of the Americans, which lies behind his objection to widening the European Community, also lies behind his pursuit of nuclear independence."

More Inflation

The settling of strikes by government mediation boards would have some merit if the boards were impartial and not influenced by political considerations. The big shortcoming of the mediation boards we now are getting is the fact that the merits of an issue are a matter of little concern. Their simple solution for every problem is to split the difference and under that kind of procedure labor always wins because it always is labor that makes the demands.

If industry were to order a fifty cents an hour cut in wages and the same mediation board procedure were followed, then of course industry would win a twenty-five cent wage cut. Such a reversal is not likely to be a problem in the immediate future. On the contrary continuing rounds of wage and price increases are the probable results of the present administration's planned policies. More inflation is inevitable.

Economic News, published by the American Institute for Economic Research, predicting a period of accelerated inflation, makes the following interesting observations:

"Is there any significant difference between the present situation in the United States and the innumerable experiences with inflation recorded in history? We know that there is a difference, and we think it may be significant.

"Never before in the history of the world has anywhere near such a large percentage of a country's citizens been in a position to suffer obvious and great losses because of inflation. Of course, by far the most of any nation's citizens have lost heavily during past inflations, but the prospect of great losses was not clearly apparent before the event.

"Only in the United States of all the nations that now or ever have been on this earth do most of the families own substantial savings accounts, life insurance, and prospective pensions. More than 40,000,000 American families own nearly $700 billion of life insurance, and additional hundreds of billions of other savings in assets having a fixed-dollar value such as savings deposits and U.S. savings bonds.

"Of one thing we are sure: if the Americans who would lose heavily in the event of continued inflation choose to demand that inflation be ended, Congress will heed that demand. We believe that if even one in a thousand of the 80,000,000 adult citizens directly concerned took the trouble to inform his Congressman that depreciating the dollar must stop, there would be no more inflating by the Government, no tax reduction without corresponding cuts in expenditures; and if as many as one in a hundred of the 80,000,000 wrote or telephoned their Congressmen, the rush on Congress to vote for sound money-credit policies would become a stampede.

Especially in view of developments during the 1960 elections, no professional politician would dare risk antagonizing more than 80,000,000 voters who already have lost heavily and would lose so much more as a result of more inflating."

January Was Cold —But Not Coldest

January of 1963 was a cold month—but it could have been worse, according to the averages. High temperatures averaged 7.26 degrees and low readings averaged —11.16 degrees for a mean temperature in January of 1.95 degrees below zero. What was amazing, however, was the fact that precipitation was recorded to any extent on only one day, January 20, when an inch of snow fell.

Precipitation may be contrasted with 1962 when January produced 18.3 inches of snow. Snowfall was 7.5 inches in 1961 and 1960 and three inches in 1959. Another blessing during the month was the general absence of wind which reduced the chill factor and made it at least a little more comfortable to move around in the frigid air.

The seasoned veterans of the area say that our January cold spell was nothing compared to the winter of 1936. A check with Olaf C. Soine, agronomist and weather observer at the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston, showed that the oldtimers are right. There are some interesting statistics in January and February of 1936.

From January 15 through February 21, 1936, the high temperature did not get above zero. The coldest reading was —51 on February 15 when the high was —22. Only a stray reading of 13 degrees above zero was noted among the sub-zero lows which stretched from January 10 through the end of February. Fifteen of the sub-zero lows were —30 or colder with four days being —40 or colder. On January 23 the high was —28 degrees, and seven days had high readings of —20 or colder. That was quite a winter!

High temperature in January this year was 38 degrees with the low being —32 and 17 days have high temperatures below the zero mark. Only seven lows were above zero. Highest low was 24 degrees and lowest high was —13 degrees. High and low readings for January in previous years were as follows: 1962—35 and —35; 1961 —39 and —32; 1960—37 and —24; and 1959—30 and —28.

High and low temperatures each day during the month were as follows:

137 Registered for Mid-Winter Lions Conference

Registration now totals 137 out-of-town guests for the District 5M-3 mid-winter conference of Lions, International, to be held in Thief River Falls on February 16 and 17. Tris Coffin, director of Lions, International, will be the Saturday evening banquet speaker. Ross Martin, District Governor, will also appear on the conference program.

Included in the registration are 18 couples from Brandon, Man., and two couples from Flin Flon, Man., about 800 miles from Thief River Falls.

Panels for four different groups have been arranged for the Sunday session to begin at 9 a. m. Heading the panels will be the following Lions club members: Presidents' Panel, Armand Sannes, McIntosh; Secretaries' Panel, George Hale, Detroit Lakes; Tail Tisters' Panel, Dr. Herbert Achenbach, Thief River Falls; and Fund Raising Panel, Miles Phillips, Bouisevain, Man.

FHA Will Offer Emergency Credit In Two Counties

Farmers living in Red Lake and Pennington counties who cannot secure adequate commercial or cooperative credit to meet their farm operating needs for the 1963 crop year are urged to contact the local office of the Farmers Home Administration at an early date, according to Joel P. Rosengren, local Farmers Home Administration supervisor.

Red Lake and Pennington are two of many northwestern Minnesota counties in which FHA emergency loans have been made available to eligible farmers due to high moisture conditions in 1962. Loans are made primarily for crop production purposes and are due at the time the crop is marketed. Interest is at the rate of three per cent and a first lien on the planted crops is normally required for security to adequately secure the loan.

In making the announcement, Rosengren stressed the importance of applying for loans at an early date to avoid inconveniences which applicants might encounter if they delay filing applications near the spring planting season.

The Farmers Home Administration office serving Red Lake and Pennington counties is located at the courthouse in Thief River Falls. Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. in Thief River Falls and at the Security State Bank at Oklee on Friday from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

LHS Students To Present Operetta "Wizard of Oz"

Lincoln high school music students are making preparations for the operetta "The Wizard of Oz" to be presented at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium on March 8 and 9. The production is under the direction of Bryant Ulseth, vocal music instructor at the school.

Participating in the operetta will be the concert choir, orchestra, Lincoln Singers and junior high school chorus. Work is currently underway on constructing sets and arranging costuming for the event.

Offer Contracts for Sunflowers and Millet Here

Contracts for acreage of sunflowers and millet will be offered Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. in the meeting room of the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls. George Piltt, president of Valley Feed & Supply company of Spring Valley, N. Y. is in the city to conduct the sign-up for the two crops to be sold to Farmers Grain & Milling company in Thief River Falls. Possibilities of raising other crops under contract will also be discussed. All interested farmers in the area are encouraged to attend the meeting.

Home Economics Counselors Meet Here February 26

One of Nine District Meetings Is Scheduled In County Court House

Nine district meetings for county extension home counselors will be held throughout Minnesota during February, Dorothy Simmons, state leader of extension home economics, University of Minnesota, has announced. One of the series will be held Feb. 26 in the court house in Thief River Falls.

Approximately 700 women will be attending the conferences throughout the state.

Theme of this year's conference is "Let's Look at Planning." District county agent supervisors from the University will speak on the impact of social changes on the community and district home agent supervisors will discuss the planning process in relation to changing family situations. The afternoon will be devoted to discussion in group sessions.

The meetings will begin at 9:30 a. m. with registration and conclude at 3:30 p. m.

The one-day sessions, conducted each year, give women leaders of extension home programs in Minnesota counties an opportunity to meet, air problems and share ideas with others and with members of the county and University Agricultural Extension Service staffs.

Civil Defense Survival Class Meets Wednesday

How persons can take care of themselves in the event of a natural or man-made disaster will be emphasized in a Civil Defense course on survival preparedness to be conducted in a series of classes beginning Wednesday.

Ellsworth Jorgenson, deputy director of the Pennington county civil defense program, will conduct the course which will begin at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in Room 124 of the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school. The course will include instruction on characteristics of nuclear weapons, radiation affects on humans, animals and food and preparation and management of fallout shelters.

Rolvaag Wins Round in State Vote Recount

Audit Reveals That DFL Candidate Is in Lead for Governor

Former Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag Friday won round one in his recount battle with Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen for the Minnesota governorship.

An audit of initial recount filed in Ramsey county district showed Rolvaag leading. The DFL said Rolvaag had 620,510 votes and Andersen 620,372. By Republican calculation, it was Rolvaag 620,511 and Andersen 620,381.

The three-judge panel supervising the recount will rule Tuesday whether Rolvaag's margin is 130 or 138 votes.

Ten absentee votes in suburban Maplewood, which went nine to one for Andersen in the Nov. 6 election, are in dispute. DFL recounters fought their inclusion in the final audit, because the votes were not properly filed. However, an agreement was reached whereby two sets of figures were filed, one including the votes and one without them.

These 10 votes will be included in one of the 24 categories of disputed ballots on which the panel of three judges will be asked to rule.

Both GOP and DFL recount supervisors believe about 3,500 ballots will be presented to the judges after the second round of screening is finished.

A republican official said Andersen will be ahead by one vote if one group of admittedly faulty ballots is rejected. These are those of voters who marked ballots for William Braatz, industrial government party candidate, and either Rolvaag or Andersen. Thomas Swain, GOP recount chief, said there were 130 more Rolvaag-Braatz ballots than Andersen-Braatz ballots.

Cable Television Installation Is Completed Here

Sjoberg Appliance has announced the completion of its cable television installation with five stations now available to subscribers. The chief engineer of Jerrold Electronics of Philadelphia will be here this week to give the operation its final inspection, according to Gene Sjoberg, owner of the operation.

Stations now available are Pembina on channel 2; Winnipeg on channel 3; Valley City on channel 4; Grand Forks on channel 10 and Fargo on channel 6.

Sjoberg stated that reception of the Winnipeg station is not satisfactory as yet. A direction adjustment of the antenna is necessary and this will be made as soon as weather permits.

WINNERS in the Pennington County 4-H Radio Speaking Contest held Saturday at the county courthouse in Thief River Falls were the two contestants shown above. Robert McCrum of the Smiley 4-H club placed first in the contest and will represent the county in the district event at Crookston. Reserve champion was Karen Svendsgaard of the Mavie 4-H club. Other contestants were Linda Wik, St. Hilaire; Nancy Newton, Smiley; Margie Vik, St. Hilaire; Ken Larson, Kratka; Faye Stucy, Deer Park; Charlene Rude, Smiley; Michael and Regene Radniecki, Deer Park.

SEED And FEED SHOW
PENNINGTON CROP IMPROVEMENT ASS'N.

Seed & Feed Show Attended By Good Crowd on Friday

Directors Named on Board of RL Drainage District

Calvin Kolling, Gully, Henry Tweten, E.G.F., Named by Judge Brink

Two vacancies on the board of directors of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District have been filled through appointments by Judge Lyman Brink. They are Calvin Kolling, Gully farmer, and Henry Tweten, East Grand Forks attorney, who succeed Claude Knudsen of Gully and Earl Wagner of Gonvick. They were each appointed for a four-year term.

Other members of the board are Ole Melby, Oklee, president; Erling Torgerson, Thief River Falls, treasurer; Stanley Mortenson, Thief River Falls, secretary, and Delmar Hagen, Gatzke.

The board met Tuesday afternoon with Richard Knox, deputy commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Conservation, who had discussed the conservation area land problem of eastern Marshall county that morning with the Marshall county board of commissioners at Warren. Knox explained the plan that had been approved by the county board by a four to one decision and which calls for new legislation to be sponsored jointly by the conservation department and the county board.

A representative of the Ottertail Power company talked to the group in regard to the remains of the power dam in the Red Lake River northeast of Red Lake Falls. The company will ask for permission to remove what is left of the old dam, he stated. The request will be made to the division of waters of the state department of conservation.

Langen Proposes Tax Bill to Aid Higher Education

"Washington is buzzing with tax programs and reforms aimed at stimulating the future economy of this nation," said Congressman Odin Langen today, "but noticeably absent from the proposals are considerations for the future earning power of our greatest natural resource, our young people."

It was with this in mind, said Langen, that he introduced a bill which would allow taxpayers to deduct some expenses for higher education on their personal income tax forms.

"My bill," explained Langen, "would allow deductions for tuition, fees and books, and is geared to provide the most help for families with limited incomes."

Congressman Langen noted that a third of our brightest students are unable to attend college primarily because of financial problems. "It then becomes important that we conserve these natural resources for the future," said Langen, "and we can help by offering some tax relief to their families."

CHAMPION judge in the FFA judging contest at the Pennington County Seed & Feed Show Friday was Michael Johnson, Goodridge. Second place in the contest went to Delroy Larson, Middle River, with Robert Carlson & Dwight Robideaux of Plummer tied for third place honors. The contest attracted 19 entrants from Future Farmers of America chapters in Goodridge, Plummer, Middle River and Thief River Falls.

List of Personal Property Taxes Published Today

The personal property tax list for Pennington county, one of the most thoroly read of legal publications, appears elsewhere in this issue of the Times after being compiled in the office of Ellsworth Jorgenson, county treasurer.

Statements also are being mailed to all property owners in the county, listing the taxes due on both personal property and real estate in 1963.

Jorgenson urges all taxpayers who do not have the proper listing on their statements to call it to the attention of his office so that corrections can be made. Changes of which the office is not aware are occasionally made in real estate, and billing can be corrected if the statements are not correct.

Heading the list of big taxpayers again this year is the Lakehead Pipeline Co., which is called upon to pay a total of more than $48,000.

Fifteen firms will pay more than $2,000 each. The biggest personal property taxes in Thief River Falls are assessed against Land O'Lakes Creameries, with $15,200, and L. B. Hartz Stores, with $14,200. Others who will pay more than $4,000 are the Great Northern Railway and Gamble-Robinson Co., while the Farmers Co-op Grain & Seed assn. in the Town of North, also will pay more than $4,000.

1963 Meeting of the Valley Home Society Tuesday

The annual meeting of the Valley Home Society will be held Tuesday evening, February 5, at 7:30 in the assembly room in the basement of the city Auditorium, Stuart McLeod, secretary, announced today, adding that all interested persons are invited to attend. Business to be transacted includes the election of three members of the board of directors, voting on amendments to the by-laws and hearing of annual reports.

Fertile HS Wins Regional Debate Tourney Saturday

Fertile high school gained first place in the Region 8 debate tournament held Saturday at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls. The team gained 12 points in the three rounds. Also qualifying for state entry were Ada in second place and Crookston Central in third place.

Attendance at the Sixth Annual Pennington County Seed & Feed Show Friday at the municipal auditorium in Thief River Falls was estimated at more than 500 people. Exhibits in the crop show were over the 100 mark, considered to be a good showing in view of the adverse crop year in 1962, but well under the 150 entries a year ago.

Homemakers made a significant contribution to the show this year with 128 entries in the baking contest where recipes using eggs as part of the ingredients were featured. Two speaking programs were held; one session for women on "Eggs Around the Clock" and a session for men and women on Rural Areas Development. Satisfacotry attendance was noted at both session.

Michael Johanson of Goodridge won the Future Farmers of America judging contest held in connection with the show as he topped 19 entrants on total score in the multiple-judging event. Second place went to Delroy Larson of Middle River with Robert Carlson and Dwight Robideaux of Plummer tied for third.

Crop Awards

Championships in the grain show were well-scattered with no entrants having more than one championship and winners coming from a wide representative area. Champions in the various division are listed below together with the type of entry or variety entered:

Silage, oats and pea, James Nelson, Goodridge; Hay, alfalfa, James Muzzy, Thief River Falls; Legume Seed, White Blossom sweet clover, Robert Gunstad, St. Hilaire; Field Peas, Chancellor, Clifford Lenhart, Warren; Flax, Bolley, Robert Kraemer, Thief River Falls; Rye, Caribou, Charles and David Naplin, Red Lake Falls;

Also Wheat, Selkirk, Ted Haugen, St. Hilaire; Barley, Kindred, Leonard Melin, Red Lake Falls; Oats, Rodney, Ed Stark, Thief River Falls; Bin Run Oats, Rodney, Mel Scholin, Thief River Falls; Certified Timothy, Climax, Mehrkens and Barzen, Thief River Falls; and Certified Barley, Trophy, Edwin Anderson, Thief River Falls.

Judges for the crop show were Harley Shurson, East Polk county agricultural agent; Robert Potts, fieldman for the Minnesota Crop Improvement association; and Roy Barzen, Thief River Falls seed dealer.

Women's Competition

With 128 entries in five classes of competition, the women's division of the Seed and Feed Show was considered successful. Paula Aune of Grygla and Mrs. Edwin Koglin of Goodridge won first place honors in Class I for one-half dozen eggs from the flock of the exhibitor. Other champions were as follows:

Angelfood cake, Mrs. Ronald Tollefson, Red Lake Falls; Sponge cake, Mrs. Bert K. Johnson, Goodridge; Jelly roll, Mrs. Julian C. Lendobeja, Goodridge; Bars, Mrs. A. W. Oaki, Goodridge; drop cookies, Mrs. John Kotaska, Thief River Falls; Other cookies, Faye Stucy, Oklee; Cream puffs, Mrs. Robert Parnow, Goodridge; Baked custard, Mrs. Irvin Johnson, Newfolden; White dinner rolls, Regene Radniecki, Oklee; Dark dinner rolls, Mrs. Clarence

Mary Ann Linden Recent Bride of Jerome Berg

The Rosendale Methodist church of rural Atwater was the scene of the recent wedding of Mary Ann Linden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frans Linden of Litchfield, and Jerome Berg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Berg of Middle River. Rev. David Gray performed the double-ring ceremony in the presence of 160 guests. Wrought iron candelabra flanked the altar and provided the background for the ceremony. Miss Sandra Nelson of Minneapolis was at the piano; she played the bridal music and accompanied the soloist Glen Nelson as he sang, "O Promise Me," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Whither Thou Goest."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of lace and taffeta, with scalloped crystal and pearl-trimmed neckline and featuring a fitted bodice and long, tapered sleeves. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of beads. Her only jewelry was a pair of crystal earrings, a gift of the groom. The bridal bouquet was of red roses and holly.

The bride chose her sister, Mrs. Albert Plazak of Excelsior as her matron of honor. Mrs. Harry Scramsted of Manvel, N. D., a sister of the groom, and Cynthia Linden of Minneapolis, a niece of the bride as junior bridesmaid, were the other attendants. They wore long sleeved velvet street-length dresses of Christmas red, with headbands of holly and red veiling, and carried bouquets of red carnations and stephanotis, with holly leaves.

Gene Berg, Manvel, N. D. was chosen by his brother as the best man; groomsman was Gordon Linden of Litchfield, brother of the bride, and junior groomsman was Stanley Carlson of Willmar, the bride's nephew. Sharing ushering duties were Lloyd Linden, brother of the bride, and Douglas Berg, of Sioux Falls, S. D., the groom's brother. The men in the wedding party wore black business suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

The costume chosen by the bride's mother was a blue silk dress with blue taffeta and a matching hat. The groom's mother wore a gray wool dress with black accessories. Both wore corsages of pink and white carnations.

A reception was given by the bride's parents following the services. It was held in the church reception rooms and was attended by about 160 friends and relatives. Host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pearson.

Table centerpiece was a four-tiered wedding cake with red and white color scheme and topped with white bells.

Cutting and serving the cake was Mrs. Hjalmer Hanson, sister of the groom, Middle River, and Mrs. Gene Berg, sister-in-law of the groom, of Manvel, N. D. Waitresses were Mrs. Douglas Berg, Miss Mabel Schverman, Sandra Linden, Diane Linden, Judy Larson, Joyce Dahl, and Shirley Dahl.

A sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Lloyd Linden, was at the guest book, and in charge of the gift table were Mrs. Gale Peterson, Mrs. Glen Jacobs, and Miss Jennie Baeder. Out-of-town guests attending were from Grove City, Middle River, Cosmos, Minneapolis, Alexandria, Litchfield, Willmar, Minn.; Sioux Falls, S. D., and Manvel, N. D.

The bride is a graduate of the Grove City high school and the groom of the Middle River high school. The bride is employed at office work in Minneapolis, at the firm of Holden Business Forms Co. while the groom is employed at Super Valu warehouse at Hopkins. The couple, after a wedding trip to southern Iowa, are at home at 2422 Freemont ave. So., Minneapolis.

Shower Honors Mrs. Clayton Thompson

A pink and blue shower, with gifts arranged under a pink umbrella centerpiece, was given to honor Mrs. Clayton Thompson and her infant daughter, Vicki Lee at the William Robson residence on Thursday, January 17. The evening was spent socially, gifts were opened, and lunch was served by Mrs. Robson, with Mrs. Bernard Casavan as assisting hostess.

In addition to the honored guest, those in attendance were Mmes. Gunda Thompson, Erling Thompson, Harold Thompson, Thomas Matson, Eugene Nelson, Donald Erickson, and Miss Marie Lietzow. Sending gifts but unable to be present were Mmes. Jacob VanderWeg, Art Casavan, Norman Strand, and Miss Gaylene Lewis.

Mrs. Ray Vaudrin Is Honored on Birthday

The two small daughters of Mrs. Raymond Vaudrin of this city planned a surprise birthday party for their mother. A number of friends gathered at her home on Monday night, January 28, to honor her. Mrs. Gladys Borgen brought the birthday cake and the other guests furnished lunch. After a social evening many gifts were showered on the guest of honor. Lunch followed.

Other guests present were Mrs. Minnie Stene, Mrs. Gladys Borgen and Beverly; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Leiran and Terry; Miss Geneve Overum, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pederson, Lori, Lynn, and Tommy; Mrs. Olga Troland, and Mrs. Cecelia Miramontes.

Birthday Club Meets at Minnie Stene Home

Approximately 20 guests, many of them members of the Birthday Club of which Mrs. Raymond Vaudrin is a member, joined in celebrating her birthday at the home of Mrs. Minnie Stene on Tuesday afternoon, January 29.

They enjoyed a social hour, after which Mrs. Vaudrin was presented with a gift from the club members, in addition to which she received many other gifts and cards. Mrs. Stene baked and decorated the birthday cake, the main feature of the lunch which she served at the close of the afternoon.

Mrs. Gladys Borgen Surprised on Birthday

A surprise party Tuesday morning honored Mrs. Gladys Borgen of this city on the occasion of her birthday. Several friends brought gifts and lunch, and in addition, Mrs. Raymond Vaudrin brought a decorated cake. After spending the morning in social fashion, the guests, Mrs. Minnie Stene, Miss Geneva Overum, and Mrs. Raymond Vaudrin, served the lunch which they brought with them, and presented the guest of honor with her gifts.

Max Lemky Notes 6th Birthday With Party

Max Lemky celebrated his sixth birthday on Saturday afternoon, February 2, by entertaining a half-dozen of his friends at his home. They included Laurel and David Lee, Wayne Ortloff, Scott and Tim Engelstad, and Mark Dorn.

Games were played, following which ice cream and birthday cake were served by the honored guest's mother, Mrs. Curtis Lemky.

Princess Kay To Appear at Warren Saturday, Feb. 9

Kathleen Hjelle Will Appear Twice at Annual Farmers Short Course

Kathleen Hjelle

Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Miss Kathleen Hjelle of Argyle, will make two appearances at the Warren Farmers Short Course on Saturday, February 9. Her first appearance will be at 2 p. m. when she will assist in preparation of dairy food dishes at the women's program in Warren high school.

Representing the state's 81,000 dairy farm families, Princess Kay will make her second appearance of the day on Saturday at the Town & Country banquet to be held at 7 p. m. in the high school community room.

Miss Hjelle, 19, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertel Hjelle of Argyle and was crowned Northwest Dairy Princess at Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls in June. She went on to win Princess Kay honors at the Minnesota state fair, becoming the second state winner from Region 1, home of Dairy Day activity.

Princess Kay has completed her freshman year as a home economics major at North Dakota State college in Fargo after ranking third scholastically in her 1961 graduating class at Argyle high school. During this year she is a full-time employee of the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee, state unit of the American Dairy association.

Egg Recipes Theme of Cooking Event

Red Owl Stores Sponsor Contest for Housewives

Minnesota housewives, as well as men with a talent for cooking, will compete for a $1,000 savings bond, an all-expense paid trip to Chicago and many other valuable prizes in a cooking contest in which they will prepare their favorite egg recipe. The competition, open to non-professional cooks residing in Minnesota, is sponsored by Red Owl Stores, Inc., in cooperation with the Poultry and Egg National Board.

In the Junior Division of the contest, young people, between the ages of 10 and 18, will compete for a $500 Savings Bond as well as other gifts of cash and merchandise.

Entry blanks are now available at all Red Owl food stores, egg processors and hatcheries throughout the state. No purchase is necessary to enter the contest, and contestants may submit as many entry blanks and recipes as they wish. Entries must be postmarked not later than midnite, Feb. 15.

To qualify, entrants are required to submit an egg recipe for any type of egg dish, omelet, souffle, cake, or meringue using at least one egg per serving.

Contestants submitting the six best recipes, in the opinion of the judges, receive an all-expense paid trip to Minneapolis on March 19, where they will prepare their recipe at the Northwest Builder's Show's Blue Flame Hall Cavaleade of Kitchens sponsored by the Minneapolis Gas Co.

Dr. John Chommie Directs Miami Course for Lawyers

DR. JOHN C. CHOMMIE

The University of Miami school of law has been awarded a U. S. office of education grant of $30,579 to conduct a 20-week special course in U. S. law for refugee Cuban lawyers beginning Feb. 11.

The course is the second to be offered as part of UM's program for Latin American lawyers directed by Prof. John C. Chommie, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Chommie of Thief River Falls.

Purpose of the course is to provide the lawyers with an orientation in U. S. law and, indirectly, to help them find suitable employment. It does not qualify them to practice law, which in all states requires U. S. citizenship and three years full-time law study.

For the first time, participants will be using Spanish-language text materials to augment lectures, which are given in English with simultaneous translation into Spanish.

Obscene Foreign Mail Is Sought by Post Office

Quantities of obscene, lewd, lascivious or indecent materials are being received in this country from abroad, according to R. J. Dryden, Thief River Falls postmaster. Much of this is mailed in innocent-looking envelopes which deliberately fail to identify the sender or carry a fictitious return name and address in an effort to avoid detection by government authorities.

Much of this mail is unsolicited by those to whom it is addressed, and is disseminated by foreign operators in the hope of expanding their market in this country, Dryden said. Local patrons receiving mail which they consider obscene may file a written request with the postmaster that future mailings from the indicated source be detained and disposed of under postal regulations.

Obscene mail which is received may be turned back to the post office for appropriate treatment. The cooperation of the public in returning foreign obscene matter will aid federal authorities in their efforts to carry out the law regarding such material and avoid personal irritation and embarrassment.

Social Security Man Here Tuesday

Advises Recipients Who Are Changing Addresses

A representative of the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium Tuesday, February 5, at 10 a. m. Individuals who have questions regarding social security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

Social security beneficiaries who move can receive their monthly checks on time by following a few simple rules, according to Walter D. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks office.

A written request to the Social Security Administration for a change of address received before the 15th of the month will assure receipt of the next check at the new address. Arrangements should always be made with the post office to have the next check forwarded. In any event, notify your social security district office or payment center as soon as possible of any change in your address.

Kistler reminded beneficiaries that a change of address card or letter must be signed by the person to whom the checks are issued, and must always show the social security claim number.

Convenient notification forms are available in all social security district offices. Mr. Kistler concluded that prompt and accurate reporting by beneficiaries will result in faster and better service in processing the millions of address and other changes received every year by the Social Security Administration.

Fomer TRF Man Is Unhurt in Wis. Airplane Mishap

Keith Jorde, East Grand Forks businessman, formerly of Thief River Falls, walked away unhurt Wednesday when the small plane he was piloting made a pancake landing at the municipal airport in LaCrose, Wisconsin. Theron Clark, airport manager, quoted Jorde as saying that he had forgot to lower the landing gear as he landed to refuel.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Laura Duerst

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Last Monday at one of the dress workshops two of the ladies had unique use of old shoulder pads. Mrs. Wallace Tieman and Mrs. Sidney Wilson both of Kratka had made pin cushions from old shoulder pads. How did they do it? Just by sewing a piece of elastic across the wide end of the pad to make a wrist band. This demonstrates good use of old items around the home.

Congratulations to all the winners that received awards at the Seed and Feed Show Friday.

Best of luck is extended to Bob McCrum of Smiley who will be taking part in the district radio speaking contest which will be held Feb. 16. This is part of the Winter Shows held in Crookston. The contestants will speak over KILO, Grand Forks radio station, at 1:30 p. m. Feb. 16.

Cold weather cut the Florida tomato crop about 25 per cent, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture. And, practically all winter tomatoes come from Florida.

But there's relief on the way. Gradually, more and more Florida tomatoes are coming to market. Imports from Mexico and hothouse tomatoes from the Midwest are easing the supply situation—and bringing the price of winter tomatoes back toward normal.

Those of you wishing to try something new why not try this. Make a yellow or white cake mix according to the directions on the box. Before placing it in the oven to bake, add two unfrosted boxes of your favorite berries and then bake according to the box directions. You can serve it as upside down cake or as a cake.

Lakehead Pipeline Co. Pays $127,961 Taxes in Marshall

A personal property and real estate tax bill totaling $127,961.02 will be paid in Marshall County this year by the Lakehead Pipe Lines, Inc., which makes this firm by far the largest single taxpayer in the county this year.

The Lakehead firm, whose double oil transmission pipe line traverses the county from north to south through seven townships will have a personal property tax of $66,786.30 while its real estate tax in Viking township where the huge pumping station is located, is being taxed at $61,174.72.

Another pipeline company, the Midwestern Gas Transmission Co. will pay a personal property tax of $37,569.98 on its single gas transmission line which also traverses the county from north to south going through 5 townships.

Personal property taxes assessed in the townships in which the Lakehead lines are located are as follows: Alma $3,866.82, Comstock $4,672.02, Foldahl $11,963.22, Sinnott $13,992.81, Viking $16,012.06, Tamarac $1,207.96 and Wanger $15,067.38. This personal property tax includes payments for school districts, townships, county and state purposes.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

MRS. HAROLD BUCK

There seem to be meat balls in endless variation but these have a "different" taste, just a subtle hint of seasoning you may not have tried before. The recipe was sent in another of our gracious and talented hostesses, Mrs. Harold Buck, who says that these are elegant enough to serve to company, as they present a festive appearance in the chafing dish. Of course, as with anything you serve, taste is the main consideration, and these shine in that department too.

MEAT BALLS AND GRAVY SAUCE

2 lbs. ground beef
⅓ cup Minute rice
2 eggs
⅓ cup milk
10 soda crackers

Celery salt, savory salt, pepper, and any other meat flavorings you prefer. Onions may be added, if desired.

Part II

1 can cream of mushroom soup
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ cup catsup
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon dry mustard

Mix ingredients in part one. Form into balls and brown. Lift them carefully into a baking dish. Make a gravy from the drippings, stirrigg in flour and as much water or milk as needed, cooking until smooth. Add mushroom soup. Mix together the brown sugar, catsup, nutmeg, and mustard in a separate dish. Place a spoonful of this mixture over each meat ball and pour the gravy over all.

Bake in a 350 degree oven 1½ hours, a bit longer if your oven is slow.

Mr. Buck's hobby is building things for use about the house; his current project is a desk for his wife. The "do-it-yourself" bug runs in the family; their older son, Warren, quite a music fan, has built a Hi-Fi set for his room, and the younger one, Sheldon, builds model cars. And as for Mrs. Buck, her hobbies seem practically endless, at least those in the creative vein. Sewing, and crafts of all kinds, including leather tooling and china painting, are among them. Her home, during the holidays, is a veritable "Christmas house," with evidences of her creative ability everywhere. She is already working on things for next Christmas.

The Library Corner

By Virginia Gjernes

It's a funny thing, but did you ever stop to think that if people didn't do the things they do, there would be only animal stories! For it is people and the things they do that make for good reading and writing!

And, if you peple didn't borrow and use the books on the shelves of your library, there wouldn't be any need for a library. What kind of people borrow books? Ask any librarian and you'll find the answer universally the same! "All kinds, any kind!"

Generally speaking, the library is a place which is peaceful and restful and where quiet conversation is carried on, so borrowers may browse with their thoughts undistributed by loud, raucous laughter and-or twitterings of youngsters.

However, what is generall true is not always, altogether true! Your Carnegie Public Library has not been confronted with some of the problems other libraries have—in one library, students supposedly using reference material, were having a fast game of poker! And, behind some book racks other students were overly affectionate. The librarian promptly banned all junior and senior high school students from using any of the library's reference books or spending evenings studying in the reading rooms. So far, students have not gone to such extremes in your library — but now and again, it is necessary to ask one or two or a group to leave so that others might study.

Overcrowding, of course, is the key to a lot of the rowdyism. Schools have doubled or trebled in enrollment, yet the library (not only yours, but other's too) is the same size as it was the day it was built. Our library was built in 1914! Therefore, not only are more students availing themselves of the facilities, but assignments for the most part are longer and tougher and require more research. Research, by the way, on subjects where developments occur faster than publishers can turn out textbooks and reference books. Since much of the work must be done from periodicals, libraries must crowd their shelves and their budgets even more by subscribing, and keeping on file, many magazines and pamphlets devoted to many different subjects.

Teachers, obviously, are interested in producing good students — and in having their students complete their assignments. It is up to the librarians to produce the material the students require — if they are to become good students and if they are to complete their assignments. Unfortunately, teachers do not always know whether "the supply will meet the demand!"

All too often, too many students are working on the same projects and all too often, the libraries are limited in the supply — either because reference books are not available to purchase, or because funds are not available to purchase the books which are available.

These problems are not your library's problems alone, remember — these same problems are having to be solved by librarians everywhere.

However, the main purpose of the library is to lend books, for use in the library proper, or to be taken home and enjoyed. The main objective of the librarians is to serve you in any way and the best way they can.

A brand new one, for those with far-away places in their hearts, and stay-at-home reasons in their minds, is "Tangaroa's Godchild" by Olaf Ruhen. This autobiographical memoir of the South Seas will satisfy even the most adventure-loving, for the author, an Australian, fills his book with people and places most of us only dream about knowing and visiting.

Then, there's "Say Nothing" by James Hanely. Tension grips the reader from the first page until the last word as the story of loneliness and desire and frustration is unfolded by a master storyteller.

See you at the library — soon!

Derailment Causes Delay in Mail Here

Mail was late in arriving at Thief River Falls this morning as a result of a derailment on the Canadian Pacific line at Emerson, Man., Saturday night. The 12-hour delay caused by the derailment resulted in arrival here about three and one-half hours behind schedule.

RRV Editorial Ass'n. Meets at Moorhead Thursday

Kenneth Anderson Is Elected President; Next Session At Bemidji

Annual meeting of the Red River Valley Editorial association was held Thursday at the Holiday Motel in Moorhead with Clarence Mattson, business manager of the Thief River Falls Times, presiding at the session. Robert Seegel, executive secretary of the Moorhead Chamber of Commerce, was the main speaker.

Kenneth Anderson of Barnesville was elected president of the organization to succeed Mattson and Mark Isherwood was elected secretary to succeed Ed Kellogg of Fertile. Bemidji was selected as the site of the next annual meeting of the district.

Seegel divided the group attending into buzz sessions to discuss what they believed Chamber of Commerce organizations or other civic groups could undertake as projects in 1963 which would be of major benefit to their areas. Among projects mentioned were youth recreation, senior citizens groups, community promotion, progressive youth in government, tourist retention, providing jobs for local residents, higher standards of ethics in business, area promotion, tourist parks, new industry and revamping of the personal property tax structure.

Neil Mattson of Warren, a director on the board of the Minnesota Historical Society, outlined the micro-film program of the society in regard to newspaper files. The association secretary was instructed to write the Governor in regard to requesting funds so that the filming can be completed before valuable history is lost through deterioration.

Marvin Lundin, city editor, also represented the Times at the meeting which included tours of Hagen Hall at Moorhead State college and the production plant of the Red River Scene at Moorhead.

A complete obituary will appear in the Thursday issue of the Times.

of Rhyme & Reason

BY MARV LUNDIN

THERE ARE TIMES WHEN A PERSON WONDERS about the beneficial acts of certain charitable organizations which conduct fund campaigns in various manners. Many organizations such as these have formed under the United Fund banner to gain the finances they seek, but a number of others prefer to continue as they have in the past by conducting their own campaigns.

One reason for this is quite basic—the organizations can receive more money through individual campaigns than they can through a share in the United Fund. Such is the case with the March of Dimes which is now conducting its annual fund drive in this and many other communities. By the looks of the United Fund thermometer progress chart it is easy to understand the thinking of the National Foundation — sponsor of the March of Dimes campaign.

The progress chart for the Pennington County United Fund stands at just over half its goal. (There are those who claim that the cold weather of the past weeks was so severe that the painted chart even dropped a couple thousand dollars.) While the success of the United Fund is contingent upon public support of it as the ONLY charitable collection agency, the March of Dimes campaign is worthy of public support.

The National Foundation, originally the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis (polio), formerly was concerned with research in the cause and cure of polio. With the development of Salk and Sabin vaccines—both discovered through research financed by March of Dimes funds — polio is no longer the threat that it was.

More than $2 million was spent by the organization at the University of Minnesota during the past 24 years for research into the cause, prevention and treatment of polio. Since 1938 the March of Dimes has received contributions of $13 million from Minnesota residents. For every dollar raised, $1.12 has been spent in Minnesota on local programs.

Two major research programs are now underway at the University of Minnesota. Dr. John Spizizen has been given a $146,000 grant by the March of Dimes for a broad scale attack on a series of inter-connected problems in biology. Dr. Robert Good is currently working on a March of Dimes grant of $62,286 to conduct studies on juvenile rheumatoid arthritis. Only through research can further medical breakthroughs be made — and only through your support can this research be conducted. Give to the March of Dimes.

A Texas newspaper comments on a press release stating, "A federal agency contemplates making a survey to determine how Americans spend their money." The paper ventures the following expectation: "Such a survey would most likely show that some 85 per cent of the money spent goes to support federal agencies which go around making silly surveys."

Once in awhile it is rewarding to a journalist to know that his efforts are read. Friday I received a letter from George Pitt, president of Valley Feed & Supply company in Spring Valley, N. Y. It read as follows: "I read with great interest your article on STEER, Inc. Since Rev. Arnold Foldah's address was not given, I am sending you our check for $125, made payable to STEER, Inc., and hope in some small way this will be of some benefit." Rather nice mail to receive, wouldn't you say?

Known for the speed with which he disposed of cases, a well-known justice explained his success. "I always listen to the plaintiff and then make my decision." "Never to the defendant?" he was asked. "Well, at first I did," the justice replied, "but I found that it confused me."

PROFOUND PREDICTION

Ere another month is spent
We'll wonder where the winter went.
But until then, alas, I fear
We're certain it will stay right here.

T. A. Erickson, 91, 4-H Founder, Dies

Headed Minnesota Club Organization 28 Years

T. A. Erickson, the man known as "Dad" in his years of work with Minnesota 4-H clubs, died Wednesday in St. Paul at the age of 91.

He was credited with organizing the farm youth movement in Minnesota while county superintendent of schools at Alexandria early in the century.

Concerned with farm boys and girls leaving their homes for the city, he bought $20 worth of hybrid seed corn and promised he would exhibit the prize ears if they stayed on the farm and tended the corn.

That humble beginning grew into an organization that numbered 47,000 in the 28 years he headed the 4-H.

Erickson, retired from his post as associate professor in the agricultural extension division of the university, was born Sept. 2, 1871, near Alexandria.

He died in a St. Paul nursing home where he had been taken in failing health last Saturday.

Mrs. R. Amundson, Formerly of TRF, Dies At Seattle

Mrs. (Raymond) Beatrice Amundson, former proprietor of the Brite Spot Cafe in this city, and lately a resident of Seattle, Wash., died there January 18 after an illness of some duration. She was 42 years of age, and employed as a waitress there. Funeral services were held in Seattle January 23.

Mrs. Amundson was born in Baudette. Survivors include her husband, Raymond; a daughter, Kathleen, and a son, Daniel, both at home; a brother, William McAnnally of Detroit Lakes; sisters, Mrs. Charlotte Dablow of this city; Mrs. Evelyn Lapping, St. Helens, Ore.; Mrs. Edith Brazie and Mrs. Ollie Ekren, both of Baudette.

Elmer Engstrom Rites To Be Held Near Holt Today

Elmer G. Engstrom, who lived at Holt for many years, passed away Thursday, January 31 at Grand Forks, N. D. at the age of 60.

Funeral rites were conducted today in Emmanuel Lutheran church northeast of Holt, with Rev. Richard Snipstead officiating, and interment in the Holt cemetery. Handling the arrangements was the Green Funeral Home of this city.

Mr. Engstrom was born on October 15, 1902, in Holt township, Marshall county, attended school and grew to manhood there.

He was united in marriage to Miss Selma Geving at Thief River Falls on June 3, 1933. After their marriage they lived at Goodridge and in Thief River Falls, and for a few years resided at Wayne, Mich., before settling in East Valley township where they have since made their home.

Surviving Mr. Engstrom are his wife, Selma; one son, Elmer Jr. of this city; his mother, Mrs. Mathilda Engstrom of Holt; two brothers, Sidney, of Holt, and Hughey of Warren; as well as three grandchildren.

Preceding him in death were his father and one son.

Sugar Beet Seminar at RRV Shows Feb. 22

The first annual sugar beet growers seminar to be sponsored by the Winter Shows will be held on Friday, February 22, of Red River Valley Winter Shows week. Beginning at 9:00 a. m., the meeting will be held at the Northwest School, Crookston, in the Kiehle building auditorium.

Sugarbeet growers will hear reports of current research work in the Red River Valley area. Also, research work in the Saginaw area of Michigan will be presented by Mark Barrett, director of research for the Farmers and Manufacturers Beet Sugar association of that city.

Alf Cakiwell, University of Minnesota, St. Paul; Olaf C. Soine, Northwest Experiment Station, Crookston; and Dave Hilde, American Crystal Sugar Company, East Grand Forks, will present the latest information on fertilizer and soil moisture trials for this area.

Several new chemicals for weed control in sugarbeets will be discussed and also limited data from trials that have been conducted will be presented. Field trials in this area for the past three years will be summarized. Robert N. Andersen, U. S. Department of Agriculture, St. Paul, will be the principal speaker.

Another subject to be discussed will be "Cercospora Leaf Spot on Sugarbeets" by H. L. Bissonnette, extension plant pathologist, North Dakota State University, Fargo. Some work with aerial application of fungicides to control this disease has been done in the southern part of the Red River Valley and will be discussed at the meeting.

Dave Gartner, assistant to Senator Hubert Humphrey, will speak on the subject "Sugar Legislation as Seen from the Side Lines."

Attendance Good At Seed and Feed Show on Friday

Peterson, Thief River Falls; and Sweet rolls, Mrs. Maurice Steiger, Red Lake Falls.

Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement association sponsored a contest on dairy cattle judging through a series of six photos of dairy cattle. Winner in this event was James Muzzy of Thief River Falls. Second was Jerry Hamre of Thief River Falls, third was Henry S. Williams of Thief River Falls and fourth was Mrs. Raymond Parnow of Goodridge.

Points discussed by speakers in the session on Rural Areas Development will be covered in a separate story in a future edition of the Times.

4-year Fund Drive Nets $12,771,000

Carleton College has received, in gifts and pledges, $12,771,131 during a four-year $12,000,000 development program, according to figures revealed in a year-end financial report presented to the College's board of trustees.

The program is the largest short-term fund-raising campaign ever completed by a small liberal arts college.

Within this total, $5,227,154 was given to the college for unrestricted use. According to college and university fund-raising statistics, this is an unusually large amount for undesigned gifts.

The over-all financial goals in the program covered four specific areas of need. These included endowment funds for faculty salaries and scholarships and also capital funds for student loans and buildings.

Original financial goals of the program were $6,500,000 for buildings; $3,750,000 for faculty salary endowment; $1,250,000 for scholarship endowment; and $500,000 for student loan funds. Because of the large amount in unrestricted gifts each of these goals has been met.

Charles L. Noel Will Retire from Navy October 16

Completes 20 Years in Naval Service; Plans To Live in Illinois

Authorization has been received from the chief of naval personnel to transfer Charles L. Noel to the retired list in the United States Naval Fleet reserve effective Oct. 16, 1963. The son of Mrs. Inga Noel of Thief River Falls, he will have completed 20 years of active duty in the navy at that time.

Noel enlisted in the navy in August of 1943 and attended boot training at Farragut, Idaho. Upon graduation he was transferred to the anti-aircraft cruiser Oakland where he saw action in the South Pacific. In 1947 he transferred to the aviation branch of the navy and served aboard such carriers as USS Midway, USS Leyte, USS Tarawa, USS Siboney and USS Monterey.

In 1958 Noel transferred from the aviation branch and served aboard the USS Skywatcher and USS Vigil which were connected with the North American Air Defense Command. Noel is married to the former Lorraine O. Graine of Rockford, Ill., and plans to reside with his wife and son in Rockford upon retirement.

During his tour in the navy he has received the navy unit commendation, four good conduct medals, American theatre of war, Asiatic-Pacific with two stars, Philippine liberation with one star, navy occupation medal with Asian and European clasp, Philippine presidential unit citation, United Nations medal, Korean service medal with two stars, national defense service medal and Korean presidential unit citation.

Newfolden Quint Trips Roseau 53-51

Badger Faces Nordics In Game Friday Night

Led by Jim Dahl's 20-point effort, coach Frank Kahoutek's Newfolden Nordics defeated the Roseau Rams, 53 to 51, in a Border conference basketball game played at Newfolden on Friday night.

Roseau's Jim Nordvall, with 11 field goals, was the game's high-point man in the Rams vs. Nordics game.

On Friday, Feb. 8, Badger will travel to Newfolden for a conference tilt.

Bemidji Quint Edges Prowlers Here 54-53

John Aune's one-handed push shot, from twenty feet out and to the right of the free-throw circle, with three seconds of play remaining hit the back of the rim of the east basket and rebounded out on the court, and on that play hinged the outcome of the Bemidji Lumberjacks vs. Prowlers basketball game here Saturday night. Coach Bun Fortier's high-ranked Bemidji club won the game, 54 to 53.

The Prowlers will play a pair of games this week. On Tuesday, Feb. 5, in a game that was rescheduled after last Friday's postponement, the Prowlers will meet coach Al Droen's Crookston Pirates in a District 31 conference game at Crookston. On Friday night, Feb. 8, coach Stan Otness will bring his Fosston Greyhounds here for a game. The Fosston club, rated as a district contender in District 30, will feature one of the finest scorers in this area in guard Mark Carlin.

But to return to Saturday night's exciting game, which was played before a capacity crowd. The Lumberjacks, with rangy Jerry Suman and burly Bill Rabe proving effective around the boards, held an 18 to 12 lead at the end of the first period, and a 35 to 28 margin at the intermission.

In the third period, the Prowlers scored nine points, on four field goals and a free throw, and Bemidji matched that total on three field goals and three free throws. (During the game, the Prowlers outscored Bemidji from the field, 23 field goals to 19 by the Jacks)

Entering the fourth period, the Prowlers trailed by seven, 44 to 37. Ken Larson notched a Prowler free throw. Bemidji's Dennis Aguiar added a pair of free throw points. Three field goals, by Aune, Rick Jensen, and Tom Lindberg, pared the Bemidji lead to 46 to 44 with six minutes to play.

Rabe, from close in, scored a field goal, but Jensen, on a pass from Aune, scored from the left side of the lane. Aguiar looped in a shot from the outside. Larson marked up a free throw, and Paul Klungness, scored on a rebound, and the Jack's led, 50 to 49 with 2:20 to play. Aguiar, on Lindberg's fourth foul, added two points on the one-and-one. Lindberg, from the lane, looped in a field goal, and Larson, recovering the ball on a pass interception, drove in for a field goal and the Prowlers led, 53 to 52, with 1:36 to play. Suman, on Lindberg's fifth personal, scored two points from the free-throw line. Suman made the first try good, and he missed his second attempt, but an over-anxious Prowler had stepped into the free-throw lane too quickly and Suman was awarded another try. This time the Bemidji forward made the try good, and it proved to be the game-winning point.

The Prowlers controlled the ball during the final minute of play, and with 22 seconds to play, called a "time out" to set up a 'final shot" pattern. Aune's shot just missed being successful.

Unparalleled in the history of voluntary health organizations, the medical care program of The National Foundation has helped rehabilitate hundreds of thousands of victims of paralytic polio.

PRESSURE in the back court is being felt by Dick Fortier of Bemidji as Rick Jensen (30) and Tom Lindberg (40) of the Prowlers work the zone press employed by Thief River Falls. Jensen's hustling floor play was a thorn in the side of the Bemidji offense and resulted in several bad passes or stolen balls for the local club

Mark Steed, Rich Nelson Lead Scoring for Locals

Coach Phil Buhn's Bemidji 'B' squad, led by the fine all-round play of sophomore guard Bob Saeger, defeated the Prowler 'B' squad, 72 to 39, in a preliminary game played here Saturday night.

The Bemidji 'B' squad eagers pulled away to an 18 to 8 lead in the first period, and increased their lead to 37 to 16 at the intermission. And it was only in the final period that the Prowler B's were able to score with the Jacks, and in this period the visitors outpointed the locals, 18 to 17.

Saeger, with 18 points, was the game's high-point player. The Prowler B's had two players in double figures, with Mark Steen connecting for 14 points, and Rich Nelson having 10 points.

STEALING a rebound from 6 foot 5 inch Gerry Suman of Bemidji is 5 foot 10 inch Paul Klungness of the Prowlers in this action shot from Friday night's action on the Prowlers court. Awaiting the outcome of the scramble are John Dow (33) and Bill Rabe (55) of the Lumberjacks and Tom Lindberg of the Prowlers. Bemidji won 54-53 on Suman's two free throws late in the game.

UP FOR GRABS on a rebound under the Prowler offensive basket are Tom Lindberg (40) and Paul Klungness (34) of the Prowlers and Wally Peterson (23) of Bemidji in this second half action Friday night. Surrounding the action are Bill Rabe (55), Dick Fortier (31) and John Dow (33) of the Lumberjacks.

The Finest Entertainment

The sports fans who witnessed the Prowlers vs. Rams high school hockey game at Roseau on Friday night, and the Bemidji vs. Prowlers basketball game here on Saturday night are agreed that these two events produced high school sports at its entertainingly best.

The professionals, and the college teams, too, do not have the spirit or desire that is engendered by the high school lads. It's true that the pros, and the collegians, have much more finesse, but the all-out effort of the high schoolers is a characteristic that the pros, and the collegians, cannot duplicate.

Like that basketball game Saturday night. Most of the fans, and especially the Prowler fans, have been having difficulty in swallowing ever since the game-ending buzzer sounded with Bemidji holding a one-point, 54 to 53 lead. All kinds of lumps came to throats when, with less than two minutes to play, the Prowlers gained a 53 to 52 lead. It was a remarkable comeback for the Prowlers, who trailed by ten points, 43 to 33, late in the third period. And if John Aune's shot, in the last few seconds of the game, had been one inch lower the ball would have dropped into the basket.

Bemidji's Bun Fortier, always gracious in victory or defeat, said that "The better team did not win tonight". It was close enough, and now we'll have to hope that both teams reach the regional tournament and the finals.

Oh yes, I asked Bemidji's Bill Rabe, the big center who played a splendid game for the Jacks, how much he weighed. That's been a controversy. Bill said, "I weigh two hundred and forty pounds."

Down to the Wire

It is apparent that the Region Eight hockey conference standings will be in a state of flux until the results of Tuesday night's game are posted. The standings below the number one rank, that is, as the Roseau Rams have clinched the Region's number one berth.

The Prowlers will play the Warroad Warriors here on Tuesday night, and a win for the locals would clinch at least a tie for second place. The East Grand Forks Green Wave, trailing by the Prowlers by a disputed one-half point, will play the Warroad team at Warroad tonight, Monday. If Warroad beats the Green Wave tonight, and loses to the Prowlers on Tuesday night, the Prowlers would gain second place, and earn a bye into the Region Eight semi-finals. So much is at stake.

This afternoon, Monday, a meeting of the Region Eight athletic committee is being held here to discuss the protest that has been filed on the outcome of the Prowlers vs. Warroad game that was played at Warroad last week. The Prowlers, in a game that went into several overtime periods, won the game, by a 5 to 4 score and earned a full point in the standings. If the game had been called at the end of the first overtime period, with the score deadlocked at 4-all, each team would have gained one-half point. But it was played to a decision.

It is unfortunate that such things occur, and they always happen during the years that Region Eight sends two representatives to the state tournament. That's when the coaches do their jockeying for position, and plot strategy to gain a berth in the bracket that appears the "softest". And what is more unfortunate and confusing is that, according to Region Eight procedure in hockey, in case of ties in the conference standings these ties will be broken, and the team pairings decided, on a flip of a coin.

Manitoba's 75th Bonspiel

680 curling rinks began competition on 138 sheets of artifical ice in Winnipeg this morning. It was the start of the 75th annual bonspiel of the Manitoba Curling associations.

And when the roaring and the sweeping and the shouting is concluded sometime next week, one rink will have earned the right to represent Manitoba in Canada's top curling event, the McDonald's Brier tournament

This week's competition will reduce the record-breaking field of 680 rinks to a field of twenty rinks. And, starting next Tuesday, these twenty rinks will be on the ice in the Winnipeg Arena in the double-knockout competition of the British consuls.

For the curling enthusiasts on this side of the border it is well worth the trip to Winnipeg to witness the matches in the Arena. Some of the finest curlers in Canadian competition will be performing.

And speaking of curling playdowns, the North Dakota state tournament will be held at Grand Forks on this weekend. The Dale Dalziel rink of Fargo (and he is well-known here) will be defending his title, and making a bid to gain a berth in the national tournament to be held in Duluth on March 4-9. The matches at Grand Forks will be held at the Grand Forks curling club. One of the prime contenders for the state title will be the Orville Gilleshammer rink of Grafton, a one-time national champion.

Fisher Clinches Polar Loop Title

Wins over Goodridge Huskies Friday 52-50

Coach Norman Wagner's Fisher Flyers won the Polar basketball conference title on Friday night by scoring a come-from-behind win over the Goodridge Huskies in a game played at Goodridge, winning by a 52 to 50 score. The Flyers boast an eight wins and no losses record in the six-team conference.

In Friday's tilt, Goodridge held leads of 15 to 12 and 26 to 21 during the first half of play. The Flyers, with Roger Belswenger and Tom Bentrup leading the scoring, evened the score at 38 to 38 at the half.

The Goodridge Huskies dropped a 51 to 46 decision to the Alvarado Indians in a conference game played at Alvarado; and in a game played at Mentor on Tuesday night, the Huskies, with Bob Vigen and Dick Saurdiff scoring 14 points apiece, and rangy Lon Szymanski adding 12 points, defeated Mentor, 56 to 45.

Goodridge will play at Gonvick on Tuesday, Feb. 5, and will entertain Red Lake Falls at Goodridge on Friday, Feb. 8.

Prowler Sextet Takes Roseau 3-1

"It was an all-round team effort". These were words of Prowler hockey coach Gene Sack's following the locals' 3 to 1 win over the Roseau Rams at Roseau on Friday night. It marked the first defeat in Region Eight conference play for the Rams this season.

On Saturday night, playing in bitter cold weather on an outdoor sheet of ice, the Prowlers dropped a 3 to 2 decision to Baudette Bears in a game that required an overtime period.

The Prowlers will conclude their 1962-63 schedule on Tuesday night, Feb. 5, when they meet the Warroad Warriors on the Arena ice. The one point in the conference standings, that will be at stake on Tuesday night could be of great importance and value to the winning team. The Prowlers are in a nip-and tuck struggle for second place in the ratings with East Grand Forks.

In Friday night's victory at Roseau, John Hellquist was the scoring star, with the stocky right-winger racking up a pair of goals and getting an assist on the third goal. In the opening period of play, Tony Poole, with Hellquist setting up the play, whipped a shot into the west net at the 8:52 mark. And at the 11:07 mark, Hellquist, from close in, and with Dennis Sullivan assisting, drilled in a shot to give the Prowlers a 2 to 0 lead.

The Rams pared the Prowler lead to one goal, 2 to 1, at the 7:48 mark of the second period when, after a three-on-one rush, Dick Anderson beat goalie Dave Erickson for a tally.

The Prowlers boosted their lead to two goals early in the third period when Hellquist banged a rebound shot into the west goal, scoring at the 2:44 mark.

Playing at Baudette on Saturday night, the Prowlers, holding a 2 to 1 lead late in the third period, gave up the tying goal to the Bears at the 10:00 mark, with John Amundsen scoring. At the 3:02 mark of the overtime period, Ken Grund, on an assist from Gary Lyons, scored to give the Bears a 3 to 2 win.

After a scoreless first period, the Bears moved on the scoreboard at the 3:06 mark of the second period when Lyons scored an unassisted tally. That goal was equalized at the 8:00 mark when Elroy Froiland, on an assist from Buzz Olson, scored for the Prowlers.

Coach Sack's club gained a 2 to 1 lead at the 5:00 mark of the third period when Tony Poole, with John Hellquist assisting, tallied.

Hockey Thieves Drop Game 6-4 to Crookston Sunday

Local Sextet to Face Grand Forks Warriors in Arena Saturday, Feb. 9

Playing a Northwest Hockey league game at Crookston on Sunday afternoon, the senior hockey Thieves dropped a 6 to 4 decision to coach Bud Salem's Pirate club.

The Thieves, still in contention for the league championship and a berth in the state amateur hockey tournament, will meet the Grand Forks Warriors on the Arena ice here on Saturday night, Feb. 9.

The Crookston Pirates, after giving up a goal to the Thieves at the 6:05 mark of the first period, with Cal Offerdahl scoring on an assist from Larry Poole, erupted for four goals to take a 4 to 1 lead at the end of the period. Dave Hendrickson connected for two of the four goals, and Hendrickson added another tally in the second period to turn in a "hat trick" performance.

In the second period the Thieves, on goals by Tim Teal and Larry Poole, pared the Crookston lead to 4 to 3 before Hendrickson, at the 19:10 mark, tallied for the Pirates.

In the final period, each team scored a goal, with Eddie (Gus) Holmes scoring the Thieves, and Dean Freeberg tallying for the Pirates.

The Thieves were handicapped greatly in the game by lack of manpower, having only eleven players dressed for the game. Jack Hoppe was in the nets, with Duane Glass, George Schlieff, and Tim Teal manning the blue-lines, and with Larry Poole, Cal and Del-Ray Offerdahl, Arlan Hjelle, Eddie Holmes, and Monty Markstrom the forwards.

Women Will Share in Discussion of Public Affairs at RRV Shows

"World Forces Affecting Minnesotans" is the theme for the public affairs seminar for women scheduled during Red River Valley Winter Shows week in Crookston. The seminar will be held on Tuesday, February 19, at the Northwest School and Experiment Station, in the auditorium of Kiehle building, beginning at 9:30 a. m.

The meeting will get under way with registration. Immediately following, the formal program will begin and this will be under the direction of Carole Brown, assistant specialist in public affairs, University of Minnesota, St. Paul. The main speaker for the morning session is Richard Bowman, chief of the agricultural division, U. S. Peace Corps, Washington, D. C. A 'question - and - answer' period will follow.

At 12:00 noon, the seminar group will have their luncheon in the dining hall of the Northwest School. The speaker at the luncheon will be Dr. William C. Rogers, director of the World Affairs Center on the Minneapolis campus of the University of Minnesota. He will address the group on the theme of the seminar.

Plans are being made for an attendance of 250 women. Invitations to homemaker groups in the entire Northwestern Minnesota are being coordinated by Arleen Barkelm of the agricultural extension service, University of Minnesota. The Federated Women's Clubs are invited. Members of the clubs who are interested in attending the seminar should send a postal card, with this information, to Mrs. Arthur Nomland, 820 Thorndale, Crookston, and she will confirm the pre-registration.

Drotts Attends Federal Crop Insurance Meet

Explanation of an expanded program for Federal Crop Insurance in 1963 was given at a meeting of the corporation held recently in St. Paul. David Drotts of Thief River Falls attended the meeting which reviewed the addition of several crops to the state program, more coverage, smaller premium and higher bushel guarantee.

Federal crop insurance is an all-risk coverage which will provide funds for planting of another crop if a crop is lost. The plan has been in operation for 24 years with 400 claims paid in Minnesota by January 1 and 3,500 additional claims to be paid after that date.

AAA Would Repeal Auto Excise Taxes

Association Charges Levy is Inequitable

Elimination of the 10 per cent federal excise tax on passenger cars should have top priority in any program of tax reduction or tax reform enacted by Congress this year, according to Dr. William G. Sauer, president of the Minnesota AAA.

"This tax is a good example of some of the inequities in the federal tax structure," Dr. Sauer said. "It originally was enacted in 1932 to help balance a depression-strained budget. Subsequently, the rates were raised during World War II and the Korean conflict for the dual purpose of raising revenue and discouraging expenditure for automobiles so that factories could concentrate on producing war goods. The tax averages out to about $230 for each vehicle.

The AAA official added that never in the history of this tax has there been any effort to justify it on the basis of equity.

"It was born in expediency and has been continued in expediency," he said. "Now that we are planning to adjust tax schedules to encourage economic expansion, this tax should be the first to go. Congress itself has recognized that special taxation of highway users is unjustified unless the proceeds are used for highway purposes." Unlike many of the other automotive excises, revenues from the passenger car tax, amounting to about $1.3 billion annually, do not go into the federal highway trust fund, which supports the federal-aid roadbuilding effort. They, instead, go into the general fund which is spent for all governmental purposes.

Entries Invited in Crop Exhibits at Winter Shows

Special Committee Has Completed Plans to Give 1963 Exhibit New Look

When the 1963 Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston opens on February 16, the crop exhibit will have a new look. A special committee has completed plans that will integrate this section into one uniform display of all crops grown in the Red River Valley. Completely new display counters and boxes will feature all small grains and potato entries. A uniform color scheme has been selected which will make the Crop Show more attractive.

This show is open to all crop exhibitors residing in the 14-county area of Northwestern Minnesota and includes open class, 4-H, and F. F. A. competition. All small grain, legume and grass seeds, hay, silage, potato and onion crops are eligible for prize money. Entries can be made beginning February 14 but must be in by February 15 at 1:00 p. m.

The barley show which features field-run samples has been of special interest to many growers because the sweepstakes winner receives $50.

The potato entries have been increasing during the last few years. Exhibitors are being asked to help make this year the best potato show possible.

The crops section of the Winter Shows is being sponsored by several Red River Valley organizations; namely, the RRV Development association, Crops and Soils association, potato association, sugar beet growers, and the Minnesota Crop Improvement association.

UND Students on Twin Cities Tour

While most University of North Dakota students were relaxing during last week's recess between semesters, 11 industrial engineering students inspected plants in the Twin Cities.

They toured five Minneapolis and St. Paul industries Jan. 27-30, under the supervision of Dr. Alan H. Meldrum, professor of general industrial engineering.

The students included James Sculthorp, Thief River Falls.

The group visited the Minneapolis-Honeywell, Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Research Center, Hamm Brewing Co., Ford Motor Plant, and Whirlpool Corp.

Travel, Entertainment Are Income Tax Deductions

This is one of a series of informative articles prepared under the supervision of the Minnesota State Bar Association to assist you in preparing your 1962 Minnesota and Federal income tax returns and also to aid you in understanding the recent Federal enactment relating to travel and entertainment expense.

Considerable publicity has been accorded the recent regulations of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue relative to travel and entertainment expense. What most people fail to realize, however, is that these regulations are merely the result of the amendment to the Internal Revenue Code by the Revenue Act of 1962. In other words, it is the statute itself which brought about the regulations of which we read so much.

The statute has several sections which may be summarized as follows:

1. Activity:

No deduction is allowable with respect to expenses of an activity which is of the type generally considered to constitute entertainment ammusement or recreation unless the taxpayer establishes that the expense was directly related to or associated with the active conduct of a business.

2. Facility:

No expenses such as dues and maintenance of a facility such as a golf club, boat, hunting lodge or cabin may be deducted unless the taxpayer establishes that more than 50 per cent of the use of the facility was devoted to business purposes and then the deduction allowable is only to the extent of the use.

3. Gifts:

No deduction can be made for the cost of a gift where the cost exceeds $25.00. In any event, the gift must be made for business purposes.

4. Traveling:

Travel expenses generally are deductible if they are in connection with business unless they are lavish or extravagant. However, where a trip is partly for business and partly vacation, the taxpayer may be required to allocate the cost of transportation to his personal living expenses and therefore that portion is not deductible.

5. Substantiation required:

It is this part of the statute that has brought about the regulations that have caused so much furor. In other words, no deduction of any kind will be allowed in any category unless adequate substantiation is had showing not only the expenditures but the purpose of the expenditures.

You must keep a record of your activities as well as a record of your expenditures. The first would require a daily diary, while the second phase requires an accounting record.

The elements involved in such record keeping are prescribed for each category of expense but they vary little in overall requirements.

In general, these factors are: (1), amount; (2), time and place; (3), business purpose; (4), business relationships.

The best procedure would appear to get receipts wherever possible. However, no receipts are required for expenditures under $25.00. Your cancelled check in and of itself is not enough. You should get a receipt wherever possible.

College Bowl Essay Contest Offers Ten $6,000 Scholarships

High school students throughout the nation will have an opportunity to win ten $6,000 college scholarships and 50 sets of the World Book Encyclopedia by entering an essay contest now offered through the General Electric College Bowl television program, seen each Sunday afternoon on CBS-TV.

The subject of the essays is "My Most Unforgettable Teacher," as attention is focused on the inspirational value of academic teachers throughout the school systems.

Willard H. Sahloff, General Electric vice-president and manager of the Housewares and Commercial Equipment Division which sponsors the weekly College Bowl series, said he was grateful for the opportunity to accomplish two goals in the current essay contest—it provides scholarships for ten able and deserving students and serves to salute the hundreds and thousands of dedicated school teachers in America.

The contest is open to students in attendance in grades nine through twelve who will not be twenty-one years of age on or before March 31, 1963, the date the contest closes. Not eligible are employees and families of employees of the General Electric Company, its affiliates, CBS, World Book Encyclopedia, Reuben H. Donnelly Co. and their advertising agencies.

All entries must be accompanied by an official entry blank, obtainable without charge by writing to "Scholarship Contest, Box 4448, Chicago, Illinois." Entry blanks contain complete rules and detailed information about the contest.

The General Electric Company will award ten first prizes, each worth $6,000 for scholarship for higher education. The next 50 best essays on "My Most Unforgettable Teacher" will earn their writers the second prize award—a complete set of the World Book Encyclopedia.

Mr. Sahloff and Robert Earle, Moderator of the award-winning television program, will announce the winners and introduce them on the College Bowl soon after the judging is concluded.

In a similar contest last year more than 40,000 entries were received and the excellence of the compositions prompted Mr. Sahloff to authorize two additional $6,000 scholarship grants.

How Long Do You Keep Major Appliances?

If you buy used household appliances or home furnishings, you will keep them about half as long as you would if they were new.

That is one of the findings of a study made by the Consumer and Food Economics Research Division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture on the rates major appliances and home furnishings are replaced in American homes.

The study was conducted to get data to help consumers in planning ahead for the purchase of major equipment and furnishings, according to Mary Muller, extension home improvement specialist at the University of Minnesota. She points out that the survey shows how long families keep appliances, not how long they actually last.

The rate at which appliances and home furnishings are replaced may vary, of course, as the income level, needs and preferences of families, and the design and construction of the products change.

Living room wool rugs, including wall-to-wall carpeting, one of the more expensive items in home furnishings, were replaced by families in the study after 14 years, used rugs after 10 years. However, in the study the estimate of service-life expectancy of rugs was limited to their use in the living room. In many cases, the rug may have been transferred to another room in the house and used much longer.

Longest service-life expectancy in household equipment goes to electric sewing machines, which are kept 24 years. A used electric sewing machine will be replaced in 16 years.

Sixteen years is the average length of time a family will keep an electric refrigerator or an electric or a gas range, purchased new. If these appliances are purchased second-hand, they will usually be replaced in half that time.

Automatic and semi-automatic washing machines are replaced in most homes in 9 to 11 years, the wringer and spin-dryer type in 9 or 10 years. Families keep their used washing machines about 5 years.

Eighteen years is the service-life expectancy of an upright vacuum cleaner, 15 years of a tank type. Most families can count on keping an automatic toaster 15 years, a nonautomatic approximately half as long.

Families in the study used their television sets 11 years. These were television sets alone or combination sets with radios and record players. Portable and color sets were not checked in the survey.

Over the past decade, the number of dairy cows has declined 19 per cent, but milk production has increased 9 per cent—an increase in productivity per cow of 34 per cent.

Air Mail Card To Be Placed On Sale February 15

First placed on sale at Maitland, Fla., on February 15 will be the six-cent precanceled air mail postal card being provided to meet the increase in postal rates which became effective January 7. It will be available at other post offices after the first day sale as fast as manufacturing conditions permit.

The stamp, depicting a bald eagle, was designed by Victor S. McCloskey Jr., and will be printed on white paper stock with alternate red and blue parallelograms appearing on the perimeter of the address side of the card.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations of the card may submit orders to the postmaster at Maitland, Fla., plainly indicating the full name and address, with a remittance to cover the cost of the six-cent card. The outside envelopes should be endorsed, "First Day Covers, 6 cents Airmail Card."

"There is no such thing as a little country. The greatness of a people is no more determined by their number than the greatness of a man is determined by his height."

—Victor Hugo

We Wish

Nikita Khruschev has been disagreeably agreeable lately. We like him better when he huffs and puffs and threatens to blow our house down. We somehow cannot overcome the suspicion that he is most dangerous when he smiles.

Khruschev maintains that he won the Cuban skirmish, and there is some justification for believing he did. There are differences of opinion as to the strength of Russian forces now stationed in Cuba, but that there are Russian military forces there seems to be an admitted fact. In other words Nikita probably has established a base in our back yard.

And possibly it is because he doesn't want that base disturbed for the time being that he is now so agreeable.

When Nikita smiles we wish we were getting along a little better with our friends.

We Offend Again

Few of our daily newspapers revealed the bitterness of the Canadian reaction to the charge made by our state department that Canada is not doing its share in support of the North American defense program. The Canadian press reported the developments thoroughly and indicated the tenseness of the situation.

Charles Lynch of the Southam News Service, writing from Ottowa, started one report as follows:

> "The nuclear weapons crisis that has split the Canadian cabinet threatened to rupture the defence alliance between Canada and the United States today in the wake of a sizzling statement from the U.S. state department challenging Prime Minister Diefenbaker's interpretation of Canada's position.
> "Not in modern times had there been such a split between the governments of the two countries as the one revealed by the state department, whose press release hit Parliament Hill like a thunder-clap at 6:15 p.m. EST Wednesday night.

The resentment was created not so much by what was said as by the way it was said and made public, for which Dean Rusk, Secretary of State, later expressed regrets. Prime Minister Diefenbaker, speaking in the Commons, said, "this action by the department of state of the United States is unprecedented." He added:

> "And I weigh my words carefully when I say it constitutes an unwarranted intrusion in Canadian affairs."

The Winnipeg Tribune reviewed editorially the developments of recent months and the pressure that had been put on the Canadian government to accept nuclear weapons, stating:

> "This campaign has taken many forms. It has included bringing known nuclear advocates to Canada to brainwash the public. It has encouraged public relations officers of the services to go far beyond their normal information duties. It has sponsored junkets to NORAD headquarters at Colorado Springs where groups of Canadians became captive audiences for nuclear propaganda.
> "The "farewell" visit of General Norstad to Ottawa was welcomed and stage-managed as part of this campaign. The text of his statements about Canada's "commitments" and a nuclear role in NATO became available far and wide as if by magic, thanks to service public relations officers.
> "Mr. Harkness, as the minister of defence, must bear responsibility for what has been going on. He has condoned the efforts of senior air force officers and certain other military personnel to force nuclear arms on Canada regardless of government policy or of the wishes of elected representatives.
> "Pushing politicians around used to be the favorite indoor sport of military men. It continues to be just that but something has been added. The sport is now being carried in in the open in Canada, just as it has always been in the United States.
> "Just what part the military played in the timing and toughness of the state department news release on Tuesday is not immediately known.
> "It is imperative in a democracy that military policy be firmly in the hands of elected representatives. If there is any doubt about this, scores of historical examples can be quoted to show that too much power in the hands of military men is always abused and leads inevitably to the destruction of democratic control over a nation's affairs.
> "The Prime Minister has stated repeatedly that Canada has no intention of accepting nuclear arms until all hope of nuclear disarmament has evaporated. He has further stated that under no circumstances would nuclear warheads be accepted on Canadian soil until a satisfactory agreement could be worked out for Canadian control of those warheads. There is nothing ambiguous about this position, in spite of repeated attempts by militarists, and their conscious or unconscious civilian spokesmen to make it appear so.
> "In other words, the militarists are trying to wrest from the civilian government the power to determine policy. This they must not be permitted to do even if they may be able to muster powerful foreign support for their effort. If they succeed no Dominion government of any political stripe will be able to control Canada's defence policy."

In another editorial dealing with this matter, the Tribune concluded:

> "The cornerstone of Canada's foreign relations must rest on friendship and cooperation with the United States. At the same time, this cooperation and friendship must be expressed in ways consonnant with Canada's interests as a sovereign nation."

Three Months Later

Three months ago we had an election and expressed our choice for the office of governor, but it may take another three months before we know which candidate was elected. A lot of people are saying something must be wrong with our election machinery.

The procedure isn't perfect, but even if we had a system as nearly perfect as possible, it is conceivable that there still could be contests that might delay the final determination. The difficulty with this election is due mainly to the fact that neither of the candidates was exceptionally popular. Too many voters were indifferent as to the outcome.

Under the circumstances the contest could have been decided with almost as much fairness, and a great deal less expense, by merely flipping a coin. Whichever way it went, about half of the voters would be satisfied.

A Sudden Reverse

President Kennedy has reversed the administration's farm aid program, advocating voluntary rather than compulsory production controls. So read the headlines, but headlines are not always accurate. Voluntary, of of course, is a much better word politically than compulsory.

The President insists that the government must continue to help manage farm production and, within reasonable limits, we will go along with that for the time being. A reasonable limit, as we see it, is a limitation of help to those crops that now are problem crops, largely because of government management — or mismanagement. Most of the products of agriculture are marketed without government management or subsidies.

Voluntary is a much more acceptable word than campulsory, but sometimes there is very little difference between the desirability of doing what we are compelled to do and doing it voluntarily. If the consequence of not volunteering is going broke, then there really isn't any choice.

But if the President's recommendation is really sincere, and he wishes to shift more of the responsibility of production and price controls to the producers, with less control by a political bureaucracy, then we will any hats off and a round of cheers for President Kennedy. That would be in the best interests of American agriculture and the nation as a whole.

We will watch the developments with a great deal of interest.

There Ain't No Such Thing —

Murray County Herald

A man named Walter Morrow wrote for the Scripps-Howard newspaper a quarter of a century ago. He wrote one eternal article which is as true today as it was then. It is a pearl of wisdom which the liberal leaders of this country — the politicians who lead the voters to believe the government can give them something for nothing — would do well to recall. We quote:

> "A great and wise king ruled a populous and prosperous land. But a plagle of poverty came. No one knew its cause.
> "The king sumoned the wise men of the land and bade them prepare a simple text on economics, "so that I may find light and my people may be saved."
> "A year and a day later the wise men returned. 'Sire,' said their spokesman," 'wo have here the work on economics, prepared at your behest. It has been reduced to 87 volumes, profusely illustrated with graphs and charts.'
> "The king, exceedingly wroth, dismissed the wordy wiseacres, and bade the palace guards chase them Extensively Elsewhere.
> "And it came to pass that as the monarch sat brooding, there approached a single venerable man of wisdom, so old, so feeble, he had fallen behind the group.
> "'Sire,' he said, 'I have reduced the mystery of economics to a single sentence. And these are the 8 little words:
> "'There ain't no such thing as a free lunch.'"

And there ain't no such thing as a gift from Uncle Sam be it an interest free loan, a new public highway, a pension check or "free" medical services. Somewhere along the line, sometime in the future, somebody is going to pay.

Interesting Opinions

"An average English word is four letters and a half. By hard, honest labor I've dug all of the large words out of my vocabulary and shaved it down till the average is three and a half. I never write "metropolis" for seven cents, because I can get the same price for "city." I never write "policeman" because I can get the same money for "cop."

—Mark Twain

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

"Just what have you done for humanity?" asked the judge before pronouncing sentence on the pickpocket.

"Well," said the confirmed criminal, "I've kept three or four detectives working regularly."

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

One of the top-priority bills of the 1963 legislative session has been speedily passed by the House of Representatives, thereby becoming the first piece of legislation approved by either house this year. House File Number 1, (meaning this was also the first bill introduced in the House this session) was passed on Monday with only scattered opposition. Providing for needed construction, improvements and land acquisition at various state facilities, it is expected to be approved by the Senate very shortly.

House File 1 has an interesting background. An identical measure was passed by the first special session of the 1961 Legislature, but because it appropriated monies that would send the state debt over its out-dated limit, approval was made contingent upon passage by the voters of Constitutional Amendment No. 2 at the November, 1962, elections. Governor Andersen, officials of various state institutions, and interested citizens who had urged adoption of Amendment 2 therefore asked that this reenactment be the Legislature's first order of business, so that necessary state building and improvement work would not be delayed any longer than it already has been.

The bill provides for issuance of state bonds in the amount of $29,361,000, the proceeds of which will be expended for the following general purposes:

For improvement of state hospitals and correctional institutions —$12.3 million.

For construction and improvement of facilities of the University of Minnesota — $7.5 million.

For improvement of state college facilities — $7.3 million.

For land acquisition and improvement at state colleges and the department of health — $1.4 million.

For improvement of the capitol group of buildings — $189,450.

For improvement of state parks —$479,000.

For general improvements to state-owned buildings and structures — $200,000.

For administration of the building program — $68,500.

As soon as the Senate approves this bill, which has been sent to them, and the Governor has signed the final draft, Minnesota's building program will start to "roll" again. The building and improvements for which this legislation provides have been needed for some time, and will allow Minnesota to continue its high level of state facilities.

History was Made Last Week

Last week Tuesday was historic in Minnesota. J. Cameron Thompson presided at noon and evening meetings at which the formation of the North Star Research and Development Institute was completed and announced.

This is an outgrowth of an economic study of the upper midwest now underway and is a privately supported non-profit agency that will be closely associated with the University of Minnesota. It will carry out research projects assigned to it by the Federal government, but will be available to all industry in the area — particularly smaller firms which cannot sponsor research staffs of their own.

I believe the establishment of this research agency may well be the most important development of our generation, affecting the economic growth of Minnesota and surrounding states.

BUILDING BILL PASSES

In the first major action of the legislative sessions the "1961 Building Bill" moved along last week to indicate it should be finally passed by the time you read this.

This was one of my top five legislative priorities, and the legislators are to be congratulated for prompt action. The projects provided for have already been delayed two years and are urgently needed at state colleges, Universities, mental hospitals, schools and hospitals for the mentally retarded. Plans and specifications are ready so that no time will be lost. In addition to meeting important needs this new construction will provide jobs in many parts of the state where work is needed.

Better Service at Lower Cost

When someone talks about giving you better service at lower cost, it is only natural to be a little skeptical. In state government we are constantly working to improve service and cut cost. It can be done. We have just had an example in the telephone service for state government.

We have installed Centrex which is a direct dialing system, so anyone calling the Capitol can dial the department wanted. Instead of dialing C 2-3013 and asking for the Governor's office, you now dial 221-3391 and the receptionist in my office answers. There is no question that this is quicker, better service. Furthermore, it costs less money. Like any change it met with resistance when first suggested. Now that it is operation there is universal agreement that this is truly an example of "Better service at lower cost."

MAYFIELD . .

Mrs. Ole Austad, Oklee

Vance and Monte Haugan visited at the Harold Haugan home on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Barnes visited at the John Shaw home in Deer Park Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mack and family visited at the Earl Aiken home in Kratka Sunday.

Baptism Held

Baptismal services were held Sunday at the Ebenezer church for Dennis James, son of the Charles Magnells. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Marlyn Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. George Spong, Jr. Also baptized was Joel Orlan, son of the Orlan Stolanses. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hendrickson and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Solheim.

Last Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haugan helped Monte Haugan celebrate his birthday. Helping him celebrate Monday included Mrs. Roger Barnes and children, Mrs. Donald Mack and children, and Mrs. Ole Austad and girls.

Vernon Iverson and Orlin Hanson of Highlanding visited Saturday at the Marlyn Haugan home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Austad of Thief River Falls visited at the Ole Austad home Tuesday.

Mrs. Ole Austad and children visited at the Donald Mack home Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Marlyn Haugan and boys called on Mrs. Ruby Rodman and Harold Haugans Saturday.

27 from TRF See Aircade at Fargo

Six students and 21 adults from Thief River Falls were among more than 2,000 persons attending the "Aircade for Citizenship Action" held Monday at Fargo. The local group made the trip in a chartered bus to participate in the full day's activities.

H. Ladd Plumley, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, headed the list of 11 U. S. Chamber of Commerce representatives, each an expert in his particular field.

Plumley urged support of the chamber's four-point program of education, freedom versus communism, public affairs and political action. "Democracy works not only when people care but when they work," he said. He said that the federal budget must be "cut to the bone" and pointed out that in 27 of the last 32 years there have been deficits in the national budget.

Lyle Fisher, vice president in charge of personnel and industrial relations for Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing company, discussed labor questions. "There is a sort of creeping paralysis with the government extending its intervention into state and local laws and ordinances and taking seems to be a great reluctance to let the laws we have work — if we let them work they would be successful."

Arch N. Booth, executive vice president of the organization, said that President Kennedy's $99 billion budget can be reduced. He said that since World War II defense spending by the federal government has been reduced by $26 billion but that the non-defense spending has risen by the same amount.

"Most of the fat in the federal budget adheres to the social welfare programs," Booth said. He added that reductions in federal spending could be effected "without impairing the domestic or internal security" of the nation.

Criticizes Freeman

Walter B. Garver, manager of the agriculture-natural resources department of the Chamber of Commerce, said that "we are now in an era of government by jawbone and press releases" and that "it would be better for the farmers if Freeman stayed out of all the farm business".

"Unless he gets his program across, he is through as far as his career in the present administration is concerned," Garver said of Freeman. "There is a good deal less enthusiasm elsewhere in the administration for the present approach to the farm problem than there is in the Department of Agriculture."

Scores Medicare

James B. Hallet, general counsel for the Travelers Insurance company, spoke on medical care for the aged and said that private enterprise can do the job for older people. By the end of this decade 70 per cent of the older people who need and want aid will be able to get it under present programs, he said. He pointed to added costs to employees and employers if Congress passes the administration's proposed medicare measure tied in with Social Security. "It means that the $100

Bradley Rynning

Vocational Student Goes To Europe

Will Represent Area on People To People Tour

Bradley Rynning, Kennedy, first year student in auto mechanics at the Thief River Falls area vocational technical school, has been named to serve as a representative from this area on a People to People Goodwill Delegation in Eastern and Western Europe.

He will visit farmers and farm youth in Scotland, England, France, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Berlin and Denmark. Upon completion of the tour, at Copenhagen, Denmark, he will leave the group and go to Norway to visit relatives.

Les Davis, director - coordinator of the Goodwill People to People travel program, wrote the invitation letter to Bradley. "Your selection as a member of this important delegation can be considered by you as an indication of your personal status among the agricultural youth of your state. "As a member of this impressive delegation, we can promise you that your mission will be the most outstanding, interesting and rewarding experience of your lifetime."

"Goodwill People to People Delegations have been able to plant seeds of goodwill for America which have done much to dispel the doubts and fears of the people in the European countries, especially those under Communist domination".

American Youth selected for this mission are carefully chosen and must rank very high in personality, character and proven farming ability with financial records to show their respective growth. Bradley will leave New York June 18 and will return home late in July or early August.

Bradley Rynning is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Rynning, Jr. of Kennedy, Minnesota. He is a graduate of the Kennedy high school, Kennedy, Minn., and plans to stay with farming after completing his education. He stays at 715 So. Crocker in this city.

Northern State Bank Resources Are Up $900,000

Stan Wilson Elected New Director on Board At Annual Meeting

Total resources of Northern State Bank in Thief River Falls increased by nearly $900,000 during 1962 to a new high of $6,094,135.50, stockholders were told at the annual meeting of the financial institution held recently. Deposits at the end of the year totaled $5,568,941.62.

Stan Wilson, owner and manager of Wilson Bros. in Thief River Falls, was elected to a position as director on the board. Directors reelected were George Beito, A. M. Magnuson, B. I. Frolland, Orville M. Hanson and G. A. Beito Jr. Officers elected included George Beito, president; G. A. Beito Jr., vice president; Orville M. Hanson, cashier; and Lester J. Gustafson, assistant cashier.

Reports on the successful operation of the bank during the past year were given by board president Beito and indicated that total capital stucture of the bank is now $525,193.88. This includes $100,000 in capital stock, $250,000 in surplus and $175,193.88 in undivided profits and reserves.

Among the $6,094,135 resources of the bank are $983,743 cash and due from banks; $2,566,772 in U. S. Government bonds; $430,564 in municipal bonds; $475,334 in other bonds; and $1,607,834 in loans and discounts.

Mrs. Jaycees To Sponsor Charity Ball on May 11

Plans for the Second Annual Charity Ball sponsored by the Thief River Falls chapter of the Mrs. Jaycees were made at a meeting of committee chairmen held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Yetter. Mrs. Yetter and Mrs. William Ness are general co-chairmen for the project which is held to raise funds for the benefit of mentally retarded children in the area.

This year the theme of the event will be "The Roaring Twenties" with the evening's entertainment to include dancing and a special floor show featuring local talent. Date for the event has been set for May 11 at the Elks club rooms with tickets to be priced at $3 per couple or $1.50 each. Last year's event resulted in $300 being turned over to the Pennington - Red Lake Association for Retarded Children.

Other chairmen for the event include Mrs. Gene Beito and Mrs. George Hildre, decorations; Mrs. Marshall Simons and Mrs. Silas Giere, tickets; Mrs. James Winjum Jr. and Mrs. Maynard Toland, publicity; and Mrs. Roger Tunberg and Mrs. Marvin Lundin, program.

Terry L. Donnan Is New Hospital Business Manager

Former Burroughs Man Assumes Duties Monday At Northwestern Office

Terry L. Donnan has assumed his duties as business manager (controller) on the staff of Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls with the position effective Monday. He is currently residing in Grand Forks and plans to move to Thief River Falls with his family in March.

Donnan was born on Jan. 7, 1937, at Omaha, Neb., and graduated from high school at Campbell in 1954. From 1954 to 1959 he attended the University of North Dakota, graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration and accounting. He also served in the U. S. Army reserve from 1954 until 1961.

Following graduation he worked for a certified public accountant in Fargo for one year and then began work as a salesman for the Burroughs Corporation. In 1961 he was the top Burroughs salesman in the United States in both dollar volume and units sold. He was a recipient of the distinguished salesman's award from the Fargo-Moorhead Sales Executive club in 1962.

Donnan was active in sports in high school, served as president of the the senior class, was president of the student council and graduated as salutatorian. He held various offices in his fraternity at the University of North Dakota, including house manager and president. He has been active in Episcopal church activities and is a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Donnan's family includes his wife Miriam and two children, ages 2½ and 1½ years.

Barzen Renamed As President of City Park Board

Roy Barzen was reelected president of the Thief River Falls board of park commissioners at the annual meeting held Monday evening. Lawrence Bjorkman was elected vice president and Richard Mabey, an ex-officio member of the board, was elected secretary.

Other board members include R. J. Dryden, Frank Bond, Ole Engelstad, William LaFave and Dr. Walter Kaisler. The city park and recreation boards were consolidated last year by order of the city council and the recreation committee now operates as a division of the board of park commissioners.

Old St. Hilaire Bridge Razing Contract Let

Co. Board Accepts $302 Offer Made by Four Goodridge Men

The Pennington county board, at its February session Tuesday, awarded to four men from the Goodridge area the contract to remove the old bridge across Red Lake River just north of St. Hilaire, which was replaced by a new span last year.

The successful bidders, John and Oldrich Hoffman, Joe Krbechek and Donald Horachek, agreed to pay the county $302.98 for the privilege of wrecking the bridge and keeping the material. Ten other bids on the project covered a wide range.

A group of county farmers and representatives of the Soil Conservation were present at the meeting to discuss the ASC program for participation in field drainage costs.

The board voted to renew its contract with the Northwest Mental Health Center in Crookston, calling for the payment by the county of $6,286 as its share of the cost of operating the center for the fiscal year 1963-64. Also approved was the payment of $1,202.31 as the county's share of maintaining the area probation and parole office for the last half of 1962.

Action was taken to call for bids to be opened March 5 on the blacktopping of State Aid Road 3 east from the west county line for a distance of 6½ miles, and east from the intersection with Highway 32 to the airport road. Also put on the program fro future action was the grading of SAR 3 from River Valley to the Gully road to prepare it for blacktopping.

Also to be opened at the March meeting are bids on Diesel fuel and brush spray to supply the coming season's needs.

A resolution was adopted requesting the state legislature to set up a pilot plan for a regional work farm to care for prisoners from Northwest counties.

The board authorized small increases in pay for ten employes of the county highway department and two court house janitors.

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs Joint Installation Held

Officers Seated by Installation Team at Hall Thursday Night

Special joint installation ceremonies were held last Thursday at the Odd Fellows hall in Thief River Falls to seat the new officers of Young Pine Lodge 221 of the Odd Fellows and Lyon Lodge 69 of the Rebekahs.

Alfred Longren and Cora Perkins were installed as noble grands for the respective lodges and will be assisted by Jorgan Austad and Alma Lund as vice grands. Harry Lund, district deputy, and Ethel Aase, district deputy president, headed the installation team with Millard A. Nelson and Gladys Odegaard as grand marshalls. Retiring noble grands are Horace Dalnger and Ida Vallet.

Other elective officers of the Odd Fellows include Millard Nelson, recording secretary; George G. Swanson, financial secretary; and Leonard C. Hanson, treasurer. Other elective officers of the Rebekahs include Ethel Aase, recording secretary; Adelle Olson, financial secretary; and Geneva Larson, treasurer.

Odd Fellow appointive officers include Arno Steinhauer, Willie Rondorf, Paul Roy, Sig Sinding, Albert Sjolsvold, Joe Ruane, Obert Lindland, Fred Myhrer, Helmer Halland, Harry Lund, Arthur Terrian and Joe Vallet. Trustees are Harry Lund, Alfred Longren and R. A. Werner.

Rebekah appointive officers were Clara Halland, Ella Erickson, Beatha Werner, Clara Lindberg, Thora H. Nelson, Clara Ahlstrom, Lena Moistad, Naomi Bredeson, Minnie Ruane, Clara Erickson and Mildred Wick.

Canton members of Lone Pine Lodge 10 presented and retired the flag and a lunch and social time followed the installation ceremonies.

Valley Home Society Has Annual Meeting

EUROPEAN tourism was depicted by E. O. Peterson of Thief River Falls when he recounted experiences of his trip to Europe for the Thief River Falls Rotary club on Monday. Peterson showed slides of points of interest visited on his trip and commented on his impressions of European countries. The European tie, beret, pipe, cane and sunglasses provided the atmosphere for the talk.

Beito and Noper Elected To Board At Meet Tuesday

George Beito of Gonvick and Randall Noper of Thief River Falls were reelected to three-year terms on the board of directors of the Valley Home Society at the annual meeting held Tuesday evening in the Thief River Falls city auditorium. More than 30 of the 140 stockholders in northwestern Minnesota attended the session.

Two resolutions were adopted by the membership at the session; one decreased the number of directors of the organization to nine from the previous by-laws provision of 18 and the other reduced the notice time required for board meetings from 10 days to 48 hours. The changes were made to permit the board to meet with greater convenience when dealing with federal authorities on its building program.

With the reduction in the number of directors resulting from the change in by-laws, a number of directors have submitted their resignations. These included Carl A. Johnson and C. G. Peterson of Warren, Robert Wurst, Olger Green and Rufus Olson of Thief River Falls.

Directors whose terms expire in 1964 are John Steiger, L. B. Hartz, Stuart McLeod and Herman Kjos. Terms expiring in 1965 are those of Christ Anton, Waldie Christensen and M. C. Gulbranson. Next year three directors for three-year terms will be elected as well as a director for two years to fill a vacancy. Only two directors for a three-year term could be elected this year because seven members are still serving terms from their previous election.

Christensen was reelected chairman of the board of directors with all other officers also reelected. They include M. C. Gulbranson, vice president; Stuart McLeod, secretary; and George Beito, treasurer.

Financial Reports

Operation of the present home for the aged showed a net profit of $2,220 for 1962, the stockholders were told Tuesday evening. Receipts for room and board totaled $51,573.12 and expenses totaled $49,352.21. Among major expense items were $9,351 for food purchases, $31,631 for salaries, $1,325 for medical supplies, $843 for lights, power and water, $1,229 for laundry, and $1,250 for fuel.

In 1962 the society had assets totaling $25,654 and liabilities of $1,839 with a surplus of $23,814. Assets included $12,000 for building and lots and $5,000 for furnish-

Court Of Honor Is Slated for Scout Week Observance

In observance of national Boy Scout Week February 7-13, Thief River Falls Boy Scout Troops will hold a Court of Honor Monday at 7:30 p. m. in Zion Lutheran church in this city. Troop 57 at St. Bernard's Catholic church, Troop 59 at Zion Lutheran church and Troop 60 at Trinity Lutheran church will be included in the program.

Clarence Knudsen, advancement chairman, stated that all parents of scouts and friends of scouting in the community are encouraged to attend the Court of Honor. A program for the event will be published in the Monday edition of the Times.

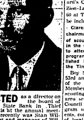
Boy Scout Week will mark the 53rd anniversary of the beginning of the Boy Scouts of America. Members and leaders of the 155 scouting units in the 15 county area served by the Lake Agassiz Council have planned a full program of activities involving parents, community leaders and heads of local institutions that sponsor the groups.

"Strengthen America — Be Prepared, Be Fit" is the theme for the observance with special emphasis on local activities that will help to carry out the theme. Open house meetings, courts of honor and Cub Scout blue and gold banquets will be held by cub scout packs, Scout troops and Explorer posts in the area.

"By holding these meetings we hope that guests and boys themselves will gain a greater understanding of the aims and objectives of the Boy Scout movement while they have a lot of fun," stated Floyd K. Christianson, Grand Forks, council president.

"Scout week is the grand occasion when members show their accomplishments in an exciting and dramatic way," Christianson said. "Parents take a greater interest in their son's development when they meet his volunteer adult leaders and the boys with whom he associates." Scouts are also being encouraged to attend their own church in uniform on Scout Sunday, February 10.

The scouting units will emphasize fitness recognition at their special meetings in connections with the "Fit for Tomorrow" program of the Boy Scouts of America.



ELECTED as a director on the board of Northern State Bank in Thief River Falls at the annual meeting held recently was Stan Wilson, owner and manager of Wilson Bros., automotive supply dealer in this city. Wilson is a native of Thief River Falls and has been active in civic and community affairs.

Dog Owners Are Asked To Comply With Ordinance

Thief River Falls police department reminds dog owners that 1963 dog licenses will become due on April 1 and that certificates proving the dog has received a current rabies vaccination must be presented before a license can be issued.

License fee is $2 for males and spayed females and $6 for females. An advertisement elsewhere in today's Times notes that the department has received numerous complaints recently about dogs running at large.

Dog owners are reminded of the ordinance passed last year requiring dogs to be leased or otherwise confined to the premises of the owner year around. With the approach of spring the department will be more vigorous in the enforcement of this ordinance, according to Chief Elton Cummings.

Roland Larson Is Elected to MCCE Board Last Week

Selected Membership Chairman for Chamber of Commerce Executives

Roland K. Larson, executive secretary of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, was elected to a three-year term on the board of directors of the Minnesota Chamber of Commerce executives at the annual meeting held last Thursday, Friday and Saturday in St. Paul. He was also appointed membership chairman for 1963.

Workshop sessions were held on membership procurement, orientation and retention; public relations; building the Chamber of Commerce image in the community; development of industrial parks and handling industrial development financing; and organizational problems including a "Flop Shop" to analyze why some projects had failed.

Dwight Haven, manager of the local service department of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, attended the entire convention. He noted the importance of the Chamber of Commerce meeting "the challenge of change" and said there are three types of people in every community — "those who live off it, those who live in it and those who live for it" — and that the organization must work hard to make sure that the communities in which it operates continue to grow.

Rolf Wangberg Wins VFW Event

"Voice of Democracy" Contest Is Completed

Rolf Wangberg, senior student at Lincoln high school, won the "Voice of Democracy" contest sponsored at the school by the Thief River Falls Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He receives a $15 cash award for his efforts and a tape of his talk was forwarded to Ada for the district contest.

A second place tie resulted between Kenneth Witt and Gail Stromsmoe in the contest with third place awarded to Trudy Waale. Cash prizes were also awarded for second and third place in the local contest.

In last year's event, a German exchange student attending Crookston Central high school won second place in the national competition and received a $2,500 scholarship. State winners receive $100 in cash and an expense-paid trip to Washington, D. C. Miss Thora Skomedal was in charge of the local contest at the school.

Marshall County Red Cross Sets Annual Meeting

March 1 was set as the tentative date for the annual meeting of the Marshall county Red Cross chapter when officers of the organization met recently in Thief River Falls. Malcolm Huelett, Red Cross field representative from Moorhead, will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. Norma Hanson of Goodridge, secretary of the organization, reported on her trip to the national convention in Seattle, Wash., last year. Attending the session in addition to Mrs. Hanson were Ralph Larson, Argyle, county chairman; John Hildenbrand & Glenn Johnson, Warren respective treasurer and fund drive chairman.

Mayor Green Marshal of St. Paul Parade

Mayor Orin Green of Thief River Falls rode as honorary grand marshal Saturday evening in the torchlight parade for the St. Paul Winter Carnival. Mayor and Mrs. Green were also guests at Mayor's Day festivities on Saturday and attended a banquet prior to the parade.

Norma Rasmussen Wed To Jerome E. Levorson

The First Congregational church of Hutchinson, Minnesota was the scene of a candlelight service on Saturday evening, December 29, of the marriage of Norma Ann Rasmussen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rasmussen of Hutchinson, Minnesota, to Jerome Emory Levorson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldemar Levorson of Grygla, Minnesota.

Before an altar decorated with a center bouquet of white carnations, snapdragons, red poinsettias and flocked Norway pine, the Rev. James McNeilly read the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Arnold Hepner, the church organist, rendered the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Miss Claribel Root as she sang "We'll Walk With God" following the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white imported Italian lace, the basque bodice having a round neckline, with short sleeves. The skirt, fashioned with lace panels over two layers of nylon net over taffeta faille ended in a chapel train. She wore lace mitts and a fingertip veil of silk illusion caught on a crown of pearls. She carried a crescent cascade of white Catlleya orchids and variegated holly.

Miss Helen Rasmussen, the bride's sister, was her only attendant. She wore a street length green velvet dress, green net blush veil and green shoes. She carried a bouquet of red poinsettias with holly greens.

The groom chose as his best man, Dale Mackey of Grand Forks, N. D. The groom and his attendant wore black tuxedos and white carnation boutonnieres.

The ushers were John Rasmussen of Rochester, the bride's brother, and Daniel Stone of Minneapolis.

The bride's mother wore a beige dress with matching hat. She wore a gardenia corsage, while the groom's mother wore a blue dress with matching hat and an orchid corsage.

The church pews were decorated with candles, white bows and flocked pine with cones.

Mrs. Irving Smith of St. Charles, Minn. was the bride's personal attendant, while Miss Barbara Penna of Minneapolis was at the guest book. Mrs. Dale Mackey of Grand Forks, and Mrs. David Nelson of Lake Bronson were in charge of the gifts. The three tiered, gold-cross-topped wedding cake was cut and served by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Rose Shattuck of Rochester. Miss Irene Graehler of Minneapolis poured, and Miss Shirley Hackbarth and Miss Bernice Johnson of Minneapolis served the punch. Miss Sheri Smith of St. Charles, Minn. and Miss Sue Stender of Rochester served as witresses. Their aprons and corsages were gifts from the bride.

The reception which followed the ceremony was held in the church parlors, with members of the Women's Fellowship assisting in the kitchen.

The bride was a 1958 graduate of Hutchinson high school and also attended Mankato State college.

The groom was a 1956 graduate of Goodridge high school and a 1960 graduate of Bemidji State college receiving his bachelor of science degree in chemistry. He is employed as an analytic chemist at Pillsbury Research in Minneapolis, in which city the couple are making their home.

Out of town guests were from Grygla, Thief River Falls, Lake Bronson, White Bear Lake, Wayzata, St. Charles, Rochester, Waseca, Minneapolis and Bemidji, Minn., and Grand Forks, N. D.

Charlene Norby Wed To Keith A. Jankowski

Legion Aux. Briefed On Flag Etiquette

Ecklund Holmstrom Unit 117 of the American Legion Auxiliary held its monthly meeting in the club rooms Monday evening. A number of important projects were considered and approval was voted for sending $10 to the heart association, $10 to the March of Dimes, and $50 to the American Legion hospital association in Rochester.

February in the auxiliary calendar is Americanism month. In keeping with this theme, 1st Lieut. Gerald Wigness and Sgt. Jim Kempel of the National Guard gave an informative talk on the history of our flag, explained flag etiquette, proper display, care and folding of the flag, and proper phrasing of the Pledge of Allegiance.

Ellsworth Jorgenson and Jon Metusalem spoke on civil defense, warning that "in the event of a national emergency the government is not going to do for us what we can do for ourselves." They both emphasized the need for home shelters and a course in survival.

A prize was awarded Mrs. Andy Homme. Attendance prize was forfeited by Mrs. Susie Sundstrom. Hostesses for the evening were Mmes. Richard LeMoine, Andy Homme, Clifford Anderson and Florence Myers.

The evening was spent socially, and included opening Kim's gifts and the serving of lunch, which included birthday cake and ice cream.

Sunday dinner guests in Kim's honor were Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Mortrud, Sonia, Merilee, and Debbie; and Mrs. Melvin Mortrud. Afternoon guests were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Nelson, Julie and Greg. Lunch was served by Mrs. Nelson. There were three birthday cakes.

Jeff Roadfeldt Has Party On 8th Birthday

Mrs. Morris Roadfeldt was hostess to a birthday party for her son Jeff's eighth birthday at their home on February 1. Featured at the after-school party was a birthday cake decorated in red and white, and topped with a helicopter, and the new bicycle which was presented to the honored guest as a gift from his parents. He received, in addition, numerous gifts from the guests.

Games were played and Mrs. Roadfeldt served lunch. Guests were Jeff, his sister Debra and brother Roger; Mike and Casey Conners, Gary and Mickey Burstad, John Foster, Denny Dexter, Kent Hanson, Lance McFarland, Bradley Brouse, Keith Carlson, Mitch Engelstad, and John DuChamp, with Jay DuChamp unable to be present, but sending a gift.

ENGAGED, to Richard L. Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Evans of Thief River Falls, is Miss Mary Mostoway, daughter of Andrew Mostoway of Winnipeg, Man., Canada. A July wedding is planned.

"TOPS Dieters" Club Organized In City

Organization of a TOPS club (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) in Thief River Falls was accomplished at a meeting held Monday evening in the basement meeting room of the city auditorium. TOPS Inc., is a national organization with headquarters in Milwaukee, Wis.

Purpose of the chapter is primarily to help all the overweight who are sincerely interested in losing pounds sensibly. It is based on "group therapy" — getting together people with a common problem and discussing it frankly without fear of being laughed at or misunderstood.

"TOPS Dieters" was the name selected for the local organization. Next meeting will be held Monday at 7:52 p. m. in the city auditorium meeting room and any woman with a weight problem is advised to come to the meeting for more details.

Elaine's CHATTER

Most every one you talk to these days, seems, to be carrying a heavy load. It is estimated that Americans are toting around a total of 800,000,000 pounds of fat! Seems as if most of us are eating ourselves into the great beyond.

Even little children are conscious of it. A mother insisted to her little boy that he eat everything on his plate. The little shaver piped up, "Do I have to eat all this so I can grow up to be a big man like Daddy, then go on a diet" A brilliant deduction.

A bright spot in the picture — regardless of size, we have clothes at ELAINE'S that will make you look slimmer. Designers have reckoned with this problem and the new Spring Coats are styled to give you that slim look. There is width to the shoulders, slim flowing lines which make it difficult to know if you are a size 10 or—?

Colors that look good enough to eat and of course the ever wearable Navy and Black. Stop at ELAINE'S now for your Spring Coat, the smart shoppers always get their coats early — put it on lay by, charge it or pay cash, makes no difference to us, but do it now.

Make it a point to shop for those Fall and Winter items you can still use now and next Winter. Dresses, Coats, Sportswear — all reduced, still a few colors and sizes left.

Are we going to have two Prowler teams in the State this year. Looks very much like it. Congratulations fellows. Sock and Junker have done a fine job, from here on out it is up to the Prowlers themselves, if they want to win and go to the State they can. As they say — the next few weeks will separate the men from the boys!

Tax Returns Due, Farmers Reminded

Tax Due Feb. 15 If No Estimated Tax Was Filed

George O. Lethert, district director of internal revenue in St. Paul, said today that farmers who did not file an estimated tax return for the year 1962 must file their final federal income tax return by Friday, February 15, 1963.

If a farmer filed an estimated tax return by January 15 and paid the tax due, the final return does not have to be filed until Monday, April 15. Otherwise the final return must be filed by February 15 and the full amount of the tax paid, he said.

Only farmers have this option, Lethert declared. A farmer is defined by the tax law as an individual who earns two-thirds or more of his 1962 gross income from agriculture.

Lethert said that most farmers who filed Federal tax returns last year have received their current tax forms through the mail. Those who did not file or who did not receive 1962 tax forms can secure them from the nearest Internal Revenue Office or from local post offices or banks.

Mechanics Given Awards at Grand Forks Banquet

Clarence Gross, Clifford Bredeson, William Ulrich and Eldor Ornquist received Certified Technician awards from H. B. Augustine, Chevrolet zone manager, at a banquet held recently in Grand Forks. All are mechanics at Northern Chevrolet in Thief River Falls.

To be eligible for the award, mechanics must have worked at a Chevrolet dealership for a number of years, attended monthly service educational meetings and passed a rigid mechanical examination under the supervision of Chevrolet personnel.

Explorer Scouts Hold Roundtable In TRF Saturday

Adult Explorer scout advisors, associate advisors and committeemen of the five Explorer units in the Minnesota service area of the Lake Agassiz Boy Scout Council held their first roundtable meeting Saturday at the Rex Cafe in Thief River Falls.

Included in the discussion was the national bowling tournament, regional Explorer conference and Roundtable session which will be held quarterly to help leaders and provide an opportunity for planning joint activities and exchange of ideas. Quarterly cabinet meetings involving two boys from each Explorer unit will also be held, the first to be February 23 at Cactus Lanes in Warren.

Public Opinion

Editor Times:

I received your notice about my subscription expiring, and altho I like the offer of $5.50 you carry on your mast-head, I will enclose a check for $6.00. I realize that in losing your in-county indirect mailing subsidy and having to pay now for mailing the Times in general, you have to raise your rates.

You see, I am a letter-carrier and received a raise in pay recently so I feel I can afford your paper for the coming year.

Your editorial concerning raise in pay for federal workers didn't strike me as humorous. If you don't feel we earn every cent we make, you grab a carrier's satchel (That is expected to hold up to 35 lbs. of mail) and get out of your warm office and follow a TRF carrier about his "appointed round". I'll guarantee you wouldn't last 2 hours, and especially when there is snow, ice and cold.

While I'm on the subject of editorials, I don't think much of your advocating a seat for red China in the U. N. either. To allow another nation of thieves and murderers a seat of respectability is totally not understandable. Mr. Nehru didn't think too much of communist China today, you can be sure. Let them (the Chinese) earn a seat in the U. N. by changing their way. With Russia in there should be enough. By not paying her share of the costs, and obstructionism, Russia has tried most everything to wreck the U. N. and China would do the same.

As to selling wheat to China, do you remember selling scrap iron to Japan before Pearl Harbor? The farmers out here in Wash., Ore., Idaho and Montana formed their own association (Western Wheat Assn. of Portland) and sent home economists and demonstrated to the people of Japan, Pakistan and India how to use the soft wheat of the west as a food to be used in place of rice. The association did such a good job they practically cleaned out the surplus wheat out here.

The wheat was processed by cooking and drying so it looked like pearled barley as we know it. They packaged it and sell it in these foreign countries in ready-to use (except to cook) form. The midwest farmers could do something like that you would think.

Canada will still rue the day for selling wheat to China.

As for quoting Hoard's Dairyman trying to get the farmers back to milking cows, don't you feel you're fighting a losing battle? I heard what it takes to get into dairying, with its milk parlors, milking machines, stainless steel storage tanks, etc. and most farmers don't have that kind of money. Besides, who wants to pull cowtents 364½ days a year, twice a day for little or nothing. I don't blame those farmers for getting out of dairying.

The government's action in Mississippi has been a success in that school desegregation. Sure, James Meredith may be having a rough time. If the glare of publicity was toned down, his fellow students would accept him better. When newspapers have to even know his grades in school work, that's carrying this "reporting the news" a little further than necessary. This federal action in Mississippi has further made it easier to integrate other all-white schools, witness Clemson College in S. C. that the governor at one time said he would close.

In summary, I believe you are getting more provincial in your views, Bill, and even more conservative.

It was men with progressive views that built this country and not "reviewers with alarm". Anyway some of your editorials are thought - provoking.

Yours truly,
Don J. Kolbo

Stardig Renamed Dist. President of Group Health

Middle River Man Is Elected at Meet Held Tuesday In This City

Vernon Stardig of Middle River was reelected president of District 8 of Group Health Mutual, Inc., at the annual meeting held Tuesday afternoon at the Rex Cafe in Thief River Falls. Ed Skonsgaard of Flom was named vice chairman and E. Merton Roley of Warren was elected secretary-treasurer.

Named to the district committee were Stardig, Skonsgaard and Roley and Pete Gerardy of Plummer and Earl Carlson of Holt. Ernest Swanson of Goodridge was nominated for reelection to the state board of directors for a two-year term and Chester Larson of rural Thief River Falls was nominated as candidate for the supervisory committee with the election also to be held March 8 and 9 at the annual state meeting.

Swanson reported on the 1962 goals of the company and the results of each program as well as the New Source of Income program which was developed and put on the market in 1962. Phillip Erickson of Badger, area sales director, gave a brief report on the progress of the men in his sales area.

In 1962 new business was up 20 per cent over 1961 and life dividends were at an all-time high. Two new sales areas were added and one out of two policy-owners, including dependents, received payments.

Ten Herds Tops in DHIA for January

25 Herds Were on Test During the Past Month

Orville Peters, supervisor of the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement association, lists the following herds as the top ten in the association for the month of January:

	Milk Av.	Fat Av.	Test Av.
Clyde Christensen	1207	45.9	3.80
Darrow Lundeen	1403	45.0	3.20
Myron Carlson	1057	43.4	4.10
Don Bruggeman	1241	41.7	3.36
Wallace Helgeson	1133	41.6	3.66
Martin Hanson	1040	38.0	3.65
Earl Erickson	773	37.0	4.79
John Burtness	1083	36.4	3.42
Paul Morkassel	856	35.3	4.12
Art Stenberg	917	33.7	3.67

The herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. The amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows, giving the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month.

If too many dry cows are included in the herd then the average for that month may be low even though the cows which are milking produce a lot of milk.

There were 25 herds on test with a total of 708 cows during January with the Association, an average of 28 cows per herd, seventy-eight percent of which were milking. The average amount of milk produced per cow was 879 pounds which tested 3.65 percent fat. This amounted to 32.1 pounds of butterfat per cow.

Twelve owner-sampler herds were on test with a total of 240 cows, 75 percent of which were milking.

C. of C. Manager Is Speaker at Lions

James Parkins Receives Citation for Services

Roland Larson, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce was the guest speaker at the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon. Introduced by Phil Hess, program chairman, Larson discussed the Aircade for Citizenship Action held in Fargo Monday under the sponsorship of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, with 2,000 persons attending, including 27 members of the local chamber.

Details of the Fargo session are given in a separate report in this issue of the Times.

Present at the Lions meeting were two members of the McIntosh club, District Governor Armond Sannes and Secretary L. Bennes, who presented James Parkins, international counselor and past district governor, with a citation recognizing his efficient services to the McIntosh and other clubs during his tenure.

Parkins also announced that final arrangements now are being completed for the Lions district midwinter conference in this city February 15-17, and he added that reservations have been received from points as far distant as Flin Flon, Manitoba.

Spring Weather Snaps Longest Area Cold Spell

Touches of spring-like weather broke the season's most prolonged cold spell this week with high temperatures reaching to 42 degrees on Tuesday and Wednesday. There have been no sub-zero lows since Sunday when —17 was recorded.

High and low temperatures the past several days include 13 and 3 on Monday, 42 and 1 on Tuesday, 42 and 12 on Wednesday and a low last night of 13 degrees.

The forecast calls for occasional cloudiness and warmer today with little temperature change. Light snow or drizzle is expected from variable cloudiness tonight and colder temperatures are expected tomorrow with little change on Saturday. Highs today are expected between 30 and 36 degrees with lows from 12 to 22 predicted for tonight.

ASC 1963 Feed Grain Program to Feature Price-prop Payment

Growers who take part in the 1963 feed grain program will receive a price-support payment in addition to the diversion payment, according to Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. Such growers will also qualify for regular price-support loans or purchase agreements on their 1963 corn, grain sorghum, and barley crops.

The price-support payment, the chairman explains, is a new feature of the feed grain program for 1963. (A similar payment is also available under the 1963 wheat stabilization program.) It is a payment which will be made on the "established" normal production of the acreage planted to the three feed grains in 1963. The same rates will apply throughout the country; they will not vary by counties as the regular loan rates do.

Rates for the price-support payments have been established at 18 cents per bushel for corn, 16 cents per bushel (29 cents per hundredweight) for grain sorghum, and 14 cents per bushel for barley. For each farm, the farm bases for all three grains will be combined into one feed grain base. And the rate used in determining the price-support payment — like the diversion payment rate — for a particular farm will depend on the kind of feed grain taken out of production.

Knutson pointed out that the price-support payment really serves as income insurance; it will be made to growers who divert at least the minimum 20 per cent of the farm's feed grain base into a conservation use. Even if the planted crop is destroyed by natural conditions, or even if part of the feed grain is fed to the animals on the farm, the price-support payment will be made just the same.

Unlike last year's feed grain program, the regular loan or purchase agreement will be available to 1963 program participants on the farm's entire 1963 production of corn, grain sorghum, and barley — it will not be restricted to the normal production of the feed grain acreage.

The signup under the 1963 feed grain program is now under way in Pennington ASCS county office. Chairman Knutson urges growers not to wait until the last few days of the signup period to file applications to participate. The signup ends March 22.

Valley Home Has Successful Year On '62 Operation

ings and contents. The home had 37 residents at the end of 1962 operations.

It was reported that construction on the new Valley Home south of the city is proceeding ahead of schedule and it should be ready for use prior to the target date of June 1, 1963. The society is planning to move all residents of the present home into the new facility on June 1. The new home is designed for ambulatory patients only but permission to move bedfast patients until other housing can be arranged has been granted by the government.

The construction fund statement notes that $200,000 has been received from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency. Other receipts during the year brought total receipts in the construction fund up to $241,885. Expenditures from the fund until February 5 of this year totaled $222,643 — leaving a balance in the fund of $19,242. Expenditures included $131,764 to Naavik Construction company, $19,677 to Wells, Denbrook & Associates, architectural firm.

In the trust account receipts from pledges totaled $17,291. Several inter-fund transfers were made during the year to pay construction estimates prior to receipt of the $200,000 loan from the federal HHFA.

Last year the campaign in Pennington county collected $1,241 for cancer research. Pictured with Torkelson is George Rice, Hennepin county chairman.

Pliit Refutes Item Concerning Skating Poultry

Head of Local Firm Once Taught Chickens Roller Skating Form

A short time ago the Times carried an item in its "Nothing But the Truth" feature an item concerning a duck that had been taught to roller skate. The item said it was believed to be the only trained to do this.

Then came a letter from George Pliit, president of Valley Feed & Supply company in Spring Valley, N. Y., and founder of Farmers Grain & Milling company in Thief River Falls. Pliit stated that he had trained roosters to roller skate a number of years ago.

When in Thief River Falls this week to attend to business matters, Pliit brought to the Times office a clipping from a newspaper which showed his educated poultry. Three photos showed Pliit with the bird, the manner in which the skates were attached to the fowl with adhesive tape and the rooster actually skating.

Pliit made the skates, which were said to be "about three inches long and have wheels less than a half-inch in diameter", out of metal. Pliit was a seed salesman at that time and also trained his feathered friends to roll over and play dead and to crow and chirp on command.

Fire Destroys Large Building At Piney, Man.

Fire early Monday morning completely destroyed a 38x120 x foot building housing the MarPatt Inn, Patterson Garage and Piney Liquor store at Piney, Man. Fire trucks from Roseau answered a 9:45 a. m. call but could do little but save adjoining buildings by the time they arrived.

The fire was believed to have started in the garage portion of the building and apparently spread throughout the attic before it was spotted. The attic floor was reportedly covered with shavings for insulation. A number of items were saved from the building but many smaller items were destroyed.

The hose burned off a 250 gallon fuel tank and the fuel poured in to feed the flames. Explosions from shotgun shells, cans of oil and liquor bottles were reported to have rocked the building and a fuel truck standing about 50 feet south of the building suddenly burst into flame.

Last year the Pattersons lost their home by fire. Loss from Monday's blaze was estimated at near $35,000 with insurance covering about $19,700 of the loss.

McKechnies Buy Texaco Station on Main at Sixth

Mr. and Mrs. Neil McKechnie of this city have purchased the Texaco station located on Main Ave. at Sixth Street, the former owners being Joseph Welch of Crookston and the Merickel estate of Wadena. The property covers three lots extending back to the alley. The station is operated by Clayton Angell; Mr. McKechnie is the Texaco representative in this area, operating the bulk plant on Atlantic Ave. at 6th.

The McKechnies state that the station will be completely reconditioned as soon as weather permits and the driveway will be resurfaced.

Propose Merger of 2 Co-op Groups

Central, Midland Co-ops Will Vote on Proposal

Merging of two large regional groupings of cooperatives, Central Cooperatives, Inc., Superior, Wis. and Midland Cooperatives, Inc., Minneapolis, has been proposed by the boards of directors.

Central President Brynold Peterson, Aitkin, Minnesota, and Midland President J. F. Shea, Pickett, Wis., said a series of steps leading toward the merger would begin this month with meetings of delegates from CCE member cooperatives in North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. If they approve, the merger proposal will then go before the Central annual delegate meeting March 18-19 in Duluth. If Central delegates approve at their annual meeting, a series of Midland district meetings and a special stockholders' meeting will be held to vote on the proposal. Actual merger could occur late this year.

Total assets of the two regional cooperatives are more than $35 million. Combined yearly sales are nearly $79 million.

CCI serves 237 affiliated retail cooperatives with food, clothing, hardware, appliances, petroleum products, automotive supplies, fertilizer, feed, seed, and farm chemicals. Midland serves 550 retail co-ops with similar commodities with the exception of clothing and food.

The merger proposal calls for retention of the name of Midland Cooperatives, Inc., the larger of the two.

RAD Program Held At Show Friday

Rural Area Development (RAD) received priority treatment in the speaking program at the Pennington County Seed and Feed Show held Friday. Ken Egertson, extension economist with the University of Minnesota, stated that the rural agricultural segments of our economy have not grown as rapidly as the urban industrial and business sectors. He also reviewed trends in population shifts and other economic and social changes in rural and urban sectors.

Rural areas, and rural-dependent areas, need to study their natural and human resources, Egertson pointed out. Residents need to set some goals. Then, based on the study of their resources, the people can determine the ways and means of achieving their goals.

Three alternatives are available to communities, according to Egertson. The first alternative which most people seem to favor is to increase the population of the area by providing more jobs for the youth growing up in the community. If the per capita net income is to be increased over a period of years then the total income of the area must be increased. If people are to achieve this then they must study their resources and take action.

The second alternative may be to increase per capita income for about the same population. Here again the total income of a community must be increased.

The third alternative may be an increased per capita income for a smaller population then presently live in a given community. Here if enough people left the area the total income may remain the same or can even drop and still give a higher per capita income. People need to decide what they want and then take action accordingly.

Helge Nygren, RAD Consultant with REA, stated that local people must develop and initiate their own program and that they are masters of their own fate. He used three examples to emphasize several points.

It is possible to "Do the impossible," Nygren stated. He noted that "Little America" was built in the desert and people came to this spot from all over America to see it and eat in its restaurant. Yet everyone said it couldn't be done.

"Doing the novel," was also cited as a possibility. A farmer decided to manufacture mathined buildings. He would hire extra people and increase economic activity. He could not secure credit anywhere because this was never done before in his community. After much negotiating he secured his financing and is now running a thriving business.

Work can be done with "resources absent". A millwork in northern Minnesota was a natural because the lumber was available and labor was abundant. Yet the firm, in reality, is using mostly California lumber because of its market. So resources can be brought in, Nygren pointed out.

Pennington County Agent Paul Stelmaseuk and Home Agent Laura Duerst, reviewed the work done on RAD in the county to date. Stelmaschuk pointed out that as of last week Pennington County Development Association was incorporated with the Secretary of State. The association has eleven directors. Two are elected from each commissioner district and one at large.

The association is now selling memberships. Individual lifetime memberships are one dollar. A sustaining membership sells for ten dollars. This is designed for business firms and organizations. Memberships can be purchased from the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Silas Hanson, at the Motor Vechicle License Office at Thief River Falls.

An overall economic development plan for Pennington county is also expected to be available to county residents toward the end of February. It was prepared by over 90 county residents who took part in long-range planning and is now being printed at the University of Minnesota.

APPOINTED second alternate to the U. S. Air Force Academy for the 1963 term by Rep. Odin Langen was Warren Sagstuen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sagstuen of Newfolden. Sagstuen rates high academically at Newfolden high school and is active in church, school and community activities.

Bar Assn. Tells Who Must File Income Tax Returns

(This is the second in a series of articles on income taxes made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.)

Generally, you must file a Federal income tax return if you receive gross income of $600 or more during the taxable year. However, if you are 65 or over on the last day of the taxable year, you need not file a federal return unless you receive $1,200 or more in gross income during the year. These rules apply whether you are married or single, a minor or an adult. Although not required to do so, you should also file a federal income tax return to obtain a refund of any income taxes withheld from your wages where your gross income is less than $600. You must file a Minnesota income tax return if you are single and your gross income exceeds $750. If you are married, you must file a Minnesota income tax return only where the combined gross income of you and your spouse exceeds $1,500.

Gross income for Federal income tax purposes refers to all amounts which you receive for work you perform and also includes income and profits which you receive from the investment of savings and the sale of property. As such, gross income does not include amounts received by you as Social Security or railroad retirement pension benefits, gifts, inheritance or workmen's compensation benefits. The 1961 Minnesota Legislature redefined gross income of an individual to be his Federal adjusted gross income with certain modifications which will be discussed in later articles.

The specific form to use in submitting your return is really a matter of personal choice based upon the type of income you have, the type of exclusions you claim, and the amount of deductible expenditures you have incurred. Federal Form 1040 and Minnesota Form M-1 can properly be used by any individual taxpayer regardless of the source or amount of income. However, for taxpayers with only a small amount of dividends and interest to report, Federal Form 1040A and Minnesota Form M-1A are available. You are allowed to itemize your deductions and exclude amounts received as sick pay only if you file Federal Form 1040 and Minnesota Form 1040, and Minnesota Form M-1. Federal Form 1040A and Minnesota Form M1A can be used only if your total income is less than $10,000 and if not more than $200 of this amount has been received free from withholding taxes. Most taxpayers will have a choice as to which of the Federal and Minnesota forms to use. This choice should be based upon the respective ease of filing the particular form and upon a consideration of the return which will result in the lower amount of tax which you will pay.

All of the listed returns can be filed jointly with your spouse or separately by the spouses having the specified amounts of gross income. Where husband and wife each have taxable income it is usually advantageous to file a joint Federal return and separate Minnesota returns.

The majority of simple tax returns can best and most properly be prepared by you, the taxpayer, after studying the instructions available to you. The Federal Internal Revenue Service makes available the booklet entitled "Your Federal Income Tax" to help you understand more complicated problems and more adequately submit the required information.

Legis Lative Letter

from ANDREW SKAAR
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

The House Dairy Products and Livestock Committee, of which I am a member, is considering a bill to remove the restriction against selling colored oleo in Minnesota.

Another bill seeks to repeal the 10-cent tax on each pound of oleo and our committee has asked the house tax committee to refer this proposal to us so that we can study it.

Efforts to remove these two restrictions from oleomargarine are of great concern to the dairy products producing district I am representing in the Minnesota Legislature and I am following them very closely.

Here are some facts brought out at the hearings conducted by our committee:

Minnesota farmers — including those in Pennington and Red Lake counties — have not benefitted from demands for oleomargarine. Moreover, vegetable oils, which are the principal ingredient of oleo are in surplus and soybean oil is priced in relation to the price of soybeans without taking into account the use to which the oil, meal or beans are put.

Coloring of oleo to resemble butter has resulted in a marked decrease in the per capita consumption of butter. The consumption of butter also declines whenever the retail price of yellow oleomargarine is cut or the price of butter goes up. An adverse price differential just naturally is harmful to the demand for butter.

With butter production in Minnesota on the increase, I dislike seeing legislation proposed which is bound to have a discouraging effect on the growth of the dairying industry in the state. Instead, we should be doing everything we can to stimulate this important element of our economy and to strengthen its position in the market place.

Minnesota Crop and Livestock Reporting Service figures show that Pennington County increased its butter production from 1,564,000 pounds in 1960 to 1,713,000 pounds in 1961. Minnesota's total production of butter in 1960 was 324,509,000 pounds and the preliminary figure for 1962 is 355,860,000 lbs.

I cannot go along with any bills which I believe will have a detrimental effect on the people who rely on dairying for their livelihood. What we need is greater emphasis on the nutritive value of butter and its contribution to the economic welfare of the thousands of Minnesotans who engage in this important enterprise.

The legislative process has been functioning in an efficient manner and the House has turned from organizational details to consideration of bills. Many very important bills have already been submitted and committees are active in carrying out their function to examine them and to report back to the House.

I have been appointed by Speaker Lloyd Duxbury to five committes, which presents quite a challenge — and an awful lot of work — to a freshman legislator. In addition to the Dairy Products and Livestock Committee, I am taking an active part in the work of the Motor Vehicles Committee (of which I am vice chairman), Appropriations, Elections and Reapportionment and Health and Welfare. I also am serving on a Subcommittee on Education fo' the Appropriations Committee.

4-H CLUB NEWS

City View 4-H

Monthly meeting of the City View 4-H club was held recently in the basement of the Thief River Falls city auditorium. The meeting was called to order by vice president Steven Furuseth. Roll call was answered by "Why I Like Winter".

Business discussed included the Winter Shows, radio program and the radio speaking contest. A report from the Leaders Council was given and we divided the lights to be sold by the members of the club.

Cathy Wysoski gave a demonstration on home improvement - family living. Paula Grand gave a demonstration on photography. A talk on first aid was given by Ray Bren, TRF policeman. Members were selected to give demonstrations on artificial respiration at the next meeting.

Gary Sande, Reporter

New Solum 4-H

New Solum 4-H club met for its regular monthly meeting January 17 at the Elmer Kron home. Loris Reierson, president, conducted the meeting that opened with the flag and club pledges. Roll call was answered by saying a riddle.

Karen Kron was elected as vice president to take the place of Judy Anderson who graduated last fall.

The radio speaking contest to be held February 2 was explained. A member must be at least 14 years old and talk from five to seven minutes on the topic, "How Should 4-H Prepare me for Responsible Citizenship". Other dates mentioned were Feb. 1, Seed & Feed Show at Thief River Falls, and February 16, the beginning of the Red River Valley Winter Shows.

The Club of the Year contest will be carried out again this year. Co-captains for the two teams are Loris and Judy Reierson, and Karen Kron, and John Hellquist.

The following program was given: Song, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot", by the group; a reading, "Rabies", by Douglas Johnson; and a reading, "Master's Full", by Keith Kron. Janet and Susan Holmstrom presented a humorous skit. Janell Hodik sang a song accompanied by her sister Joy on the clarinet. Two songs were sung by the members.

Serving lunch were Aaseby and Elmer Kron families.

John Hellquist, Reporter

Highlanding 4-H

Monthly meeting of the Highlanding 4-H club was held at the C. R. Appelman home. Roll call response was to name a winter animal. Old business discussed was the Winter Shows and the 4-H'ers were chosen who could go. We also discussed our play but nothing was decided.

Mrs. Ernest Swanson gave a report on the Recreation Conference and Mrs. C. R. Appelman gave a report on the foods training meeting. Alan Swanson gave a project report on his clothing project and passed around a sample of his material. Mrs. Swanson then gave a talk and demonstration on what to do in case of a fire.

Darlene Appelman presented a demonstration on how to make cinnamon toast and Anita Swanson led in teaching a song entitled "Sarasponda".

Lunch was served by Mrs. Appelman. Guests were Mrs. Justin Dahlen, Jimmy and David.

Lana Ellingson, Reporter

Mavie 4-H

Mavie 4-H club met January 9 at Grand Plain Hall. The meeting was called to order by president Dennis Bendickson and roll call was answered by giving favorite radio or TV program.

The leading topic for discussion was the radio speaking contest. Singing was led by Kathy Svendsgaard and Cathy Oski. Robert Bendickson gave a project talk on safety. Gene Weigel a demonstration on safety and Dennis Bendickson discussed a safety bulletin board.

Recreation was planned by the Oski and Skibicki families and a film was shown on safety. Lunch was served by Aandal and Bendickson families.

Gary Aandal, Reporter

Rocksbury 4-H

Rocksbury 4-H club held its meeting January 19, at Valhall. There was no old or new business. For the program Brenda Mathson read a few poems and a skit was presented by several members of the club. Randal and Ralph Lian gave project talks on photography and gardening. Florence Arneson gave a demonstration for food preparation.

For recreation a game was played to memorize wildlife for conservation. Patrick Barry, Assistant Fire Marshall, gave a talk on safety. Our club wishes to thank Patrick Barry for his fine talk and for taking part in the games and singing.

Lunch was served by the Clayton Mathson family.

Florence Arneson, Reporter

Steiner 4-H

Steiner 4-H club met January 17, with president Linda Jorde calling the meeting to order. The flag pledges were given, followed by roll call.

New business consisted of a report on the radio speaking contest, dairy demonstrations at the Winter Shows, dates and places for livestock judging practices and the Seed and Feed Show. Harold Halvorson reported on the Pennington County Fair scheduled for July 8-11.

The program included a project report on safety by Pat Passa, a demonstration on fly control with beef cattle, an accordion selection by Debra Halvorson, a poem entitled "Smile" by Lennae Yonke, a demonstration on the proper way of washing a dairy animal by Jerry Muzzy and a project report on safety by Steven Anderson.

Lunch was served by the Edson Hillyer and Art Moe families.

Kermit Solem, Reporter

STAR . . .

Prowler Quint Takes Pirates Team 66-45

Coach Jack Junker's Prowler cagers clinched first place in the District 31 conference standings on Tuesday night by scoring a convincing 66 to 45 win over the Crookston Central squad in a basketball game played on the Crookston court.

On Friday night, in an inter-district tilt, the Prowlers will meet coach Stan Otness' Fosston Greyhounds on the Lincoln high school gymnasium court.

In Tuesday night's game at Crookston, which was a re-scheduled contest due to last Friday's postponement, the Prowlers moved into a commanding lead in the first period. Paul Klungnes dropped in the first field goal, and the locals racked up three quick two-pointers to gain an 8 to 0 lead. At one time in the period, coach Junker's fast-moving team held a 16 to 3 lead.

The Pirates, with Steve Erle, Jim Johnson, and Mike Dille doing the scoring, outpointed the Prowlers in the second and third periods, and pared the local's lead to 48 to 40 entering the fourth period.

In the final eight minutes of play, the Prowlers limited the Pirates to one field goal and three free throws. The locals, with well-balanced scoring, tallied 18 points in the period to gain their 21-point win.

Crookston's Jim Johnson, with 15 points, was the game's leading scorer. Tom Lindberg and Bob Olson shared the Prowler scoring honors with 14 points apiece, while John Aune, with 13 points, and Klungness, with 11 points, also hit in double figures.

Newfolden Quint Loses to M. River

Defeated in Thrilling Game by Score of 35-34

The Newfolden Nordics the past week lost to Middle River, 35 to 34 in a cliff-hanger. This leaves the Nordics tied with Middle River and Warroad for the lead in the Border Conference with 8 - 3 point counts, although Greenbush with a 7 - 1 record has the best percentage. Total points won will determine the winner at the end of the conference season.

Middle River's Skippers jumped off to a quick lead in the first period when the Nordics had trouble denting the basket for their first field goal and they were ahead 11 to 6 at the first period stop. However, the Nordics found the range in the second quarter and with seconds remaining went into a 20 to 19 lead. From here on out to the end of the game not more than two points separated the two teams at any time and at the end it was just a question of which team would score the last basket to win. These laurels went to the Skippers as they led 29 to 27 at the third period stop and 35 to 34 at game's end. Rick Anderson of the Skippers was high point man for the evening with 12 points followed by Don Anderson with 11. Jim Dahl led the Nordics with 11 points and Ken Carlson was second high with 9.

The Nordics next take to the hardwood on Friday, Feb. 8th on the home floor against Badger.

Coach Elseth's "B" squad lost to both Middle River and Roseau in close games.

Rich Nelson Scores 26 Points for Local Quint

In spite of a 26-point production by center Rich Nelson, the Prowler 'B' squad dropped a 47 to 43 decision to coach Ron Thompson's Crookston Central 'B' squad in a basketball game played at Crookston on Tuesday night.

The Prowlers, trailing by 41 to 30 score, turned in a strong fourth period, outpointing the Pirates, 13 to 6, in the period, paring the Pirates' winning margin to three points.

Dave Peterson, with 16 points, and Roger Schmidt, with 14 points, were the high scorers for coach Thompson's squad.

1963-64 Licenses for Boats on Sale

Owner Must Give License Copy with Application

The Minnesota conservation department reports that 1963-64 renewal watercraft licenses are now available from county auditors and their agents for licenses that expired December 31, 1962. All watercraft registered or renewed in 1961 with alphabetical suffixes ending in AA through AZ must be renewed during 1963.

The department has also announced some changes in registration procedure:

1. Auditors and agents can only issue renewal and transfer licenses when the applicant presents the previous license copy. If the previous license copy has been lost, a "watercraft License Application" must be completed in full and submitted with the required license fee directly to the Department of Conservation, Bureau of Boat and Water Safety, 304 Centennial Office Building, St. Paul 1, Minnesota.

2. Auditors and agents CANNOT issue licenses for unregistered or new boats and duplicates of lost licenses. All registrants who failed to renew their watercraft license during the renewable year (following year after expiration) have forfeited their right to retain the original number assigned. A new license must be obtained and a new number affixed to the watercraft. All of these licenses must be obtained by application directly to the Department of Conservation.

3. Applications are available from the Conservation Department county sheriffs, boat dealers, county auditors and agents throughout the state and can be obtained upon request.

Bemidji Edges Prowler Matmen 20-19 Wednesday

Heavyweights Battle To 5-5 Draw In Final Match of the Evening

In one of the most exciting wrestling matches of the current high school season, Bemidji edged Thief River Falls 20 to 19 at Bemidji Wednesday evening. The match was unusual in that not a single pin was scored by either team and the only five-point decision was a forfeit won by Roy Delorme over Bob Mial at the 1:28 mark of the 106-pound class.

Results of the matches as the meet progressed last night are as follows:

106-pound Class — Roy Delorme, TRF, won by forfeit from Bob Mial 1:28;

115-pound Class — Roger Wilson, TRF, decisioned Duane Sperry 3-2.

123-pound Class — Gary Nereson, TRF, decisioned Bernard Stinson 4-3;

130-pound Class — George Flucy, B, decisioned Steve Skadsen, 6-0;

136-pound Class — Ed Meary, B, decisioned Tom Larson 6-1;

141-pound Class — Dwight Moe, B, decisioned Luke Kaushagen 5-1;

148-pound Class — George Himmelright, B, decisioned Dean Kaushagen 6-0;

157-pound Class — Joe Taylor, TRF, decisioned Dave Greuel 7-1;

168-pound Class — Tom Detschmann, B, decisioned Ray Ulrich 8-0;

Heavyweight — Dwight Myhrer, TRF, and John Brouillard battled to a 5-5 draw.

CONCLUDING a three-year career as a member of coach Ralph (Cooney) Welland's Harvard University hockey squad is Gerald (Jerry) Jorgenson, a former Prowler all-round athlete. Jerry, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jorgenson of 202 So. Tindolph Ave., during his high school days here co-captained the 1958-59 Prowler hockey squad along with Neal Carlson; and co-captained, with Harlie Drees, the 1959 Prowler baseball team. In addition he was a member of coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler football teams in 1957 and 1958. The scrappy little Harvard center—Jerry packs a solid 145 pounds on his 5-foot 6-inch frame—is one of the most versatile forwards on the Crimson's highly-regarded hockey team. Harvard currently sports an 8-2-2 record, and ranks among the top four college teams in the East.

Another Good One

The Prowler basketball team, in the thirteen games they have played to date, have met some top-flight individuals. In this talented group have been such players as Rod Olson and Paul Sannes of Fertile, all-state tournament selection Herb Hasz of Ada, Mike McNair of Fargo, Fred Dierks of Park Rapids, Jim Johnson of Crookston, and Bill Rabe and Jerry Suman of Bemidji.

Of this number it is probable that a poll taken of the Prowlers would reveal that Fargo's McNair would be rated as the best that the locals have met. And this Fargo Central forward, a 6-foot, 1 inch southpaw, is a good one. At present he is in third place in the North Dakota Class A scoring, trailing Rugby's Presthus and Williston's Jackson.

McNair, against the Prowlers a couple of weeks ago, racked up ten field goals and five free throws as coach John Buchli's Midgets scored a 67 to 60 win over the locals. McNair, from his position at right forward, was the key man in the Fargo's offense. And he exhibited a variety of moves. If he was played closely, he would feint and make a drive for a lay-up. And if he was played loosely, he would take a jump shot, and hit, from the outside.

But the Prowlers will face another good one on Friday night when they meet Mark Carlin of the Fosston Greyhounds on the local court. Carlin, a senior, is completing his third year as the scoring threat of the Greyhounds. He plays at a guard position, from where he can pump at the baskets with shots from the outside, and if played too closely, he can drive for close-in shots. According to his coach, Stan Otness, Carlin is averaging at a better than 20-point-per-game pace.

They Deserve a Boost

The senior hockey Thieves, making a strong bid to win the Northwest Hockey league title, and gain a berth in the state amateur tournament, will be playing the Grand Forks Warriors on the Arena ice here on Saturday night, Feb. 9.

The two previous games between the clubs were closely-contested, with each team winning a game. In an early-season game, played at Grand Forks, the Thieves, on an overtime goal by Dale Wennberg, edged out the Warriors, 5 to 4. And in a return game played here several weeks ago, the Warriors, by a 4 to 3 score, defeated the Thieves.

The Thieves, due to illnesses and injuries, have lost several players from the roster, but coach Duane Glass hopes that some of these side-lined players will be available for Saturday night's important game.

The Thieves, who are making an effort to keep senior hockey interest alive here, are hoping that the hockey fans will patronize Saturday night's game.

A Traveling League

A four-team bowling league, with teams from Roseau, Hallock, Lake Bronson and Thief River Falls, has been organized, and the opening round of matches were played on Sunday. The league will play a six game series every two weeks.

Last Sunday's opening round of play, bowled over the Community Lanes at Lake Bronson, found the Thief River Falls team winning six points, scoring 3 to 1 wins over Lake Bronson and Roseau.

The local team had Jesse DuChamp, Lloyd Samuelson, Marv Washnesky, Carl Onkka, and Wally DuChamp in the lineup. In its first three-game match, against Roseau's Ma & Pa lanes team, the locals had games of 862-1002-985. Samuelson's 613 three-game total was the high as the locals, after losing the first game by eight pins, won the next two games and the aggregate-pin total.

Bowling against Lake Bronson's Community lanes team, the local squad, after dropping the first game, 917 to 879, rolled games of 989 and 939 to win the series, two games to one, and pick up the total-pins point. Onkka had a huge 635 series in this match.

The next series will be played at Roseau in a couple of weeks.

Locals Second in Final Standings of Region 8 Hockey

Prowlers Lead E. G. Forks by Half-point as Season's Schedule Is Completed

The Region Eight hockey schedule was concluded on Tuesday night with Roseau defeating Baudette, 8 to 0, and Thief River Falls edging Warroad, 1 to 0.

Coach Oscar Almquist's Roseau team finished in first place in the conference standings, while coach Gene Sack's Prowlers, picking up a point by their win over the Warriors, earned second place in the ratings. Roseau and Thief River Falls, by reason of their first and second place ratings, are given berths into the Region Eight semi-finals at Roseau on Thursday, Feb. 14.

The sub-regional tournament of Region Eight, with eight teams participating, will be played in Warroad Memorial Arena on Saturday, Feb. 9, and Monday, Feb. 11, and the finalists in this tourney will join Roseau and Thief River Falls in the regional at Roseau.

The pairings for the sub-regional tournament will find Baudette meeting Red Lake Falls or Indus at 1:30 p. m. on Saturday. At 3:00 p. m. the Crookston Pirates will play the Hallock Bears. At 7:00 p. m., the East Grand Forks Green Wave will play the Williams Wolves; and the first-round play will be completed at 8:30 p. m. with Warroad meeting Indus or Red Lake Falls.

The semi-finals, to be played on Monday evening, Feb. 11, will pit the winners of Saturday afternoon's games in a contest that will be played at 7:30 p. m. And the concluding game of the Warroad tourney will find the winners of Saturday night's game meeting at 9:00 p. m. The winners of these two games will earn berths in the Region Eight tourney, with the winner of the 7:30 game slated to meet Roseau, and the winner of the 9:00 p. m. game playing Thief River Falls.

Vic Lindquist and Joe Vinet of Winnipeg will be the officials in the sub-regional and regional tournament games.

Admission prices for the sessions in the sub-regional at Warroad will be 50 cents for students and $1.00 for adults. The admission fee for the Region Eight tourney at Roseau will be 50 cents for students, and $1.25 for adults.

Klungness Awarded College Scholarship

Paul Klungness, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Klungness of rural Thief River Falls and senior student at Lincoln high school, has been awarded a merit scholarship from Concordia college in Moorhead. The grant for freshman students is based on need and may be as extensive as $700.

Throughout its 25-year history, The National Foundation has attacked the problems of life and health on three fronts: through research, medical care, and education.

Prowlers Edge Warroad Six 1-0

Dennis Sullivan's forehand shot, from ten feet out and to the left of the south net, found the far corner of the cage at the 5:24 mark of the third period, breaking a scoreless deadlock and giving the Prowlers a 1 to 0 win over the Warroad Warriors in a Region Eight hockey conference game played here Tuesday night.

By their victory the Prowlers gained second place in the Region Eight standings, and gained a bye directly into the Region Eight tournament at Roseau next week.

The game was marred somewhat by the soft ice conditions that prevailed, and rough surface of the ice due to the unseasonable thaw.

The game's lone goal came as a result of some hustling play by right-winger John Hellquist, who dug into the south-west corner of the net, recovered the puck and flipped a centering-out pass to Tony Poole, who barely deflected the puck out to Sullivan. Goalie Duane Foster made a quick recovery to cover the short side of the cage, but Sullivan's drive found the far corner for the tally.

Both teams had opportunities to get on the scoreboard earlier in the game, but some sturdy netminding by goalies Dave Erickson and Foster kept the game in a scoreless duel.

In the second period, Warroad's Jim Floe, from eight feet out in front of the north goal, made a fine shot, aiming for the left corner of the net, but Erickson made a splendid save, kicking out the shot.

In a 'B' game, played after the varsity game, coach George Schlieff's Prowler team, on a shot into the net in the first period, giving the Prowlers a 1 to 0 lead, and added a tally in the second period on a neat backhanded shot into the north net.

Safety Chief Cites Need for Seat Belts

"The widespread use of seat belts by both motorists and their passengers would save between 170 and 200 lives a year in Minnesota traffic," according to Garnet E. Hall, state highway safety director.

Hall made the statement today as he urged motorists to install and use seat belts to help "tighten their grip" on themselves when traveling on slippery roads during the wintertime.

"Seat belts can save lives. On icy and snow-packed roads a vehicle can suddenly go into a skid and spin, throwing out the occupants. If they land on mud or in a snowbank, they may live. If they land on hard pavement or are thrown into the path of another vehicle — or even their own vehicle — it is a different story.

"Accidents caused by drivers following too closely result in many injuries and deaths. The sudden stop sends passengers smashing against windshields and dashboards, and the driver often is impaled by the steering wheel," Hall explained.

"Seat belts will keep passengers inside of the spinning and skidding car, and it will hold the driver behind the steering wheel where he will have a better chance of regaining control of the vehicle. The belt presents passengers and the driver from being catapulted against dashboards and other parts of the vehicle. Children especially are protected," he said.

Hall said that an increasing popularity in the use of seat belts has apparently prompted the large number of queries being received in his office regarding the practicability of seat belts.

"It is quite apparent that the average car owner is anxious to take advantage of any proven device that will help keep himself and others safe in today's traffic," Hall said.

Frequent questions asked, and answers, include:

1. Can a seat belt trap me and cause my death?

This is unlikely. You can be trapped in your car by wreckage, or you can be trapped because you are unconscious. A seat belt reduces the force with which you hit anything, and therefore tends to keep you conscious.

2. Isn't it safer to be thrown out of a wreck?

There will always be freak accidents in which people are thrown out and escape serious injury. But studies have proved that you are five times more likely to be killed if you are thrown out of your vehicle.

3. Can a child open a belt in an emergency?

Any child of four years old or over should be able to release a belt.

4. What happens if a belt breaks?

A good belt stands between 3,000 and 4,000 pounds pull from your body. It is possible that a belt may break, but even then it has done its job and you will land with about a ton and a half less force than if you hadn't worn a belt.

5. Can a belt itself injure me?

In some cases, belt-wearers have suffered lower torso injuries which may or may not have been caused by belts. But among motorists who don't wear belts, such injuries occur six times as often.

6. Are belts comfortable?

Many motorists claim that they add tremendously to comfort. The driver is more inclined to sit correctly and be less fatigued, and passengers find it no longer necessary to shift and brace on turns because the belt helps to support them.

Minnesota Fifth in Road Mileage

State Has 124,588 Miles of Streets and Highways

Minnesota ranks fifth among the states in total road and street mileage, according to a U. S. Bureau of Public Roads compilation made at the end of the calendar year 1962.

The total of all roads and streets under jurisdiction of all agencies of government in the 50 states and the District of Columbia is 3.6 million miles. Minnesota's total is 124,588 miles.

Texas has the most roads, 233,-009 miles. Rhode Island is 49th with 4,363 and Hawaii is 50th with 3,120 miles. Alaska is 48th with 4,929 miles.

Ahead of Minnesota in the first five are Texas, first; California, second, 150,198 miles; Kansas, third, 132,873 miles; and Illinois, fourth, 126,892 miles.

In Minnesota's five-state area the other mileages are: Iowa, 111,652; North Dakota, 102,274; Wisconsin, 98,424; and South Dakota, 91,646.

The bureau reports that 88 per cent or 3.1 million miles of roads are located in rural areas and 12 per cent or 446,000 miles are municipal roads and streets.

Minnesota, according to the bureau has 110,139 miles of rural roads and 14,449 miles in municipalities. Of these totals, 18,659 miles are unsurfaced and 105,929 are surfaced.

Minnesota Quota In Savings Bonds Is $65.9 Million

1963 Quota Revealed At Meeting Attended by Volunteer Chairmen

Minnesota's quota for the purchase of series E and H United States savings bonds has been set at $65,900,000 in 1963, which is nearly $5 million dollars higher than actual purchases made in the state last year.

Details of the 1963 Freedom Bond Drive were aired at a St. Paul meeting of 100 state, district and county volunteer chairmen. Speakers were Rollin O. Bishop, state chairman; Frederick L. Deming, President of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank; Julian Baird, retired St. Paul banker and former Under Secretary of the Treasury; and Glen Johnson, Minnesota director of the savings bonds division.

Bishop reported that progress of the savings bond program in 1962 would not have been possible if it had not been for the substantial increase in payroll savings promotional activity by Minnesota employers. He said that nearly 16,000 new payroll savers were signed up last year for regular bond purchases, and that more than 79,500 employees were presently buying bonds through this method where they work.

State savings bond director Johnson reported that last year's campaign stimulated more savings bond advertisements and publicity support than any time since the Korean War. Total use of such material was up about 15 per cent.

He stated that a major campaign objective this year would be to reach every Minnesota family with a personal "Buy A Bond" message through the cooperation of fraternal, service and veterans organizations. Specifically more than 99 national organizations have already pledged their enthusiastic support of the project, Johnson concluded.

Highway Edges to Be Reflectorized

Some Question Benefits of Plan, Department Says

The next several years undoubtedly will see continued and expanded work done by the Minnesota highway department in reflectorized white edge marking of highways, according to department officials. This is largely a matter of recognizing that drivers like the edge markings rather than being able to prove that such marking is a real safety measure.

There is no question but that the reflectorized markings help delineate the edges of pavement, and the department is expanding its work in this area especially where there is a lack of contrast between the surfacing of highways and the shoulders.

In some cases edge markings hurt rather than help. It has been found that edge markings on narrow roads tend to cause the driver to travel closer to the center line and sometimes on the center line, thereby increasing the accident hazard.

So far, the use of reflectorized edge markings has not produced a reduction in accident totals elsewhere any more than it has in Minnesota. However, there is little doubt, say the Minnesota officials, that it has a beneficial effect on drivers and they like it. Perhaps this is because it makes them less nervous and relieves the tensions that frequently are experienced. If it does this, and results in less driving fatigue, the edge markings are fully justified, according to the highway experts.

Water Resources to Be Topic of Seminar

Forward-looking citizens of Northwestern Minnesota who are interested in improved management of water and land are especially urged to attend the water resource seminar scheduled for Winter Shows week on Monday, February 18, at the Northwest School, Crookston, Kiehle auditorium, beginning at 9:30 a. m.

The theme of this year's seminar is "The Red Lake River Watershed." According to Olaf C. Soine, president of the Red River Valley Development association, a notable group of experts has been secured to discuss the status of this watershed in an attempt to create more general understanding among the citizens concerned.

At 9:30 a. m., the program will open with registration; and, immediately following, B. E. Youngquist, superintendent of Northwest School, will review the grographical and population factors involved in the Red Lake River watershed. Melvin H. Johnson of Littlefork will speak on "Land Zoning." Mr. Johnson will relate his twenty years of experience with land zoning as such is applicable to the Red Lake River Watershed.

Another speaker will be Colonel George Lyons of the Corps of U. S. Army Engineers, St. Paul, who will review all the work which has been done on the Red Lake River Watershed by the Corps of Engineers and other governmental agencies who have worked on this from the beginning.

The session will wind up with a panel discussion moderated by Carl G. Ash, county agricultural agent of West Polk county. The program speakers will be on the panel flanked by a number of leaders of the various agencies who are normally involved when any group of citizens begin to talk about water management.

Late winter and early spring are good times to buy pork and beef for the freezer, according to University of Minnesota marketing specialists.

Almost two-thirds of all shirts purchased for men are sport shirts.

Editorials . . .

"The true rule, in determining to embrace or reject anything, is not whether it have any evil in it, but whether it have more of evil than of good. There are few things wholly evil or wholly good. Almost everything, especially of government policy, is an inseparable compound of the two, so that our best judgement of the preponderance between them is continually demanded."

Abraham Lincoln

Should Act Favorably

Minnesota can pick up an additional two million dollars of federal money for the interstate highway system by accepting the recommended federal standards for billboard regulations along the freeways. This will require legislative action. The recommended regulations are reasonable and in the public interest. There is no good reason why they should not be adopted even without the cash handout. As the St. Paul Pioneer Press points out:

> "Support for the regulations comes from both conservatives and liberals. Nonpartisan groups interested in preserving scenic beauty along the main highways have indorsed the program. The extra funds that would become available are needed by the highway department.
> "Legislators should not again pass up this opportunity to advance the state's road construction plans and at the same time make the freeways more enjoyable for tourists and all who use them."

The Budget

The huge budget recommended by the administration would allow more than 60 per cent of the total for defense and space spending. The Budget Bureau seems to be proud of the fact that it awarded the defense and space agencies every penny they requested. Bureau officials actually boast of their liberality. For that very reason Congress should be extra thorough in checking these recommendations.

There must be some reasonable doubts as to whether being the first to land a man on the moon is worth national bankruptcy. And while we all favor reasonable defense measures, we do not have so much confidence in the integrity and the ability of those who direct the spending of our defense dollars that we would hand them a blank check. There are times when we are sure our military machine is much too powerful politically.

The budget of course is loaded with pork and it is safe to assume that the recommended total could be reduced by one fifth without curtailing any essential program or service. And that one-fifth, retained by the taxpayers and spent for actual needs, would be much better for our sick economy than if wasted by the government.

Trade With China

The Australian Wheat Board has announced another sale of wheat to Communist China, according to the Winnipeg Tribune. The deal involved 50 million bushels. Commenting on the overall problem the Tribune states:

> "The Australian Wheat Board has announced another sale of wheat to Communist China. The latest deal involves 50 million bushels at an estimated price of $77 million.
> "So much attention has been directed at Canadian sales of wheat to Red China that some may have the impression that Canada alone among the western nations has truck or trade with Peking. This is not so. Since 1960 Australian sales of grain to Communist China have totalled 190 million bushels valued at $292 million.
> "These sales have not been made without some misgivings and controversy among Australians. But the general feeling seems to be that it would be pointless to cut off wheat sales to Peking while other nations are prepared to supply the market and while Australia is selling substantial quantities of wool and steel to Red China."

Our government still maintains that the capital of Red China is on the island of Formosa and so we will have no truck with the mainlanders. But we do recognize Red Russia. We are right of course. It is the rest of the world that is nuts.

Approaching The End?

The Sherburne County Star, published at Elk River, thinks we would have better government if our presidents confined themselves to their executive responsibilities and let Congress do the lawmaking. It concludes, however, that this is another good thing that is not likely to happen.

Some presidents interfere less with the legislative branch of the government than others, limiting themselves to broad recommendations, but there is a tendency to assume authority and become dictatorial. Not all men are able to keep their feet on the ground after being elected to this high office.

Harry Truman was a good president until he was elected. As acting president he admitted his shortcomings and asked for cooperation, which he received. His election went to his head and his humility went out the window. As he started throwing his weight around his effectiveness diminished.

Candidates sometimes change after they become presidents. Roosevelt, as a candidate, criticized Hoover, accusing him of being a spendthrift. As president he became the nation's most irresponsible leader financially up to that time.

Kennedy, the president, bears little resemblance to Kennedy the campaigner. As a campaigner he hinted at belt-tightening. We would be called upon to make great sacrifices in order to restore our economy. To Kennedy the president, austerity is old-fashioned, deficits are good for us and we are going to spend ourselves rich.

When we consider all of the mismanagement in government at both state and national levels, is it unreasonable to wonder if we are nearing the end of government of the people, by the people and for the people?

Iron Range Harmony

Partisan considerations have been dropped in the interests of statewide harmony and united support for a program of industrial development in northeastern Minnesota. Liberals and conservatives in the Legislature have joined hands in supporting a constitutional amendment that will assure fair taxation for the taconite industry. The question will be submited to the voters in the next general election if the measure now under consideration is adopted, which seems likely.

This amendment will not give to the industry any special tax favors. Its purpose is to assure the industry that it will not be discriminated against in the future, and that it will not have any more onerous taxes imposed upon it than are imposed on other industries in the state.

The justification for such special assurance is based on the past record of the iron range communities in tax procedures, and it isn't necessary at this time to review that record. The important thing is the fact that a serious problem has been recognized and now, in the best interests of the Iron Range and the state as a whole, steps are being taken to solve it.

Maybe this harmonious action will lead to a more intelligent approach to other tax problems in the state that need more serious consideration than they have received. Minnesota's tax structure is less favorable to industry in several respects than the tax structures of most other states, and for those industries that have a choice in deciding in which state they will establish themselves, the tax structures can be an important consideration.

In rate of growth industrially, Minnesota is classified as one of the backward states. These classifications are based on national statistics and probabilities. And because of the importance of the tax structure, the problem deserves the serious consideration of all segments of the population. Minnesota needs industries and payrolls.

Our Sick Economy

President Kennedy would cure the sick economy by increasing the buying power of the people. That idea has a lot of merit. But he would accomplish this good purpose by tax reduction and increased government spending. That would be planned deficit spending.

We will go along with the idea that increased buying power could lead to increased demand, and increased production to meet that increased demand. If stimulated in the proper way that increased buying power could lead to a higher standard of living. But the visionary plan President Kennedy advocates to accomplish that good purpose, would be self-defeating. Instead of curing, it would make the sick economy sicker.

A surer and safer way to increase buying power would be to lower prices. The Kennedy economists say we should use the anticipated annual productivity increase to boost pay scales. This would mean that the benefits of mechanization and automation would be distributed to a limited number. But if the benefits of more efficient production were distributed in the form of lower prices, the distribution, and buying power, would be more widespread. Holding prices down would have the additional advantage of making us more competitive internationally, which would tend to increase sales and production, and reduce unemployment.

Our economy is sick and unemployment is on the up, mainly because we have priced ourselves out of the market. The proper solution, certainly, is to move in the direction of lower prices, giving to every citizen's dollar greater buying power.

What each dollar will buy is just as important as how many dollars we get. If we follow the spend-ourselves-rich plan, we probably will find ourselves with many more dollars with much less buying power, more unemployment and a lower living standard.

The right way is a prescription for austerity, a period of belt tightening and the old-fashioned idea of working hard and living within our means. Printing press dollars and inflation are a much more pleasant medicine, but they are the medicine that, thruout the ages, have been prescribed by the political quacks, and the final result has always been disaster.

Either we take the right course now voluntarily, or we will be forced by necessity to take it in a much more painful way.

Interesting Opinions

"Nature calls for no volunteers for a great venture. For the asking she might have millions. She points willing climbers to no Everest. The discovery of life's goal—by far the most difficult task—she leaves to us."

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

An applicant for an insurance policy turned in his completed form. The agent looked it over. "This seems to be in order, Mr. Jones," he said, "except for one thing. When it asks for the relationship of Mrs. Jones to you, you should write 'wife,' not 'strained.'"

Welcome Don, Leonard and Harold:

Don Bruggeman, Leonard and Harold Geske have recently joined our ABS team in Northern Minnesota. Don and Leonard, who operate out of Thief River Falls, have both earned their reputation for fine service and their ability to "settle" your cows. Harold, who started at Roseau Oct. 1, is making rapid gains in that area.

Our "team" has the finest quarterback in the A.I. Industry today — the American Breeders Service "Proved Sire" Breeding Program. Most dairymen have used artificial insemination for many years, but ours is a program that wants to do more for you than just service your cows. The keeping of a complete herd record and identification program in your herd must be maintained, in order for you to take advantage of a "Proved Sire" Program. As first, second and third generation offspring from proved sires come into your milking string, or are for sale, you will want and deserve "premium" performance and prices.

To give each of our customers a complete, quality program will demand the best efforts and co-operation from all of us, but we must get this "job" done, if we are to build better herds that will benefit you and your future. Our team stands ready and willing to serve you. If we can ever be of any help, or can pass along any information on sire selection, herd health, conception rate, etc., please get in touch with us.

THE OTHER MEMBERS OF OUR ABS TEAM IN NORTHERN MINNESOTA ARE ORLIEN SOLLIE, DALE GRONDAHL, DON NOLTE, ORVILLE BJERKE, EARL ULVEN, GUY AND ROBERT LEWIS AND CURTIS NELSON

Make Sure of Credits for Social Security

In social security's headquarters in Baltimore are kept earnings records of more than 9 out of 10 American workers — every living person who has been issued a social security account number card in the 27 years since social security started. Every earned dollar shown on each of those 110 million accounts had to be reported before it could be put in the worker's record. For every dollar that hasn't been reported, or was reported incorrectly, someone is short one dollar in his account. These dollars will be very important one day because each worker's earnings record is used to figure the amount of his retirement or disability benefits, or the benefits payable to his family in case of his death.

Self-employed people, reporting their earnings for social security purposes at the same time they file their annual income tax return, should be sure that Schedule SE at the bottom of page 1 of their Schedule C-1 (or Schedule F-1, if farming is involved) is completely and correctly filled in. For it is only from this Schedule SE that the social security people can make a record of self-employment earnings.

To make sure your earnings are correctly recorded, always put your name on the Schedule SE, even though it is also shown in other places on the form. Be sure, too, that your social security number is entered on this form, as well as the earnings on which you are paying social security tax. Copy this number directly from your social security card. Do not rely on memory or a previous year's tax return.

Every three years, it's a good idea to check the social security records to see if your earnings are on your account. Your local social security office can give you a postcard form for this purpose. And it can help strighten out your account if all of your earnings are not shown on the statement you receive. (Self-employment earnings for the last full year may not yet be shown because of the time needed in processing and posting the earnings.)

February Is Heart Month in Nation

Seek to Raise $500,000 in Drive in Minnesota

February is heart month here and in the nation, Dr. Jesse Edwards, president of the Minnesota Heart association, announced today.

During February a goal of $500,000 must be achieved in Minnesota in order to expand & continue the work of the Heart Association, Dr. Edwards said. He pointed out that two thirds of the deaths in the past year in the state were caused by diseases of the heart and blood vessels. The figures were: heart, 11,674 deaths; cancer, 5,346 and accidents, 1,691.

"Our program aims to reduce this terrible death toll and to prolong the lives of others afflicted," Dr. Edwards emphasized.

Of special interest, he mentioned is the Heart association research program for young men. 'It is difficult for a person to begin as a researcher. Once the initial piece of research is completed grants may be obtained but getting started is hard. The Minnesota Heart Association has helped begin many extremely important works of research."

The Heart Fund is an independent drive of the Minnesota Heart association.

Interstate Roads Aid State Economy

$215 Million Is Spent in Minnesota Since 1956

The size of Minnesota expenditures for Interstate highway work since the inception of the program in 1956 indicates its effect upon the state's economy, Highway Department officials point out in commenting on a compilation just issued by the department's financial services section.

The gross amount expended in Minnesota since 1956, when the federal Interstate act was passed, to December 31, 1962, is $215,493,000.

The Interstate program represents quite an industry in itself, aside from all the other road building programs, say the Highway officials. No overhead charges are included in this figure. The amount spent covers right of way, preliminary engineering, construction engineering and construction.

Construction represents the largest single item — $113.5 million. Right of way is next with $79.3 million.

Expenditures in Hennepin county lead the list, with $44 million for right of way and $30.8 million for construction to which is added engineering costs of $5.3 million, for a total of $80.3 million. Ramsey county is second, with $24.5 million for right of way and $21.9 million for construction to which is added engineering costs of $6 million, for a total of $52.4 million. These are the two largest metropolitan Twin Cities counties, where costs are the highest.

Other nonmetropolitan counties account for $10.8 million in right of way and $81.5 million for construction — where the right of way costs less but the mileage is greater.

Turkey Growers Meet at RRV Shows Feb. 20

Turkey growers of Northwestern Minnesota are invited to attend a producer meeting scheduled for Wednesday, February 20, at the Northwest School and Experiment Station, Crookston. The meeting will be held at 2:00 p. m. in the Animal Products Building - Pavilion.

The program has ben arranged by Robert W. Berg, extension poultry specialist on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota, and Herman Natwick, farmer of Ada.

Turkey growers attending the session will meet for dinner at 12:00 o'clock noon sharp in the Blue and Gold Room, Crookston Hotel. Immediately following the dinner, the group will leave for the Northwest School where the program is scheduled.

Bob Berg will kickoff the meeting by discussing "More Efficient Labor and Capital Utilization on Turkey Farms." Another subject to be discussed will be "Control of Respiratory Disease in Turkeys" by John A. Newman of the Division of Veterinary Bacteriology and Public Health, University of Minnesota. A report on "Feeding Barley to Turkeys" will be presented by Wm. C. Lockhart of the North Dakota State University, Fago. At the meeting also will be Roy C. Munson, executive secretary of the Minnesota Turkey Growers Association and Douglas McCully, president of the same association, who will bring greetings. A question - and - answer period will follow the speakers.

All interested turkey growers are urged to attend both the noonday dinner and the "Talking Turkey" session at 2 p. m.

FEED TEST 5F CERTIFIED

Research gives you faster gains on Land O'Lakes. Beef Formulas

Tested for best feeding efficiency at lowest possible cost per pound of gain. Full-scale feeding tests at our Beef and Swine Research Farm prove they have what you need to get the most feed value out of grain and roughage in your feedlot.

Complete program One is right for you—all are certified!

(1) Beef Formula "One-50" puts maximum profit in high grain or corn silage feeding.
(2) Beef Formula "One-Ton" lowers your feed costs on a grain and roughage program.
(3) Beef Formula "One-Ten" B gets the most out of an all-barley feeding program.
(4) Beef Formula "One", proper nutrition for the beef breeding herd. Means strong, healthy calves.

Four different ways to make going more fun than getting there

You can see why one of America's favorite outdoor sports is driving Chevrolets, with four entirely different kinds of cars to choose from. There's the Jet-smooth Chevrolet, about as luxurious as you can go without going overboard in price; the low-cost Chevy II, a good-looking car that would send any family packing; another family favorite, the sporty Corvair, whose rear-engine traction will make you think that ice and snow are kid stuff; and for pure adventure, America's only sports car, Corvette—now in two all-new versions with looks that can stop traffic like a rush-hour blizzard. Picked your favorite already? The next thing is to take the wheel at your Chevrolet dealer's. If that doesn't have you thinking of places to go, maybe you'd rather just have a ball around town!

DAVEY AND HIS DOG

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Our neighbor has a firm opinion about children and pets: "When a boy is old enough to assume responsibility for the care of a dog, it's time enough for him to have one."

But our Davey is growing up with his dog — his frolicking playmate today, his faithful friend and protector tomorrow.

Our neighbor has an opinion also about children and God: "When my son is able to weigh the claims of religion with a mature mind he can decide for himself whether he wants to go to Church."

What heritage would men have of Truth and Right and Freedom if each generation had not imparted its blessings to the next? It is the faith of our fathers which is ours to cherish, and to teach our children.

Let them grow up with that Christian Faith and it will have its rightful place in their lives.

SPINNING wool into yarn was demonstrated by Mrs. Serene Thorpe, 83, a resident of Thief River Falls, to third grade students at Washington elementary school on Friday. Mrs. Robert Looker, a grand-daughter of Mrs. Thorpe, is shown assisting with the operation. Students of Helen Peterson and Laura Sylvester in the two third grade classes were given the demonstration as part of a social studies unit on cloth. The spinning wheel used in the demonstration is about 200 years old.

Jaycees Hear of School Situation

Projects Reviewed and Reports Given Thurs. At Regular Session

Discussion of school enrollment and building needs were presented by Francis Hamerlinck, junior high school principal at Lincoln high school, at the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday evening at the Elks club rooms. A number of chapter projects were also discussed.

Hamerlinck reviewed the population growth of the district and related the problems involved with classroom scheduling. He also discussed the anticipated cost of new construction and its relation to the individual in terms of increased taxes. Written questions were submitted by chapter members and answered at the close of the talk.

Robert Flynn, co-chairman of the Citizen's Committee on Education reviewed the plans of that group to present a complete and factual picture of the school situation to as many voters as possible in the district so that they can make a decision based on knowledge of the total outlook. The committee will feel more inclined to accept the decision of the voters if its members feel that the voting public is fully informed and not basing its opinions on rumors and partial facts.

Announcement was made by President Warren McIntosh that Silas Glere had been elected to the board of directors to fill a vacancy and that George Hildre had been elevated to the office of second vice president. Hildre will fill the post vacated by Phil Bergland who has assumed treasurer duties since Douglas Remick entered military service.

Heart Fund Drive Opens This Month

Mrs. Robert Looker To Head Local Campaign

Plans for conducting the 1963 Heart Fund drive in Thief River Falls are nearing completion this week as February is the traditional month for raising funds to fight heart disease.

Mrs. Robert J. Looker, local chairman, announced the high point of the drive will be the weekend of Heart Sunday, February 24, when a corps of volunteers will collect contributions from door to door throughout the entire community, in support of the programs of the Minnesota Heart Association. Heart dollars collected here will be credited to the county goal.

The Minnesota State Heart Fund drive has a goal of $500,000, and nearly 45,000 volunteers will seek these funds during February. The drive is being extended farm-to-farm in most rural areas, also. Rural volunteer leaders are: Oscar Houske, Mrs. Dave Sorvig, Veral Mosbeck, Mrs. Robert Hirst, Mrs. Paul Furuseth, Mrs. Hanford Bjerke, Herman Christofferson, Ted Lendobeja, Mrs. Orris Olson and Herbert Vraa.

Directors Named for Co-op Board

Three directors of Red Lake Electric Cooperatives were unanimously reelected at district meetings held recently at Gentilly, Terrebonne and Oklee. Their names will be placed officially in nomination at the annual meeting to be held April 3 in Thief River Falls. Nominated were Joseph Brunelle, Crookston, District One; Millard Dailey, Red Lake Falls, District Five; and Lars M. Larson, Oklee, District Four.

Hairdressers to Beautify Shut-ins

To Provide Free Services at Rest Homes This Week

National Beauty Saoln Week will be commemorated February 10 to 16. This is the annual loveliness festival of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists association, which has chosen the theme, "There's magic for you in a new hairdo," for 1963.

The local members of the RRV unit of the association will take part in a program designed to bring good-sized helpings of "beauty magic" to less-fortunate members of the community.

Teams of hairdressers will go to Brown's rest home, Hanson's rest home, Bottem's rest home, Valley Christian home, and Oakland Park nursing home to offer free haircuts, shampoos, permanent waves, and new spring hairdos to persons who are hospitalized and institutionalized; shut-ins who seldom have an opportunity to feel youthful and well-groomed.

Closing their individual shops for the day, the operators devote the entire day to this work of charity, donating, in addition, the supplies which they use.

Local chairman of the unit, Miss JoAnne Wedul, states, "We welcome this chance to tell the community not what beauty services alone may do, but what the beauty industry may do for their good."

Donald Stewart Flies To Morocco

Donald Lee Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Stewart of Thief River Falls, was among a group of 50 surveyors, English teachers and irrigation foremen who left Idlewild Airport at New York Sunday as the first Peace Corps volunteers to serve in Morocco. Duane G. Anderson of Moorhead was also a member of the group.

Training for the Moroccan project took place at California State Polytechnic college. Before undertaking their assignments the volunteers will take part in an orientation program sponsored by the Moroccan government. Word of the Peace Corps assignment was received by the Times in a telegram from Odin Langen, 7th District Congressman.

Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Co. Is Busy During '62

Bray Mutual Fire Insurance company paid out $24,210 in 51 claims during 1962, according to the annual report of the association which will meet Wednesday at St. Hilaire. Receipts totaled $34,171 to build the total assets of the company to $52,487.

During the year fire losses totaled $19,590, while lightning losses totaled $4,527 and smoke damage totaled $92. Major fire loss paid was $9,000, (or loss of dwelling at the Andrew Skaar farm; major lightning loss was $3,100 for loss of a barn and hay on the Fred Koop farm; and major smoke damage was $50 resulting from an oil stove explosion at the Olaf Langie home.

One bull, one cow and one head of youngstock were killed by lightning during the year. There were 23 fire losses, 26 lightning losses and two smoke damage losses paid.

Present officers of the company which was organized in 893 are Paul Thyren, St. Hilaire, president; Alfred Longren, Thief River Falls, vice president; Edgar A. Naplin, Red Lake Falls, secretary; A. G. Hallstrom, Red Lake Falls, treasurer; and John Steiger, Red Lake Falls, director.

Police Check On Many Larcenies

Thief River Falls police are investigating a number of larcenies which occurred in the city during the past several days. Two thefts of tires and wheels on February 8 were solved with the apprehension of three young men at Bagley during the wekend.

The tires and wheels were stolen from cars parked on the street in the 500 and 700 blocks of Arnold av. N. Other larcenies reported to the department include the following:

A Ross Triumph transistor radio, blue and silver, valued at $39.95 from a local store between February 6 and 8; a starter valued at $59 from a tractor parked near a local business; a Remington bolt-action .22 caliber rifle from a pickup truck between February 6 and 8; two large hubcaps valued at $16, Friday night; a spare tire and wheel valued at $32.50 and three batteries from a local used car lot with the date of theft unknown.

Two Cases Tried In City Court

Only two cases were tried in Thief River Falls municipal court last Monday before Judge Stanley N. Mortenson. One case each was brought by the city police department and county sheriff's department.

In the city police case, Roy Graftnas of Gonvick forfeited bond of $20 on a charge of driving through a school patrol flag. In the sheriff's case, Willard L. Johnson, rt. 3, was fined $25 on a charge of careless driving with a personal injury accident involved.

Tenderfoot awards will be given by Elling Iverson to Tom Hunt, Eugene Anderson, Tony Madunich, Stewart Lee, Roger Dexter, Steven Jordet, Richard Johnson, Mark Sisler, Marc Washnesky and Calvin Wicklander.

Second Class advancement awards will be presented by Cyril Havel to Glenn Johnson, Terry Olson, Daniel Torgerson, Dennis Johnson, David Kildahl, Danny Dokken, Gary Johnson, Jerry Owen, Roger Reierson, Stephen Hess, Perry Gross, Scott Adolphson and Lauris Matts. First Class awards will be given by Richard LeMoine to Craig Folkedahl and Steve Onken.

Merit badges will be presented by Ellsworth Jorgenson to Gerald Schuster, Richard Sjoberg, Larry Olson, Greg Hove, Michael Gulbranson, James Maves, Ronald Ewing, Barry Lee, Mike Fox, Gene Kauppila, Brooks Mostue, Barry Frolland and Keith Craik.

Star Scout awards will be given by Quentin Jones to Gene Kauppila, Steven Nabben, Gerald Schuster, Michael Gulbranson and James Maves.

Parents and friends of Scouts and scouting in Thief River Falls are encouraged to attend the Court of Honor which is for Troops 57, 59 and 60 in this city.

"Strengthen America — Be Prepared, Be Fit" is the theme for Boy Scout Week which officially opened February 7 and will continue through Wednesday. The observance marks the 53rd anniversary of the beginning of the Boy Scouts of America.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Benson and family of Duluth spent the weekend at the home of Mrs. Benson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Cy Glass. Accompanying them here was the latters' daughter, Miss JoAnn Glass, who attends college in Duluth. She spent the weekend at the home of her parents before returning to classes.

Five Thief River Falls Residents With Peace Corps

Peace Corps headquarters in Washington, D. C., reported last week that 119 Minnesotans are serving as volunteers in overseas assignments.

Five members are from Thief River Falls, including Milen E. Alby, forestry, Ecuador; Dell M. Christenson, agriculture extension, Pakistan; Nancy Lee Glass, teacher's aid, Philippines; Darryl G. Smith, community development, Colombia; and Don Stewart, who was assigned last week to Morocco.

The volunteers are serving in South America, Africa, the Far East and the Middle East. They are working as teachers, mechanics, nurses, carpenters, surveyors, agricultural advisers and equipment operators.

County Allotted $15,443 More for Secondary Roads

Pennington county today was notified that it is being allotted $15,443 additional in federal aid secondary funds for the fiscal year 1964. In addition, this county was allotted $2,087 in October, 1962, bringing the county's total to $36,530. Marshall county receives $37,866 more, Red Lake, $12,475; Roseau, $27,872; and Polk, $49,804.

The current supplemental distribution brings the county allotments to 65 per cent of the total federal aid secondary construction funds available, giving them $4,844,148 for the fiscal year 1964. It will assure the availability of matching federal funds for those projects currently scheduled for letting.

The total FAS allotment to Minnesota for the fiscal year 1964 was $7,566,026, of which 1½ per cent is retained by the highway department for highway planning research, or a total of $7,452,536 to be distributed to the state and counties.

The distribution of 65 per cent of the FAS construction funds to the counties, as now authorized, provides an increase of 15 per cent over the funds allotted to them last year when they received 50 per cent of these funds. A possibility exists for some adjustment being made in the final sharing of FAS funds between the state and the counties. This will depend upon an agreement being reached between the Association of Minnesota Counties and Commissioner James C. Marshall.

First in the Area . . .

New Farrowing House Has Many Features

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

It has been said, and it is probably true, that nothing has been done that could not have been done better. Those who do the best they can and look constantly for ways to improve on what they have done make good managers. If this is accepted as a fact, then it must be said that Harvey Troska of rural Goodridge is a good manager.

Recently completed on the Troska farm 11 miles east of Thief River Falls in Cloverleaf township was a 32x32 farrowing house for Harvey's feeder pig operation. The house was built from basic plans published by the Wisconsin Feeder Pig Cooperative and developed by the University of Wisconsin through considerable research. It is believed to be the first of its type in this area of Minnesota.

As buildings go, this particular structure is not fancy. More important, it is sensible and functional. Much of the material used in its construction is locally-produced, unplaned lumber, cutting the total cost to a figure below that estimated by the University of Wisconsin.

Troska finds the feeder pig operation fits in nicely with his diversified farming operation. He owns 630 acres with 350 acres open, has a herd of about 20 dairy cows and raises grain as a cash crop.

RECORDS tell the story of any business and farming is no different than any other business in this respect. Harvey Troska, who recently constructed a 12-pen farrowing house on his farm 11 miles east of Thief River Falls, has been a member of the area vocational-technical school farm management course for eight years. He is shown checking the results of his feeder pig operation during 1962 in the vocational school farm management office where records are now being analyzed for last year.

More Acreage Needed for Contract Crops

Sunflowers and Millet Necessary for Local Plant

To broaden the production capacity of the Farmers Grain & Milling company of Thief River Falls, considerably more acreage for the 1963 crop year must be contracted, according to George Pitt of Spring Valley, N. Y., president of the company. The firm contracted for millet and sunflower acreage here last year and began processing wild bird food at the local plant this fall.

A relatively small turnout of interested producers was noted at a meeting last Tuesday. Pitt reported that the sign-up period had been extended for 10 days with further information on contracts available from Harland Knutson, manager of the local plant. Contract forms will also be available at the plant. Additional acres are yet needed for both crops.

Contract offerings will be much on the same order as last year with the exception that a larger acreage is needed now that the plant is in production. A farmer may contract for a given amount of acreage and be guaranteed a price for his product regardless of market fluctuations. Contract price is $5.25 per cwt. for sunflowers and $1.75 for millet. Seed furnished to the plant under contract must meet moisture minimums comparable to those set by commercial elevators and seed houses.

Pitt told the Times following the meeting that he had hopes the area would produce several thousand acres of millet and about a thousand acres of sunflowers this year. Less than 500 acres has been contracted to date for all crops combined.

Would Furnish Seed

The company will again furnish seed to contracting farmers, with payment to be deferred until the crop is delivered in the fall. Last year many of the farmers who intended to plant millet or sunflowers were unable to get into the field and fulfill their contract obligations.

Farmers experienced with producing millet, as many in this area are, may find that the crop would fit in well with their farming enterprise. The crop may be planted after other cash crops are in the ground and still mature early enough for a standard harvest season. Reducing the moisture content at harvest time is one of the major problems in millet production.

Sunflowers are a relatively new crop to this immediate area and

TRF School Board To Meet Tonight

Regular meeting of the Thief River Falls board of education will be held at 8 p. m. in Lincoln high school with resolutions for the coming school bond election to be presented by a representative of the T. G. Evensen company for action by the board. Election details will also be discussed.

Also on the agenda are discussion and setting of salaries for principals and directors and discussion of teacher salaries. Several other matters of business are also scheduled for discussion.

Boss-Employee Banquet Tickets Sold This Week

Tickets for the annual Boss Employee Banquet to be held Wednesday, February 20, under the sponsorship of the Thief River Falls Jaycees, are now on sale, according to Kenneth Taylor, ticket chairman. The event will be held at the VFW club rooms. Tickets may be obtained from Jaycees who will call at local business places or from Silas Glere at Falls Jewelry.

TR Falls To Host NMEA Convention

To facilitate and better coordinate planning for the 25th biennial convention of the Northern Division of the Minnesota Education association, the executive board has called a meeting of all section and convention committee chairmen for Monday, February 25, at the Rex Cafe in Thief River Falls.

Dates for the convention have been set for October 10 and 11 in Thief River Falls with about 2,200 educators expected to attend. Head line speakers secured for the event are Adolph F. Rupp, basketball coach at the University of Kentucky; Dr. Dean F. Berkley, director of field services at the University of Indiana; and Bennett Cerf, writer and television personality.

Convention committee chairmen, all from Thief River Falls, include the following:

Francis Hamerlinck, general chairman; Kenneth Swenson, balloting; Wayne Meisner, exhibits; Rolland Larson, housing; John Eisbrener, information; Arnt Aune luncheons and dinners; Orall Johnson, professional membership; Ja-

Rulien Appointed Special Judge of Municipal Court

Governor Elmer L. Anderson Wednesday appointed L. W. Rulien to the office of special municipal judge in Thief River Falls. He succeeds Curtis Charlson, who resigned following his election as county attorney. Rulien will conduct municipal court on occasions when Judge Stanley Mortenson is unable to officiate.

2,778 Students At Schools Given Mantoux Testing

14 New Reactors Found And Given X-Rays at Northwestern Hospital

Fifty-one chest x-rays were given to students in Thief River Falls schools as a result of mantoux testing conducted January 21 and 28, according to Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse. The x-rays were given last week at Northwestern hospital with funds provided by the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association.

A total of 2,778 students were tested in the mantoux clinics by Dr. L. H. Flancher, superintendent of Sunnyrest Sanatorium at Crookston, and Mrs. Mary Vattendahl, field nurse with the state association. Fourteen new reactors were found and given x-rays together with 37 former reactors, Mrs. Race said.

In the entire high school there were only 13 students who did not take the tuberculin test or x-ray with eight of these absent due to illness. This is a total of 98.87 per cent participation in the test to determine whether or not tuberculosis germs are present in the body.

Absence was greater in the elementary schools except St. Bernard's which had 100 per cent participation. Percentage of students taking the tests at other elementary schools was as follows: Washington 97.25 per cent, Northrop 96.25 per cent, Knox 93.5 per cent and area vocational - technical school 94.5 per cent.

To maintain an A rating for school certification, a school must have 95 per cent participation. Thief River Falls record will qualify the district for a tuberculosis control certificate, Mrs. Race said.

Elks Past Exalted Rulers Night Set

Past heads of the local Elks lodge will fill the various offices at the annual Past Exalted Rulers Night to be held Thursday evening, February 14, in the lodge rooms. Dinner will be served at 6:30, followed by the meeting at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harris were Wednesday visitors at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Torfin at Wannaska.

Silas Hanson To Head Pennington Crop Association

More Extensive Women's Program Is Planned for '64 Seed and Feed Show

Silas Hanson of Thief River Falls was reelected president of the Pennington County Crop Improvement association at the annual meeting held last Tuesday at the courthouse in Thief River Falls. The organization is the sponsor of the annual county Seed and Feed Show.

Edgar Naplin of Red Lake Falls was re-elected treasurer and Arnold Engelstad was elected vice president. Paul Stelmaschuk, county agricultural agent, serves as secretary of the group as required by the Minnesota Crop Improvement association.

First Friday in February of 1964 was set as the date for the annual Seed & Feed Show next year. Livestock and agronomy programs will be planned at a later date. Plans were also made to retain a women's program for the show and develop it into a larger event, based on the successful reception given the women's program this year. A youth program is also in the planning stage for the 1964 event.

Meeting of the association was held following a sign-up session for sunflowers and millet to be raised on contract for Farmers Grain & Milling company in Thief River Falls. George Pitt, Spring Valley, N. Y., president of the company, answered questions and offered contracts at the meeting.

Garry Jasnoch Marries Alberta Shaffer In East

A romance originating in Spain while the bride was a student at the university of Madrid and the bridegroom was on an Air Force special assignment led to their marriage on January 9 in Vandergrift Methodist Church, Pennsylvania. The bride is the former Miss Alberta Grace Shaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ellis Shaffer, Avonmore, Pa., and the groom is Garry Allen Jasnoch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jasnoch of this city.

Their vows were repeated at a double-ring ceremony solemnized by Dr. W. Guy Smeltzer, pastor of the church.

The bride selected for her attire a floor-length rose-brocaded satin gown, fashioned with seed pearls outlining a round neckline, the full skirt accented with small, pearl-studded brocade bows. Her fingertip illusion veil was secured to a rhinestone crown. The bridal bouquet was an arrangment of white carnations with silver and white tulle in the form of a cross.

Her only attendant, Miss Patricia Casela of Apollo, wore a ballerina-length ice-blue chiffon dress with matching jacket. Her costume was accessorized with royal blue, and her flowers were pink carnations in a 'setting' of white pompons.

Stanley Shaffer was best man.

The bride's parents hosted a reception in the couple's honor following the ceremony. It was held at the Shaffer home.

The bride has received degrees from Westminster College, the university of Pittsburgh, and the university of Madrid, Spain. She is a teacher of Spanish at Westmont Hilltop school in Jamestown, Pa.

Her husband is a graduate of Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, Mich., and completed four years of service with the Air Force. - Photo by Shaffer.

Girl Scout Troop 94 Has Fun Day at Lake

A "Wintertime Fun Day" was planned by Linda Jensen and Cathy Simon for members of their Girl Scout Trop 94 on Saturday, Feb. 9th. Skating, exploring and ice-fishing on Union Lake kept the group occupied outdoors, making the warmth of the fireplace and aroma of food in the cabin doubly inviting.

Troop members taking part were Eileen Lund, Linda Dahl, Evonne Lindberg, Karen Mayes, Dolly Hanson, Cathy Simon, Ann Winters. Assisting troop leader Mrs. Mel Simon were Morris Owen, Norman and Walter Capistran.

Zehlians Evaluate The Work of N.D. Artist

Donald Lerud, Lincoln high school art instructor, again favored the Zehlian art group with the benefit of his instruction when they met at the William Holmes residence on Thursday evening, February 7. His lesson was on principles of design in line, dark and light values, and principles of design in color. Through the courtesy of Mrs. Frank Yetter, Mrs. Holmes obtained the loan of a collage, "How to Start a Good Day," painted by a North Dakota artist friend of Mrs. Yetter, Yvonne Buton, while studying art in Paris, France. The group evaluated the painting according to the principles set forth earlier by Mr. Lerud, and found it of great interest. Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, co-hostess served refreshments.

Mrs. Holmes will again lend the use of her home for the February 21 meeting of the group. Mrs. Ray Kiland, co-hostess, will serve lunch.

Herb Hartjes Reign Over Valentine Ball

Amid red and white streamers, cupids and hearts, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Hartje of Thief River Falls were selected "King & Queen of Hearts" by dancers attending the valentine ball held by the Grand Forks Promenaders at the Valley school. Wearing silver crowns and oversize red hearts, the couple led the grand march and reigned over the festivities.

Unique to most square dancers was lady-caller Jean Jensen of Watertown, South Dakota, who did a first-rate calling stint for the 29 squares. Included on the program was Don Ferrie of Grand Forks who called several tips.

Falls Squares couples attending were Mr. and Mrs. Chris Saustad, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Noper, Mr. and Mrs. Don Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Hartje and Mr. and Mrs. Mel Simon.

Mrs. Bella Kompelien Notes Her Birthday

Celebrating her birthday anniversary on Friday, February 8, was Mrs. Bella Kompelien. A number of her friends and relatives gathered at her home that afternoon, bringing with them a pot-luck lunch which they later served. The decorated birthday cake was furnished by Mrs. Everett Kompelien.

Guests, in addition to the guest of honor, included Mrs. Inga Trontvet, Mrs. Gunda Trontvet, Mrs. Floyd Dalzell and Tammy, Mrs. Everett Kompelien, Kevin and Konnie; Emelia Rensla, Mrs. Alfred Nehus, Mrs. Algott Erikkson, Roger and Peter. Mrs. Kompelien's grandchildren joined the others later in the afternoon, as well as Everett Kompelien.

Mrs. Myron Gutterud Given Baby Shower

A pink and blue shower was held recently for Mrs. Myron Gutterud at her home. Her mother, Mrs. Hjalmer Anseby, and mother-in-law, Mrs. Art Gutterud, were hostesses for the event.

Games were played, and lunch was served, after which the guest of honor opened her numerous gifts. Other guests present for the occasion were Mmes. Robert Bakke, Wayne Johnson and family, Evelyn Prigge, Thomas Hughes, Manvel Noto and Jodi, and the Hjalmer Anseby family.

Mrs. Richard Bergland Hosts Party on Sunday

Mrs. Richard Bergland entertained at a triple birthday party in honor of Jodi Bergland, Kathy Hruby, and Mrs. Frank Krbechek, on Sunday evening. Spending a social hour with the guests of honor were the following guests: Ole Bergland and Frank Krbechek, Goodridge, the Glenn Jordes, L. Hrubys, and Dennis Loyland.

Newcomers Will Meet Wednesday Evening

Newcomers Club will meet on Wednesday night, February 13 at 8 p. m. in the courthouse meeting room. They will continue working on decorations to be used at the annual Newcomers' dinner dance which is an event planned for February 23.

Persons needing rides to the meetings are asked to contact Mrs. Howard Hagen, MU 1-1645, and transportation will be arranged. Newcomers to Thief River Falls are also invited to call Mrs. Hagen to obtain information concerning the club, and to attend the meetings. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Loren Voldness and Mrs. Ben Seibel.

Robert Nygaards Note Son Terry's Birthday

To celebrate the second birthday of their son, Terry Lee Nygaard, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nygaard of this city, were hosts at a buffet dinner at their home on Sunday afternoon, January 27. A birthday cake decorated in green and yellow centered the serving table.

Guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Nygaard, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Noreen and family of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marquette and girls, of Goodridge. Evening guests were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kemnitz of this city.

Dale Ranums Note Son Kevin's 5th Birthday

A birthday party was held recently in honor of the fifth birthday of Kevin Anderson at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ranum. There was a birthday cake, and supper was served to the guests, who included, in addition to Kevin, Rowdy and Ricky Harger, Mrs. Karen Thompson, and Kevin's brothers and sister. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jörgen Austad, sent a gift. His other gifts were also opened at the close of the evening.

Mission Covenant CWA To Meet February 13

Mission Covenant CWA will hold their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon, February 13, at 3 p. m. Devotions will be given by Mrs. Bernhard Johnson. Musical selections will be presented by ladies of the Baptist church, and Mrs. Ronald Dalzall will speak. Hostesses will be Mmes. Arthur Anderson, Emil Mellem, Donald Thyren, and Lillie Ulvin. An invitation is extended to all.

The Larry Forsbergs spent Sunday at Goodridge at the home of Mrs. Forsberg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orvin Anderson, and joined the Andersons in celebrating the first birthday of their son, Timmy.

A daughter, Jill Elizabeth, was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Palmquist of Monroe, La. on February 3. Paternal grandparents are the William Palmquists of St. Hilaire. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Thorson of Wells, Minn.

Among local people in attendance at the funeral services for Paul Anderson at Walker on Friday, were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hallingrud and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Larson. Mr. Anderson was a former director of secondary education in Thief River Falls schools.

Michele Levorson, 9-year-old granddaughter of the M. R. Levorsons, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Levorson of St. Paul Park, formerly of this city, rode in the helicopter float at the St. Paul winter carnival last weekend. The helicopter represented the National Guard Battalion of Holman Field in St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Stone drove to Northfield on Wednesday accompanied by their daughter, Kay, who returned to college there after visiting her parents. Also accompanying them was Mrs. Henrietta Havel, who visited in St. Paul with her son-in-law, Thomas Post and her daughter, Mrs. Post, who was confined briefly to Miller hospital following minor surgery, and with Mary Havel. The Stones and Mrs. Havel returned the following night.

Scout Council Plans Seminar

Lake Agassiz Council of the Boy Scouts of America will hold a "District Operations" training seminar Sunday, February 17, from 2 to 5:30 p. m. at Aaker's Business College in Grand Forks. Discussion will be held on realignment of the districts in the council. All members of the executive board, district committee personnel and institutional representatives are urged to attend.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Laura Duerst

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

This is a week with two special days around which the food and decorations may center. Let's take a look at some possibilities that you might use for Lincoln's birthday.

Because Lincoln spent his early life in a log cabin, simplicity and homespun charm are the keys to this day. As a young man, our great Civil War president did much log splitting by the day and reading law by the firelight in the evening.

One might find a table set like this in Lincoln's day. A red and white or blue and white checked tablecloth with dark red or blue napkins. For the center piece one might find shiny red apples in a wooden chopping or salad bowl with pine sprays tucked in here and there to add color and interest.

Since Lincoln was a log splitter and logs have become one of his symbols, here are a few suggestions for food. Make a chocolate-frosted chocolate cake roll.

Brownie Logettes: Draw prongs of fork lengthwise on chocolate frosting to resemble bark. Log-shaped meat leaves and yeast rolls always add interest to the main meal.

The mid-February Valentine's day has been a festival of romance since the days of ancient Rome, when Juno and Pan were feted. In the Christian world, the holiday was named in honor of Bishop Valentine.

Children enjoy this day, so why not engage them in this little activity if they wish to do something for Valentine's Day.

Get a variety of clean, empty food containers, red paper, lace paper doilies, paste and magazines and seed catalogs from which flowers may be cut. Let each girl use her imagination and artistic ability in covering and decorating a cooky container. Cover with red adhesive-backed paper (Cut paper the height of box and length of circumference). Decorate with cut-out paper flowers. Lace may be added at the top if the girl wishes. Trim the lid with a paper doily.

Cake mix box can be used for a Valentine house. Make a roof by folding a piece of construction paper in half. Hold roof in place with ribbon pulled through slits in roof and around the box. Decorate with a door and windows. Cookies may be placed inside this house for the party.

Call for Bids on Marshall Co. Jobs

3 Bituminous Surfacing Projects Also Scheduled

Construction bids for the first two projects of the 1963 Marshall county highway improvement program will be opened by the county board of commissioners on March 5 at 2 p. m., H. I. Knutson, highway engineer, announced following the board meeting last Tuesday.

The projects involve grading and gravel surfacing of 14½ miles in preparation for future paving. The work includes 8½ miles on CSAH 5 starting at Englund and on CSAH 29 to the junction with the new TH No. 59 and 6 miles on CSAH No. 8 from Newfolden north.

Three bituminous surfacing jobs are also being readied for a letting later this year, one of these being 9 miles from Viking east to T. H. No. 32 on CSAH No. 2 to be let possibly on March 25; a second paving job 7 miles from Middle River west on CSAH 6 and 5 miles from Grygla north on CSAH No. 10 for a letting possibly on April 5.

Radio Station to Start Operating at Roseau April 1

The approaching opening of the new radio station at Roseau will bring managership changes to KRAD Radio Station in East Grand Forks, according to Marlin T. Oble, owner of station KRAD and co-owner of the new KRWB station at Roseau.

Effective February 15, Arthur F. Nelson, who has been general manager of Station KRWD Radio since August of 960, will become general manager of Station DRWB at Roseau, and becoming general manager of Station KRAD in East Grand Forks will be Jack French, who has been sales manager of KNOX-TV in Grand Forks.

The new Roseau station, which is owned by Oble and Henry G. Tweten of East Grand Forks, will go into operation April 1.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. JAKE O'HARA

Frankly dainty is this elegant little wafer, the recipe for which is being shared with Karnival readers by Mrs. Jake (Marie) O'Hara, who lives on Tindolph ave. in this city. She suggests serving it at teas, weddings, or other occasions which call for something just a little special. It is tender and rich, yet most simple in its preparation.

FLAKY WAFERS

Cut 1 cup soft butter into 2 cups sifted flour, as you would for pie crust. Add one-third cup cream, and mix well. Place in refrigerator until chilled. (about a half hour). Roll out about a third of the dough at a time, to one-eighth inch thickness. Cut out with cooky cutter and dip both sides in granulated sugar. Place on ungreased cooky shet and prick with a fork. Bake 7 to 9 minutes at 375 degrees.

When cool, spread sparingly with the following icing:

three-fourths cup powdered sugar
one-fourth cup butter
1 egg yolk, beaten
1 tsp. vanilla or lemon extract (or both).

Beat well, and spread on wafers. (This may be tinted for variety.)

The O'Haras have three children, all married. They have swelled the family circle by adding to it 14 grandchildren.

Knitting, painting, decorating, and hobby crafts of all kinds are among the hobbies enjoyed by this busy, capable housewife. She is an excellent cook, a gracious hostess, and a successful and experienced canner. Socially, she belongs to the St. Bernard's Catholic ladies' guild, the BPO Does, Eagles' auxiliary, and the Woman's club.

Mr. O'Hara shares ownership with his brother Clair in the O'Hara Fuel and Transfer Company.

Stephen Resident Is Named to State Education Board

Ralph Hvidsten, 40, Stephen farmer and business leader, was appointed last Wednesday by Governor Elmer L. Andersen to serve on the state board of education, succeeding Walter O. Lundberg of Austin, who was forced to leave the board due to congressional redistricting.

Hvidsten's appointment, while is subject to state senate confirmation, is for a term ending January 1, 1970. He has been a member of the Stephen board of education since 1954, and is currently serving as president.

He is also a member of the board of education of Concordia college, Moorhead, and a member of the Minnesota Institute of Agriculture advisory council.

Dr. A. E. Jacobson of Thief River Falls is a former member of the state board of education from this congressional district.

Princess Kay & Lew Conlon Will Share in RRV Shows Program

Two top personalities of Minnesota's dairy industry and a professional football star will add their talents to events of the 1963 Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston Feb. 16-22.

Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Kathy Hjelle of Argyle, and Manager L. H. (Lew) Conlon of the Minnesota dairy industry committee, both will be on hand for opening ceremonies of the 1963 Winter Shows at 8 a. m., Saturday.

Conlon, one of the nation's top dairy authorities and widely-known spokesman for the Minnesota dairy industry, also will serve as special coordinator for the open class dairy cattle show in the Winter Shows Arena Monday. Superintendent B. E. Youngquist said both Princess Kay and Conlon would ride in Sunday afternoon's horse show.

Princess Kay, the Argyle girl who calls the entire state of Minnesota her home this year on her job as the dairy industry's official goodwill representative, will participate in events of the first four days of this year's Shows. She'll share head table and speaking honors with Gov. Elmer L. Andersen at the annual Farm Youth Banquet at 6 p. m., Saturday, Feb. 16. Miss Hjelle also will participate in coronation ceremonies for King Agassiz III at 7:30 p. m. in the arena.

Monday, Princess Kay will be a "working guest", awarding ribbons at the dairy cattle show, speaking at the Farm Bureau Women's luncheon and greeting exhibitors, concessions and livestock breeders at their respective gatherings in the evening.

She's also scheduled for a full day of appearances Tuesday. Kathy will greet 4-H dairy demonstrators, appear at the dairy sale and participate in the evening program — both as a speaker and a judge.

A special event arranged for Tuesday evening's Dairy Day program by the Winter Shows in cooperation with the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee, will be a dairy cow milking contest between the new King Agassiz and halfback Jerry Reichow of the Minnesota Vikings professional football team.

Reichow, the former Iowa quarterback star who has become one of the National Football League's best pass receivers, says it will be his first experience in such a contest. The personable young athlete, who makes his home near Medicine Lake west of the Twin Cities between football seasons, currently is doing a series of sports clinics for Minnesota youngsters on behalf of the dairy industry.

Princess Kay will be official judge and timekeeper for the milking contest.

2 Auto Crashes Noted in City During Weekend

Two traffic accidents with damage totaling more than $50 were investigated by the Thief River Falls police department during the past several days. Damage to two cars involved totaled an estimated $725.

On Saturday at 5:30 p. m. a car driven into the city on highway 59 by Mrs. Pearl Loeffler, rt. 3, skidded when the driver applied the brakes and went into a spin. The vehicle left the road backward near Shunway's Mobil Service and hit a tree with damage to the car estimated at $550.

At about 3:30 p. m. Sunday a car driven by Curtis M. Harris, city, was traveling east on Third st. W. and attempting to pass a car between Knight and Duluth avenues when the car went into a spin and struck an iron sign post. About $150 damage was done to the car and $25 to the post.

Students Needed for Art Class

Five more students are needed for the art class which was scheduled to be a part of the adult evening school in Thief River Falls. If these students can be enrolled, the next session will be at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, February 18, at the art room of Lincoln high school.

Additional members are also needed for the class on "A Home of Your Own" which will be conducted by Mrs. Maurits Scholin. Interested persons should register by calling MU 1-4588 before 3 p.m. on February 18, according to Arnt Aune, director of the area vocational-technical school, sponsor of the classes.

RECIPIENT of a certificate from the National Council of Teachers of English is Miss Audrey Larson, senior student at Auburn high school and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Larson, formerly of Thief River Falls. Mrs. Larson is the former Clara Swanson who taught in rural schools here prior to her marriage. Awards in the annual achievemet awards competition were given to 820 of 6,200 nominees and were based on three written compositions including an autobiographical sketch and an impromptu paper. An honor student at the school, Audrey holds a high scholastic average and is a member of the National Honor Society. She is shown receiving her award from C. V. Hostetter, school principal.

Selective Service College Tests Apr. 18

The annual Selective Service college qualification test will be offered to college students April 18 at approximately 500 colleges thruout the Nation.

The score made on the test is an additional piece of important information for local boards to use in considering students for deferment from induction for study as undergraduate or graduate students. The score will not of itself determine eligibility for deferment, but is considered with other information by the board in determining whether to defer a registrant for further study.

Lt. Colonel Murley A. Reep, State Director of Selective Service for Minnesota, announced that the test in Minnesota will be conducted at 3 colleges, among them being Bemidji State college, University of Minnesota, Duluth and Concordia College, Moorhead; Carleton College, Northfield.

"The purpose of student deferments is to give students an opportunity to continue to prepare themselves for careers in support of the national interest," Colonel Reep said. "The undergraduate student who today does not plan on graduate study may change his plans as he nears graduation," he added. "That is the time that a deferment may be most important. That is also the time when a test score may be important in the local board's decision concerning deferment."

Only college students who are taking a full-time course may take the test, and a student may only take the test once during his college career.

Application materials for the test are now available at the nearest local board office or at any college or university. Students are urged to make application early. The application must be postmarked not later than midnight, March 28. Full instructional materials are issued with the applications.

Optometrists at State Convention Held in Rochester

Dr. O. D. Belch and Edward L. Gilbert of Thief River Falls joined more than 200 other members, wives and guests of the Minnesota Optometric association this past weekend in Rochester for the group's 63rd annual meeting. The sessions, which extend through February 11th, were held at the Hotel Kahler.

President of the organization, Dr. Paul Slaton, Hopkins, points out that this year's annual meeting was designed to feature advanced professional education for the optometrists attending.

PROTEIN TEAM would be an apt name for this pair of dairy boosters — brawny Jerry Reichow of the Minnesota Vikings and pretty Kathy Hjelle of Argyle. Both will be featured guests at the 1963 Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston, Feb. 16-22. Kathy, who became the Red River Valley's most famous daughter for this year when she won Minnesota's Princess Kay of the Milky Way contest, will participate in opening ceremonies for the 1963 Shows and will be on hand through the first four days. Reichow, a hustling offensive right halfback for the Minnesota pro football squad, will participate in events of Dairy Day, Feb. 19 — including a dairy cow milking contest with the Shows' newly-crowned King Agassiz III. Pictured above, Reichow and Princess Kay achieve happy accord on a dairy slogan: "You can't be a pro without protein — and dairy foods are the best way to get it." Appearances of both at the Shows will be sponsored by the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee, state unit of the American Dairy Association.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson

Manager Chamber of Commerce

"By George, I think I'll write to my representative and tell him what I think." How many times have you heard that statement? Probably quite a few times but I'll wager that far fewer letters have been written than peple have said they would write.

Believe it or not, one of the main problems on this count is that many people do not know know where to write their representative and they do not want to ask. This week we would like to perform a small service by presenting the names of our local representatives so that anyone wanting to write a letter may do so without hunting for names and addresses. Here are your representative's names and official addresses:

Honorable Hubert H. Humphrey
United States Senate
Senate Office Building
Washington, D. C.

Honorable Eugene McCarthy
United States Senate
Senate Office Building
Washington, D. C.

Honorable Odin Langen
United States Congressman
New House Office Building
Washington, D. C.

Senator Harveydale Maruska
State Capitol
St. Paul, Minnesota

Representative Andy Skaar
State Capitol
St. Paul, Minnesota

Now then, what should we write about? Well, just about anything, but how about taxes, excess spending, roads, education, conservation old age pension, or a host of other things. The main thing is that we let our representatives know what our philosophy is on some things and they will know what we mean.

Not often enough do we find the energy to write letters to the editor or to our representatives. This year let's all do it at least once and make ourselves heard and felt.

Bruggeman Joins Curtiss Breeding Service Staff

Don Bruggeman, veteran Thief River Falls artificial breeding technician, has been named distributor for Curtiss Breeding Service, Inc., in this area. He will be assisted by Leonard Geske. Both assumed their new duties February 8.

Bruggeman has been active in artificial breeding work for more than three years and has received statewide recognition in both his progress and his efficiency. In his new affiliation, he will continue his dairy farm operation in partnership with his son, Mark.

Curtiss Breeding Service ranks as the fastest-growing organization in its field. It maintains a stud of 160 outstanding sires, plus the world's most modern semen processing facilities at its national headquarters in Gary, Ill.

Services of five dairy breeds, eight beef breeds and one dual-purpose breed are made available to cattlemen through its frozen semen program.

Social Security Man Here Tuesday

A representative of the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city Auditorium Tuesday, February 12, at 10 a. m. Individuals who have questions regarding social security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN was an HONEST MAN
Folks Called Him "HONEST ABE"
Here at NORTHERN STATE BANK we too believe that honesty is the best policy. This is evidenced in our 28 years of service to the Thief River Falls area and the confidence which our depositors place in us. We join in paying tribute to Abraham Lincoln on his birthday February 12. He was a great statesman and a great man — an inspiration to us as Americans to follow his high ideals.

The Library Corner

By Virginia Gjernes

Space is much in the news now and greatly interests everyone from pre-schoolers to dodderings. Space is of much interest to librarians — especially Carnegie Public Library librarians! Actually, it isn't the space program, per se, which concerns them. No, it is the "lack-of-space program" which is uppermost in their minds. The shelves are crowded and the reading alcoves are crowded and the "space age" is really upon us.

There are two solutions to the "space age" confronting us. One solution is — lock the door after a limited number of patrons have entered — the other is — lock the door!

We will not do either. We enjoy working with both students and adults. It is enjoyable and interesting to watch young minds develop and it is satisfying to play even a small role in the developing of those minds, because it is those very minds which will assure the survival and the continuation of our country's forging ahead in world affairs.

There are some 1200 students enrolled in Lincoln junior and senior high schools. All have assignments, at one time or another, which can be completed only by using reference materials available at the school and public libraries. Bear in mind, there is a very small percentage of duplication of sources available at the two libraries.

Now, the school library has crowding room for exactly 51 students at any one time. Any student has access to the school library from 8 until 5, providing he hasn't a class, and providing he is not number 52! The public library can seat, uncomfortably, 32 students and leave little room for walking and none for other patrons, but it can, and does, take care of the 32 students.

The U. S. Space Age program is not lagging behind the programs of other world powers — not yet. But, when you deal with youngsters daily, not one at a time, or two at a time, or a dinner-table-full at a time — but many, many, many at a time as librarians and teachers do — you can't help but wonder what the Space Age program will be in the future, since librarians are confronted, unfortunately, with the "lack-of-space age" today!

We've moved some of the books over a bit to make room for new ones for no matter how crowded the library becomes you can be sure you'll have the privilege of reading the best, first, if you're a borrower at your Carnegie Public Library.

So, with that in mind, here are two or three you might be interested in borrowing. A novel, "Where Love Has Gone" by Harold Robbins, is not one for the young-in-mind, for it is a sophisticated story about sophisticated people dealing with rather sordid problems. If that type of story is your dish of tea, you'll read it and possibly enjoy it, and dicuss it with your friends.

For delightful, refreshing reading on the lighter side, there's "Home to My Mountains" by Hazel Barrington Selby. Its a true-life story about the trials, tribulation and giggles and laughs a couple has when they return to the mountains where they homesteaded some forty years before. It's fun-reading.

"Cross Fire" by Ezra Taft Benson is a volume dealing with Mr. Benson's eight years with President Eisenhower. Mr. Benson's personal beliefs and political record are carefully recorded. He tells how it feels to be in the 'cross-fire', politically speaking. He tells also how a plain man and his family survive the furor of Washington, D. C.: that quiet little town on the Potomac.

See you at the library — There's always room for one more!

Plans Getting under Way to Promote May Wheat Referendum

The National Wheat Committee, a nationwide voluntary committee of national farm organizations and cooperatives representing a majority of the farmers in grain producting states, met in Washington, D. C., January 30, to develop plans for carrying out a factural information program on the farmers' wheat referendum which will be held next May.

The National Wheat Committee will help to organize state and district committees, enlisting the help of community leaders as well as farmers in all grain states, to make certain that all possible information about the 1964 wheat program, and the alternatives, will be available to the 1,800,000 farmers who are eligible to vote in this spring's wheat referendum.

The committee is composed of representatives of the National Association of Wheat Growers, the National Grange, the National Farmers Union, the National Farmers Organization, the Missouri Farmers Association, the National Federation of Grain Cooperatives, Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association, and regional grain cooperatives of the Great Plains.

The National Wheat Committee was formed January 10, at a meeting at Omaha, in the heart of the wheat belt. Chairman is M. W. Thatcher, president of the National Federation of Grain Cooperatives and general manager of the farmers' Grain Terminal cooperative in St. Paul.

Broad purpose of the Wheat Committee was set forth in a statement: "We, the participating members of the National Wheat Committee know that nations of the world are struggling to improve their agricultural production and assure a fair return to their producers.

"Here in the United States farmers already have achieved the goal of plenty and abundance in the production of food and fiber, but have been less fortunate in securing a fair return for their farm families for this plentiful production.

"We believe legislation that helps farmers earn more must protect consumers at home, build markets, and provide plenty for people abroad.

"These we believe are the basic purposes of any sound farm program. To that end, we believe that the most important immediate step in 1963 is to help farmers decide for themselves what the choices are that lie ahead, and to understand and support the 1964 wheat certificate plan on which they will be voting this spring."

Farrowing House On Troska Farm Is First in Area

During the past several years he averaged 10 to 12 litters of feeder pigs and this year he plans to farrow 48 litters from 21 Yorkshire Poland China and Duroc crossed sows.

Designed for Savings

Design of the farrowing house is geared for saving the most pigs possible per litter at the lowest cost. The house has 12 farrowing pens, six on each side of a five-foot alleyway and gutter area. Concrete floors are sloped toward the gutters to keep the pens dry. A two-foot wide walkway is provided around the pens next to the walls of the house. Heating is done with a gas-fired heater and 10-inch continuous fan with slot ventilation to keep the house interior dry.

Each farrowing pen is 52 inches wide and 11 feet long including a 30-inch brooder area across one end of the pen. Walls of the pen are tight to prevent the spread of possible disease from one litter to another. Each pen has 2x4 guard rails about 8 inches from the floor and five inches from the wall to give small pigs an escape route when the sow lies down. Troska plans to replace the 2x4's with pipe when he has the opportunity.

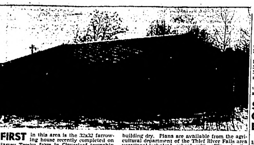
Exterior of the house is ⅜ inch exterior plyboard. Walls and ceiling are insulated with fiberglass with plastic sheeting for a vapor barrier. Corner posts for pens are cedar 4x4's set in concrete. Troska hand feeds his sows with a grain and concentrate mixture in portable troughs. A pressure system also brings water into the farrowing house.

Has Sewage System

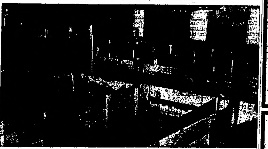
One unique feature of the house is that it will have a partial sewage disposal system. The gutters are sloped to permit liquid to flow into a 50-gallon tank at the east end of the building and then be tiled out to a gravel pit about 75 feet east of the structure. The pit has water in it through the summer and forms a natural lagoon.

Troska is a native of the Warren community, moved to the Goodridge area with his parents and then purchased his farm in the spring of 1957. He is married to the former Betty Szczepanski of Strandquist and they have four children, Llewellyn 5, Georgine 4, Daniel 2 and Vicki 6 months. Harvey was recently elected to the Cloverleaf town board and has been in a farm management program for eight years.

If the feeder pig industry in this area continues to expand at the rate that it has the past year, it is likely that more farrowing houses of this type will be built. Due to the possibility of transmitting disease, however, Troska has urged the Times to request the public not to ask to visit the new building. Plans and specifications for the structure are available at the agriculture office of the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school located in the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls.



A FIRST in this area is the 32x32 farrowing house recently completed on the Harvey Troska farm in Cloverleaf township 11 miles east of Thief River Falls. The building has a concrete floor, pens for farrowing 12 sows, and is insulated with fiberglass. Exterior walls are of ⅜ inch exterior plyboard, a gas heater is used for heating and slot ventilation keeps the building dry. Plans are available from the agricultural department of the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school with offices in the Pennington county courthouse. Troska has asked the Times to request no visitors to the building because of the possibility of bringing in disease. Plans for the house were developed by the University of Wisconsin.



INTERIOR of the farrowing house on the Harvey Troska farm at Goodridge is pictured above. Native lumber was used for much of the interior construction with the concrete floor sloped toward the gutters on either side of the alleyway down the middle of the house. This year Troska plans to farrow 48 litters of pigs which will be sold as feeders to the Wisconsin Feeder Pig Marketing Cooperative. Litters weaned at five to seven weeks are combined in some of the farrowing pens to save space. Each pen has its own brooder area with heat lamps and its own gate for easy accessability.

MEALTIME at the newly-constructed farrowing house on the Harvey Troska farm 11 miles east of Thief River Falls poses no problem to this litter of pigs. Each of the 12 pens in the farrowing house is clean and dry for maximum comfort of the sow and her litter. Guard rails along the sides of the pen give the little pigs an escape route when the sow lies down and a small brooding area with a heat lamp is located at the rear of the pen. Note the tight wall construction of the pen for preventing the spread of possible disease.

More Acreage Is Needed for Area Contract Crops

not many farmers have experience at raising them. They require more labor than millet but offer a greater return per acre potential. Sunflowers may be planted with a conventional drill by plugging holes to give row spacing of about 42 inches. They are more easily planted with a corn planter or sugar beet drill.

Information on varieties, method and time of planting, application of fertilizer and anticipated yields and return per acre for both sunflowers and millet is available at the county extension office. Any persons interested in the possibilities of producing these crops are encouraged to investigate the potential so that contracts may be signed this week.

"Our main problem has been to get farmers to plant any sizeable acreage this year," Piitt told the Times. "Most of those who have signed contracts have done so for about 10 or 15 acres, and it takes many of these contracts to add up to the acreage we hoped to secure. If a few farmers would plant the crops on greater acreage it would not be difficult to meet our expectations."

Jaycees Hear of School Problems Thursday Night

Ralph Foster reported on the nativity scene project which was financed by the sale of Christmas tree ornaments, noting that expenses totaled $275.60 and that a net profit of $24.30 was realized from the bulb sale. He also urged as many Jaycees as possible to attend the state meeting to be held February 16 and 17 at Bemidji — the first state meeting held in Region 2 for many years.

A report on the Region 2 meeting held at Park Rapids was given by Marvin Lundin. Chapter members also voted to designate $175 from the general treasury to be used for expenses of Miss Connie Ekeren, Miss Aquacade, in anticipation of her entry in the district and state Miss Minnesota pageants.

Attention was called to the Jaycee Valentine party which was to be held Saturday with a skating party to precede dancing and games at Noper's Fireside room. Date of the charity dance for the benefit of the Salvation Army was set for March 22.

Thomas Braaten Rites Conducted This Afternoon

Thomas Braaten, for many years a resident of the Middle River and Strathcona areas, passed away on Wednesday, February 6 at San Diego, California, at the age of 89 years.

Funeral services were held here today at the Green Funeral Chapel with Rev. Leland Steen officiating. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Braaten was born on November 20, 1873, in Valders, Norway, coming to America in the spring of 1893. He attended business college in Grand Forks, N. D. later working on the railroad, and also contracting as a stone mason.

He was united in marriage to Emily Wallen on December 1, 1909, at Lignite, N. D. They owned stores in Lignite and Mckinock, N. D., and operated farms in North Dakota and near Middle River. Mr. Braaten was active in community affairs, serving at one time or another on the Middle River school board, the co-op board, township board, and was, in addition, a member of the ASC committee. Retiring in the fall of 1956, they moved to Thief River Falls. Mrs. Braaten died in 1958. Since that time, Mr. Braaten has spent most of his time in Seattle, Wash., San Diego, Calif., and Hot Springs, Ark.

Surviving are four children, Harold and Hazel (Mrs. Harvey Larson), both of Seattle; Warren, of Middle River, and Irene (Mrs. Clifford Johnson) of Strathcona. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Mary Disrud, of Glasgow, Montana, and by four grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his wife, and several brothers and sisters.

Spouse of Former Grygla Resident Dies in Crookston

Charles H. Laughery, 62, of 233 Ingersoll Ave., died Thursday night at a Crookston hospital. He had been ill for some time.

He was born April 21, 1900 at Sioux Falls, S. D. In 1927 he was married to Reetina McCoy at Grygla. He was a laborer.

Survivors include his widow; two sons, Jesse of Crookston and Wesley of Fargo; two stepsons, Leonard Schumaker of Crookston and Howard Schumaker of McIntosh; a sister, Mrs. Frank Hoffman of Albany, Ore., and 17 grandchildren. He was preceded in death by a stepdaughter, Mrs. Harold Hudson and a granddaughter.

Funeral services will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. at Houske's Chapel with the Rev. Eyrich E. Hansen officiating. Burial will be in Grygla Cemetery in the spring.

To Hold Card Party

Bethany-Rebekah Lodge will hold a card party Thursday evening at 8:30 p.m. in the Odd Fellows Hall with everyone welcome.

NOTICE TO DAIRYMEN

The advertisement published in the Thursday, February 7 edition of the Thief River Falls Times over the name of Don Bruggeman was written by American Breeders Service.

Mr. Bruggeman has become affiliated with Curtiss Breeding Service, Inc., and will not operate as a representative of American Breeders Service. It is the desire of American Breeders Service to publicly note that American Breeders Service ordered placement of the advertisement and regret any inconvenience or embarrassment caused to Mr. Bruggeman.

Attention Dairymen:

Due to a misrepresentation of many basic truths concerning the American Breeders Service Proved Sire Breeding Program offered in the Thief River Falls area there is much concern and many questions in the dairymen's minds as to the truth concerning the action of American Bredders Service.

In all fairness to every dairyman and all other parties concerned the really true and basic justice any action should be determined only after both sides of the story are heard.

Many of you have been exposed to only one side of the story. American Breeders Service would appreciate an opportunity to tell it's side. We feel this is the only fair and logical means for each dairyman to make a just evaluation and decide for himself what action to take.

We only ask, as we visit you, to give us an opportunitw to present our side of the story.

Prowlers Wrestlers Defeat Park Rapids

Coach Al Shaff's Prowler wrestling squad marked up their ninth win of the season on Friday night, when, in a match held at Park Rapids, the blue-and-gold scored a 27 to 19 win over the Panthers.

The Prowlers will meet the Crookston Aggies at Crookston on Wednesday, Feb. 13. In a previous match between the two squads, and which was held here in December, the Prowlers scored a 31 to 19 win over the Aggies. The Prowlers will conclude their pre-tournament schedule on Feb. 20 when the Warren Ponies' wrestling squads, the A and B squads, meet the locals in the Lincoln high school gymnasium ring.

In Friday night's match at Park Rapids, coach Shaff's squad trailed by a 19 to 9 score with but four matches remaining on the program. But the Prowlers swept these four matches, winning three of the matches by falls, and gaining a decision in the other, picking up 18 points to score a 27 to 19.

In these concluding matches, Joe Taylor defeated the Panthers' Ralph Christofferson on a pin in the 157-pound class; Ray Ulrich decisioned Bruce Nelson in the 164-pound class; Bob Benson scored a pin over Park Rapids' Rick Boyer in the 178-pound class; and heavyweight Dwight Myhrer picked up five points by pinning the Panthers' Allen Crandall.

Other points collected by the Prowlers in Friday night's wrestling were by Roy Delorme, on a decision over Bob Olgen in the 106-pound class; Roger Wilson, on a decision over Dennis Cheney in the 115-pound class; and Steve Skadsen, on a decision of Lanny Jones in the 130-pound class.

The summaries:

98-lb. Larry McStocter (PR) decisioned Myles Olson (TRF), 2-0.
106-lb. Roy Delorme (TRF) decisioned Bob Olgen (PR), 2-.
115-lb. Roger Wilson (TRF) decisioned Dennis Cheney (PR), 4-1.

164-lb. Ray Ulrich (TRF) decisioned Bruce Nelson (PR), 8-4.
178-lb. Bob Benson (TRF) pinned Rick Boyer (PR), 2:14.
Heavyweight Dwight Myhrer (TRF) pinned Allen Crandall, (PR), 2:33.

Sub-region Hockey Play Ends Tonight on Warroad Rink

Baudette Will Tackle Crookston as Warroad Plays East Grand Forks

The sub-regional round of the Region Eight hockey tournament will be completed tonight when, on the Memorial arena ice in Warroad, the Baudette Bears meet the Crookston Pirates at 7:30 p. m.; and the Warroad Warriors meet the East Grand Forks Green Wave at 9:00 p. m. The winners of tonight's games will join Roseau and Thief River Falls in the Region Eight tournement semi-finals and finals that will be played at Roseau on Thursday and Friday, Feb. 14 and 15.

In sub-regional first-round games played at Warroad on Saturday, the Baudette Bears, by an 8 to 1 score, defeated the Red Lake Falls Eagles; the Crookston Pirates, in an overtime game, edged out the Hallock Bears, 6 to 5; the East Grand Forks Green Wave, with Lynn Stauss scoring three goals, trounced the Williams Wolves, 10 to 0; and the Warroad Warriors, by a 3 to 1 score, defeated Indus.

The Region Eight tourney pairings for the semi-finals at Roseau on Thursday will find the Roseau Rams, the defending regional champions, meeting the winner of tonight's Baudette vs. Crookston tilt; and Thief River Falls playing the winner of tonight's Warroad vs. East Grand Forks game. Game times at Roseau will be 7:30 p. m. and 9:00 p. m. The Region Eight championship game will be played at 7:30 p. m. on Friday, Feb. 15, with the consolation game being slated for 9:00 p. m.

Eagles Bantams Defeat RLF 2-1

Local Sextet to Play at Winnipeg This Week-end

Coach Paul Bedard's Eagles Bantams hockey team defeated the Red Lake Falls Bantams, 2 to 1, in a game played on the Arena ice here Sunday afternoon. Scoring for the locals were Kent LeMoine and Tom Stromberg.

The win gives the local Bantams a one-game lead over the Red Lake Falls Bantams in the four-game series that will be completed next week. The local club has two wins and one loss, with one game remaining to be played.

On Saturday and Sunday the Eagles Bantams, along with the V. F. W. Midgets, will make a trip to Winnipeg for return game against the Earl Grey Community Center Bantams.

dressing room, and McLeod confirmed it a few minutes later in the Trail headquarters."

I have a vivid recollection of a Bill Juzda check that was thrown, and which did not miss, against Jim Zarie, a Winnipeg player who played with the Roseau Cloverleafs during Bill's career with the local seniors. Jim, who was crumpled by the check, complained that it was strange that Bill should hit him so hard, seeing that they were good friends and played with the same club in Winnipeg. Bill's reply was that the Thief River Falls Thieves were paying him to play hockey, and the fans were entitled to the best hockey that he, Bill, could produce.

I received a card from Jack Poole, the former Prowler and Green Bay Bob Cat who is a member of the United States hockey squad that will compete in the world's tournament. The card was mailed from Praha, Czechoslovakia. Jack is still on the sidelines, with his leg in a cast as a result of injury received in a practice drill some weeks ago. And Jack adds that he will be out of action for three weeks.

Prowler 'B' Quint Defeat Fosston 'B's Friday 59-51

Coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' basketball squad boosted their season's record to nine wins and four losses by scoring a 59 to 51 win over coach Terry Stout's Fosston 'B' team in a preliminary game played here Friday night. Center Rich Nelson racked up twelve field goals and five free throws to pace the Prowler scorers with 29 points. Charles Lucken, a diminutive guard, dropped in five field goals and five free throws to turn in an 18-point effort for the Greyhounds.

Thieves Defeat Grand Forks 16-2

The senior hockey Thieves picked up a pair of valuable points in the Northwest Hockey league standings on Saturday night by scoring a lop-sided, 16 to 2, win over the Grand Forks Warriors in a game played on the Arena rink. The Thieves have a pair of league games remaining on the schedule. One is a postponed game to be played with the Roseau Cloverleafs, and the other, on Feb. 24, against the Grand Forks Warriors at Grand Forks.

In Saturday night's high-scoring game, the Thieves, with veteran Tony Dorn scoring a pair of goals, gained a 5 to 1 first-period lead. Other first-period goals were scored by DelRay Offerdahl, who scored a pair, and Monty Markstrom. Don Nelson tallied the Grand Forks goal.

The Thieves erupted for six goals in the second period, with Eddie Holmes, Markstrom, Del Offerdahl, Dale Wennberg, Tim Teal, and Cal Offerdahl hitting the laces, Bill Ryden, early in the period, beat goalie Rod Collins for the Warriors' second and final goal of the game.

In the third period, Wennberg notched a pair of goals to complete a "hat trick" performance, and Markstrom also turned in the "hat trick" by scoring a goal to complete a three-goal game. Arlen Hjelle and Gordy Hipsher accounted for the other Thieves' goal in the period, boosting the score to 16 to 2 for the locals.

Syverson, Thune Team Wins Annual Women's Doubles Tournament

Vardeen Syverson and Arlene Thune, posting an aggregate of 1108 pins, won the annual doubles tournament of the Thief River Falls Women's Bowling association held Tuesday evening at Family Bowl in Thief River Falls. With 150 women entered in the event, the local association had nearly 90 per cent of its members taking part.

A total of $174.50 was paid out in prizes with the first place duo winning $19 prize money. Second place went to Inga Shetler and Betty Roadfeldt with a 1077 series and third to Ruth Korteum and Evie Womack with a 1073.

High individual series was bowled by Myrtle Stromberg with a 597 while the high game honors went to Marie Graham with a 202. Bowlers hitting the most pins over their averages were Vardeen Syverson 133, Elody Olson 127, Avid Goddard 127 and Myrtle Stromberg 121. Bea McLeod had the distinction of encountering the most splits with nine in the three lines bowled.

The handicap tournament was based on two-thirds of 170 scratch. Other winners in order and their scores were as follows:

Norma Heyn and Myrtle Stromberg, 1062; Darlene Muzzy and Eleanor Bothman, 1035; Dot Miller and Edna Pederson, 1027; Muriel Bruggeman and Betty Peterson, 1027; Marge Swenson and Avis Goddard, 1026; Jacki Bredeson and Joanne Landman, 1025; Elody Olson and Marilyn Moen, 1024; Mona Storhaug and Fran Hendrickson, 1021; Marie Lehrer and Darlene Rognlie, 1020; Bess Lang and Mary Washnesky, 1020; Gerne Bruggeman and Glennis Ranum, 1018; Mary Kay Looker and Pat Ball, 1017; Lucille Myers and Doris Hagen, 1015; Naomi Hummer and Lorraine Shirley, 1003; Dorothy Poolman and Til Carlson, 999; Kay Capistran and Marie Graham, 999; Lu Ekeren and Sam Rasmussen, 998; Ella Paetznick and Ruth Onkka, 998; Marilyn Winters and Arlene Kelly, 992; Mary Johnson and Mary Ann Myhrer, 992; Caroline Bedard and Shirley Knutson, 991; and Jeanne Ranta and Ardie Foster, 991.

Defeating the Alice Liden rink in last week's match, the Clara Mae Swanson rink continued undefeated in women's curling league competition, having posted three straight wins. The Swanson foursome will meet the Bonnie Tunberg rink, currently sharing second place in the league standings, in this week's feature match. The match is slated for 7:00 P.M. draw on Thursday.

The Tunberg rink and the May Jahr rink, defeating the Betty Liden and Margaret Ose rinks, respectively, in last Thursday night's competition, continued in their second place deadlock. While the Tunbergs are facing the league-leading Swanson rink this week, the Jahr rink will be curling against the Alice Liden rink.

Prowler Quint Edges Fosston Here 64 to 61

Four free-throw points, scored by Paul Klungness and Rick Jensen in the final minute of play on one-and-one bonus shots, preserved the Prowlers' lead and gave coach Jack Junker's basketball squad a 64 to 61 win over the Fosston Greyhounds in an inter-district game played on the local court Friday night.

On Friday, Feb. 15, the Prowlers will travel to East Grand Forks for a district conference game against Coach Larry Selk's Green Wave. And on Saturday night, Feb. 16, coach Marv Skaar will bring his Grand Forks Central Redskins here for a game against the Prowlers. Grand Forks, with an over-all record of 14 wins and two losses, is rated as eastern North Dakota's top prep team.

In the Fosston Greyhounds vs. Prowlers game here on Friday night, coach Junker's squad, perhaps feeling the effect of Tuesday night's 66 to 45 win over Crookston at Crookston, played erratic ball. The team's two leading scorers, center Tom Lindberg and guard John Aune, experienced an "off" night in their basket-shooting efforts. And it was through the 23-point production of Klungness and the 12 points tallied by Kenny Larson that the Prowlers were able to hold the lead throughout the game.

The locals held a 19 to 16 lead at the end of the first period, and a 35 to 29 advantage at the intermission. And outpointing the visitors by a 17 to 12 margin in the third period, the Prowlers boosted their lead to eleven points, 52 to 41, entering the final period.

In the fourth period, the Greyhounds, with their fine guard, Mark Carlin, directing the play, pared the Prowlers' lead to one point, 60 to 59, with 2:05 to play. During this spurt, Carlin accounted for a field goal and eight free throws.

With 1.4 to play, Klungness was fouled, and the Prowler forward converted the two points, boosting the lead to three points. Moments later, with 54 seconds to play, John Aune, who did a splendid job in guarding Carlin, committed his fifth personal foul. Carlin notched the two points, and the Greyhounds trailed by a point. Jensen, fouled by Dave Swanson, added two free throw points, and the Prowlers' lead, with 41 seconds to play, was again by three points. In the final seconds, the Prowlers, with an effective ball-control technique, "ran" out the clock to win by the 64 to 61 score.

Klungness, with 23 points, was the game's high scorer. Carlin, who was held to six points in the first half, racked up a field goal and eleven free throws in the second half to pace the Fosston scorers with 21 points.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

May Gain An Appointment

Paul Klungness, the Prowlers' stellar all-round athlete, will return to town late tonight or early Tuesday morning from a quick trip to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. Paul left here on Saturday morning, by plane, and was to take his medical and physical aptitude tests.

A couple of weeks ago, Paul took the academic test, which was a three-hour examination on scholastic aptitude, achievement in English composition and intermediate mathematics.

All candidates for entrance into the Academy must qualify in a thorough medical examination and a one-hour test of physical aptitude designed to measure strength and muscular coordination.

Prospective cadets who have completed their examinations by March will be notified in May of the results of these examinations, and will be, if they qualify, eligible to enter the Academy the first Tuesday in July.

Paul, according to the local high school rules recently adopted, will be the last major sports four letterman. He has been a letter winner in football, basketball, baseball, and track.

It is reported, too, that Paul has been offered an attractive scholarship by Concordia college in Moorhead. And Paul does have some sentimental feelings towards the Cobbers as his brother Dale and sister Joann are graduates of Concordia. And speaking of Concordia, I hear that the Cobbers are making a strong pitch for Paul Presthus of Rugby, N. Dak. Paul, who was named North Dakota's "Athlete of the Year" last season, is being wooed by many colleges and universities.

And Mark Carlin, who played a magnificent game for the Fosston Greyhounds in their losing effort against the Prowlers here Friday night, said that it was probable that he, Mark, would attend Concordia next week. Well, the Cobbers would surely gain a pair of good ones in Presthus and Carlin.

A Robust Character

The Trail Smoke Eaters, the senior hockey team that will represent Canada in the world's hockey tournament this year, played an exhibition game against the Winnipeg Maroons in Winnipeg on Tuesday night. And the result was a 5 to 2 for the Bill Juzda-coached Winnipeg team.

But what made the game especially attractive for the 6,000 fans in attendance was the appearance of Juzda on the ice as a member of the Maroons. Juzda, who will be remembered as a crunching defenseman with the Thieves here some years ago, is 42 years old, and at the end of the last season's play he had stated that he was "hanging up his skates". But he is back in action, and very welcome according to the following item from the Winnipeg Tribune.

"Maroon playing-coach Bill Juzda, who, at 42 years of age (or was that last year?) can still get a crowd off its butt just by drawing a bead on an incoming forward, had the perfect compliment paid to him at the conclusion of the game by Jackie McLeod, the newest Smoke Eater. . Jack, who had just missed being annihilated by a Juzda check near the end of the game, skated over to Bill and offered: 'You have been giving me fits now for years. Sometimes you connect and this time you missed. But always, I know it will be a good one. The stick is always down.'. . Juzda mentioned the comment first in the Winnipeg

Roseau Rink Wins Sunday Bonspiel

Twenty rinks participated in the mixed bonspiel that was concluded at the Fair Grounds curling arena on Sunday afternoon. The Jack Lundbohm rink of Roseau, defeating the Les Halvorson rink of the local club, 13 to 4, in the finals, won the first event honors.

The Ardell Liden rink, with Mrs. Duane (Gladys) Liden at lead, Duane Liden at second, Mrs. Ardell (Betty) Liden at third, and Ardell Liden as skip, won the second event honors by scoring a 9 to 6 win over the Ed DeMers rink of Grafton, N. Dak.

And in what developed into the most exciting match of the 'spiel, the Wally Tunberg rink, with a come-from-behind effort, edged out the Reuben Jorde rink, 8 to 6, in an extra end to win the third event finals. The Tunberg rink had Mrs. Curtis (Clara Mae) Swanson at lead, Curtis Swanson at second, Mrs. Wally (Bonnie) Tunberg at third and Wally Tunberg as skip. The Tunbergs trailed by a 6 to 4 score at the end of the eight ends of play, but picked up singles on the ninth and tenth ends to even the match, and then added a pair in the eleventh for the win. On the Jorde rink, Larry Molstad was lead, Don Jorde at second, Mrs Joyce Ranseren at third, and Reuben Jorde as skip.

In the first event competition, the Lundbohm rink defeated Ardell Liden in a first-round match, eliminated Dave Servig in a second round match, and bested Jon Larson, 6 to 5, in the semi-finals. Les Halvorson moved through the first event by scoring a win over Skip Knutson in a first-round match, defeated Chuck Emanuel in a second-round match, defeated Ed Berggren in a third-round match, and defeated Curtis Johnson in a semi-finals encounter.

The rink members of the winning Lundbohm squad were Mrs. Binky (Eldyne) Erickson at lead, Binky Erickson at second, Mrs. Jack (LeMae) Lundbohm at third, and Jack Lundbohm as skip. For the Halvorson foursome, Mrs. Howard (Ruby) Langlie was at lead, Harold Halvorson at second, Mrs. Dennis (Naomi) Monroe at third, and Les Halvorson as skip.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume Fifty-two — Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota — Monday, February 11, 1963 — Number 12

FACING the future with a confident smile is Mrs. Lloyd Anderson, Rosewood, who has been admitted to Northwestern hospital repeatedly in the past several years.

Undaunted by recurring spells brought on by a heart condition, she refuses to indulge in self-pity, but fills each day with activity within her limits. Some of her Swedish embroidery and crochet work are shown in the above photo.

From a Hospital Bed . . .

Mrs. Lloyd Anderson Courage Personified

By Mrs. Flora Allison,
Times Society Reporter

"If the future does not bring me health, it will at least bring a daily measure of fulfillment." This is the philosophy of Mrs. Lloyd Anderson of Rosewood who has spent more than 180 days in Northwestern hospital for treatment of a heart condition. Her story is one of faith, courage, hope and determination in spite of recurring illness which would have dulled the enthusiasm of others with less perseverance.

A repeated user of many of the facilities of the local hospital, she is one of its most enthusiastic boosters. She has been hospitalized part of every month since May of 1961 with the exception of two months, and during the past year has spent two periods of 58 and 42 consecutive days there.

She has known the repeated anxiety of being "down," but she is never "out", for she keeps fighting back with remarkable determination. Her unfailing faith in the power of God, the skill of her physician, the efficacy of modern drugs and the care she receives at the hospital, coupled with her amazing ability to be the master of her fate, has made her attitude toward her misfortune as one of quiet acceptance.

"Everyone is so wonderful here" she smiled. "You'd think that after so many admissions, and after so many months of needing such intensive care, they'd tire of you, but they never do. In this place, you're a person, not a statistic or a room number. Everybody here seems so genuinely interested in your welfare. Even the dietary department people fuss over you, suggesting things they think might tempt your appetite. And in emergencies, everyone is right there to help you. Truly, the care couldn't be better."

But in the modern scheme of things, care costs money. Without hospitalization insurance, Mrs. Anderson stated, they could never face the bills. "Some people argue that they can set aside the cost of the premiums every month in a savings account, but it doesn't work that way," she said. "You'd have to save for an awfully long time to meet the bills. If you never get a thing out of it because you're never hospitalized, count your blessings. You just don't know how lucky you are."

Mrs. Anderson is the wife of the Soo Line section foreman at Rosewood. They live in the village, but her husband farms 160 acres, more or less as a hobby. They have five children, and of the family she says, "They are a bulwark. If they hadn't stood by so faithfully through all this, I could never have stayed on top." Her husband she calls a "tower of strength."

Their eldest daughter, Dorothy, (Mrs. Larry Schneider) of Kansas City, has a son of three. They were able to join the rest of the family this holiday season for their first Christmas together in some time. Richard, the second eldest, lives in Minneapolis, and has a 7-month-old daughter. Bob and his wife live here. Judy, a graduate of Lincoln high this past spring, plans on marriage in May.

Of Shirley, 11, her mother says, "She is my little ray of sunshine." It is obvious that she too has a philosophic attitude toward her mother's affliction. Possessed of the same forward-looking faith as her mother, she refuses to give in to discouragement. With her mother away so much of the time, she has had to help her daddy on many occasions. They have now secured the services of a neighborhood school girl who prepares the evening meal and tidies up the house before going to her own home each night.

Mrs. Anderson handed out a verbal bouquet to the countless others who have made her burden bearable. "My friends, relatives and neighbors have been just wonderful! I don't know what I would have done without them. They've filled the need with a helping hand countless times. . in countless ways."

At the outset, being incapacitated came a little hard to this active mother, who admits to having had "a finger in every pie." She found enforced idleness and the sudden halt in participation in neighborhood affairs required a lot of adjustment." It was awful at first, but I fought it out with myself, and I'm perfectly satisfied to take things easy now that I've learned how," she confessed. "It meant deciding that I had to live with my problem, but once I found that I could take it in stride without becoming despondent, I felt a new, inner calm.

"I was once the world's worst worrier!" she added. "But worrying is actually bearing tomorrow's burdens today, and really, each day has enough of its own trouble, without anticipating that of another day."

Some of her many hobbies could be carried on, she found, from her hospital bed. She knits, crochets and embroiders. "I'm so thankful that I have my hands and my eyes," she said, smiling broadly as she displayed her current handiwork. Creating her own designs, she does lovely Swedish embroidery in bright, imaginative, geometrics on colored huck toweling. Currently she is working on crocheted bedroom slippers, and she has made and stretched her own doilies right there at the hospital.

Cake decorating was one hobby she had to leave behind. But I'm planning on taking it up again when I'm well," she beamed. "It's a fond wish of mine to make and decorate Judy's wedding cake. I'll do it in easy stages, baking part of it at a time, freezing it until time to put the whole thing together."

"You Must Have A Dream"

"Isn't your planning a bit ambitious?" we queried. "Oh, I don't think so," she replied confidently. "But if it is, well, it was fun dreaming. And all of us must dream; without a goal to shoot at, one dries up inside. We can't stop at today. . there's something bright and promising in every tomorrow."

She not only dreams, but this courageous woman dreams big. "I'm still working on my pet dream: some day, God willing, I'm going to take a practical nursing at the vocational school. I've always cherished that hope, but you know how it is when you have a family to raise. However, when I have the time, and that should be soon now, I'm going after that career."

Discouraged? Well, naturally. . . at the outset, especially after so many recurrences of the pain, so many re-admissions after apparently having licked the problem. "But you can lick anything, I've found," she said, "even pain. You know, sometimes it would be so bad that I didn't think I could hold out another minute without a hypo. But then I would pray, and I found myself able to keep from asking for that hypo for as long as eight hours."

A Bit of Advice

Would she have a word of advice to others? "Well, if I would, it would be this: whatever your age, get a hobby. You never know when it will spell the difference between going on to fight your trouble for yet another day and simply giving up."

If faith can move mountains and hope can sustain, this woman need fear no obstacle. And who can measure the volume of the faith that exudes from that hospital bed, where a woman of great courage daily preaches a silent, but eloquent sermon on the therapeutic value of that particular virtue!

Holstein Herd at N.W. School to Be Classified Feb. 12

The dairy herd of purebred Holstein cows at the Northwest School and Experiment Station, Crookston will be classified on Tuesday, February 12, starting at 10:30 a. m.

Roger Denney, official classifier for the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, will be in charge.

Dairymen who are interested in classification work are invited to attend. This is an opportunity to observe an expert who will determine how the herd at the Northwest Experiment Station "stacks up" in relation to type classification.

Cherries in Good Suppy This Month

Agriculture Dept. Lists Other Plentiful Foods

Red tart cherries—for pies, tarts and toppings—are the featured item on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods for February, according to University of Minnesota marketing specialists.

Although the cherries are especially appropriate for desserts for Valentine's Day and George Washington's birthday, there will be an abundance of this fruit to serve all month long. Stocks of both canned and frozen cherries are unusually large.

Winter pears, carrots, potatoes, canned corn, dry pea beans, eggs, peanuts and peanut products are other foods that will be plentiful in February.

The winter pear crop is 5 percent larger than last year. The Anjou is the variety you'll find in your retail stores now. Extension nutritionists at the University of Minnesota suggest making use of this abundance by featuring fresh pears in salads and desserts.

The fresh carrots and potatoes on the market from large 1962 crops make good teammates for pot roast on cold February days. The carrot crop is expected to be the second largest on record.

A large pack of canned corn in 1962, added to a big carry over from the previous crop, means that grocers' shelves will be well stocked. Look for week-end specials of canned corn to add to your emergency shelf.

Fertilizer to Be RRV Shows Topic

Symposium Scheduled Thursday, February 21

Farmers and other persons interested in fertilizer will not want to miss the plant food symposium at the Winter Shows. This meeting, on Thursday, Feb. 20, will bring top research personalities of industry from as great a distance as New York City as well as Illinois; also taking part will be personnel from the University of Minnesota.

The meeting is scheduled at the Northwest School, Crookston-Kiehle auditorium. The program commences at 9:30 a. m. with a coffee hour and door prize registration. The first speaker will be G. C. Matthiesen of Allied Chemical, New York City, who will speak on "Research and Development of Nitrogen Fertilizers." Richard Powell, director of technical services, International Mineral Corporation, Skokie, Illinois, will discuss "The Trend to High-Analysis Fertilizer."

This will be followed by a panel discussion on fertilizer problems and needs of the Valley. Headed by Olaf C. Soine as moderator, other panel members will be Merle V. Halvorson, soils specialist; Curtis P. Klint, soil conservation agent; William P. Martin, head of the department of soil science, all of the University of Minnesota; G. C. Matthiesen; Richard Powell; E. B. Norum of the North Dakota State University; and Gerhard Ross, Fisher farmer. This session will adjourn at 12:30 p. m. sharp.

Editorials . . .

"For 3,000 years during which printing remained undiscovered after writing was in use, it was only a small portion of the people who could write, or even read writing, and consequently the field of invention, though much extended, still continued very limited. At length printing came. It gave ten thousand copies of any written matter quite as cheaply as ten were given before; and consequently a thousand minds were brought into the field where was but one before. This was a great gain and history shows a great change corresponding to it — in point of time. I will venture to consider it the true termination of that period called the "dark ages." Discoveries, inventions, and improvements, followed rapidly and have been increasing their rapidity ever since."

—Abraham Lincoln

For "Sound Money"

President Kennedy has announced that he will reappoint William Martin as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. That will be marked down as one of the President's wise decisions.

Mr. Martin has headed the credit-regulating agency of the government since 1951 and is held in high regard in financial circles thruout the world. He is a strong advocate of "sound money" and his continued leadership of the seven-man board will strengthen confidence in the American dollar.

In announcing his intention the President emphasized the fact that the Federal Reserve System is "a fully independent agency" of the government. The Board acts independently of both Congress and the Chief Executive. Martin has disagreed at times with both President Kennedy and President Eisenhower. The President is to be commended for retaining a man of his qualifications in so important an office.

Let's Get The Facts

An interesting argument at the state level has been building up gradually and now has reached the explosive stage. Attorney General Walter Mondale and Highway Commissioner James Marshall haven't been getting along together. To some extent their responsibilities overlap. The Attorney General's office provides legal services for the Highway Department and in recent years, with the acquiring of right-of-way for the interstate highways through the metropolitan area, a lot of legal services have been required.

We are not sufficiently informed to discuss the questions that are involved but the Legislature has now recognized their importance by naming a special committee to investigate the charges and counter charges and try to determine the facts. That certainly is a proper approach to the problem.

Our sympathy, frankly, is with General Marshall, the Highway Commissioner, mainly because he was made the whipping boy during the election campaign by those who wanted to defeat Governor Andersen. General Marshall is an Andersen appointee.

And we have liked his attitude of independence under political pressure. He inherited a difficult assignment, along with unfulfilled promises and past errors. Not all of his difficulties, we are sure, have been due to his own shortcomings.

General Marshall has charged that the Attorney General's office has mishandled the Department's legal matters. Mondale should welcome an investigation of an operation that has cost the taxpayers of the state millions of dollars. He should know that there has been criticism, and he should recognize the obvious fact that reports of fraudulent procedures in other states encourage some reasonable doubts about transactions here in Minnesota, involving thousands of property owners and hundreds of special agents.

A thorough review of these activities, we believe, would be very much in order. If we were in Mr. Mondale's position we would insist on it.

Melodramatic Justice

A federal grand jury in Minneapolis has returned criminal indictments against a group of Minnesota banks, the first ever issued against banks under the anti-trust provisions of the Sherman Act passed in 1890. This action raises the interesting question as to why Minnesota was selected by the Justice Department as the state in which banking practices that are common thruout the country should be tested.

It may be significant that in 1961 another Federal Grand Jury investigated banking practices in Dallas, Texas, but adjourned last February without making any indictments. Possibly it was discovered that in Texas most of the bankers contributed liberally to the Democratic party.

Ordinarily, in conducting an exploratory mission of this kind, the search for evildoers might properly be started in a state that has a reputation for evil-doing. There is Massachusetts for instance, a state that once was held in high regard but which, in late years, has developed a bad reputation for boss-controlled politics and corruption. But maybe the Massachusetts bosses wouldn't like to have their state singled out in a search for wrong-doers.

And then of course there is the question as to why a Grand Jury had to be called to find out how the bankers are operating their business. Our banks are inspected regularly by government agencies that are operated for that special purpose. Government inspectors have access to all of the records of the banks. They know how banks operate and what the general operating practices are.

If these regulatory agencies conclude that some operating practices are not good and should be changed, they have the authority to order whatever changes they conclude would be in the public interest.

Such orderly procedures wouldn't make headlines, and a lot of voters do get a chuckle out of seeing their bankers spanked. The melodramatic way probably is smarter politics, but it doesn't make for public confidence in government. And public confidence in our government is one of the most urgent needs for our ailing economy at the present time.

Important Support

Senators Hubert Humphrey and Eugene McCarthy urge immediate statutory assurance of fair taxation for the taconite industry and the submission of a constitutional amendment to that effect at the next general election. Both of them stressed the importance of prompt action as essential to a sound development progoram for northeastern Minnesota. Senator Humphrey stated:

> "It has been my suggestion and my hope that we wouldn't just wait for a constitutional amendment. That would take some time no matter how much support it has. It is very difficult to amend our state constitution, even though I have a feeling that this amendment might succeed.
> "But in the meantime, I would hope that the legislature of Minnesota would pass the taconite statute that would do very much the same things as a taconite constitutional amendment. And if the amendement comes later on, if that's the will of the people of the state, then the statute would not be necessary."

Senator McCarthy expressed much the same sentiments, urging prompt action for the statutory assurance, saying:

> "Then they'd have it," for the amendment might not pass. The first action should be by statute. Then, if you want to underscore it with a constitutional amendment that would be all right."

This support by Minnesota's two United States Senators should satisfy that portion of the opposition that has been guided by partisan considerations. There still will be the opposition of that lunatic fringe of the sportsmen's groups that thinks only in terms of hunting and fishing. They have opposed the taconite development from the beginning because it might damage a few lakes and streams. While they are very vocal, fortunately they are not a numerous group.

Pushing On A String

Hoard's Dairyman is a little skeptical about the health of our national economy, wondering, we gather, if we are making progress upstream or drifting downstream. It is concerned about the proposed tax cut and the increase in spending that the President is recommending.

It remembers that in the year ending last June 30, our country went into the red more than six billion dollars and is fearful of the fact that during the present fiscal year we will be short about eight billion dollars. It worries a little about the probability that our national debt may be getting out of hand.

Recalling that in the 34 budget years since 1929 there have been 27 deficits and only 7 surpluses, it expresses the concern of many of us in the following conclusions:

> "We may be old fogeys in the new era of economic thinking, but we still believe in such things as balanced budgets, paying your bills, financial reserves, and that seemingly decadent practice of thrift. Maybe governments are different, perhaps they do not have to "pay the piper." But we doubt that they are exempt.
> "Someone once said that reducing taxes to stimulate the economy is like "pushing on a string." We believe the analogy is appropriate."

Easy Does It

(National Observer)

Spending demands for defense and space needs would seem to dictate that we go a bit slow on other spending. But the Administration tells us that now is the time to begin a $1.2 billion education program to "improve" teachers, curricula, and buildings. Now, too, we should expand aid to depressed areas, making loans of up to $250,000,000 each for new industrial facilities and scrapping the present "low" limit of $100,000,000. We've also got to get started on a $500,000,000 program to aid urban mass transit. So it goes.

Moreover, the administration sees no conflict at all between these big-spending plans and the economy's urgent need for a tax cut. We'll just go ahead with the tax cut anyway. The cut, you see, will stimulate the economy so that some time in the future, revenues will catch up with spending and the long chain of deficits will at last be broken.

To the ordinary citizen all this cannot help but have an air of unreality. It's not just that the sheer size of that $98.8 billion is so far beyond the ken of any individual. It's also that many of us can't quite cope with the idea that we can forever avoid trouble if we go on spending whatever we please with never a worry about what's coming in.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—My father, a veteran of World War II, died of a service-connected disability. My mother has remarried. Am I still eligible for educational and training benefits?

A—Yes, you are still considered a war orphan and are eligible provided you are within the age limits. See your nearest VA office.

Q—I am a Korean Conflict veteran and eventually I plan to buy a home through a GI loan. What is the final deadline for applying?

A—You have 10 years after your discharge, plus one year for every three months of active wartime served. The final deadlines are: For World War II veterans, July 25, 1967, and for Korean Conflict veterans, January 31, 1975.

Q—I named my mother the beneficiary of my GI insurance. She is now dead. Will the VA pay the insurance to my wife in the event of my death?

A—You had better notify the VA to make your wife the beneficiary. With no named beneficiary, the VA may have to divide the insurance among your nearest heirs when you die.

from

Taconite amendment breakthrough

By far the most important legislative development last week was the announcement by the Steelworkers' Union of support for a taconite amendment. This was a major breakthrough that I feel sure means that the amendment will pass the legislature and be adopted by the people.

It was interesting that the very day the steelworker action was being reported the Minnesota Poll announced results of another canvass of public opinion. This showed that two-thirds of the people favor it — and there was not a classification of people, by political party affiliation, by occupation, by age or sex that didn't have a majority in favor.

It was a fine thing to see management and labor joining together in support of a measure designed to help a sick industry. Some organizations are bound by earlier convention action to oppose, but I believe this will be changed by the time the vote comes up in 1964.

My conviction is that postive legislative action will lead to industry announcements even before a vote of the people.

Word has reached me that other groups are considering favorable announcements that will add impetus. I do hope politics will not re-enter the situation.

On a strictly economic basis the issue should be considered and supported. The amendment simply will assure taconite and semi-taconite processors that they will be considered along with other industry in the state and their taxes go up proportionately as taxes in other industry go up.

Recount Goes On

A final decision on the Governor contest is still many weeks away. There are still thousands of ballots about which there is question. They'll be devided into many categories and then the lawyers will present arguments and the judges will decide. The main reason it takes so long is that the vote is so close.

Someone told me the other day that this may prove to be the closest election in the history of our country where more than a million votes were involved. The final result may very well be less than 100 votes one way or the other. Both sides are confident of victory. Meanwhile, however, be assured that government is not standing by, waiting for the results. The legislative session is moving along and state government is operating smoothly and steadily.

Are Taxes Higher in Minnesota?

A friend of mine is president of a company with seven manufacturing plants, one of them in Minnesota. Hearing so much general talk, and so few facts about the Minnesota tax situation he analyzed tax costs in his own company at all plants.

He added up all the real property, personal property, franchise and income taxes paid by each plant and then divided this by the number of units of his product manufactured to determine tax cost-per-100-units manufactured. Here is how it came out:

Minnesota, $11.74; State A, $10.17 B, $9.38; C, $6.89; D, $6.24; E, $4.86; F, $2.63.

Now, I am not one of those to quickly conclude that State F is the best state. Also, I could make a good case that $11.74 per 100 units brings a great deal in the way of education and public services to our people that makes it a worthwhile expenditure, and preferable to those states that are so much lower.

I also recognize, however, and I think we all should, that we cannot close our eyes to the taxes placed on business by other states. If we want increasing jobs and payrolls we must put the industry we have in a good competitive position and make it attractive for firms to come to Minnesota — taxwise as well as every other way.

True Then — and — True Now

Ten Things You Cannot Do:

1. You can not bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift.
2. You can not strengthen the weak by weakening the strong.
3. You can not help strong men by tearing down big men.
4. You can not help the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer.
5. You can not further the brotherhood of man by encouraging class hatred.
6. You can not help the poor by destroying the rich.
7. You can not establish sound security on borrowed money.
8. You can not keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn.
9. You can not build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence.
10. You can not help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves.

of Rhyme & Reason

by [illegible]

ONCE UPON A TIME there was a little boy who wanted a little red wagon. All his friends were getting wagons or had wagons of their own and he could find no reason in his childish mind why he should not have a wagon too. If he could only have a wagon he felt his problems would be solved. With the thought that a wagon would keep him occupied and remedy his complaint, his parents purchased the coveted little red wagon.

The little boy was overjoyed with his newly acquired possession and paid a great deal of attention to it. He brought it in the garage at night. He brought it in from outside when it started to rain. But, as in the case of a little boy and a new toy, the novelty wore off before very long. He became careless and left the wagon outside over night and didn't bother to bring it inside when it rained. He left it where he happened to stop playing and neglected to give it proper care.

One night he left the little red wagon, which had begun to show signs of neglect, in the driveway by his home. His father, in a hurry to get to work in the morning, backed his car from the garage and crushed the little red wagon. The boy found that carelessness had cost him the plaything which he had coveted for so long. His parents believed that he did not deserve new toys if he would not take care of them and given them proper attention. He had learned a big lesson—the hard way.

Now a story like this must have a moral—and this one does.

Last year a good deal of effort was placed in securing a small industry for Thief River Falls. The owner of a seed processing plant was convinced that this area could supply his needs. Planning, promotion and coaxing resulted in the location of Farmers Grain & Milling company in this city. The community was happy. It had received what it wanted.

This year the shine has apparently worn off the little red wagon of this particular industry. The community has been guilty of neglect—perhaps unknowingly—but guilty just the same. The interest evidenced last year has faded and this year contracts signed by area farmers have been far under expectations. If we don't show a little more concern and give a little more attention, we could lose our little red wagon.

Giving a child a toy and getting him to care for it are two different things. Getting an industry and keeping it are also two separate problems. Let this little fable be considered a word to the wise . . .

ARE YOU ROAMING IN THE GLOAMING?

When your luck is down and you wear a frown
And you fight the plight you're in;
When your life's no lark and the future's dark
And it seems a sin to grin . . .

Look up, my friend, it's not the end
Of the world lies in store.
This may be the day luck smiles your way —
For it's not been lived before.

Hope moves on like the sun from dawn
To the brightness of high noon.
Don't lose your fight while you yet have light
For the sunset comes too soon.

High School Seniors Are Requested to Apply Now

High school seniors living outside of the Twin City metropolitan area who are planning to attend the University of Minnesota next fall and who desire to live in the University residence halls in the Twin Cities are urged to get their names on the University housing department's reservation list immediately, according to Don L. Finlayson, University housing director.

"Our expanded enrollment and limited housing facilities made housing of outstate students on the campus a real problem last fall," Finlayson said. "We are forced to put the residence hall facilities on a priority basis for next fall, and we want the outstate new students to know that they have the top priority. First, they will be accommodated — then, in the fall, we will find housing for the two metropolitan groups, the students living in areas not served by the buses of Twin Cities Lines, Inc., and lastly, the students living in areas served by the buses.

"However," Finlayson continued "in order to accommodate these three groups as far as possible, it is absolutely imperative that we know, this spring, how many rooms are going to be needed for the outstate students. Students unacquainted with the campus, or with no specific choice, should write directly to the Office of the Director, University Housing Room 108-A, Wesbrook hall, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis 14. Their names will be placed on the reserved list, and they can complete the arrangements when they attend University orientation next summer."

Students now enrolled in the University and living in residence halls will not be affected by these priorities, Finlayson said. They apply only to new students.

Openings Offered in Summer Camps for '63

In spite of wintery blasts and ice-fishing contests, the Minnesota State Employment Service is getting underway with its annual recruitment of counselors and camping specialists for over 250 summer camps in Minnesota.

Virgil Nobles, supervisor in charge of the project for the state department of employment security, said that offices of the state employment service already have requests for over 600 camp positions. He urged college students with camping experience, campcraft skills, or even a strong interest in the out-of-doors, to apply immediately. While a few key positions may not be filled until late spring, the great bulk of the approximately 1500 jobs expected will be selected in the next two months

In addition to regular camp counselors, who are usually assigned a group of younger children to supervise, instructors are also needed to teach a variety of camp subjects: swimming, riding, nature study, arts and crafts, canoeing, music, riflery, athletics, and others. Persons with extensive camping background and administrative ability may qualify as program director, or even camp director.

Besides the program specialists and counselors, hundreds of others are needed for administrative-type jobs such as camp nurses, dieticians, cooks, kitchen help, groundsmen and maintenance people. While the emphasis in recruitment of personnel for camp jobs is made primarily in the state's colleges, other qualified persons are urged to apply.

The average length of camp operation is from eight to ten weeks, and ranges from as short as two weeks, to the entire summer. A few camps open in late May; by Labor Day, things are pretty well battened down for the winter. In between, thousands of Minnesota kids have had the time of their lives, and hundreds of college students have had fun, while they stashed away tuition money.

Some camping groups, especially those near larger towns and cities, now operate "day camps", where children commute from home each day. Another trend is toward weekend camping, especially during spring and fall.

Camps served include those sponsored by YMCA, YWCA, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, church organizations, settlement houses and many other private organizations. Interested applicants are urged to contact any of the 33 local offices of the state employment service.

Don't Shovel Your Way into Heart Spell, Say Medics

Medical Association Tells Public to Beware of Strenuous Exercise

The number of heart attacks caused by shoveling snow is easily explained says the Minnesota State Medical Association, when it is realized that the energy cost of shoveling moderately heavy snow is equal to running at the rate of about 7.5 miles per hour.

Many things associated with cold weather give rise to special difficulties for persons troubled by heart disease. Cold air in itself, associated with exercise, is a particular factor in bringing on angina pectoris (heart pain), and the physical effort involved in walking on a cold day is even more increased by adding heavy winter clothing to one's normal weight.

Winter weather has another hazard for the person with heart disease, namely the forced physical inactivity imposed upon him. Not only is this bad psychologically, says the Association, but probably far more important, it removes the stimulus of physical activity which appears to be one of the most useful means of promoting improved blood supply. It has been found that a person has less heart pain and better exercise tolerance when regular physical exercise is possible.

What sort of advice can be given the man or woman with heart disease who must face our winter weather? First, the association says that they should make certain that they have received influenza vaccine, since respiratory infections can be quite serious when coupled with exhausting heart disease.

Secondly, a relatively good physical fitness program of regulated exercise prescribed by a physician should be followed.

Finally, unusual vigorous physical effort should be avoided — both by persons with, and without, heart disease. In particular, the Association says that shoveling snow and pushing a stalled automobile are not fit activities for the overweight middle-aged or elderly business man.

Common Market Is RRV Shows Theme

Dr. O. B. Jesness to Speak Friday Noon, February 22

The sugarbeet and potato growers of the Red River Valley will gather for a noonday luncheon meeting on Friday, February 22, of Winter Shows week at 12:30 o'clock in the dining hall of the Northwest School, Crookston. The luncheon meeting winds up a morning seminar on sugarbeet research and production and introduces a potato meeting which convenes immediately after the luncheon.

Speaker at the luncheon will be Dr. O. B. Jesness of St. Paul, professor emeritus of the University of Minnesota and a leader of national stature. He will address the group on the subject "The Common Market and the Farmer."

This is another opportunity to hear enlightened and expert opinion and some of the facts regarding a subject that is of special concern to those engaged in the business of agriculture not only in the Red River Valley but anywhere in the nation.

Roche Attends Geriatric Home Meet in Mpls.

J. M. Roche, superintendent of Oakland Park Nursing Home in Thief River Falls, attended a meeting of the Minnesota Association of Geriatric Homes board held Tuesday at the Ramsey County Home in St. Paul. Alvar L. Nelson of the Augustana Home in Minneapolis, presided at the session.

Topics of discussion included the Geriatric Institute to be held May 20 and 2 at the University of Minnesota and the participation of the association in the newly-formed American Association of Homes for the Aging.

Legislative and publicity committees reported on their functions with the legislative committee following bills being presented in the present session of the state legislature.

Direct Payments to Farmers Urged by FU President

Edwin Christianson Speaks February 1 at Red Lake Falls Meeting

Industry, consumers and farmers all will benefit from the trend to use of direct payments in farm support programs, Edwin Christianson, president of Minnesota Farmers Union, said at a midwinter conference for Farmers Union Local officers held February 1st at Red Lake Falls. Christianson said that income payments direct to producers are the most effective way to improve rural community purchasing power.

The state farm leader noted that direct payments are being used for the first time this year on the basic commodities, such as feed grains and wheat, and that he hoped this would set a precedent for use of direct payments on dairy products as well.

"We know that every dollar used in a direct payment support program will be reflected in a dollar's worth of improvement in rural community income," he explained, "For example, a dairy program operated through direct payments would cost no more than the existing program, yet would bring about a $90 million gain in purchasing power for our farmers and their communities."

Farmers attending the session were from Red Lake, Polk, Mahnomen, Norman, Clearwater and Pennington counties.

Christianson urged all producers of feed grains and wheat to become acquainted with the 1962 acreage payment programs, for which the state sign-up opens on February 1.

Industry Exhibit RRV Show Feature

All Space in Arena Is Taken by Northwest Firms

Business and industry have gone all-out to provide variety and interest in the industrial show for the 1963 Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, February 16-22.

While the major part of the show represents industry which directly services agriculture, everything from pianos, sewing machines and items to please the lady of the house will also be found at the 1963 industrial show.

With the space fully allocated inside the Winter Shows arena, Winter Shows officials have received numerous requests for space to display farm equipment out-of-doors adjacent to the Winter Shows facilities. According to V. F. Hodgson, executive director of the Shows, Aid, Inc. will have as their exhibit a model farm with up-to-date planning. Four-wheel-drive tractors will be displayed by at least two different exhibitors.

Visitors to the show as well as exhibitors will be pleased to learn that a special service in the nature of a checkroom for wraps will be available in the balcony of the arena.

Signup Begins for Diversion Program for Feed Grains

Plan Calls for Added Payments, Pennington Co. ASC Office States

Farmers who grew corn, grain sorghum, or barley on their farms in 1959 or 1960 will be interested in the announcement that there is a voluntary diversion program for these grains again in 1963, and the signup period has been set for Feb. 1 through March 22.

Growers who take part in the feed grain program will earn a diversion payment and an extra price-support payment. They will also qualify for regular price-support loans or puchase agreements on their entire 963 production of the feed grain crops.

The ASC county committee chairman suggests that farmers who would like more information about the feed grain program visit the county office at an early date. They will be able to learn details about the program, and the office probably won't be as crowded as toward the end of the signup period.

The 1963 feed grain program, for which the signup period in the ASCS county office will be Feb. 1 through March 22, is the same as last year's. It covers corn, grain sorghum, and barley. It offers diversion payments, and the farmer who participates in the program also qualifies for regular price-support loans or purchase agreements on his crops.

There is an important new feature, though, and that is an extra price-support payment, which will be made on the normal production of the acreage planted to the three feed grains in 1963. This payment is in addition to the regular loan. And it will be made at the same rate throughout the country.

Farmers who are interested should get in touch with the ASCS county office.

Municipal Operation Keeps City Taxes at Lower Rate

Revenues from municipal operations permit the city to maintain an objective budget without an excessive tax load on property owners of the city, stated Dr. A. E. Jacobson, fourth ward alderman, in presenting the Monday noon program for the Thief River Falls Rotary club. Dr. Jacobson was introduced by Morris Goddard program chairman for February.

Jacobson noted that the city government in Thief River Falls is operated under the laws of 1895, a system which basically provides the city council with the power for city operation. This operation is carried out under various departments with a total budget for 1963 of $1,909,778.

The alderman stated that the budget for this year was higher than the $1,886,716 budget for 1962 due to an additional $7,000 for debt service, $5,000 for operation of the planning commission and $12,000 for anticipated increase in purchase of electrical power from the Bureau of Reclamation. Re-sale of the power purchased through the municipal electric system could very well make up the difference in budget total, Dr. Jacobson said.

Included in the budget is $446,000 for the general fund, $191,000 for debt retirement, $764,000 for utilities, $499,000 for the liquor store and $8,895 for trust and other funds. Within the city the total tax levy for 1962, payable in 1963, is 299.20 mills. This includes 41.30 mills for the city, 91.65 mills for the county, 16.85 mills for the state and 149.40 mills for the school district.

"You will notice that our mill levy for city operation is quite low compared to other units of government," the alderman said. "This is possible because of the revenue produced by our municipal operations. Our utilities department gave us a profit of $333,809 last year and the liquor store returned a profit of $83,910. Profit from the utilities is a more equitable way of spreading the burden of city government operation than lower rates and increased mill levy."

Dr. Jacobson also commented on the pay rate for city employees which number about 100 people. Pay is equitable to private occupations in the city which are comparable, he said, with the exception of the police department. This can not be compared to any other occupation here and the pay level is below that of departments in other comparable communities. He advocated a training program for all police personnel to give the patrolmen a thorough knowledge of their occupation and duties.

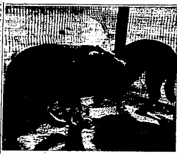
Reference was also made to applications made for federal financial aid on several projects for the city. The council was assured that such aid would be made available if the council asked for it, Dr. Jacobson said. Machinery was put in operation to process the plans and make application, but no satisfaction has yet ben received by the city council from the federal agency. The unsettled situation makes the council's course difficult, he said.

Zion and Trinity Churches To Hold Joint Services

In observance of Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls becoming a member of the American Lutheran church, combined services of Zion and Trinity congregations will be held Sunday at 9 and 10:30 a. m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. Sunday school will be held at 9 and 10:30 a. m. at both churches. Zion congregation was formerly a member of the Lutheran Free church which merged with the American Lutheran church on February 1.

Trinity Fathers and Sons Banquet Set Next Tuesday

The annual Fathers and Sons banquet, sponsored by the Trinity Lutheran church men's group, will be held in the church dining hall next Tuesday evening, February 9 it was announced today by Jon Metusalem, president of the group. Guest speaker will be the Rev. D. J. Augustine, former St. Hilaire pastor and now serving as a missionary in Tanganyika, East Africa.



CELLMATES at the city dog pound when this photo was taken Wednesday morning were these two amiable canines, shown partaking of their morning meal. The pound is provided by the city for pooches whose owners do not comply with the city ordinances concerning confinement to their property. Dogs not claimed after a certain period of time must be destroyed, and pound fees must be paid if dogs are claimed. See the accompanying story for details of the ordinance.

A Word of Warning . . .

Dog Ordinance Is Reviewed by Police

Thief River Falls Police department, through an advertisement recently placed in the Times, reminded dog owners in the city of their responsibilities under city ordinances. The ordinances relate to dogs running at large, licensing, impoundment, disposing of unclaimed dogs, innoculations, creation of a special policeman as dog-catcher, enforcement and penalties. These are covered in the following article.

According to ordinance, "It shall hereafter be unlawful for the owner or keeper of any dog to allow such dog to run at large within the corporate limits of the city of Thief River Falls. Every owner or keeper of any dog shall keep such dog upon the premises of such owner or keeper. . .except when such owner or keeper or other competent person shall have such dog secured by a leash." The ordinance is in effect all year.

Licensing Required

Licenses for dogs kept within the city shall be obtained immediately upon the acquisition of the dog and shall run from the first Monday of April next following the issuance thereof, and shall be procured or renewed on or before the first day of April of each year thereafter.

License fees are set at $2 for males and spayed females and $6 for females and license tags may be secured from the police department. Licenses are to be placed on the collar of the dog and the city clerk is required to keep a record of the license number and a general description of the dog licensed.

The Mayor has the authority to appoint an additional police officer whose special duty shall be to capture and impound any dog running at large and this officer is to receive such compensation as the city council may direct. Wallace Henton, police patrolman, is now assigned to this special duty.

Mabey asked that those who have not yet contributed please do so as quickly as possible, so that the campaign may be completed.

Top Speakers at RRV Shows Announced

Men and women of the Red River Valley will hear fresh ideas and have access to expert opinion as a host of top-flight speakers bring their thinking to seminars, meetings, and discussions at the 1963 Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, February 16 through 22.

Dr. William Rogers of Minneapolis, professor and director of the World Affairs Center at the University of Minnesota, will address the Public Affairs Seminar for women at their noon luncheon on Tuesday, February 19.

On Friday, February 22, Dr. O. B. Jesness, professor emeritus of the University of Minnesota and an internationally recognized scholar, will address a joint meeting of sugar beet growers and potato growers at a noon luncheon to be held at the dining hall of the Northwest School. He will speak on "The Common Market and the Farmer."

Governor Elmer L. Andersen will address the Farm Youth banquet on Saturday evening, February 16. Richard Bowman, chief of the division of agriculture for the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C. will address three different groups in the early part of the Winter Shows week. The Right Reverend Monsignor James P. Shannon, president of the College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, will address the Valley Farmer and Homemaker recognition banquet on February 2 .

A Plant Food Symposium, scheduled for Wednesday, February 20, brings in Wm. P. Martin, head of the department of soil science, University of Minnesota, St. Paul; Richard Powell, director of technical service, International Mineral Corporation, Skokie, Illinois; and L. G. Malthieson, assistant director of sales; nitrogen division, Allied Chemical, New York City.

Citizens of the Valley are urged to set aside time from February 16 through the 22nd to join their neighbors at the Winter Shows. Opportunties are available to visit and to learn through the agricultural and industrial exhibits as well as through the seminars and discussions.

Boss-Employee Banquet Plans Now Complete

Stephen Haugen, NC Airlines Official, To Be The Guest Speaker

Plans are now virtually completed for the annual Boss-Employee Banquet to be held Wednesday, February 20, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars club rooms in Thief River Falls, according to Fred Ballou, banquet committee chairman for the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the event.

Stephen W. Haugen, district traffic and sales representative for North Central Airlines, will be the guest speaker at the banquet, discussing the role of regional airlines in the nation's over-all air transportation system. He will also show the recently-released color movie, "Northliner", the story of regional airline service and operations. It will be the first showing of the film to a Jaycee-sponsored event.

Haugen began his career with North Central as a station agent in Chicago in July of 1959, later serving as agent in International Falls and Wausau, Wis. He was promoted to district traffic and sales representative in April of 1962. Haugen will replace David Moran, assistant vice president in charge of traffic and sales for the airlines, who was originally scheduled to address the banquet but was called for jury duty in Minneapolis.

Tickets are now on sale from the Jaycees ticket committee headed by Kenneth Taylor and may be secured from committee members or by calling at the Falls Jewelry store. Tickets will be two dollars each to the all-stag banquet. A social hour from 5:45 to 6:45 p. m. will precede the banquet which starts promptly at 7 p. m.

Three major Jaycee awards will be presented at the banquet to the Outstanding Young Man, Outstanding Boss and Outstanding Young Farmer of the community. Special musical entertainment will be provided by Jerry Joringdal at the piano.

State President of Eagles Lodge Is Here Saturday

George Martinson, Duluth, state president of the Eagles Lodge, was a special guest at the district meeting held Saturday evening in Thief River Falls. More than 500 persons attended the 22nd annual supper held following the district meeting.

Delegates to the district business session came from Hallock, East Grand Forks and Crookston in addition to Thief River Falls. A dance followed the supper with a large crowd in attendance.

Legal Work Approved for School Bond Vote

Stage Is Set for Special Election on Building Plan

Adoption of a resolution arranging the legal requirements for presentation of the school bond election on March 5 was accomplished by the Thief River Falls board of education at its regular monthly meeting Monday evening at Lincoln high school. Polls will be open from 4:30 to 9 p. m. on March 5 for voting on two questions of new school construction.

First question on the two-part ballot will be: "Shall the school board of Independent School District No. 564, Minnesota, be authorized to borrow money and issue the negotiable coupon general obligation bonds of the district in an amount not exceeding $1,195,000 for the acquisition and betterment of a junior high school?"

Second part of the ballot will state: "If the authority requested under question No. 1 above is granted, shall the school board of Independent School District No. 564, Minnesota, be further authorized to borrow additional money and issue the negotiable coupon general obligation bonds of the district in an amount not exceeding $300,000 for the acquisition and betterment of an elementary school and for the betterment of existing school buildings?"

Polling place for the election will be Room 111 in Lincoln high school. Judges for the election approved Monday evening were Wilbert Maves, J. M. Roche and Mrs. R. J. Dryden. The board will meet as a canvassing board following the election to canvass the votes. They will also meet at 8 p. m. that evening for discussion of teacher salaries with the salary committee of the local MEA chapter.

Voting Explained

Approval of the two-question ballot was given at a previous meeting of the board to give voters an opportunity to express their opinion on school construction. The second question on the ballot can be approved only if the first question on the ballot is given voter approval.

Voters cannot cast their ballots for an elementary school at the $300,000 figure quoted unless they first favor the $1,195,000 figure for a junior high school. Reason for this is that the elementary con-

Youth Problems Will Be Aired at Workshop Saturday

District PTA Sponsors Juvenile Protection Event at Local School

Problems of youth will be principal items of discussion at a Juvenile Protection Workshop to be held Saturday from 1 to 3:45 p. m. at Washington elementary school in Thief River Falls. The workshop is sponsored by District 17 of the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers and is designed to bring the problem of youth directly to the local level and determine what can be done about it.

Herman Kjos, judge of probate and juvenile court in Pennington county, will serve as moderator for a panel discussion. The session is open to all interested persons who wish to attend and no registration fee will be charged.

Mrs. Sigurd Folkedahl, rural Thief River Falls, heads District 17 of the PTA and notes that each panel member will discuss juvenile problems from his own particular viewpoint. Questions from persons attending will be permitted following the panel presentation.

Problems to be discussed are school drop-outs and the resulting unemployment of youth and its social impact, neglect of youth within the family and community and its social implications, delinquency, sex offenses and teenage marriages and probation, social welfare aids to youth and present and future needs.

Other persons serving on the panel will be Judge Philip Anderson, Crookston, educational director of Minnesota Juvenile court judges; M. R. Hankerson, Thief River Falls superintendent of schools; R. S. Eldevik, manager of the Minnesota Employment office in Thief River Falls; Warren Johnson, Crookston, district case supervisor for the Youth Conservation Commission; and Emil Bagley, Crookston, director of the Polk county welfare office.

S. Eldevik, secretary. The business session will begin at 6 p. m., followed by the banquet at 7. John Peterson is serving as chairman of the banquet, while Harold Storhaug heads the auditing committee and Ed Langlie the nominating committee.

C of C Board Has Active Meeting Tuesday Evening

Endorses School Issue, Seeks Support of Stand On NC Airline Service

Support of the school bond issue and proposals was given by the board of directors of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce at a board meeting held Tuesday evening in the Chamber of Commerce office. The board went on record favoring the bond issue and proposals.

In an attempt to strengthen the position previously taken by the Chamber of Commerce in opposition to Convair service by North Central Airlines, the board has written letters to Rep. Odin Langen and Senators Hubert Humphrey and Eugene McCarthy.

Rudy Mehlhoff, representing the Thief River Falls arena development committee, presented to the board a summary of the activities of that group. Randall Noper and Roger Tunberg were named to represent the Chamber of Commerce at further meetings of the committee and to work with the group on solving the problems of management and the physical plant.

Standing committee reports were given by liaison directors and it was noted that 47 sub-committees have been formed to handle various activities during the year. Current projects include the Winter Shows delegation, Institute on American Organization, Washington's Birthday retail promotion and annual meeting of Jobs, Inc. It was reported that dues collection has been good and that those who have not paid their dues to date are urged to do so as soon as possible.

Two Muzzy Holsteins Rate "Excellent"

Two registered Holstein cows in the James Muzzy herd near Thief River Falls were placed in the elite "Excellent" classification of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America as a result of inspection by an official classifier from the national association Wednesday.

Roger Denney, one of five full-time classifiers employed by the national Holstein organization, conducted the classification at the Muzzy farm. In addition to the two cows rating "Excellent", the Muzzy herd contained eight "Very Good", 12 'Good Plus" and three "Good" rated cows. Muzzy's herd contains 25 registered animals of milking age.

Cattle are rated on general appearance, dairy character, body capacity, mammory system, feet and legs and rump. The rating comparison is made with the "ideal" Holstein-Friesian cow with a point system determining the placing. Herds are also placed as units on a Breed Age Average—considering point totals for individual Cows according to their age on a calibrated chart.

Last year the Muzzy herd ranked sixth among well over 100 registered herds classified in Minnesota with a Breed Age Average of 104.5. This year the BAA score has increased to 105.3. In 1961 the figure was 103.2, indicating the annual progress made in increasing the conformity of the herd to true Holstein type.

The two animals rating excellent were also classified as excellent in 1962, but both were raised in point total. Mar-Ridge Smoky Lorraine, a five-year-old which placed second at the International Dairy Cattle Congress in Waterloo, Ia., in 1961, was moved up two points to a point total of 94. Highest point total ever accorded an animal is believed to be 96 and some of the largest and best Holstein herds in the nation have top cows with comparative 94 point placing.

According to records of the Holstein-Friesian association, only eight-tenths of one per cent of all cows tested are rated excellent. That's less than one in 1,000. The second animal rated excellent in the Muzzy herd is Augenguile Sovereign Noelle, a seven-year-old cow which was raised to a 92 point placing.

Indicating that type and production are related, Noelle topped the Muzzy herd last year with a record of 755 pounds of butterfat. This year Smoky Lorraine has produced 375 pounds of butterfat in her first 160 days of lactation and is expected to surpass the 600 pound mark with ease. Noelle had a 4.9 per cent butterfat test and Smoky Lorraine had a 4.5 per cent test. Both cows have been serviced to excellent classified bulls through Curtiss Breeding Service.

CLASSIFIED excellent by the Holstein-Friesian association Wednesday was Mar-Ridge Smoky Lorraine, a five-year-old cow owned by James Muzzy of rural Thief River Falls. The animal was given a rating of 94 points, placing her among the top cows in the nation for conformity to type. A second place winner at the International Dairy Cattle Congress in Waterloo, Ia., in 1961, she has produced 375 pounds of butterfat through the first 160 days of her third lactation. Shown left to right with the cow are Muzzy; J. J. Womack, president of Union State Bank who was invited to view the classification procedure; and Roger Denney, one of five full-time official classifiers for the American Holstein-Friesian association of Brattleboro, Vt.

Marilyn Y. Fortier Weds Harold Froehle in Oklee

Miss Marilyn Fortier of Oklee exchanged vows on January 26 with Harold Froehle of this city at St. Francis Catholic church in Oklee. Rev. Paul Cardin used the double-ring ceremony at the morning wedding, and celebrated the nuptial High Mass. The altar was decorated with white carnations and mums. Sacred music was furnished by Sylvia Remick of Oklee at the organ.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ethel Fortier and the late Mr. Fortier of Oklee. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Froehle of this city.

Giving the bride in marriage was her brother-in-law, Donald Magnell. She wore a floor-length gown of Italian silk with a bodice of lace over silk, with a sequin-accented neckline. A bow marked the waistline in back, and the skirt fell below it into a chapel train. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of pink roses.

Attending the bride were her sister, Elaine Fortier, as maid of honor, and Betty French of Minneapolis as bridesmaid. They wore bell-shaped street-length dresses of Kelly green velveteen, featuring long sleeves. Their veiled velveteen pillbox hats and their shoes matched their gowns. They carried dark and light pink roses and carnations.

Tom Froehle of Grand Forks, N. D. attended his brother as best man. Groomsman was Kenneth Froehle of Bemidji, another brother, while a third brother, David Froehle of this city, and Kenneth Olson seated the guests.

Mrs. Fortier selected a gray dress with over-jacket. Her corsage was of red and white roses and carnations. Mrs. Froehle was attired in a beige dress. She too wore a corsage of red and white roses and carnations.

After the ceremony, a wedding dinner and reception were given by the bride's mother. Held in the church parlors, the affair was attended by 100 guests from Grand Forks, N. D., Thief River Falls, St. Cloud, Minneapolis, Bowlus, and Brainerd, Minn.

The newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Duluth and northern Wisconsin, Mrs. Froehle choosing a sheath dress of red wool for her travel outfit. She wore a white corsage of roses and carnations.

The bride, a graduate of Oklee high school, was employed as a claims auditor at Aetna Casualty and Insurance Co., Minneapolis. Her husband, a graduate of Lincoln high school of this city, is a senior at St. John's university, Collegeville. They are at home at 325 Raymond Ave. N. E., St. Cloud.

Elaine's

CHATTER

Only in America could it happen, just think if women took over the government, you can be sure that some changes would be made.

For instance, how about changing the glue on postage stamps? Strawberry and Raspberry would taste good . . . lemon for unpleasant letters. Anything would be better than what we have, especially after the raise in postage rates.

A woman would make gov't. spending in plain round figures and leave off the zeros. One could just put "M" for a million and "B" for billion; after all, when we have so many zeros, it doesn't make much difference. (Does anyone know how much a billion is? If your interested, let me know and I'll print it in very plain figures that are understandable, you'd be surprised)

If women were in both houses for our Gov't. there would have to be a time limit on filibustering, or it would go on forever, and so could this and we do want you to look below:

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Taxeraas Observe Golden Wedding

Honored at a 50th anniversary open house on Sunday, February 10, were Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Taxeraas of this city. The observance was held at Zion Lutheran church parlors, and the couple received approximately 150 guests. Out of town relatives attending were mainly from Argyle, and several attended from Grand Forks, N. D.

Mrs. T. C. Thorson was mistress of ceremonies for the program, with devotions, Bible reading and prayer led by Clifford Vigness. A resume of the couple's courtship and married life was presented by Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen. Charles Jones recalled for the gathering a humorous incident in the life of the couple. Two duets were sung by Bonnie and Nancy Dicken, who offered, "Tell Me The Old, Old Story," and "Great Is Thy Faithfulness." Mrs. Taxeraas received a corsage of yellow roses, and her spouse of a half-century received a yellow rose boutonniere. Money, and a host of other gifts and cards were presented them.

The centerpiece which graced the serving table was of gold mums with gilded leaf sprays for accent. It was presented as a gift by the Union State Bank. Flanking it were gold tapers. The anniversary cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Gil Sannes, was decorated in pink with green accents. In the form of an open Bible, it featured fresh yellow roses sprays on one page, and a message of congratulations on the facing page.

Lunch was served by the Eunice Circle of the church, the unit to which Mrs. Taxeraas belongs. All the women's groups contributed food items. Mrs. Robert Erickson and Mrs. G. Stromsmoe poured.

The honored guests were married at Devil's Lake, N. D. in 1913, by the Reverend Barron. They lived at Crary, N. D. until 1927, at which time they moved to Thief River Falls. They were the parents of one son, Carl, and are the grandparents of Sharon Taxeraas, who is married and the mother of their four great-grandchildren, and resides at Hayden Lake, Idaho, and of Steven, a senior at Lincoln high school, who makes his home with them.

Lions Told about Dist. Conference Plans by Parkins

Club Votes to Sponsor Boy Scout Exposition In TRF During Spring

Final arrangements for the Lions midwinter district conference to be held this weekend in Thief River Falls were outlined by James Parkins, general chairman, at the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon. He urged members to extend a cordial welcome to visiting Lions. He also noted that the occasion will mark the 25th anniversary of the local club.

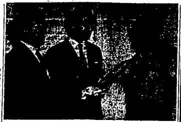
Following a presentation of the proposal by Ed Bilek, field scout executive, the club voted to serve as sponsor of a one-day district indoor Boy Scout exposition to be held this spring in Thief River Falls. Bilek said scouts from the area north from here to the Canadian border will demonstrate their skills and activities. Further details will be arranged at a meeting in Grand Forks February 25.

In its business session the club voted to contribute up to $50 to share in the cost of sending a high school student overseas this summer under the auspices of the American Field Service. Richard Edlund, Lincoln high school principal who made the request, stated that names of candidates from the school have been submitted to the New York headquarters of the field service, and that a final selection will be made shortly.

Northrop PTA to View Film Monday

The Northrup PTA unit will meet Monday evening, February 18, in the school gym. The program which will begin promptly at 8:00, will include a film strip entitled, "Your Child's Intelligence". A question-and-answer period will follow the film presentation, with Orni Johnson, junior high school guidance counselor, on hand to answer the queries.

A business meeting will follow the program, and the evening's activities will conclude with the serving of lunch.



CHARTER presentation to Cub Scout Pack 60 at Trinity Lutheran church was made at the Blue & Gold banquet attended by more than 250 persons in the church basement Tuesday evening. Making the presentation was Morris Owen, right, representing the Lake Agassiz Boy Scout Council as executive board member. Acceptance was made by George Stockman, left, pack committee chairman, and Jon Metusalem, president of the Trinity Lutheran Churchmen, sponsoring organization for Pack 60.

Co-Chairmen Are Named In Hospital Auxiliary Here

Mrs. J. J. Womack and Mrs. Norman Peterson Will Head Organization

Mrs. J. J. Womack, past president, and Mrs. Norman Peterson, vice president, were named co-chairmen of the Northwestern Hospital auxiliary at a meeting of the auxiliary board of directors held recently at the hospital. The two will serve until the annual election in the fall.

Mrs. Gordon Dow is secretary of the organization with Mrs. Otto Stenberg as treasurer. Committees established include the following with their respective chairmen: Mrs. Everett Amundgaard, hospitality; Mrs. J. J. Womack and Mrs. Gordon Dow, gift shop; Mrs. Russell Embury and Mrs. L. L. Tygeson, gift cart; Mrs. Fred Sorensen, candystriper program; Mrs. J. W. Mullen, magazine distribution; Mrs. Otto Stenberg, finance; Mrs. Sig Sinding, program; Mrs. George Van Rooy, membership; Mrs. L. B. Hartz and Mrs. Gunder Legvold, public relations; and Mrs. H. G. Halverson, puppets.

Mrs. Halverson announced that arrangements had been made at the hospital to have the cafeteria room available for puppet making every Tuesday afternoon. Auxiliary members and interested friends are urged to attend the work sessions to construct puppets for giving to hospitalized youngsters.

To celebrate the 10th anniversary of the local auxiliary unit, it was decided by the board to hold a luncheon with entertainment on March 23. All auxiliary members and friends in Thief River Falls and surrounding communities who would like to help with auxiliary projects will be encouraged to attend.

Soo Line Credit Union Will Hold Annual Meeting

Union Ends 1962 With $265,985 Assets; New Officers To Be Named

Ninth annual meeting of the Soo Line Employes Credit Union with headquarters in Thief River Falls has been set for Tuesday, March 19, at 7:30 p. m. in the Eagles hall in this city. Two directors, three supervisory committeemen and three credit committeemen are to be elected by the members.

Report of the treasurer at the end of 1962 showed total assets of $265,985 and a loan balance of $246,718 with actual membership totaling 482. A dividend of four per cent has been declared on shares by the board of directors and a 10 per cent interest refund to borrowers has been authorized.

Voting will be held on a change in the by-laws to permit election of supervisory and credit committees next year on a staggered-term basis. This would permit the election of only one member to each of these committees each year and provide continuity of experienced personnel on the committees.

A smorgasbord lunch will be served at the close of the evening's program.

Police Review Provisions of Dog Ordinance

pound are to be kept with kind treatment for at least one week unless sooner reclaimed by their owner. Dogs will be released to the owners upon the payment of two dollars plus 50 cents per day for each day the dog has been confined in excess of two days.

"At the expiration of one week from the time any dog is impounded," the ordinance states, "if the same has not yet been reclaimed, the police officer shall cause such dog to be killed and shall properly dispose of the remains thereof."

It is the duty of the dog catcher to pay to the city treasurer monthly all money received for pound fees and to keep a record of the dogs impounded and times they are released or destroyed.

All dogs, as well as cats or other animals capable of contracting rabies, must be inoculated against rabies by a duly qualified veterinarian or person acting under his supervision. Inoculations are to be repeated not less than one year thereafter and must bear proof of such inoculations. Any animal in the city, whether running at large or not, not bearing such proof may be impounded.

If by reason of wildness or ferocity the special police officer is unable to capture any such animal not bearing such proof, he is authorized to summarily kill the animal by firearms or whatever other means he deems necessary, the ordinance states. The special officer is also empowered to enter upon private premises for the purpose of enforcing the dog ordinance.

Persons violating the ordinance are subject to a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than $50 or by imprisonment for a term not to exceed 60 days.

School District Board Approves Bond Procedure

struction would not be a complete unit in itself. It would be served by the same heating plant, cafeteria and gymnasium as the junior high school — all of the costs of which are included in the junior high school question.

Information on school needs and explanation of planned construction will be prepared and mailed to all property owners in the district. Appointed to a committee for preparing these facts were Robert Bredeson, Lloyd Howick and John Burtnes. No public meetings are being planned by the board of education since very few citizens attended such meetings prior to the first bond election last year.

Other Business

In other board action Monday, approval was given to a contract with the Mahnomen school district for $913.75 in aid from the Mahnomen district to enable one of their students to participate in the local program for the blind. A lease for rental of the Falls Hotel space for architectural drafting at a rate of $135 per month ($1,620 per year) was also approved.

Written into board policy was a motion that the school band should be sent to state tournaments to accompany Lincoln high school athletic teams. Supt. M. R. Hankerson was instructed to notify Henry Panek that board policy will not permit the school bus to travel his half-mile driveway to pick up his kindergarten pupil. Panek had made this request of the board.

Teacher salary schedules were discussed but tabled to the March 5 meeting of the board with the teachers' salary committee.

EXCELLENT classification was awarded to Augenguile Sovereign Noelle, a seven-year-old Holstein cow from the James Muzzy herd, in an official Holstein-Friesian association classification Wednesday. The cow rated a point total of 92 and during her last lactation produced 755 pounds of butterfat to top the Muzzy herd of 25 registered milking animals. Pictured with the animal are Muzzy at the left and Jerry Hamre, assistant herdsman at the farm.

and governor. He was chairman of the board of governors of District "A" and also a member of the executive council of the Board of Governors of Lions International.

Included in the banquet program for which Norman Peterson will be master of ceremonies, will be group singing of "America" and "O Canada", toasts to the President and the Queen, invocation by Phil Kays, one minute of silence for world peace, musical selection by Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Ulseth accompanied by Jerry Joringdal, introduction of guests, address of welcome by Mayor Orin Green of Thief River Falls and benediction by Phil Kays.

Sunday activities will open with a breakfast at the American Legion club rooms followed by discussion groups at 9 a. m. At 12:30 p. m. a dinner will be served for Lions at the American Legion and a dinner for the ladies will be held at 12:30 p. m. at the Elks club rooms.

Mrs. Sig Quam will serve as mistress of ceremonies for the ladies dinner program with the invocation to be given by Mrs. Norman Peterson. Mayor Orin Green will give the welcome and special guests will be introduced. Mrs. Helen Martin, Portage La Prairie, Canada, will present a few words of appreciation from the visitors and the program will be under the direction of Bruce Hall. A novelty gift presentation is planned.

Jobs, Inc., Will Hold Annual Meet

Annual meeting of Jobs, Inc., will be held Friday evening, February 22, at the Elks club rooms in Thief River Falls with guest speakers to be Andrew Skaar, state representative, and Harveydale Maruska, state senator. Officers will be elected, activities report given, sales tax movie shown and general discussion held.

Mrs. F. Bothman Services Held At St. Hilaire Feb. 9

Funeral services for Mrs. Frank J. Bothman, age 73, lifelong resident of rural St. Hilaire, who passed away February 5, at Chanhassen, Minnesota, were held Saturday, February 9, 2 p.m. at The American Lutheran church of St. Hilaire. Rev. Lawrence Winter and Lay Pastor Otto Baker officiated; Sinding's Funeral Chapel was in charge of arrangements.

Esther Weberg Bothman was born in Rocksbury Twp. Dec. 12, 1889, and attended rural school there. She was a lifetime member of Tarna Lutheran Church, and a member of the ladies aid. On September, 1918, she was married to Frank J. Bothman at St. Hilaire and they made their home in that community until the present time.

Survivors include her husband Frank J., two daughters and five sons: (Evelyn) Mrs. Richard Mundinger, Chanhassen, Minn.; (Alice) Mrs. Donald Kisslinger, Minneapolis; (Henry) Thief River Falls; Stanley Rosalia, Wash.; Raymond and Earl of Fairfield, Wash.; Russel, St. Hilaire; three sisters and three brothers: Mrs. Ann Larson, Grand Forks, N. D.; Mrs. Mabel Dickerson, Jamestown, N. D.; Ida Weberg and Albert Weberg of E. Grand Forks; Oscar Weberg, Larrimore, N.D.; and Carl Weberg, Thief River Falls; as well as eight grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by one sister and two brothers.

Nellie Greibrok Rites Here Today; Died Sunday at 83

Nellie G. Greibrok, a former resident of this community, died at Minneapolis on Sunday evening, February 10 at the age of 83.

Funeral services are being conducted here today (Thursday) at 1:30 p. m. in the Green Funeral Chapel. Rev. Milton Wilson will officiate, and interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

She was born in Satersdal, Norway, on March 12, 1879, and came to America with her parents in 1885, at the age of 6. The family settled in Crookston, and she attended school and grew to womanhood there. She accompanied her family to Marshall county while still a young woman and settled with them on a farm in Excell township. They lived there for several years, before moving to Minneapolis.

Surviving are two sisters, Miss Anna Greibrok of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Thora Bang of Crookston. She was preceded in death by two sisters and five brothers.

Rites Held At Lancaster For Ingvald Anderson

Last rites for Ingvald Anderson of Middle River were held on Friday, February 8, at Zion Lutheran church at Lancaster. Rev. Carrol Anderson officiated, and interment took place in the Lancaster cemetery. Arrangements were by Collins Funeral Home of Middle River.

In failing health for several months, Mr. Anderson died at the Greenbush hospital on Sunday, February 3, at the age of 60. He was born in Juneberry, Minn., on March 31, 1893, attending school and reaching maturity at Alexandria, and serving with the US Army in World War I.

He moved to Lancaster as a young man, and lived there for many years. He married Miss Elizabeth Docken at Hallock on October 23, 1930. They lived at Lancaster for several years, also residing for a time at Halma and Roseau, and since 1956 they have made their home in Middle River.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Max (Myrtle) Finney of Anoka, and Miss Joann Anderson of Middle River; four sons, Morris and John of Butte, Mont.; Donald, Boston, Mass., and Duane, of Middle River.

Also surviving are 13 grandchildren, two brothers, and three sisters. One brother and three sisters preceded him in death.

Louis Morisette, Lately of RL Falls, Buried At Argyle

Louis A. Morisette of Red Lake Falls died at St. John's hospital in that city on February 8 at the age of 88 years.

Funeral services were held on Monday, February 11, at St. Rose de Lima Catholic church in Argyle, and burial took place in the church cemetery. Carlsen-Collins Funeral Home of Argyle handled the arrangements.

Mr. Morisette was born on November 11, 1874, at Charles City, Iwoa, coming with his parents at the age of 5 to Marshall county, and settling near Argyle. He attended school and grew to manhood there. On February 22 he was united in marriage to Miss Belle Charbonneau at Argyle. They made their home there until 1948 when they moved to Oklee, and for the past three years they lived in Red Lake Falls.

Surviving are his wife; three sons, Philip, of Grand Rapids, Minn.; Adler, Oklee; and Edwin, Spiritwood, S. D.; and six daughters, Mrs. E. L. (Cecelia) Jorgenson of Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Roland (Dora) Brouillard, Argyle; Mrs. Melvin (Florence) James, Portland, Oregon, Mrs. Frank (Josephine) Rische, Sauk Centre; Mrs. Ernie (Rene) Vogel, Valley City, N. D., and Mrs. Albin (Lea) Ignowski of Lake Andy, S. D. Also surviving are 25 grandchildren and 35 great-grandchildren.

Four sons and a daughter preceded him in death.

Rites In St. Paul For C. Hallstrom, Former Resident

Funeral services for Clarence Hallstrom, former city resident, who died in St. Paul February 4, after an illness of several months, were held there on February 7. Rev. Ralph Lindquist officiated, and interment was in the Roselawn cemetery in that city.

Mr. Hallstrom, who was 53 years of age at the time of his death, was born in Black River, moving to St. Hilaire, where he attended and graduated from high school. In 1935 he married Marie Anderson in a rural church near St. Hilaire. They lived in that community and later in Thief River Falls, Starbuck, and Glenwood, before moving to St. Paul in 1955.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Peter (Janice) Steverwald of Minneapolis, and Miss Karen Hallstrom of St. Paul. One sister, Lilly Sorvig of Red Lake Falls, and two grandchildren also survive.

4-H Leaders' Council Has Varied Business

Demonstration and discussion on fire safety were provided by Roy Langevin, Thief River Falls fire chief, and Patrick Barry, state deputy fire marshal, at the regular meeting of the Pennington county 4-H leaders' council last week in the city auditorium.

Each club was notified that it must report by the March council meeting if it is to have an entry in the one-act play contest. Dates for the contest will be selected at the March council meeting.

March 9 was the date selected for the county "Favorite Foods" show to be held in the city auditorium. All 4-H members enrolled in foods, food preservation and home improvement - family living are urged to participate in the event.

On Saturday, March 2, advanced holders of the home improvement-family living project will have an opportunity to learn first hand the selection and purchasing of various styles of furniture. A trip to Winnipeg, Man., Canada, will be available to the project members, it was announced at the meeting.

Again this year the share-the-fun contest will be held in conjunction with the one-act play contest to save on expense and time in securing judges and facilities. Any musical number, dramatic, folk or square dance number, novelty stunt or skit will qualify for the contest.

Accompanists need not be club members but this is preferable. Participants in one act may be from different clubs but each act must be sponsored by a specific club. A six-minute time limit is set on each act and any club can enter one or two acts. If more potential acts are situated within the club, the club must decide which acts will be entered in the county contest.

Mrs. Silas Hanson, Robert Parnow, Mrs. James Muzzy and MRS. Clarence Anderson volunteered to take part in a leader training meeting for safety and automotive projects which will be held March 12.

Standard Oil Foundation, Inc., has provided assistance with leader training in the 4-H tractor and machinery project. Leaders wishing to take this training to develop the program in their clubs are asked to notify the extension office.

Dates of coming events were listed as follows: Conservation Camp, June 5-9; Health Camp, June 9-13; Dairy Day, June 11; Crookston Club Week, June 17-21; and Junior Leadership Conference, June 25-28. Bernard Myers, adult leader of the Silverton 4-H club, reported on the agronomy conference he attended in December.

Minnesota Twins to Admit School Patrols to Games

Cal Griffith, president of the Minnesota Twins, extended a personal invitation today to the more than 30,000 school safety patrol members of the state to be his guests at home games of the Twins during the coming season.

Griffith's invitation was the Twin's method of commemorating School Safety Patrol Week, February 17-24.

Last year, more than 12,000 boys and girls of the school safety patrol were guests of the Minnesota Twins baseball team at games in Metropolitan stadium through efforts of sponsors such as the American Legion, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Chamber of Commerce, and other service organizations.

Sponsors desiring to have their patrol members attend games should begin making arrangements now through George Kaisersatt, State Safety Chairman of the American Legion, at Farmington, Minn., according to Griffith.

Legion Auxiliary To Take Part in RFE Fund Drive

Radio Free Europe Wil Benefit from Donations Made Here February 18

Thief River Falls unit of the American Legion Auxiliary will take an active part in the 13th annual Radio Free Europe fund drive, according to Mrs. Victor Kalinoski, local Crusade for Freedom chairman. The campaign will be held Monday, February 18, with booths to be set up in Northern and Union State banks to receive donations.

Since the inception of Radio Free Europe in 1950, the American Legion auxiliary has supported the organization. RFE broadcasts factual news and information to 80 million people behind the iron curtain in East Europe.

"Radio Free Europe is a private, non-profit, American organization which concentrates all its efforts on broadcasting to the Soviet dominated people of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria," Mrs. Kalinoski said. "The broadcasts are transmitted on several frequencies simultaneously to break through Soviet jamming attempts, and it has been proven that RFE gets through these jamming attempts 90 per cent of the time."

All funds collected will be used to maintain the 28 powerful transmitters and relay stations of RFE and to increase their effectiveness in bringing to people in these countries the world-wide news they are denied by their governments.

"The American Legion auxiliary of this city believes that it is the duty of every American citizen to support Radio Free Europe's fight against communist propaganda," Mrs. Kalinoski said. "Only by the support of many individual Americans can we of the free world demonstrate our determination to win the struggle against communism."

Angell Clarifies News Item About Texaco Station

Clayton Angell, operator of Clayton's Texaco Service in Thief River Falls, has asked the Times to clarify a news item which appeared in the February 7 issue of this paper. The item noted that Mr. and Mrs. Neil McKechnie have purchased the station from Joseph Welch of Crookston and Merickel estate of Wadena.

Angell notes that he will continue as sole operator of the business under his franchise granted by the Texaco company. Mr. and Mrs. McKechnie have purchased only the building and its three lots of real estate at the intersection of Main av. N. and Sixth st. The station will be completely reconditioned as soon as weather permits and the driveway will be resurfaced.

Local Guardsman Going to Alaska

2d Lt. Warren Larson to Receive Winter Training

Minnesota Army National Guardsmen will be flown to McChord Air Force Base, Washington, by the Twin City based Air National Guard and on to Alaska by the U. S Air Force, to attend a six-weeks winter operations and ski instructor course at Fort Greely, near Fairbanks. The group of 30 guardsmen will leave from the Air Guard ramp, Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport at 9:30 a. m. February 15. Included is Second Lt. Warren D. Larson of Company D, Thief River Falls.

This is the second group of Minnesota Guardsmen taking the course. The first group began their training January 5 and finish their course Friday.

The guardsmen are being trained to serve as commanders, staff officers and instructors of winter operations in northern and mountainous regions.

Courses studied include the military significance, climatic conditions, and geographic conditions of these regions. The more physical courses will be those covering special tactics, logistics, and equipment. They will be trained on special techniques in using standard equipment, field living and operating under winter conditions, and snowshoe and military skiing instruction techniques.

The course will be completed March 30.

National Head of NFO Will Speak Here on March 2

Oren Lee Staley, national president of the National Farmers Organization, will be the guest speaker at an area meeting of the NFO to be held Saturday, March 2, at the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls. Pennington, Polk and Red Lake county units are included in the area covered by the meeting.

Attending a recent NFO meeting at Erskine were Ervin Beyer, Dorothy, newly-elected Red Lake county chairman; Herbert Walter, Plummer; and Albert Kotrba, Goodridge. Ed Pudwell, national staff organizer from Hibbing, spoke to the group and announced a charter meeting of the Pennington county organization for Thursday, Feb. 14, at 8 p. m. in the Rex Cafe.

The charter meeting will include a chart explanation of organizational aims and goals of the NFO by Hobert Gundy, staff organizer. Anyone desiring further information may contact Gundy Tuesday through Thursday at the Pennington Hotel or at his home at Hibbing.

Argyle Girl Wins Marshall County Spelling Contest

Sharon Zabinski, an eighth grade student in the Argyle public schools, has been named champion of the Marshall county spelling contest held in the Marshall county courthouse Saturday morning. It was announced by John O. Pearson, Marshall county Superintendent of schools.

Young Miss Zabinski will represent Marshall county at the Red River Valley spelling contest to be held at Crookston on Wednesday and at the Minneapolis Tribune spelling bee finals in Minneapolis April 20.

Agnes Garthune, an eighth grade student representing the Viking school, placed second in the contest and Mandy Halvorson, also an eighth grade student and representing the Newfolden school, placed third. Oslo's champion speller, Patsy Nordling, a sixth grade student, placed fourth and Allan Nelson, an eighth grader from Stephen, was fifth.

Grygla Shipping Ass'n. to Hold Annual Meeting

Annual meeting of the Grygla Cooperative Shipping association will be held Friday, March 1, at 1:30 p. m. in the Mar-Bel Hall at Grygla, according to Arnold Stanley, secretary-treasurer of the association. Carl L. Spong of Central Livestock Cooperative will be the guest speaker.

"Meat on the Move", a colored film on the meat processing industry which has recently been released, will be shown at the session. Business will include the reports of officers and the election of two directors to fill the expired terms of Arnold Stanley and Clarence Peterson.

Present officers and directors of the association are A. J. Anderson, president; Roy W. Anderson, vice president; Arnold Stanley, secretary-treasurer; Paul Saurdiff, trucker-manager; Tom Smith and Clarence Peterson, directors.

Applications for 'New' Allotments on Wheat Due

Spring wheat area growers who intend to plant wheat on a farm which has no wheat allotment have until March 1 in which to file an application for a 1963 "new farm" allotment, according to A. E. Strandquist, manager, Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office. Applications should be filed at the county office.

A "new farm" under the wheat allotment program is one for which a "zero" allotment or no allotment at all was established in each of the 3 years, 1960, 1961 and 1962.

The "new farm" provisions furnish a means of providing allotments for wheat farmers who have regular rotations calling for wheat, for operators who have produced wheat in the past but have lost possession of a farm, and for farmers who are just starting as independent producers.

Any producer who has a wheat allotment on any other farm or shares in an allotment on any other farm is not eligible to apply.

Charlson To Talk At Knox PTA on Monday Evening

C. L. Charlson, local attorney, will review the local school situation and discuss the forthcoming bond issue election at the regular meeting of the Knox elementary school Parent and Teacher association in Thief River Falls Monday at 8 p. m., according to Joe Forberg, program chairman.

Questions on the proposal will be answered at the meeting and all members and others interested are urged to attend. "Only by being informed on the question and having their questions answered can the voters feel qualified to express a valid opinion by their votes," the program chairman said.

Union Members Honor Melvin Langevin

Honoring Melvin Langevin, a member of Drivers' local 664, who has been incapacitated for several weeks due to a stroke, a group of his fellow-drivers presented him with a table radio at Northwestern Hospital Monday night. Lloyd VeVea, representing the group, made the presentation "in recognition of a job well done," and in the nature of wishes for a speedy recovery.

Rep. Langen Lauds Beets Expansion

Says New Drayton Plant Will Aid Valley Economy

Congressman Langen said in Washington Saturday that "the many years of hard work and dedication by many people throughout the Red River Valley area has finally resulted in favorable action that will permit a new sugar processing factory at Drayton, N. D. This action was made possible by sugar legislation that was enacted by the Congress in the last session".

Langen said that the legislative action was accomplished only after several extensions of the existing sugar act and effective work by members of Congress and sugar beet growers and development organizations. He emphasized that this accomplishment is an indication of the need and possibility for further favorable recognition of the great potential that the Red River Valley has in the production of sugar, a very vital commodity.

Langen's statement was prompted by the announcement by the department of agriculture that 31,000 acres estimated to yield about 50,000 short tons raw value of sugar has been allocated to farms and farm operators in the counties of Kittson and Marshall in Minnesota, and Pembina and Walsh counties in North Dakota for 1965 crop. Langen further stated "that the proposed factory will be erected by the American Crystal Sugar Company and will provide a great economic boost for the entire Red River Valley area".

The reserve acreage action is available to growers who will not have grown sugarbeets during the three crop years immediately prior to 1965. Not more than 80 acres of the commitment, or a smaller acreage that is consistent with sound agricultural practices, may be contracted for on any one farm.

Beech Aircraft Demonstration in Roseau Feb. 16-17

Northland Flyers, Roseau, Monday announced their appointment as Beech airplane dealers for Northern Minnesota and extended an invitation to area pilots, sportsmen and the general public to attend free movies, free lunch, and airplane showing February 16 and 17.

Bob Larson and Marv Hammarback stated that two new Beechcraft Musketeers will arrive in Roseau Saturday morning. "We're inviting all pilots in the area to come and fly the Musketeers Saturday" they said. The new airplanes will be on display at the Roseau airport to the general public from 10:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. Sunday, February 17.

A public meeting, open to sportsmen, pilots and the general public, will be held in the Roseau municipal auditorium Saturday beginning at 8:00 p. m. Harold Gifford, chief pilot for Gopher Aviation, will show colored movies of lake trout fishing in Great Slave, Great Bear and Taxin Lakes in Canada.

McIntosh Heads Business Area Cancer Crusade

Warren McIntosh has been appointed as business district fund drive chairman for the Cancer Crusade in Thief River Falls by Allan Torkelson, Pennington county crusade chairman. The business district campaign will be held April 14-20 and the residential canvass will take place April 21-27.

Residential area chairmen appointed to date include Mrs. Walter Halvorson, Mrs. Erwin Ferber, Mrs. Richard Edlund, Mrs. Harley Kelly, Mrs. James Kelly, Mrs. Glenn Peterson, Mrs. Edwin Reed, Mrs. Charles Krause and Mrs. Donovan Narverud. Any persons interested in assisting with the canvass are encouraged to contact the chairman in their area.

Attending the rehearsal were 49 singers and were from the following towns: Beltrami, 5; Crookston 8; Fertile, 19; Halstad, 2; McIntosh, 4; Maple Bay, 3; Winter, 4; and one each from Climax, East Grand Forks, Thief River Falls and Shelly.

Directors at the rehearsal were Bryant Ulseth of Thief River Falls, Richard Ramsey of Fertile and T. W. Thorson of Crookston.

Marshall Polio Clinics Slated for February 24

Type II of the Sabin oral polio vaccine will be administered at nine Marshall county communities on Sunday, February 24, according to Carlyne M. Raymond, Marshall county public health nurse. The Type II vaccine may be taken whether the Type I was taken previously or not.

Clinics are sponsored by area doctors with the Type III vaccine to be given on March 31. A person must receive all three types of vaccine to be completely protected against polio. Persons who received vaccination with Salk vaccine are encouraged to also take the Sabin vaccine since it will prevent their being carriers of the disease although they may not contract it themselves.

Weather Turns Colder This Week

Times area weather took a turn for the colder last night with a reading of —16 degrees after about 10 days of pleasant February temperatures. Since February 4 only two sub-zero readings had been noted before last night, those being —8 on February 10 and —1 on February 12.

Mostly fair weather is seen for today, tonight and tomorrow with colder readings today and tonight. Highs today will be zero to 8 degrees with —10 to —15 readings tonight. Winds will be from the north from 10 to 20 miles per hour, diminishing tonight.

Snowfall for February now totals 3.9 inches with 2.1 inches falling February 9 and an additional .9 inch on February 10.

Two TRF Freshmen on Dean's List at UND

Nearly 15 per cent of the University of North Dakota freshmen were named to the Dean's List in the University College freshman first semester. Included are Thomas Lynskey and Philip Torgerson of Thief River Falls. The list of 175 freshmen includes those who attained a B average or higher and were enrolled in 12 hours or more of class, according to D. J. Robertson, dean of University College, freshman division at UND.

Local VFW Members at Minneapolis Meeting

Roy Jorgenson, Harold Anderson and Hjalmer Rafteseth of the Thief River Falls Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars attended the council of administration meeting held Saturday and Sunday at the Radisson Hotel in Minneapolis. More than 1,000 VFW officials were in attendance at the 60th annual banquet held Saturday evening.

Public Opinion

Editor Times:

I think the school board should open the polls earlier for the next special school bond election. The shorter hours are not fair to farmers who generally start their chores about the time the voting is scheduled to start. Why were the hours shortened?

Lewis Stone, 77, To Be Interred At Stathcona

Lewis Stone, a former resident of Strathcona, and a resident of Thief River Falls since 1945, died on Monday, February 11 at Cloquet at the age of 77 years.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon, February 15, in the First Lutheran Church at Middle River, Rev. James Hanson will officiate, and interment will be in the Strathcona cemetery. The body is lying in state at the Green Funeral Home from Wednesday evening until 11:00 a. m. on Friday, and at the church for one hour prior to the time of the services.

Mr. Stone was born on July 1, 1885 at Donnelly, Minn. where he also received his education. He came to Strathcona as a young man, and started in business for himself. On January 1, 1918, he was united in marriage to Anna Amundson, at Greenbush, and after their marriage they continued to live in Strathcona. Mr. Stone engaged in several different business operations in that city, until 1945, when they moved to Thief River Falls. Mrs. Stone died September 23 of last year.

Mr. Stone was a member of the Gustaf-Adolph Lutheran Church at Strathcona.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Maynard (Hazel) Salte of Longview, Wash., and Mrs. Alfred (Jeanette) Cummings of Carlton, Minn. One sister, Mrs. Tom Howard of Warren, and two brothers, Arthur of Decauter, Ill., and Emil Stone of Weslaco, Tex., also survive, along with three grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his wife, and two sisters and one brother.

The Plummer Farmers Union local will meet at the Plummer Hall Tuesday, Feb. 19 at 8 o'clock. There will be a report on the convention, door prizes and lunch will be served. Juniors will register for their classes.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Sanders 4-H

The meeting was called to order in the Civic and Commerce room of the Thief River Falls city auditorium with roll call answered by naming a milk product eaten that day. Secretary Kathy Wold read her report. Edward Wold gave the treasurer's report.

Discussion was held on sponsoring a bake sale to raise money for the club. It was decided to have it Friday, February 8. The program was as follows: Group singing, riddles by Sandra Wold, jokes by Barbara Wold, a poem and project talk by Kathy Wold, poem by Peggy Wold, demonstration by Steven Wold and a demonstration by Edward Wold.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Selmer Wold and Mrs. Ole Waale.

Lucky Four 4-H

Lucky Four 4-H club met January 21 at the city auditorium. President Jerome Melhouse presided and roll call response was to name a favorite TV program. The group sang "God Bless America" to open the program.

Topics for the evening were Shop and Home Improvement. Members enrolled in Home Improvement - Family Living demonstrated "In Your Room and Around the House". Taking part were Kristy Korteum, Jerome Melhouse, Aleen Gjernes, Amelia Gates, Mary Jo Harris, Janet Myhrer and the project leader, Sharon Wold.

Song leaders Eunice Wold and Mary Ann Wood led an action song, "The Noble Duke of York". Shop members displayed many types of bird feeders. Taking part were Arlon and Mervin Erickson, Wayne Jarshaw, Jerome Melhouse and their project leader, Benhard Wold.

Lunch was served by Carpenter, Bothman and Furuseth families. Correction from December news: Lunch was served by the leaders and not by one family, as stated.

A motion by John Burtness, and seconded by Hoel to hire three additional secondary teachers for the 1963-64 year. Motion carried.

The request from the Public Library Board for financial aid from the school district was read and it was agreed that no action should be taken.

Two letters dated January 15, 1963 from Mr. Skeate, Union representative for the bus drivers and janitors' union, were read. The letters requested that salary revisions originally presented by the union be reviewed once more. It was agreed by the board that the drivers, janitors and Mr. Skeate be informed that the board's decision concerning the janitors' wages was decided upon at the July 9, 1962 meeting of the board and that the position of the board in regard to bus drivers was stated at the September 11, 1962 meeting of the board.

A motion by Burtness and seconded by Hoel that Superintendent Hankerson be offered a contract at $13,300 for the school year 1963-64. Carried.

The meeting was adjourned to the Home Ec room where the board met with Mr. Don Swenson, representative of T. G. Evenson Bond Consultants. Also present were many visitors from the local community. Mr. Swenson presented the various bonding plans which his company had designed for the possible school construction in our district.

A motion by M. Owen, seconded by John Burtness to call for a district bond election to include the following two questions:

1. Shall the school district No. 564 bond itself for a Junior High School in the amount of $1,195,000.
2. Shall the school district No. 564 bond itself for an additional $280,000 for a 10 room elementary school and supporting facilities and garage providing that No. 1 question passes by a majority vote.

The motion was carried. Roll call vote showing Bredeson, Burtness, Hoel, Howick, Olson and Owen voting in favor of the motion and Anderson voting against.

A motion by John Burtness and seconded by Rufus Olson to adopt bond schedule payment No. 2. After considerable discussion Mr. Burtness requested no action be taken in the motion until further information be supplied from our bond consultants.

A motion by Bredeson, seconded by Owen that a special meeting be called by the chairman when additional bonding information is available. Carried.

A motion by Owen and seconded by Rufus Olson to adjourn. Motion carried.

Approved: Lloyd Howick, Chairman

Special Meeting January 29, 1963

A special meeting of the school board was held at 8:00 P.M. on January 29, 1963 in the high school Home Economics room.

Members present were: Howick, Bredeson, Owen, Hoel, Anderson, Burtness and Olson, and Superintendent Hankerson.

Chairman Howick presided.

The meeting was called for the purpose of consulting with Mr. Don Swenson, Bond Consultant, T. G. Evenson and Associates, Inc. Mr. Swenson presented three different plans for retiring bonded indebtedness on the new proposed bond issue for the new future building programs.

It was moved by Burtness and seconded by R. Olson to adopt the debt retirement schedule as indicated in schedule 2, dated January 21, 1963. Roll call vote for: Olson, Burtness. Roll call vote against: Howick, Bredeson, Owen, Anderson, and Hoel.

It was moved by M. Owen and seconded by Lloyd Howick to adopt a similar schedule No. 1, dated January 28, 1963. Motion carried by the following roll call vote for: Howick, Owen, Olson, and Burtness. Against: Bredeson, Anderson, and Hoel.

The following motion was made by Rufus Olson and seconded by Burtness to hold an election concerning the bond issue on March 5th for the construction of a junior high school, elementary school, and other facilities as outlined in the meeting of January 21, 1963. Roll call vote: For—Howick, Bredeson, Owen, Olson, Burtness. Against: Anderson, Hoel.

The following motion by Hoel, seconded by Anderson, was carried, "At the School Board meeting of January 21, 1963, we were presented with three possible choices regarding bond payments. I was definitely against end-loading the contract as I believe it is grossly unfair to taxpayers 20 to 30 years from now. Temporarily I thought that if I voted in favor of the split-bond proposal for a building plan I do not approve but couldn't at present hope to change, I would be in a better position to express my opinions regarding the financing. Later I realized that my vote would be interpreted as my approval of the present building plan and I can't honestly let that impression stand. Therefore I move that my vote in favor of the split-bond proposal be rescinded and changed to a no vote. I request that this motion be recorded in the minutes of this meeting."

A motion by Anderson and seconded by Owen to adjourn at 10:30 P.M.

Signed: R. A. Bredeson, Clerk
Approved: Lloyd Howick, Chairman

Region Eight Hockey Tourney Opens Today

The 19th annual Region Eight high school hockey tournament will begin tonight, Thursday, in the Roseau Memorial arena. Four teams — Roseau, Thief River Falls, Warroad, and Baudette — will be competing. The semi-finals, pitting the defending regional champion Roseau Rams against the Baudette Bears, with the face-off slated for 7:30 p. m. will be played this evening. In the second game of the semi-finals, the Thief River Falls Prowlers will meet the Warroad Warriors, with the face-off scheduled for 9:00 p. m.

The Region Eight championship finals will be played on Friday night, Feb. 15, with the face-off set for 7:30 p. m. The consolation finals, between the losers of the Thursday night's games, will be played at 9:00 p. m.

Most of the interest in the tourney will be concentrated on this evening's games. This is the year when, according to the alternate year arrangement with Region Seven, this region will send two representatives to the state tourney. The Region Eight champion and the runner-up will be eligible to participate in the state tournament in St. Paul on Feb. 21, 22, and 23.

The Baudette Bears and Warroad Warriors gained berths in the Region Eight semi-finals by defeating the Crookston Pirates and the East Grand Forks Green Wave, respectively, in sub-regional tourney games played at Warroad on Monday evening.

Dick Thompson, scoring five goals and getting an assist, paced the Baudette Bears to a convincing 7 to 1 win over coach Bob Strand's Crookston Pirates. And coach Myron Grafstrom's young Warroad team, after gaining a 3 to 0 lead over coach Jerry Walford's East Grand Forks club, were hard-pressed to hold off the rallying Green Wave sextet, who scored a pair of goals in the final minutes of the game to pare the Warriors' lead, and win, to one goal, 3 to 2.

In the Region Eight semi-finals and finals schedule for this evening and Friday, the admission prices will be $1.25 for adults and fifty cents for students for each session.

As has been the custom for the past number of years, Vic Lindquist and Joe Vinet of Winnipeg will officiate the games.

Prowler Wrestlers Whip Crookston A.C.

Scoring their tenth win in twelve starts this season, coach Al Shaff's Prowler wrestlers, in a match held at Crookston on Tuesday evening, defeated the Crookston A. C. squad, 30 to 11.

The Prowlers will conclude their 1962-63 schedule on Wednesday night, Feb. 20, when, in the Lincoln high school gymnasium, they meet coach Dean Erickson's Warren Ponies.

In Tuesday night's matches, only two pins were recorded, and both by Prowler wrestlers. Myles Olson pinned the AC's Curt Bouten in 4:48 in the 98-pound class. And heavyweight Dwight Mylhrer made short work of the AC's Ron Thorson, securing a pin in fifty-five seconds.

Perhaps the finest match on the program was that in the 106-pound class, and which found the Prowlers' Roy Deloremo and the AC's Ron Phillipp wrestling to a draw. Ron is the son of the Lawrence Phillipp's of the Smiley community.

The summaries:

98-lb. Myles Olson (TRF) pinned Curt Bouten (AC), 4:48.

106-lb. Roy Deloreme (TRF) and Ron Phillip (AC), draw, 0-0.

115-lb. Roger Wilson (TRF) decisioned Ron Beauschene (AC), 2-0.

123-lb. Gary Nereson (TRF) decisioned Ron Osowski (AC), 7-0.

141-lb. Dale Demeres (AC) decisioned Luke Kaushagen (TRF), 3-2.

148-lb. Dick Peeke (AC) decisioned Dean Kaushagen (TRF), 5-2.

157-lb. Joe Taylor (TRF) decisioned Wilfred Houk (AC), 6-0.

168-lb. Ray Ulrich (TRF) decisioned Bob Bergeron (AC), 2-1.

178-lb. Bob Benson (TRF) decisioned Drew Larson (AC), 2-1.

Heavyweight Dwight Myhrer (TRF) pinned Ron Thorson (AC), 0:55.

The 19th Annual Tournament

Four teams — Roseau, Thief River Falls, Baudette, and Warroad — will open play this evening, Feb. 14, in the Region Eight hockey tournament at Roseau. Coach Oscar Almquist's Roseau Rams, the defending regional champions, open the tourney by meeting the Baudette Bears at 7:30 p. m. The Rams are heavily-favored to win this game, and the tournament. At 9:00 p. m., in what could well be the feature game of the tournament, the Prowlers will meet the Warroad Warriors.

During the season's play, the Prowlers have scored a pair of wins over coach Myron Grafstrom's Warroad club, but the margin of victory hasn't been great. Fact is, the games have been as closely-contested as hockey games are capable of being played. In one game, wich required four overtime periods, the Prowlers won by a 5 to 4 score; and in the second game, played here, the Prowlers scored a 1 to 0 victory. I'll settle for a one-goal win on Thursday night.

In the eighteen Region Eight hockey tournaments that have been played prior to this week's event, only four teams have been able to win the regional hockey title. Roseau has won the title nine times; the Prowlers have been winners on six occasions; Warroad has won the title twice; and Williams once. And six of these teams, Roseau in 1946, 1958, 1959, and 1961, and Thief River Falls in 1954 and 1956, have won the state title. This record compares favorably with the nine state titles that have been collected by the teams from Region Seven.

In addition to winning six state titles, teams from Region Eight have been state tourney runners-up on eight occasions. Do you realize that in the eighteen state tournaments that have been played, on only four occasions has a team from Region Eight failed to reach the finals?

The Winningest Squad

The Prowlers' three winter-season sports teams — basketball, hockey, and wrestling — are recording winning records, but the winningest of these squads is coach Al Shaff's wrestling squad.

Coach Gene Sack's Prowler hockey squad, which can win a state tournament berth by defeating the Warroad Warriors in a Region Eight semi-finals game tonight, has an over-all season's mark of ten wins, eight losses, and one tie. And coach Jack Junker's Prowler cagers, who will face a pair of Greater Grand Forks teams this weekend, playing at East Side on Friday night, and entertaining Grand Forks Central here on Saturday night, have a record of nine wins and five losses.

Coach Shaff's wrestlers, with but two matches remaining, have a mark of nine wins and but two losses. The Prowler wrestlers will conclude their 1962-63 schedule on Wednesday night, Feb. 20, when they meet the Warren Ponies here. There will be a 'B' squad preliminary match starting at 6:30 p. m. with the varsity matches slated for 7:30 p. m. And coach Shaff has arranged a bit of entertainment during the intermission between the 'B' and 'A' matches, scheduling a TV type exhibition match between "The Hood" and "Crusher Kowalski". No time limit.

What is encouraging about the progress of the 1962-63 Prowler wrestling squad is that the boys are a year or so in advance of the "fulfillment" date set by coach Shaff. While the coach, and the wrestlers, are proud of the record they have set this season, it's next season that could be a "jubilee" year in Prowler wrestling. By and large, the Prowlers on the wrestling roster are underclassmen, and given health and normal improvement, next season's wrestling should be the best ever.

Very Impressive

That Grand Forks Central basketball squad that coach Marv Skaar will bring over here on Saturday night, for a game against the Prowlers, is the most impressive group of cagers, physically, that I've seen this season. And that is to be expected as the Redskins' varsity squad is comprised of ten seniors and two juniors. Central is a mature and experienced club.

I saw the Redskins in action against the defending North Dakota state champion Rugby Panthers on the UND fieldhouse court on Dec. 29. While the Redskins were beaten, the score was only 46 to 42 for Rugby, and this due to a 25-point production by Rugby's Paul Presthus. If the two teams were to meet in a return game, coach Skaar's club would rate on even terms.

The Prowlers will be somewhat handicapped in Saturday night's tilt as, on Friday night, they will meet the East Grand Forks Green Wave at East Grand Forks. And the Prowlers vs. East Side is always a rugged contest. Grand Forks, meanwhile, will be coming in here well rested.

Better make it a point to witness to this game, as it could develop into a contest like that between the Prowlers and the Bemidji Lumberjacks. And you couldn't ask for better entertainment than that.

Income Tax Personal Exemptions, Credits Outlined by State Bar

(This is the fourth in a series of articles on income taxes made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.)

You are entitled to a $600 deduction on your federal income tax return for each exemption. If you are in an income bracket where you will have to pay a tax, this will result in a minimum reduction of your tax of $120.

The basic federal exemptions are those for the taxpayer and his spouse. You and your spouse are entitled to one exemption each, plus an additional exemption of $600 for each of you who is 65 or over by the end of the year or who is blind. The personal exemptions can be taken only once, however, so that you cannot increase the total number of exemptions by filing separate Minnesota or Federal returns.

All deductions for exemptions are based upon the happening of an event during the taxable year. Thus, subject to other rules determining dependency, exemptions can be claimed for children who are born at any time during the taxable year, for parents who live only a part of the taxable year, and for spouses you acquire by marriage or lose by death during a taxable year.

In addition to exemptions for you and your spouse, you may claim a $600 exemption for a relative who receives less than $600 gross income during a taxable year and who receives more than one-half of his support from you during the taxable year. Non-relatives can also constitute dependents which will entitle you to an exemption where they satisfy the above-described rules and also live in your home.

A child who is under 19 or who is a student can be a dependent for whom you will be entitled to an exemption, whether or not he earns in excess of $600 gross income, where you provide more than one-half of the acutal cost of supporting the child. Under this provision, both you and the child are entitled to a $600 exemption for the child, but this $600 exemption cannot be claimed by you where the child is married and files a joint return with his or her spouse.

You may be able to claim an exemption under federal law for a person who otherwise qualifies as a dependent even though you contribute less than one-half of his support. This situation occurs where several persons contribute to the support of the dependent, and where the group does contribute more than one-half of the support of the individual. Under this rule, you must agree as a group which person shall be entitled to the exemption and file Form 2120 to formally bind the group to this decision.

In computing your state income tax you will be allowed credits against your tax rather than deductions from your income. In general, state credits are allowed on the same basis as the federal exemptions. One significant difference is that the state credit must be apportioned by you, based upon the period during which the right to credit exists. For example, you would be entitled to only one-half the total credit where a child is born to you on July 1st. Apportionment must also be made where marital status changes during the taxable year, where you become a resident of the state during the year or where you are claiming a credit for a dependent who died during the year. However, the over 65 credit and the blindness credit are not prorated if a change of status occurs during the year.

Women's Program at Shows Tuesday

Public Affairs, Gardens to Be Discussion Topics

Tuesday, February 19, will be the big day for women at the Red River Valley Winter Shows. A public affairs eminar on the theme "World Forces Affecting Minnesota", and a Garden Club Day meeting will be in session concurrently on the campus of the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston. At 12:00 o'clock noon, the two groups will join for a luncheon in the dining hall at the school. They will hear Dr. William C. Rogers, professor and director of the World Affairs Center, University of Minnesota, speak on "The United States Foreign Policy Today."

The public affairs seminar for women will get under way at 9:30 a. m. with registration in the Kiehoe building at the Northwest School. The major address of the morning session will be given by Richard Bowman, chief of the Agricultural division of the U. S. Peace Corps, Washington, D. C., who will speak on the Peace Corps. This will be followed by a discussion period.

Women who wish to attend the seminar who are not members of a federated women's club or an extension homemakers group may call or write to the Northwest School for a reservation.

Garden club members will open their meeting at 9:45 a. m. in the Aggie Inn of the dining hall at Northwest School. Mrs. Harry J. Schrimpf of Fargo, N. D., will speak on 'Roses in the Red River Valley" and Neal Holland of the North Dakota State University, Fargo, will discuss "Lilies and Perennials."

Following the forenoon sessions and luncheon meeting, there will be opportunity to visit the Winter Shows.

Litterbugs Cost $8,590 in District

Maintenance Dist. 2B at Crookston Reports

The litter pickup report for 1962 has just been released by the Minnesota Highway Department and reveals that it cost the state $192,036 last year to keep the highways neat and clean.

In the breakdown of figures, the report shows that Maintenance Area 2B with headquarters in Crookston accounted for a total of $8,592 of the full expense. This area's expenditure is divided between labor and equipment costs, which in the case of this area were: 286 truck loads, 819 hours of equipment use at a cost of $2,047; and 2,727 hours of labor at a cost of $6,544.

An equipment rate of $2.50 per hour is used, which is the cost rate for a 2½ ton maintenance truck. A labor rate of $2.40 per hour is used, which is the cost rate for a Highway Maintenance Man I. The average cost per truck load is $24.69.

Total cost to the state last year was $19,987 less than in 1961 when the total was $212,023.

Clothing Specialist Tells of New Textiles

New textile products developed in the laboratory will be put to many different uses in 1963, reports Athelene Scheid, extension clothing specialist at the University of Minnesota.

Throw-away nylon hose, for example, are on the way, according to manufacturers. The low-price type is produced by omitting knitting of the heel pocket, then molding to shape on aluminum frames. Consumers will welcome the news that these hose are expected to be about 39 cents a pair.

No-run seamless nylons, recently introduced in some areas, were reupted to be ro-run even when scratched by cats. However, it is reported that the run resistance applies only to the legs, and the hose are not so sheer as others. These hose retail at about $2 a pair.

Stretch cotton fabric, another recent introduction, is expected to be used in work clothes and everyday cltohes where it will allow stretching room across the back, at knees and elbows.

A major producer plans to introduce a new stretch wool fabric in some of its men's winter suits retailing for about $115. The fabric is said to spring back into shape after stretching. Manufacturers also plan to introduce next spring a combination Dacron-wool stretch suit which will have greater crease retention.

A new glass yarn has been developed for apparel, home furnishings and industrial uses with more resistance to abrasion and breaking than similar fibers now used on the market.

A nylon zipper without metal teeth was introduced in ready-to-wear garments a year ago and is now available for home sewing. The new zipper is smaller, more flexible, less likely to catch threads and cloth.

A new manmade type of shoe material has been introduced recently for high-gloss shoes — a material which resists cracking and scuffing and can be cleaned with soap and water. This material, claimed to have the porous qualitites of leather, has been proposed for use in high priced shoes for women.

Research is also under way to extract chemicals from hides and convert them into a continuous sheet of material to eliminate some of the waste created by the shape and imperfections of natural leather.

Crops & Soils Day Feb. 20 at Shows

T. H. Fenske of 'U' of M. Will Speak in Morning

Plans are completed for Crops and Soils Day at the 1963 Winter Shows. Farmers and others interested in crop improvement will gather for a meeting at 10:00 a. m. on Wednesday, February 20, at the Northwest School, Crookston, in the animal products building pavilion.

T. H. Fenske, one of the nation's top administrators among agricultural colleges, University of Minnesota, will address the group on the subject "Minnesota and the World Market."

The annual Red River Valley Crops and Soils association luncheon meeting will be held at 12:30 o'clock in the dining hall of the Northwest School. At the luncheon, M. F. Kernkamp, head of the department of plant pathology and botany, University of Minnesota, will speak on "The Plant Pathologist's Interest in Crop Improvement." There will be opportunity also to discuss questions pertinent to the crop improvement industry.

School Patrols to Get Recognition Week of Feb. 17th

Governor Elmer L. Andersen of Minnesota issued a proclamation this week, setting aside the week of February 17 through 24 as "School Safety Patrol Week" in recognition of the dedicated service of school safety patrol members of the state.

In commemoration of this 42nd anniversary of the school patrol organization, Governor Andersen urged citizens to make an effort to commend safety patrol members and "let them know that they have our sincere support in their endeavors to preserve our youth."

Special programs are expected to be sponsored by American Legion posts, parent-teacher asociation units, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and other organizations throughout the week in recognition of the more than 30,000 patrol members who watch over about 900,000 students.

Missile Base Set Near Grand Forks

Calls for Additional Personnel of 2,000 Men

A Minuteman missile complex will be built near Grand Forks, N. D., with some sites located in adjacent northwestern Minnesota, it was reported in Washington Friday.

Sen. Quentin Burdick, of North Dakota said he had that information from White House sources expected to announce selection of the site soon.

It would be the second such Air Force base and Minuteman missile site in North Dakota. Another complex at Minot, 200 miles to the west, is now under construction. A Minuteman installation is also located in the Rapid City, S. D. area.

Burdick said Grand Forks Air Force Base was chosen as the support base for the 6th Minuteman Guided Missile Wing Squadron. He added that money for the project is in the 1964 budget and, if approved, work will start next fall.

The amount of money and number of missiles involved was not known yet. But Burdick said it would mean an additional 1,200 personnel stationed at the Grand Forks base.

"When I was on the Federal Communications Commission, the broadcasters would come in with polls and say, 'We're giving the people what they like.' Well, if you ask a Chinese coolie whether he likes rice he'll say 'yes,' but he doesn't know how well he likes rice until you give him a good piece of beefsteak. So the questions about what people want are generally answered in terms of what they are already getting."

School Costs

School costs, at all levels, are increasing, and, unfortunately, in too many instances the costs are increasing faster than is our ability to pay. It doesn't do us much good at the local level to complain about the increased cost of education at the higher levels. In such complaints our voice is a voice in the wilderness.

Here at the local level, however, we still have some authority in the management of our own affairs, and if we stand by and permit costs to get out of hand, we, ourselves, are largely to blame.

Here, at the local level, we are called upon once again to make an important decision on this matter of costs. In two previous elections the voters have rejected a school expansion program which now, for the third time, is being submitted in substantially the same form. That program has been rejected, we believe, because the voters of the district feel it is far too elaborate and more than is actually needed.

The voters are tax conscious, and after two bad crop years, that is understandable. But two bad crop years is not the only reason the voters are tax conscious. The main reason is the fact that school costs, in terms of taxes, have been going up too fast.

We will have more to say about the overall problem in later issues, but as a starter, let's take a look at the tax figures for recent years. In 1957 we moved into the new Washington and a large increase in classroom facilities that would take care of the needs of our community for the foreseeable future. That expansion cost us $1,200,000, and we were assured that the cost of that expansion program would be moderate.

Anticipating the increased cost, the tax levied in 1957, payable in 1958, and 97.82 mills. The next year's levy was upped to 107.36 mills, and each year since then there has been been a substantial increase. The 1959 levy was 117.36 mills; boosted in 1960 to 129.36 mills, and in 1961 to 133.10 mills. The 1962 levy, payable in 1963, is 149.40 mills.

At the rate we are going, if we continue our extravagant school program, a 200 mill levy for school purposes is just around the corner. And that, we are sure, is more than we can afford."

Canada Calm Again

Our northern neighbors are neighborly again. They probably will not forget the manner in which our State Department handled a highly controversial question of continental defense but apparently they have forgiven us, saying that possibly they too were partly to blame.

Possibly our blunder will strengthen our relations with Canada. One of the good results already evident, is a better understanding among us of the Canadian point of view. Much of their mistrust of us probably can be attributed to our lack of understanding. We will have to hope that time will heal the wounds. As the Christian Science Monitor points out:

> "But it is much too soon to say that the political glamor of anti-Americanism is fading out of Canadian politics. In the two months between now and elections there are bound to be efforts to inflate the not-all-bogey of the Colossus to the south.
> "One of the unfortunate aspects of the Kennedy administration's application of its new "get tough" policy to Washington's Canadian friends is that it realerts people all across Canada to several other kinds of American pressure which Canadians naturally and rightly resist—financial, industrial, cultural—as well as American know-it-allness in some areas of joint United States-Canadian operations.
> "It is not often, surely, that a nation so manages to be billed in the two roles of ally and foreign opponent simultaneously. That is what the United States has done in Canadian politics. It has exercised an ally's right to ask for effective military support from an associate in defense. But is has done so in a manner that has given Prime Minister Diefenbaker perhaps his most tempting "issue," namely foreign interference in Canadian affairs."

It now appears unlikely that anti-Americanism is going to be an important issue in the coming Canadian election. Certainly it is being discouraged by the leaders of all parties, and the leaders of the opposition parties seem to have many other things that they want to talk about.

Rugged Individualism

South Dakota Governor Archie Gubbrud vetoed a bill requiring seat belts in all new cars sold in the state because it would be "in direct opposition to our free enterprise system." We favor the free enterprise system and we are glad the Governor of South Dakota thinks well of the general idea.

But it is a little difficult for us to follow the logic of his reasoning in this instance. If statistics prove that seat belts reduce highway hazards then the enforced use of them probably can be justified as being in the public interest.

Let's admit that we, the rugged individualists, in the best interests of general welfare, must now and then make a few concessions.

$320 Billion

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon says the administration will ask Congress to raise the national debt limit to $320 billion. The present limit is $308 billion and will drop to $285 billion on July 1 unless congress acts before then. The debt at present is estimated at $304 billions.

These are 45 cent dollars of course, and if we pay off this national debt eventually with 10 cent dollars, paying the debt in itself is not going to be much of a problem. But what a shameful fraud this kind of a program is for the millions of thrifty people who have sacrificed by saving dollars. We do have an obligation to them. We owe it to them to keep the dollar from losing value from now on. That will require a little sacrifice by us—now.

Reduced Spending

General Eisenhower thinks the administration's 100 billion dollar budget for the coming fiscal year could be reduced by 12 billion dollars, and suggests that a big part of this cut could properly be made in the proposed 55 billion dollars recommended for defense spending. In a recent interview he stated that he believes the nation's present defenses are adequate and complete, and that he thinks we are spending too much money on them.

More than 60 per cent of the total budget would be spent for defense and space activities. The speed-up in space activities is based on the crazy assumption that it is tremendously important that we be first to land a man on the moon. If most of the pork were eliminated from the budget we are sure the total expenditures could be reduced 20 per cent without curtailing any essential service or program.

Our Stockpiles

A year or so ago, President Kennedy, in one of his explosive moods, blasted away at the scandalous stockpiles we had been accumulating. In 1946 Congress decided the government ought to stock up on a few of the essential materials that might be hard to get come another war. It sounded like a good idea.

As the President pointed out, it had turned out to be a very costly idea, and he wanted something done about it. He soon learned that some of the members of Congress knew all about it and shared his concern. Several serious efforts to unload had been made but dumping surplus commodities is never popular, and politicians shy away from things that are unpopular.

So now, a year later, we still have our stockpiles and some of them are growing larger. From the National Observer we get the following summary of the past and the present of the facts:

> "The Government, loaded with taxpayer dollars, went a'marketing like a youngster in a candy store. It bought great amounts of tungsten and lead, mica and manganese, nickel and chrome, feathers and sperm oil—anything that by a stretch of the imagination could be considered "strategic." Price and purpose mattered little. It bought rubber it didn't need, to make rubber-producing countries happy. It purchased lead and zinc, to aid the depressed mining industry.
> "The result: A monumental, and still growing, hoard of materials which thus far has cost $8,500,000,000. There's so much, a lot of it now useless, that it cannot even be adequately stored. A pile of chromite, for which the Government paid $31,000,000, sits out in the open in Montana and has to be sprayed with oil so it won't blow away.
> "While the spectacle of this boundless beneficence is enough to make sane men rage, it is not the whole tale. Last week, after ten months of hearings, Senate investigators coolly calculated that nearly $4,000,000,000 worth of this stuff is surplus, unneeded and unwanted.
> "The surplus just won't blow away. To sell it off would depress prices and thus hurt producers that purchases originally were made to help. So the Government is stuck with it, and the taxpayers are stuck again by spenders on a spree with other people's money."

That covers the past and the present of this expensive error. The future is not likely to bring about a change for the better.

News of Past Week from Plummer Area

Mrs. Walter C. Peterson

Conservation Club Will Elect Officers Monday

The Plummer Conservation and Gun club will hold its regular meeting Monday evening Feb. 18 at 8 p. m. at the Plummer Auditorium and all members are urged to attend election of officers for the coming year which was to have been held at this meeting. Every member should be concerned about this meeting and be present. The Plummer Club has been an active club for many years and we want it to continue as such. The club is a member of the Northwest Federation of Conservation Clubs, also a member of the State Federation of Conservation club, as such the club has a voice in the program and legislation and acomplishments of the northwest area and also the state as a whole. To exercise this privilege members should attend the meetings regularly and express their views and wishes so that they may be acted on by the club and then processed thru the regular channels of our Northwest and state departments. An interesting program has been planned including a speaker and efforts are being made to have some movies shown. Lunch will be served by Emil Malwitz present chairman of the club and Russell Pahlen secretary treasurer. Some important things will be taken up and a discussion on some bills pertaining to conservation that are being introduced in the legislatiton and your vote and support is needed. An invitation is extended to all sports minded men and boys, who are not members to attend. All are welcome.

Highway Dept. Spent $267 Million in '61-62

During fiscal years 1961-62, the Minnesota highway department expended a total of $267,263,142, according to its biennial report recently submitted to Governor Elmer L. Andersen and the state legislature.

Largest sources of income were federal aid, $103.9 million; and state road user revenue, $122.2 million.

On the debit side, construction accounted for the largest total, $178.6 million; and maintenance, plant and equipment, $40.5 million.

Construction contracts for the two-year period numbered 346, and 237 contracts were let for bridge construction. Completed were 135 bridges of all types with an additional 59 under construction. of those completed, 12 were large stream crossings, 71 were highway separations, and 52 separated railroad crossings.

For the biennium, 28.6 per cent of the department's state road user revenue was used to maintain the state's 11,800-mile trunk highway system. Last winter's snow and ice added almost $2 million to the previous year's total.

In the acquisition of right of way for highway construction, the department emphasized a policy of direct purchase over eminent domain, or condemnation proceedings. During the biennium, 1,365 parcels of property were bought by direct purchase for a total of $12.8 million. Studies showed that, in addition to savings in time and overhead costs, the public reacts favorable to the direct purchase method.

The biennium has also been a period for improving plants and facilities. Of the major improvements, new district offices and shops were opened at Detroit Lakes, Bemidji, Duluth, and Virginia. In the Twin Cities Metropolitan area, a new training center and a driving license examining station were opened in Arden Hills.

Changes and improvements were also made from an administrative standpoint. Under the department organization, one major division was dropped and two others added. Activities such as finance, data processing, personnel and management services were formerly grouped under the Administrative Services Division. For more simple and effective operation, these functions now operate as arms of an advisory and administrative staff. The two new divisions are Right of Way and State Aid. Because of their wide scope of activities and need for consultation or decision above the sectional level, these groups have been given divisional status.

Seed Firm Will Introduce Hybrid Trudan I Sudan

New Sudan grass Variety Said To Yield High and Be Low in Prussic Acid

Stock feeders and dairymen this year will have an opportunity to test a new annual grazing and green chop plant, according to Northrop, King & Co., developer of Trudan I, the first true sudangrass hybrid commercially available to farmers.

Trudan I has the same qualities for livestock feed that common sudangrass does, but has hybrid vigor which out-yields the common varieties by as much as 40 per cent. It is said to have considerably faster regrowth after grazing or clipping, greater seedling vigor and lower prussic acid content than sweet or green leaf sudangrasses.

"Trudan I is a totally new achievement," notes Carl Gjernes, manager of the Osborne-McMillan elevator in Thief River Falls, local Northrop-King dealer. "It should not be confused with sorghum-sudan crosses. It is a true sudangrass hybrid because it has sudangrass parentage on both sides. The sorghum-sudan crosses are actually a cross between two distinctly individual types of plant." Sundangrass is popular with farmers because it will take frequent cutting without thinning of the stand.

The new sudangrass hybrid is low in prussic acid — even lower than common sudangrass which in itself contains only about two-fifths as much acid as many sorghums grown under the same conditions. Though the content of prussic acid is low at the grazing stage, frost or drought-stricken plants may be dangerous for livestock to graze, the company warns

Seed supplies of the new product for spring planting will be limited.

Seven Cows Top 500 Pounds BF in Pennnigton DHIA

Seven cattle owned by dairymen in the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement association finished lactation during January with more than 500 pounds of butterfat in 365 days or less, according to Orville Peters, supervisor.

Topping the list was a first-calf heifer owned by Clyde Christensen of Thief River Falls which produced 14,490 pounds of milk and 590 pounds of butterfat in 365 days. In second place was a cow owned by Harold Sabo which produced 14,920 pounds of milk and 564 pounds of fat in a 365-day lactation.

Cattle owned by the following breeders had the following records: Martin Hanson, 15,090 pounds of milk and 531 pounds of butterfat in 304 days and 12,870 pounds of milk and 551 pounds of fat in 322 days; Art Stenberg, 13,060 pounds of milk and 520 pounds of fat in 365 days and 14,320 pounds of milk and 515 pounds of fat in 357 days, both first-calf heifers; and John Burtness, 12,850 pounds of milk and 511 pounds of fat in 344 days.

Farmers Are Advised as to Social Security

Some self-employed farmers may be entitled to use an optional method for figuring their net earnings from the farm for social security credit, Walter Kistler, district manager of the social security office, and George Lethert, district director of internal revenue, reminded farm operators today.

They pointed out that:

(1) If your gross income from agricultural self-employment is not more than $1,800, you may count as your net farm earnings either your actual net or two-thirds of your farm gross income;

(2) If your gross farm income is more than $1,800, and your net farm earnings are less than $1,200 you may use either your actual net or $1,200;

If your gross farm income is more than $1,800, and your net farm earnings are $1,200 or more, you must use the actual amount of your net earnings.

Kistler added that use of the option enables farmers with gross income as low as $600 to obtain social security protection for themselves in their old age, if they become disabled before that time, and for their survivors in the event of untimely death. He emphasized, however, that regardless of the way in which you figure your net earnings, you must have net earnings of at least $400 (from farming alone, or in combination with other self-employment earnings) to get social security credit for the year.

Some farm owners who receive cash, rent, or crop shares from tenant farmers can get social security credit for such income. If the farm landlord (or his agent), under his agreement with his tenant, materially participates in the production or management of production of the farm crops raised on his land, this income may be creditable for social security purposes and subject to the social security tax.

Information regarding taxes and tax return forms can be obtained at the Internal Revenue Office at St. Paul. If you have any questions about old-age, survivors, or disability insurance, the people in the social security office at Grand Forks, North Dakota will be glad to answer them.

Dairy & Beef Cattle Sales at RRV Shows

Members of the Red River Valley Livestock association will again sponsor the annual consignment sale of purebred livestock in conjunction with the 53rd Red River Valley Winter Shows during the week of February 16-22. All livestock sales will be held in the new Winter Shows building in Crookston.

The bred ewe sale will follow at 2 p. m. A total of 29 ewes have been consigned by Minnesota and North Dakota Breeders. Breeds represented include Southdown, Suffolk, Columbia, and Hampshire.

The Shetland pony sale will be a part of the Pony Show scheduled for 8 p. m., Thursday, February 21. In addition to the sale, the Thursday evening show will also feature presentation of championship awards to general livestock exhibitors, final judging of champion and grand champion Shetland ponies, and special entertainment by members of the Agassiz Riders Saddle Club.

Bred gilts will be sold at 10:30 a. m., Friday, February 22. A total of 45 gilts have been consigned by breeders in both Minnesota and North Dakota. Breeds represented in this sale include Hampshire, Yorkshire, Berkshire, Duroc, the Spotted Breed and Chester White.

The beef cattle sale is set for 1 p. m., Friday, February 22. A total of 35 bulls and 21 females will pass through the sale ring. Consignments include Angus, Polled and Horned Shorthorns, and Horned and Polled Herefords from breeders in Minnesota and North Dakota.

All Herefords consigned to the sale have been pedigree inspected by The American Hereford association, Kansas City, Missouri, with respect to freedom from dwarfism. Based on all available information, all Hereford consignments are free of dwarf-producing genes.

Dean Workman of Borup will serve as auctioneer for dairy cattle, bred ewes and gilts, and Shetland ponies. Robert Schnell, Lemmon, South Dakota, will officiate during the sale of beef cattle. Clerk of the sale is Donald T. Lawler, Crookston National Bank. Sale catalogs may be obtained from D. Reimer, sale manager, Northwest School, Crookston.

Don Olson Back from Convention of Coast-to-Coast

Don M. Olson, owner of the Coast-to-Coast store, returned recently from the organization's 33rd annual convention. The 4-day session of general and group merchandising meetings were held in the Pick-Nicollet Hotel and at the Coast-to-Coast Stores central offices in Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Olson, along with 1500 other owners and their wives from 17 Upper Midwest and Western states attended and participated in a full schedule of meetings centered around the keynote of the Convention — "Selling is the Key to '63".

Discussions emphasized new lines, new items and advanced product knowlege. Many displays of new spring and summer merchandise were shown. Better customer service and expanded local newspaper advertising were also major areas of discussion.

Also included in the four-day schedule was the annual banquet, floor show and dance at the Radisson Hotel in Minneapolis.

Internal Revenue Agent Will Serve Three-County Area

Austin J. Shanahan To Be Stationed at Post Office in Crookston

To advise and assist taxpayers in the preparation of their individual returns, Austin J. Shanahan, agent with the Internal Revenue Service, will be available each Friday from 12:45 to 4:45 p. m. in the post office building at Crookston. Shanahan seves Pennington, Polk and Red Lake counties.

The only exception to the Friday schedule will be February 21 since Friday, February 22, is a holiday due to the birthday anniversary of Geroge Washington. Revenue agents assist where clarification and explanation is necessary in the preparation of returns or where instructions of information on filing requirements is needed.

All taxpayers are requested to use their Social Security numbers on all returns filed since they are the key to the Automatic Data Processing System being installed by the Internal Revenue Service.

In filing for 1963, taxpayers whose income consists of wages less than $10,000 may file on card form 1040A. If deductions are to be claimed, or if income exceeds $10,000, taxpayers will use form 1040. Supplemental income from dividends, interest, rents, etc., will require the use of Schedule B to form 1040.

MAVIE . . .

Mrs. Annie Nelson spent several days last week with the A. B. Weigel children while their parents were in Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Weigel and boys were visitors Sunday evening at the Ralph Klockman home to help Valerie celebrate her ninth birthday.

Willie Larson of Alvarado spent several days at the home of his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Marv Mathiason.

Walter Panek and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bendickson and Tommy were visitors this past week at the George Panek home.

Sunday afternoon visitors at the Marv Mathiason home were Duane Roller, Mrs. Sam Oswald and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kjelberg and Scott.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Fantastic? . . . Listen!

Last year in the United States one million pounds of sleeping tablets were manufactured.

Each night American people swallowed 12 million doses.

Each night the nervous tensions of millions of people were relaxed artificially and temporarily. No worry was banished; no fear disappeared. No problem came nearer to solution because of a pill . . . and sleep. Troubles were merely postponed.

Peace of mind and rest come, not through pills, but through power found in trusting God.

Then develop that power by going to church regularly. Find there a faith that grows and gives courage. And pray for "Whatsoever you shall ask in My name, believing, you shall receive."

Finds Fish in Well

From where does our water supply come? Is there a lake 180 feet below the ground or is there a stream? Gilman Stennes has a strong flowing well on his farm from which a small fish, about 1½ inches long, emerged to the surface. This little fish surely did not come seeping through a gravel vein. So what? Let's go fishing. There may be some big ones too.

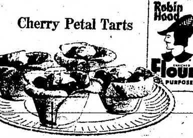
Cherry Petal Tarts



. . . made the Robin Hood 'No-sift' Way!

Cherry blossom time or not, these dainty Cherry Petal Tarts make a delightful dessert for party occasions. And they're so easy to make the Robin Hood 'no-sift' way.

Because Robin Hood Flour is so fine and uniform, and because it is pre-sifted through micro-fine silk, you need never sift again for anything you bake. Spoon Robin Hood straight from the bag into your dry measuring cup. This new, easy way, you'll not only save time and trouble, but get better baking, too!

Next time you are entertaining, delight your guests with some of these taste-tempting Cherry Petal Tarts . . . made this easy Robin Hood 'no-sift' way.

ROBIN HOOD FLOUR IS A PRODUCT OF INTERNATIONAL MILLING COMPANY

CHERRY PETAL TARTS (A Robin Hood Pre-sifted Flour recipe)

PETAL TART SHELLS:
2 cups ROBIN HOOD All-Purpose Flour ¾ cup shortening
1 tsp. salt* 4—5 tbsp. cold water
SPOON. . . . flour (not sifted) into dry measuring cup. Level off and pour measured flour into large mixing bowl.
ADD. . . . . . salt to flour (not sifted) and stir to blend.
CUT IN. . . . half of shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal; then cut in remaining shortening until particles are the size of small peas.
ADD. . . . . . water, a little at a time, mixing lightly with a fork.
PRESS. . . . . dough into firm ball. Divide in half.
ROLL OUT. . each half on lightly-floured cloth-covered board. Cut out circles with 2-inch round cutter.
PLACE. . . . . one circle in bottom of each of 12 muffin or custard cups. Then overlap 4 circles along sides of cup. Moisten each edge and press together firmly.
PRICK. . . . . sides and bottom with fork to prevent shrinking.
BAKE. . . . . at 475° for 8—10 minutes. Cool for 5 minutes in cup before removing.

CHERRY FILLING:
1 can prepared cherry pie filling 1—3 oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
SPREAD. . . . softened cream cheese in bottom of Petal Tart Shells (above).
SPOON. . . . in cherry filling. Top with additional softened cream cheese, if desired.
YIELD. . . . . 12 Tarts.
*If you use ROBIN HOOD Pre-sifted Self-Rising Flour, omit salt.

Acceptance of Challenge Cited by Lions Speaker

300 At Banquet for Mid-Winter Conference Sat.

"Acceptance of challenges has made Lions International the great power and great strength that it is in the world today," stated Tris Coffin of Montreal, Quebec, in addressing the main banquet of the Lions District 5M-3 mid-winter conference in Thief River Falls Saturday evening. About 300 Lions and their wives from Minnesota, Manitoba and Ontario attended the banquet held in the American Legion club rooms.

"Being a member of a Lions club does not make a man a Lion," Coffin continued. "Lionism is not worn on the lapel—it is worn a little lower down and a little deeper in," he said. "We like to think of it as doing all the good we can in all the ways we can for all the people we can."

Coffin cited the importance of each member and each club in the world-wide program of Lions International, stating that each individual is important in the organization which had 17,500 clubs completing 360,000 projects in the world last year. Hard work and application are the means to leadership and Lionism helps develop leadership, he added.

"Too many people are crammed with information but really have very little knowledge," the Lions International director said. "People must think, imagine and dream and then work to bring their dreams to reality. Only through the knowledge of their goals and the way to attain them can people hope to accomplish that which they set out to do."

Karlstad Potato Growers To Build Spud Wash Plant

Potato growers in the Karlstad, Viking, Florian, Kennedy and Greenbush areas have combined resources to insure construction of a 40-bin potato wash plant at Karlstad, according to a news story appearing in a recent edition of the Karlstad Advocate. It is planned that construction will begin in the spring.

Enough bins have been sold to assure the construction of the plant, but any farmers in the area still desiring to obtain a bin in the new plant may do so by contacting a member of the planning committee.

The plant will include a potato wash unit with modern machinery and a 40-bin potato warehouse to be attached to the plant. Each owner of a bin will share in wash plant profits. William Olfutt of Grafton, N. D., will manage the plant and handle sales on the project. Equipment will permit washing one unit of potatoes while another unit is being waxed or loaded and will be capable of handling the loading of several cars at one time.

Members of the planning committee are Luverne Dagen, Basil Celany, Robert Carlson, Ernest Carlson, N. O. Folland, Paul Halfman, Lloyd Johnson and Erling Nesteby.

NEW MEMBER of the Thief River Falls Lions club is "Billy the Kid," transferred at the District 5M-3 banquet in this city Saturday from the Newfolden Lions club. County Savings Bond Goal for '63 Set at $211,000

Rollin O. Bishop, volunteer state savings bonds chairman, today announced that the Minnesota savings bonds quota for 1963 is $65,900,000. Pennington county's share of the state quota is $211,000.

Purchases of E and H bonds in Minnesota during January amounted to $6,261,266. Sales in Pennington county in January were $10,168. This was 17 per cent more than for the same month last year, according to J. M. Roche, county savings bonds chairman.

Minnesota citizens were again reminded that they can take their income tax refund in savings bonds this year.

Liquor & Cigaret Tax Shares Arrive

TRF Receives $11,227 and Pennington County $7,713

The city of Thief River Falls and Pennington county Friday received checks aggregating nearly $19,000, representing their shares of state liquor and cigaret taxes for the last half of 1962.

This city received $7,007.98 in cigaret taxes and $4,219.09 as its share of the liquor tax. Pennington county got $4,814.74 in cigaret taxes, which goes into the general revenue fund; and $2,898.67 in liquor taxes, which are prorated back to the townships.

The cigaret tax distribution was on the basis of 98 cents per capita, compared to 86 cents for 1961, while the liquor tax was apportioned on a basis of 59 cents per capita, compared to 57 cents the preceding year.

Legislative Bill Aids Improvement for Lost River

Rep. Skaar Says Levy of Special Assessments Is Also Authorized

Rep. Andrew Skaar of Thief River Falls notified the Times Saturday that the state House of Representatives passed the bill authorizing the issuance of general obligation bonds and the levy of special assessments by Red Lake, Polk and Clearwater counties.

The issuance of bonds is to pay costs of an improvement to be constructed by the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District and the U. S. Corps of Engineers and pertains to the Lost River project. Sen. Harveydale Maruska of Angus succeeded in having the bill passed in the Senate and it now goes to the Governor for signature.

A bill recognizing the new Pennington County Fair Association, Inc., was also passed by the state House of Representatives but has not been acted on by the Senate. The bill would provide for state financial assistance to the new organization which will operate the Pennington county fair rather than the former organization. Only one county group may receive such aid.

Rep. Skaar also co-sponsored a resolution which was adopted by the House of Representatives and which memorialized the death of T. A. Erickson, the father of 4-H club work in Minnesota.

Mrs. Art Christianson and Mrs. Robert Olson spent Monday in Grand Forks, N. D.

Apprehend Youths for Breakins at TRF, St. Hilaire

Teenagers Confess Theft and Break-ins During Past Several Months

Apprehension of two teen-age boys by local law enforcement authorities this week resulted in the solving of a number of break-ins and thefts in the area during the past several weeks. Kenneth Kolstad, 20, rt. 1, TRF, and a 16-year-old juvenile boy were apprehended and confessed to a number of incidents on local police records.

Included in the confession were break-ins at Williams Cities Service on January 12, break-ins at Roland Brothers Service in St. Hilaire last Tuesday and Thursday, theft of a 1953 Mercury from a local used car lot on two occasions with the car being returned the first time it was taken, theft of a transistor radio from the glove compartment of a delivery truck and theft of the ignition switch from the stolen car.

Kolstad will appear in municipal court today on a charge of breaking and entering and the 16-year-old boy will appear in juvenile court.

Also under investigation by the Thief River Falls police department is a hit-and-run accident reported Saturday by Mrs. Evelyn Beadle. A car parked in front of her home in the 200 block of Conely av. S. was struck by an unknown vehicle which caused an estimated $200 damage to the Beadle car.

Bank Debits Here in January Rise 8 Pct. over 1962

Bank debits in Thief River Falls increased to $8,394,000, an eight per cent gain over the total for the same month in 1962, it was announced today by the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis. Crookston showed a four per cent gain to $11,535,000, while East Grand Forks declined three per cent to $5,495,000, Roseau gained eight per cent to $2,806,000, Warren gained nine per cent to $3,703,000, and Hallock gained one per cent to $3,375,000.

Weekend visitors at the Thomas Landowski home were their son and daughter-in-law, the Gerald Landowskis of St. Paul.

Heart Drive to Hit Peak Here Next Sunday

Solicitors to Visit Most Homes in City, Says Mrs. R. Looker

The month-long 1963 Heart Fund drive will reach a peak next Sunday when local Heart Sunday volunteers will ring doorbells at virtually every home in Thief River Falls to collect Heart Sunday contributions.

Chairman of Heart Sunday is Mrs. Robert J. Looker. She said an attempt will be made to give all persons in the community the opportunity to contribute personally to the fight against heart disease.

Heart Sunday headquarters will be located in the Elks Lodge rooms from 2 to 5 p. m. Coffee and cookies will be served.

The collection will augement the county campaign total collected so far this month to expand the research, education, and community service programs of the Minnesota Heart Association.

"Funds contributed here Sunday," declared Mrs. Looker, "will be a part of a nationwide collection involving over 1,500,000 volunteers, 5,500 communities, and twenty million American homes. In a few short hours, a gigantic financial stride will be made against heart and circulatory diseases, which are responsible for more death and disability than all other causes combined."

Volunteer blockworkers will leave at each home an all important educational sticker entitled "What to do in Case of Heart Attack". This should be placed on the door of your medicine cabinet.

Where the volunteer worker finds no one at home, he or she will leave a pre-addressed mail-in envelope in which a contribution may be sent conveniently to Heart Fund headquarters and credited to this community. Funds will be processed at the Northern State Bank.

Seventy-five per cent of all Heart Fund dollars remain in Minnesota to be invested by the Minnesota Heart Association in studies of heart attacks, high blood pressure, and the various other forms of heart disease, and to carry out education and community service programs.

Snowfall Sunday Brings February Total to 4.9 In.

Another inch of snow was received on Sunday to bring the month's total to 4.9 inches, according to the weather summary provided by North Central Airlines personnel at the Thief River Falls municipal airport.

Termatures during the past several days varied 44 degrees from a low of —17 on Thursday to a high of 27 degrees on Saturday. High and low temperatures during the past several days included 6 and —17 on Thursday, 17 and —12 on Friday, 27 and 9 on Saturday, 25 and 12 on Sunday and a low of 5 degrees last night.

Considerable cloudiness with widely scattered light snow and much colder temperatures are expected today with highs of 5 to 15 degrees. Lows tonight will be 8 to —5 with diminishing winds.

With Awards to Citizens . . .

Jaycee Boss-Employee Event Set Wednesday

SPEAKER at the annual Jaycees Boss-Employee banquet to be held Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Veterans of Foreign Wars club rooms will be Stephen W. Haugen, district traffic and sales representative for North Central Airlines. An employee of the firm since 1959, Haugen supervises the airlines sales activities in western Wisconsin and Minnesota. The sponsoring Thief River Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce organization will also present awards to the community's outstanding boss, outstanding young man and oustanding young farmer.

Three awards to outstanding residents of the community will be presented Wednesday at the annual Boss-Employee banquet sponsored by the Thief River Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce. Recipients of the awards will be the Outstanding Young Man, Outstanding Boss and Outstanding Young Farmer.

Main speaker for the event will be Stephen W. Haugen, district and sales representative for North Central Airlines. Beginning his North Central career as a station agent in Chicago in 1959, Haugen is now based in the Twin Cities and supervises the airlines' activities in western Wisconsin and Minnesota.

In addition to speaking at the annual event, Haugen will show a new color movie, "The Northliner" which is the story of regional airline service and operations. It will be the first showing of the film to a Jaycees-sponsored meeting.

North Central serves short-haul traffic between intermediate-size cities, including Thief River Falls, and metropolitan areas. During 1962 the airline carried 1,123,393 pasengers and also led the industry in total volume of cargo including air freight, express and mail.

Award Presentation

Presentation of the Outstanding Boss award will be made by J. J. Womack, 1962 award winner, and presentation of the Outstanding Young Man award will be made by Gene Belto, winner of that award last year. Presentation of the Outstanding Young Farmer award will be made by Richard "Bud" Evans, chairman of the Jaycee Young Farmer committee.

Special entertainment will be provided by Jerry Joringdal who will play several piano selections. John McGinley will serve as master of ceremonies for the event.

Tickets are still on sale at Falls Jewelry and from members of the ticket committee headed by Kenneth Taylor. All Jaycee members are encouraged to bring their bosses or employees to the event.

Jobs, Inc., Holds Annual Meeting

GUEST speaker for the annual meeting of Jobs, Inc., to be held Friday at 6:30 p.m. in the Elks club rooms, will be Sen. Harveydale Maruska of Angus. Sen. Maruska, who served two terms in the state House of Representatives, was elected to the Senate last fall from the reorganized 66th District comprising, Pennington, Polk & and Red Lake counties.

Election of five directors for two-year terms on the board of Jobs, Inc., will take place at the annual dinner meeting of the organization to be held Friday at 6:30 p. m. in the Elks club rooms. Harveydale Maruska, state senator from the 66th legislative district including Pennington county, will be the guest speaker.

William LaFave, president of Jobs, Inc., will present the annual report, listing the financial condition of the organization and the activities conducted during the past year.

Discussion will be held on the topic, "Should We Capitalize Jobs, Inc.?", viewing the pros and cons of selling stock in the corporation to provide funds for financing or attracting industry to this community. "More Jobs for Minnesota", a movie showing the advantages of a sales tax as a replacement for the personal property tax, will also be shown.

Directors whose terms expire include Donald M. Olson, J. J. Womack, William LaFave, L. A. Ihle and Dr. O. D. Beich. All have been re-nominated by the nominating committee headed by Robert Wurst and including L. B. Hartz and Leonard Goulet. Also nominated for the election were Norris Melander, Philip Hess, Maynard Wedul, Sherman LaPorte and Edgar Hetteen.

In previous action by the board of directors, Robert Kinsman was appointed to fill the vacancy in the unexpired term of the late James Winjum Sr.

L. A. Ihle is chairman of the banquet committee for the organization and tickets at $1.25 each will be available from him or at the Chamber of Commerce office beginning today.

Must Apply for Absentee Ballots In School Vote

Applications for absentee ballots for those who will not be present to vote in the school bond election March 5 may be requested until five days before the election date, according to Robert Bredeson, school clerk.

Upon requests for such ballots, the ballots will be mailed or given to the eligible voters who must complete the ballots and return them so that they are in the hands of the school clerk on the day of the election. Ballots postmarked the date of election and received later will not be counted.

Application forms may be obtained from the clerk or from a deputy clerk at the superintendent's office at Lincoln high school.

Square Dancers Plan Numerous New Activities

Calls of "right hand high and left hand under", "go alemande thar" kept local square dancers on their toes Saturday, Feb. 16, as DeLap moved the squares in a pattern of calls. Many area dancers joined the fun with the Falls Squares for the evening, and lunch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ulferts and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Johnson.

Announced square dance dates to remember were: International Sqare Dance convention, Grand Forks, May 23, 24, 25; Minnesota state convention in Moorhead June 14 and 15; National Square Dance convention in St. Paul June 20, 21 and 22. Locally, DeLap calls in Grand Forks for the Swingsters tonight, Feb. 18th. DeLap's class graduates in Greenbush on Friday the 22nd. Special interest for Falls Squares is the March 30th annual Spring Swin in TRFalls with Lee Newton calling.

Action at the business meeting included acceptance of May 16th as the Jack Livingston special dance; tentative date of March 20th was set for appearance on Fargo TV Polka Party for the Falls Squares; and Mal Magnuson reported that the "Family Day" swim at Crookston Pool will be from 3 to 4 Saturday afternoon, March 9th. Families should register with him for this evening.

Representing the Falls Squares at the Squarenaders dance at Crookston Friday, February 15th were Messrs. and Mmes. Chris Saustad, Randall Noper, Ray Ulferts, Mal Magnussons and Mel Simon. Don Ferrie called the dance, and the TR Falls guests and two couples from Warren were interviewed during the half hour radio broadcast of the dance.

Extends Invitation To Rev. Paul Blegner, Sebeka

St. John Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls and Redeemer Lutheran Church in Plummer Sunday extended a call to the Rev. Paul Biegner of Sebeka to be their new pastor.

The Rev. Biegner, 30, is a graduate of Concordia Theological Seminary in St. Louis, Missouri, class of 1957, and has served a three-congregation parish in and around Sebeka since that time. He is married and the father of two children. His decision is expected in several weeks.

The St. John-Redeemer parish has been served by the Rev. Alfred C. Seltz since November 1956. He has been elected the first president of the Minnesota North District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, a full-time position which requires his moving to Brainerd. He will remain in Thief River Falls and serve his present parish till about April 17. He plans to remain during the Lenten, Holy Week and Easter festivals and for confirmation on Palm Sunday.

Mankato Student Is State Finalist for Scholarship

Scott Meyer of Mankato, was selected by the Minnesota Society of Professional Engineers' education committee as the state finalist in NSPE-Armco $3,000 civil engineering scholarship contest. Meyer, a senior at Mankato high school, is an A student and in the top 3 per cent of his class. He received honorable mention in the National Merit Scholarship examination and has qualified for National Honor Society Membership.

Motel Operators Convene Feb. 21 in Minneapolis

Record-breaking attendance of motel operators and executives, and exhibitors is indicated for the 1963 convention of the Minnesota Motel Association on the basis of advance registrations, Edwin Elmer, executive secretary, said today. The convention will be held February 21-23 in Radisson Hotel, with all of the hotel's major public rooms and two floors of exhibit space being reserved for the convention.

LCW Assembly at Redeemer Church

Rev. D. J. Augustine, missionary home on furlough from Tanganyika, will tell of his work in Africa at the spring Northwestern Minnesota District assembly of the Lutheran Church Women to be held Tuesday at Redeemer Lutheran church. Registration for the assembly opens at 9:30 a. m.

Mrs. Rolland Borene of Clearbrook, president of the Red River Valley Synod of the Lutheran Church Women, will conduct a leadership training period. All members of the organization in this district are invited to attend.

Red Lake Co-op. Given REA Loan

Approval of a loan for $100,000 to Red Lake Electric Cooperative at Red Lake Falls has been approved by the Rural Electrification administration, according to a telegram received by the Times from Rep. Odin Langen.

The loan is to be used by the cooperative for member services. Red Lake Electric re-lends the money to individual consumers to improve services on their own farms. Counties served by the cooperative are Marshall, Pennington, Polk and Red Lake.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

MRS. WILLIS JOHNSON

We've been saving this one for the holiday which has made a tradition of cherry desserts, but of course it needn't be just a special holiday treat. It's so simple and so good, you'll think up a number of occasions when you'll want to serve it.

Our homemaker likes its ease of preparation and the fact that it keeps beautifully for up to a week in the refrigerator. There's no fussing with it, either, no waiting with tongue-in-cheek to see how it's going to turn out. You see, it involves no cooking. The hardest work in connection with this dessert is leaving it alone until time to serve it!

CHERRY DESSERT

1 12-ounce package vanilla wafers, crushed.

Pour half of the crushed wafers into a shallow baking pan. Beat 1 egg, and add 1 cup powdered sugar and one-fourth cup soft butter. Beat well. Pour mixture over the wafers. Over this, pour 1 can of cherry pie mix. Cover this with 1 cup cream, whipped, with vanilla to flavor. Pour the remainder of the crushed wafers over this. Refrigerate overnight.

Simple, isn't it? We'll wager that it will be a repeater at your house. Small-type daughters will just love tucking a dishtowel around their tummies and making this for Mommy. Even that young fella might want to show off culinary prowess before the gang. He can make this the night before the game and have the group in for "eats" afterward. There won't be a mess in the kitchen either. . .well, not much, and best of all, few dishes to clean up.

The Johnsons have four children. The three oldest are all married. They are, Robert, a draftsman for Parbary Co. in Edina; the second, Shirley, lives in Fargo, N. D.; Dennis, 21, is with the J. C. Penney company here, and the youngest, Terri Lynn, 11, is at home. The Johnsons are proud grandparents of two girls and a boy. Mrs. Johnson says that home and family take up most of her time, and she does not have any hobbies other than cooking and housework.

Mr. Johnson is parts manager at Tunberg Motor Co. in this city.

Topknot tempermental? Why not plan a hair beauty schedule that will help solve your problem?

If you have oily hair, the tiny oil glands in your scalp are overactive. An excess of oil attracts dust and makes the hair strands cling together unattractively. Whisk away this dust and oil by "fluff" brushing your hair each day.

An idea that one can use is to cover the brush bristles with gauze and brush with long, sweeping, but light strokes. Watch the oil collect!

At least once a week shampoo your hair. Oily hair needs frequent and thorough cleansing. A careful watch of your diet is an excellent way to prevent an overworking of the oil glands.

Hair becomes dry and dull when the scalp has been robbed of natural oils. One must carefully brush the hair each day to prod the oil glands. Include massaging in your daily hair beauty plan. Shampoo your hair at least once a week; cleanliness is an important reconditioning step.

If your hair has a flaky appearance, dandruff is your topknot trouble. Don't fret. Just take care, good care, of your hair and scalp to get rid of this condition. A thorough finger-tip massage should top your list of daily do's. Brush twice each day to remove the loose scales.

Here are some guides as to the shelf life of canned products. The shelf life of light-colored fruits is at least three years; deeply colored fruits, such as blackberries, will last 12 months or more. The same is true for canned juices. Most vegetables will keep on the shelf for three years; some as long as eight years. Only pickles and sauerkraut have a short life of 12 months.

Canned cereal products, such as spaghetti dinners, will store well for several years, if necessary. So will canned breads and puddings.

With the exception of large canned hams (labeled to keep refrigerated) you can store canned meat and fish for any reasonable period —several years—without container failure or quality loss. In all cases, however, canned foods will keep better when they are stored in a cool place.

Senator Maruska Introduces Bill On Water Supply

State Senator Harveydale Maruska, Angus, representing Pennington, Polk and Red Lake counties, recently introduced a bill that will permit the Department of Conservation and the United States Geological Survey to conduct a joint survey of underground water supplies in the Red River Basin.

This legislation, if passed, will provide funds that may well uncover sources of water yet unknown to northwestern Minnesota. The economic impact this may have is still unforeseen but the inducement to industry for the processing of agricultural products of the region is of great importance, Sen. Maruska said.

Senator Maruska is the chief author and the co-authors on the measure are Senators Norman Larson of Ada and William Dosland of Moorhead.

National FFA Week Is Observed Feb. 16-23

"Future Farmer Week" in Minnesota is being observed February 16-23 as part of the nationwide week honoring the National Association of Future Farmers of America. There are about 13,500 FFA members in Minnesota's 285 chapters and 388,000 members in 9,000 chapters in the United States.

"Agriculture — Vital to America" is the theme for the week which officially opens the 33rd anniversary of Minnesota Future Farmers. The first state FFA chapters in Minnesota were founded in the fall of 1929 and the first annual meeting was held on May 16 and 17 of 1930. Since the beginning of the FFA program, approximately 60,000 Future Farmers have studied vocational agriculture in Minnesota public secondary schools.

Membership in the FFA is made up of farm boys who are students of vocational agriculture in high school. The organization's activities are designed primarily to help develop rural leadership and good citizenship and to stimulate the boys to better achievement in their study and work toward successful establishment in farming.

State headquarters of the Future Farmers of America is located in the Agriculture Education unit of the State Department of Education, Vocational Section.

The national observance is planned in the hope that the general public can be made more aware of the extent of agriculture and the vital contribution farmers are making to the nation's economy. Productive assets invested in farming are more than $150 billion—nearly five times the combined total of investments in the automobile and steel industries.

Since the nation is dependent upon its farmers, there must be a constant supply of new farmers every year to replace those who die, retire or otherwise leave the farm. New farmers must be trained and experienced, for the successful farmer today is a combination of scientist, businessman, mechanic and laborer.

Vocational agriculture students study the sciences of animal and plant production, agricultural marketing, farm business management farm mechanics and other subjects needed to train them for the work of the farm. By participating in FFA they also learn the ways of effective leadership and are encouraged to assume their responsibilities as good citizens in community development.

FFA Week is held during the same week as the birthday anniversary of George Washington, one of the first men in the nation to practice contour planting, crop rotation and other soil conservation methods.

Newfolden HS To Have Play Fest

One-Act Plays Compete At Contest On Friday

Three one-act plays will be presented by Newfolden high school at 8 p. m. Friday in the Newfolden community school gymnasium with the winning play to represent the school in sub-district one-act play competition. Last year the Newfolden entry won sub-district, district and regional honors and participated in the state contest under the direction of Mrs. Rudy Larson.

Plays to be presented and cast members for each include the following:

"As the Fog Lifts" tells the story of six people marooned on a sinking yacht and has a cast including Lester Bakke, Warren Sagstuen, Ken Anderson, Janice Sabo, Sharon Nelson and Karen Mortenson;

"Still Stands the House" tells of an aging spinster determined to keep the house left her by her father and has a cast including Emilie Carlson, Mark Carlson, Claudia Melvie and Wesley Hanson;

"Two Crooks and a Lady" involves a plot of two crooks to steal a necklace from the paralyzed Mrs. Simms-Vane and has a cast of John Dill, Dureen Moen, Joyce Leigh, Orlette Melvie, Harley Lind and Jonathan Dyrud.

Rowan to Address 'U' M. Charter Day

State Dept. Official to Speak Tuesday, Feb. 26

Carl T. Rowan, deputy assistant United States Secretary of state for public affairs, will address the University of Minnesota Charter Day convocation at 11:30 a. m. Tuesday, Feb. 26, in Northrop Memorial auditorium.

The convocation will commemorate the University's 112th anniversary and will highlight University Week activities scheduled Feb. 24 to March 2. The University of Minnesota's charter was adopted by the Territorial legislature in February, 1851.

Rowan, who has been nominated by President John F. Kennedy as the ambassador to Finland, will speak on "New Dimensions of World Conflict". The convocation will be open free to the public.

Throughout University Week, displays illustrating various avenues of University teaching, research and service activities will be on exhibit in bank buildings, public buildings and department stores in the Twin Cities.

Posters, which reproduce a map of Minnesota showing the location of the University's various activies throughout the state, will be on display in several communities. Emphasis of the week will be on the University's statewide services. University staff members from several departments will speak to civic and community clubs during February and March on topics ranging from problems of taxation to how man will live in space.

Mandatory Drivers' Training Is Proposed

"It is quite possible that if we adopted the universal driver education program that is being proposed for Minnesota, the traffic accident toll would be cut in half."

So said Garnet E. Hall, state highway safety director, as he replied to queries regarding proposed legislation that asks for driver education to be made available through state aid to all students between 15 and 18 years of age. It also would require all persons under 17 to pass an approved 30-hour course of classroom and behind-the-wheel instruction to be eligible for a drivers license.

"Studies conducted throughout the nation within the last 10 years indicate that drivers who have completed high school driver education courses have about half as many accidents and commit about half as many violations as untrained drivers. Those who have both classroom and behind-the-wheel instruction perform better than those who have completed only classroom courses," Hall said.

"A recent study in Minnesota disclosed that during a five-year period, untrained drivers of high school age were involved in twice as many reportable accidents as drivers in the same age bracket who had completed both classroom and behind-the-wheel instruction.

"Poor driving is not the exclusive dominion of teenagers. Drivers in the 20-24 age group are involved in about one and a half times as many accidents as would be expected, based upon their representation in the driving population, and it is the untrained driver most frequently involved," he said.

"A great many unqualified drivers are in possession of drivers licenses. Our Minnesota driver licensing examining program didn't begin until 1948. Prior to that time, an applicant had only to pay a small fee to secure a license, and unless the applicant has been a flagrant violator or involved in a serious accident, it is very likely he renews his license periodically without having his abilities challenged.

"If during the years, the licensee has proved to be a competent driver we shouldn't be alarmed. But in many cases the licenseholder uses the drivers license only as a means of identification until, on impulse, he decides to start driving without formal training. A glance through a text or a few words of advice from a friend is not adquate instruction for someone who must play the role of a motorist in today's complex traffic picture.

"Driver education has proved itself to be of value for both pedestrians and drivers so that 21 states now offer some form of state aid for driver education in schools. More than 9,700 high schools offer both classroom and behind-the-wheel training to 814,000 students at an average cost of $10 to $40 per pupil. Students who may never drive but still take classroom instruction learn to better understand the problems of motorists and subsequently become more safety-conscious when in traffic."

Hall said that the cost of driver education is virtually offset through reduction in accidents which also entail big expenditures."

"One insurance company began giving a 15 per cent discount in 1953 to all young drivers who completed an approved high school driver education course and virtually all insurance firms now offer lower rates for graduates, which proves further that driver education makes drivers better risks," he said.

Public Opinion

Editor Times:

Every man has a breaking point, something which he will stand up and fight for, live or die for, or stand up and be counted. I want to be counted with the Kermit Eastmans, the Sacks, the Moums, BEFORE the school election.

When you were Senator, you were voted by the Twin City Press as being the best freshman Senator. You were also mentioned as being a candidate for the Board of Regents. After you missed out on both of those things, you seem to have one purpose in mind: to destroy an excellent educational system in Thief River Falls. I have no axe to grind since I will have no children in the Thief River Falls schools three months from now. And I KNOW I can't take it with me.

It isn't just education that you are against. You raise a hue and cry for a balanced federal budget, and you don't want postal employees to get a decent living wage. You don't hesitate to accept federal funds for your hospital, even though it helps to put the federal budget in the red.

When the infamous Newborg Plan was put into effect by the City Manager, only to have it put to ridicule by Time Magazine and thrown out by Governor Rockefeller and the federal government, you reprinted an editorial in your editorial page which praised the plan.

Now that the same City Manager has been indicted by a grand jury for accepting a $20,000 bribe, I've been trying to get bets all around town that you would not print a single word that the City Manager had been indicted for what he said people on "welfare" were doing, but I can't find any takers, even when I offer two to one odds.

I think you reached your lowest point in journalism when you printed an unsigned "letter to the editor". And of course it was shortly after Bob Murphy of the Minneapolis Star called us a "hick town" that you called us "Sleepy Hollow" in your editorial column.

Marshall Seeks Transfer of Auto License Division

Secretary of State Jos. Donovan Protests Plan Offered Legislature

Highway Commissioner James Marshall last week stirred another controversy in the Minnesota Legislature.

Already involved in a dispute with DFL Att. Gen. Walter F. Mondale over the fact Mondale controls attorneys paid out of highway funds, Marshall aroused the ire of DFL Secretary of State Joseph Donovan by proposing creation of a separate motor vehicle department.

This move, which Marshall told the Senate highway committee has the approval of Gov. Elmer L. Andersen, would take away from Donovan the issuance of automobile license plates and issuance of chauffeurs' and bus drivers' licenses.

Donovan said the proposal came as a complete surprise. He called it change for the sake of change and insisted the work could be done more efficiently and economically under the present setup. He said he could see no reason for taking any of his responsibilities from him.

"I'm not trying to take anything from the secretary of state," Marshall replied. "I'm just trying to put it all in one ball of wax the way it is in most states where it operates efficiently and economically."

"Before you begin to dismantle someone else's house, you had better be sure your own is in order," said Donovan, ending the discussion.

The committee is to take up the matter again later.

Soo Line Railroad Declares Dividend

To Pay 60 Cents Per Share on Common Stock March 25

Soo Line Railroad Co., Minneapolis, Wednesday declared its first common stock dividend since formation of the railroad by merger of three lines on Jan. 1, 1961.

Directors also authorized payments to clear up past due interest on mortgage bonds.

A dividend of 60 cents per share of common stock was declared, payable March 25 to shareholders of record March 1. There are 1,263,909 shares outstanding.

Payment was authorized for May 1 on accumulated interest totaling some $3.4 million. Payment of the interest had been contingent on railroad earnings. Part of the interest had been accrued by Wisconsin Central Railroad Co. prior to the merger.

The other two railroads merged into Soo Line were Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie and the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railroad.

Last year Soo Line had gross revenues of $80.4 million, which produced earnings of $3.1 million. A year earlier revenues of $74.9 million produced earnings of $663,651.

Six Cases Tried Last Monday in Municipal Court

Six cases were tried in Thief River Falls municipal court before Judge Stanley N. Mortenson on Monday with the highway patrol, game warden service and local police department bringing cases to trial.

In the only highway patrol case, Howard C. Jaranson of Sedro Woolley, Wash., forfeited bond of $17.50 on a speeding charge. In the game warden case, Robert Kraemer, rt. 3, TRF, was fined $25 with $12.50 suspended on a charge of possessing a mink without a proper license.

Police cases included William McDonald, rt. 2, Fisher, arrested on a citizen's complaint for improper turn, $15 fine; Nadine Eidelbes, city, failure to yield right of way, accident involved, fined $25 with $10 suspended; Richard Meyer, city, through stop sign, $15 fine; Gerald A. Johnson, city, speeding, $18 fine; and one drunk case was also tried.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson

Manager Chamber of Commerce

Just last week the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors expressed approval of the proposed school bond election because they felt it was the right thing for them to do. Also last week I reached the day when I have lived for a quarter of a century and I took a little time to think about a few things — including this costly school proposal.

My first reaction was that a professional survey team analyzed our needs, a publicly elected school board agreed, they hired professional architects to design a structure which would meet the needs, bond consultants were hired to present a repayment schedule, citizens groups seem to agree to the needs, the site, the structure, the payment plan and so, perhaps, the bond election should pass without dispute.

But then another line of thought struck me. Taxes are already high and maybe Uncle Sam will help out later, some parties enjoy rent from private classrooms made available, the younger generation is going to the dogs anyway, flood or drought impose hardships on everybody all the time, maybe the school administration and all of these other "high-kaflootin" professionals don't know what they're talking about, business is bad, the community is poor, all the old folks drawing social security can't afford to think of future generations, the progressive citizen's group is probably just thinking of themselves, the "old way" is still probably the best, and besides, the world might come to an end one of these days, so perhaps the school bond election should fail.

Now I just don't know how to vote. I hate to take the responsibility of doing my share locally if I could get a handout from Washington, and then, why should I worry about somebody else's kids or about the future for somebody else? It certainly is a hard decision to make. Maybe some of you could think about this problem and offer some advice.

In any event, business people have to pay a couple of dollars taxes too so they'd appreciate it if you would Shop and Trade Where Bargains Are Made — Here in the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

Postal Employees Cited for Leave Accumulated

Two employees at the Thief River Falls post office have received commendation from the regional director of the U. S. Post Office Department for accumulation of more than 2,000 sick leave hours, according to R. J. Dryden, postmaster.

Gunder Legvold, who has been employed at the local office since May 17, 1919, has accumulated 2,517 hours of sick leave and G. E. Schulke has accumulated in excess of 2,000 hours since he began work with the postal service in 1931. The postal sick leave program is an annual "use it or lose it" provision made to guard against loss of income due to illness.

"I congratulate you on your good fortune and appreciate your wisdom in using this privilege appropriately," stated Adrian P. Winkel, regional director, in citing the commendation. "It is my personal wish that you will continue to enjoy many years of good health together with your family and friends.

John Deere Day Planned Feb. 26

Special movies to provide entertainment and show the new lines of John Deere tractors and machinery will be shown. Charlie Weaver will head the cast of Hollywood personalities in the entertainment films. Further details will be published in the Thursday edition of the Times.

Meat Animals Are RRV Shows Topic

Program Scheduled at N.W. School Thursday

Livestock people and other consumers will have an unusual opportunity to learn more about the end-product of livestock production — meat — when this subject is presented in a program at the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, Thursday, February 21, at 1:30 p. m. in the animal products building at Northwest School.

Interested persons will be able to see both the live animals and also their carcasses. The meat animals will be judged and placed on a live basis at 4 p. m. on Monday, February 18, and then slaughtered and graded on a carcass basis. The hog, beef, and lamb carcasses will be returned to the Winter Shows building and displayed in a refrigerated truck on February 21.

Dr. W. J. Aunan and Dr. F. D. Enfield, both of the animal husbandry department, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, will display and discuss some of the carcasses on the February 21 program. They will also discuss market grades of beef, sheep and lambs as well as present the results of consumer preference studies. Carl Spong of the Central Livestock Association, Inc., West Fargo, will preside at the meeting.

Doctors Advise on Skiing Injuries

The only way to prevent skiing accidents, says the Minnesota State Medical association, is to have proper professional training, know your own shortcomings, and be in all-around physical excellence.

There are no foolproof boots, magic bindings, nor super skis, says the Association. All skiing equipment is only as good as its owner knows how to properly use it, and knows his own limitations. Boots, bindings, skis, poles, clothes and goggles are better now than ever before and will undoubtedly continue to improve, but they have little safety value to the overconfident dim-wit who flies down a steep slope and crashes into a tree at 30 miles per hour.

Competent instruction, says the association, can be given only by well-qualified persons. Well-meaning friends who don't know their own skiing shortcomings do more harm than good. Beginners need vigorous and continuous instruction under the supervision of an expert.

Currently it is estimated that nearly a million people have taken up skiing. On the yearly average, there are six injuries per 1,000 skiing days, with four out of every 1,000 skiers spending a week or less in the hospital. This rate compares favorably with the home accident rate in 1961 when one person in 46 was disabled for one or more days.

In 1961 a comprehensive study of 684 injured skiers was conducted at one of the largest ski resorts in the nation. The study revealed that the most frequent injury was sprains (43 per cent), with fractures (35 per cent-ranking second, lacerations, abrasions and bruises accounted for 16 per cent, and dislocations accounted for 3 per cent of the injuries.

Goodridge School

Twelve Goodridge school students were sworn in by Obert T. Lillo, safety education officer for the Minnesota highway patrol, as school bus patrol members at ceremonies last Tuesday. Larry D. Zenner is the faculty advisor for the patrol.

State Bar Assn. Lists Income Subject to Tax

(This is the fifth in a series of articles on income taxes made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.)

Reporting your correct gross income is the first item of business in preparing your income tax returns. As a general rule, gross income can be defined as the total of amounts received by you for your services, together with the amount which you receive from others for the use of your property or money and the profit which you realize for the sale of your property.

While your gross income will normally consist of cash received in the form of wages or pay for your services, this need not be the case. Money, therefore, is not the sole medium of exchange used to determine the receipt by you of gross income. The fair market value of property or services you receive in return for your services and the use of your money or property must also be taken into consideration in determining your gross income. Thus, if your employer provides you with a house in which to live or provides you with meals, you must generally include in your gross income the fair value of these items.

A person who receives a prize or contest award or who gambles and wins must include in his gross income the cash received and the fair value of items or services received.

There are exceptions to the general rule stated. For example, if your employer provides you with a room or house on his premises and such lodging is a condition of your employment and is for your employer's convenience, this amount would not constitute gross income. Similarly, if your employer furnishes your meals and requires that you eat on the premises, the value of these meals would not constitute gross income to you.

Some payments by an employer are not included in your gross income. Such items are premiums paid by your employer for group term life insurance, group health insurance premiums, the cost of moving you and your family to a new location or office in the interest of your employer and other similar items which are paid to benefit both you and your employer.

There are a few items which would logically fall within the general rule but which are specifically excluded from gross income by law. One of these items is pay received sick. This will be discussed at length in a later article. Interest on state of municipal bonds is exempt from Federal tax. Interest on Minnesota bonds and on United States bonds is exempt from Minnesota taxation; and the first $50 of dividends received by an individual is excluded from gross income on your Federal return.

The application of the general rule mentioned will also show you why gifts, inheritances and government benefit payments are not included in gross income, and why you must include such items as bonuses from your employer and pensions received from your employer after retirement although such pensions may be excluded in part from gross income where you have contributed to the retirement fund.

The first use of "Future Farmers" as the name of an organization of vocational agriculture students was by the "Future Farmers of Virginia," in 1926.

Unskilled Are Unemployed

School Drop-outs Aired At District PTA Conference

Problems of the teenager who does not complete high school and the challenge to schools to provide what the students want to stay in school were discussed at the Juvenile Protection Workshop held Saturday afternoon at Washington elementary school in Thief River Falls. The event was sponsored by the District 17 Parent and Teacher association.

Many youths are not aware of their potentialities or the dim future for unskilled persons in today's world, stated R. S. Eldevik, manager of the state unemployment office in Thief River Falls and a panel member at the Saturday conference. "Skill, experience, training and education are necessary to hold a good employment position," he stated.

Minnesota has 163,000 youths unemployed with about one million in the nation, Eldevik said. It is estimated that 7½ million students will fail to complete high school in the United States between 1960 and 1970. Due to the complexity of our economy, Eldevik said, the future is dark for the unskilled worker.

Francis Hamerlinck, junior high school principal in Thief River Falls, listed some statistics in regard to school drop-pouts. He noted that Minnesota is one of the top states in the nation for retention of students. Of current school drop-outs in the nation, 79 per cent were not delinquents, 50 per cent were above average intelligence, 45 per cent came from homes where the parents were classified as unskilled workers and two-thirds had not participated in extra-curricular activities while in school.

Cite Lack of Interest

Lack of interest or success in school was listed as the cause for 35 per cent of the drop-outs with 10 per cent leaving for economic reasons and 14½ per cent for marriage or pregnancy. A varied and interesting program for youth is necessary to hold their interest and give them incentive for remaining in school past the 16-years-of-age requirement.

Judge Philip Anderson of Crookston listed drop-out percentages locally as 20 per cent in Pennington county, 28 per cent in Polk, 12 per cent in Red Lake and 35 per cent in Roseau. The statistics were taken from fifth grade students who did not go on to graduate in these counties.

Sixty-one per cent of young people appearing on delinquency charges in the United States are not attending school, Judge Anderson said. A major problem in Minnesota is not only providing the students with the education they need but also providing them with jobs to fit what they have been trained to do, the judge added.

Employment "Bumping"

Emil Bagley, director of the Polk county welfare department, stated that a railroad-style "bumping" process is taking place constantly in our communities. Persons unable to get jobs suited to their abilities take the next lowest job on the basis of pay and status. This drops the next in line to a lower position and leaves the unskilled, untrained and unexperienced as unemployed.

WINNERS of 1st place honors at the annual all-school talent night held last week at Oak Grove Lutheran high school in Fargo was Barbara Magnuson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyndon Magnuson of Grygla. A freshman at Oak Grove school, Barbara won the event with a voval solo, "It Might As Well Be Spring." She also appeared as soloist on the WDAY-TV "Party Line" program as a result of her winning the contest.

Trining programs are provided for physically and mentally handicapped at this time, he said, but no program is offered to assist the educationally handicapped. Welfare rolls contain large numbers of physically capable people who would like to work but can find nothing for which their limited knowledge is suited.

Warren Johnson, agent for Northern Minnesota with the Division of Youth Conservation, Department of Corrections, said that much could be done, in the schools to enlarge counseling programs and provide psychological and social worker help to students who plan to leave school before graduation.

Judge Herman Kjos of Thief River Falls served as moderater for the panel which also answered questions from the approximately 50 persons in attendance.

Stewart Presides At Annual State Engineers Meet

Professional Engineer Will Meet February 20 And 21 in Minneapolis

D. H. Stewart, consulting engineer for the city of Thief River Falls, will preside at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Society of Professional Engineers to be held February 20 and 21 at the Leamington Hotel in Minneapolis. Several other local engineers will also attend the annual session.

The week of February 17-23 has been designated as ational Engineers' Week and is sponsored by the National Society of Professional Engineers to bring to the attention of the American people the role of the engineer in society and his function in furthering safety, technical progress and public welfare.

Lake Agassiz Chapter is a division of the Minnesota Society of Professional Engineers and Joseph Seidel, Pennington county engineer, is one of the delegates to the state convention from this area.

Others attending will be Ervin Pearson, area engineer for the Minnesota highway department, alernate delegate; Clifford Larson, project engineer for the state highway department, alternate delegate; Allan Wynnemer, project engineer for the state highway department; and Arthur Storhaug, engineer in the office of Stewart & Walker.

Speakers at the two main banquet and luncheon sessions will be Dr. Clarence Hogan, vice president of Motorola Corporation, and Paul Robins, national executive director of the professional engineers group.

Tax-exempt Agencies Required to Report

George O. Lethert, district director of internal revenue in St. Paul, announced today that tax-exempt organizations required to file annual information returns on Form 990-A will have to submit substantially more information concerning their activities and financial affairs. There are over 3,000 of these organizations in Minnesota.

He stated that while tax-exempt foundations have an outstanding record of accomplishment, their tax-exempt status is being threatened by a few foundations which abuse their privileges. "Tax exemption", he went on to say, "is a high privilege which imposes special obligations on the exempt. The few abusers of the system create a threat for others."

The new Form 990-A will require more detailed information on officers' salaries, stockholdings and other investments, political or lobbying activities, accumulations of capital gains and other income, dealings and relationships with contributors and costs of raising funds. It will also require names and addresses of persons receiving grants together with their relationships to benefactors of the organization.

The public portion of the Form 990-A, which contains the foregoing information, will be available for a public inspection not only in the internal revenue district office in St. Paul, but also in Washington, D. C. Lists of contributors to the organization, however, will not be a part of the inspection file since the law requires they be withheld from public inspection.

A second phase of this program will be an expanded audit activity in this area. It is expected that all types of exempt organizations will be covered.

Particular emphasis will be on private charities since some are used to further private interests of the founders and to social clubs, fraternal organizations and others "which open their recreational facilities for a fee to persons other than regular members and their guests".

When asked what type of abuses there were, Mr. Lethert replied that they generally fall into eight categories. He cited these as: self-dealing foundations; unreasonable acculations of income; speculative investments; competing for interest and rental income; manipulation of leases; donation of non-income-producing property, "especially where the donor holds and enjoys the 'donated' property" over-valuation of art and other properties; and the faulty filing of information returns.

He went on to state that although the promotion of private philanthropy through tax forgiveness is an established premise of our system, the internal revenue service is still charged with the important responsibility to guard the integrity of the tax law, to bolster the confidence of our people in the fairness of our self-assessment tax system and to assure them that elements in our society are not taking advantage of their preferred position.

Banquet Speaker Urges Lions to Accept Challenge

ter of ceremonies for the evening with the invocation and benediction given by Phil Kays. Ross Martin, District 5M-3 governor, introduced the main speaker. Mayor Orin Green welcomed the visiting Lions and vocal music was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Ulseth, accompanied by Jerry Joringdal.

Challenge to Mayor

Mayor Green was challenged to a snow shoe race with the mayor of Beausejour, Man., at the Winter Farewell festival at that city and responded that his answer would be given at the Ladies Brunch on Sunday. J. M. Parkins, international councilor from Thief River Falls was given a rousing round of applause for his work in arranging the conference.

Lester Elseth, president of the Newfolden Lions club, presented the Thief River Falls club with a new member. "Billy the Kid", a real, live billy goat, was given to Parkins for keeping until transferred to another club. Membership certification papers were provided with the transfer.

Club officers from the Brandon Lions club presented several of the visiting dignitaries with souvenir hats promoting the McDonald-Briar curling championship to be held at Brandon this year. Dancing followed the evening banquet which was served by the American Legion auxiliary.

Sunday Sessions

About 90 Lions attended the Sunday morning breakfast and took part in workshop sessions for club officers. Attendance of about 100 was noted at the ladies brunch at 12:30 p. m. Sunday in the Elks club rooms. Mayor Green officially accepted the snow shoe race challenge of the Beausejour Lions club and the program consisted of a demonstration on flower arrangement by Bruce Hall. Mrs. Sig Quam presided at the program.

of Rhyme & Reason

"SOUND OFF" IS AN ARMY COMMAND used for counting cadence in marching formation. It has also been adapted as a term for expressing verbal opinion. Today this space is devoted to "sounding off" on several subjects of current interest with the sacrifice of several bits of humor.

First point of discussion is the local personal property tax situation. It is generally agreed by most people that taxation on personal property is inequitable. It is impossible to make this tax equitable since it is based on assessment of a multitude of items of variable degrees of value. It is unfair to the farmer who must have machinery to operate his business and to the businessman who must maintain a large stock of items.

For most individuals the personal property tax is not an overwhelming burden. For farmers and businessmen, however, it is considerably more than a nuisance. I would venture to say that the majority of taxpayers in Pennington county last week conducted at least a partial comparison of their tax with others. I would also be willing to wager that the majority of these were dissatisfied with their assessment.

As for myself, I am not happy. By camparison with others, I don't believe a tax of $19.76 is equitable. I also do not believe that an increase of 25 per cent from last year is justified since all my personal property is a year older and nothing new was added. I might add that no assessor has set foot in my home to determine what I have or its value. I am going to request an adjustment. If you are dissatisfied, I hope you complain, too. I would personally find a tax on what I buy more acceptable than on what I own.

Let's Change the Subject

With a school bond issue election again in the offing, the pros and cons of spending more taxpayers money are being loosely tossed about. A Citizen's Committee on Education has been formed to compile FACTS on school needs and construction and to make this information available to the voting public. It is planned to have a house to house presentation of these facts.

Do not beware of the caller at your home. He or she is not trying to sell you anything. The committee feels very strongly that if the facts are presented to all voters in an easily understood manner that there need be no misconceptions, partial truths or unfounded rumors spread to confuse the real issue. The real issue is number of students and adequate facilities in which to provide for their education.

To further insure that all questions are answered, arrangements are being made for a question-answering service. Canvassers calling at your home are your friends and neighbors who are interested in ample educational facilities for the children in this school district. They are not salesmen and they are not all completely informed on all phases of the issue. For this reason the question answering service is to be provided. The committee believes that an informed public can not help but make the right decision — whatever that decision may be.

Something is to be said for need to provide for our students. It was noted that in 1939 the district had 33 classrooms for just over 700 elementary students. Today, discounting rentals for two sixth grade classes and two special classes for the retarded, the district has 44 classrooms for more than 1,300 elementary pupils. Construction of 13 classrooms at Washington elementary school in 1957 was immediately cut to five additional elementary rooms as Old Washington's eight rooms were needed for junior high school students.

Not being gifted with the ability to see into the future, the school board and administration can not tell how many students the district will have 20 years from now. It may be less than at present — but it is much more likely that the number will be greater. For the sake of Thief River Falls, we should all hope that it is. But the need is now. Construction will not guarantee increased population — but it could help. Families with school age children and a choice of place of residence will hesitate to locate in a community which does not provide for the educational needs of its own children.

Something must also be said of cost. The total program proposed for a new junior high school and elementary school is an amount not to exceed $1,495,000. This is a lot of money — or is it, when we look at the actual expense per family? To the laborer owning a home in Thief River Falls, the added expense for financing $1,495,000 for school construction would be $3.33 per $100 of taxes exclusive of special assessments. For most people this would not exceed $15 per year. assessments. For most people this would not exceed $15 per year, and for many the amount would be substantially less than that figure. What is this — a night at the club, a weekend fishing trip, several phonograph records, a new shrub by the back porch, the down payment on a TV set — or a new junior high school and elementary school?

Too often we accept the extravagance of state and federal spending by saying that we can do nothing about it — then hamper our local progress by being too severe at home. In our careful hunting we overlook the deer to kill the rabbit. We forget that the rental we are paying and increased rental we will continue to pay without new construction would go far in financing a new building. We magnify the cost and minimize the value. Let's be realistic and place values in their proper perspective.

Pastor, Uncle of Erling Torgerson, Succumbs at 92

Erling Torgerson was informed Thursday evening of the death of his uncle, Rev. A. J. Torgerson, at Yakima, Washington. Rev. Torgerson, who was 92 years old, is survived by several sons and daughters.

Funeral services were held at Yakima Saturday afternoon and interment will be at Northwood, Iowa, where he served many years as a Lutheran pastor.

Erling Torgerson attended the funeral services, leaving here by plane Friday afternoon.

Trinidad Native Is Curling Enthusiast

By Flora Allison
Times Society Reporter

"Try explaining to someone in Trinidad," sighed Miss Joyce Ramserran, "what you mean when you say you are taking up curling as a sport. At's attempting the near-impossible." And no wonder! This diminutive 90-pound member of the local Bonnie Tunberg curling team left her family in that tropical island off the coast of Venezuela to attend college in Minnesota and subsequently teach here, and is serving her second term as a teacher of four sections of Spanish at the local high school.

In the land of palm trees and bongo rhythms where she was born and raised, the mean average temperature is 74-78 degrees, with 60 the usual minimum. How can anyone there visualize temperatures of —25 or —35, and a sport in which a (curling) stone is slid across a sheet of ice toward a goal at the opposite end of the arena, and brooms are whisked furiously in advance of the stone to facilitate its progress? This is her problem.

The week of February 4, the all-girl team of which she is a member nosed out the leading women's team locally. Others on the team are Ardis Tunberg and Vi Larson. You can bet that when the bonspiel takes place here beginning February 22, Miss Ramserran will b an enthusiastic rooter. The bonspiel, incidentally, is limited to men only.

A major in math and languages, she says, "I was exposed to three languages when I was still quite young—Hindi, Spanish and English. Since England aook over our island, English is naturally the official government language, and is taught in the schools."

A Transplant

How did she decide upon coming to Minnesota? A friend of her vegetable - fruit - farmer father expedited her admission to Mankato State college six years ago. Stopping briefly in New York, she came directly to Mankato. Fortunately it was still summer, and consequently she was "eased in to" the shock of a Minnesota winter, but she says she was totally unprepared for its rigors. "However, the first winter was the roughest," she admits. "By the second one, I was getting, well. . . as acclimated as anyone ever does. But last year was one I couldn't appreciate — or ever forget! I got a real indoctrination, with all that snow. They told me it was an unusual winter. What about this one, then ? I'm beginning to think they're all 'unusual.' "

On the sun-kissed shores of Trinidad, she was a tennis fan, but has not gone out for that sport here. The islanders are outdoor sports enthusiasts; boating, wimming, water skiing, tennis, and soccer are all popular. They have their own version of football, too, which is more like cricket.

Miss Ramserran, in addition to curling, also bowls. Was it true, we asked her, that an individual's bowing score often paralleled his weight? "In my case, that's about it," she laughed. "My score goes up a point about every two games, though," she grinned with confidence. This is her second year in bowling. This summer she plans to take up golf also.

Curling, for one raised in a tropical land, seemed incongrous. "It is novel, isn't it?" she agreed. "Bu I attended a bonspiel last year, and it looked like fun, so when I was invited to join a rink, I thought about it for awhile. And when they asked me a second time, I said 'yes.' It's gowing on me; it's more fun, really; but it sounds terribly silly to my family."

Her love for the states is evident: she has traveled quite a lot in the east, and on her list of "must see" places are such wonders as the Grand Canyon and the national parks in the west.

Last summer she advanced her education and added to her credits by attending college in Mexico. A sister teaches also, and will be joining her husband in Winnipeg, Canada, in the spring. A brother is studying engineering in England. Miss Ramserran is the second of 11 children. They live at Port of Spain; her father's farming operations are carried out about three miles from the city. He raises bananas, oranges and a variety of other fruits. Fruit is featured extensively in their daily diets, very often in combinations. The family's hobby is music. "But no one plays seriously," according to Miss Ramserran. "What we do is strictly for fun."

Food in the islands is quite different from ours. "we use a lot more spices, and we have a great deal of lamb, instead of the beef which is so common here. Many of the people are Hindu, and consequently do not eat beef." She has learned to enjoy pizza and spaghetti, and is fond of American steaks.

Education in Trinidad

Teaching requirements, we learned from her, are about on a par with our own. Education is becoming increasingly important to the islanders. They have compulory education for those under 15. More and more women are going into career fields. Since the island still has only limited facilities for higher education, Many students go to England and Canada to study. Her sister's husband is currently a student in Canada. Perhaps he is one family member who can appreciate the "silly" sport of curling which so intrigues his sister-in-law.

ICE is unknown in Trinidad except for the frozen cubes used for cooling refreshments. Miss Joyce Ramserran, Spanish teacher at Lincoln high school and a native of the tropical island off the coast of Venezuela, is a curling addict with the local Bonnie Tunberg rink. Explaining the fine art of performing on a sheet of ice more than 100 feet long is a difficult task when Miss Ramserran's parents have never known temperatures below 60 degrees.

All-state Meal to Be Served Solons

Legislators to Be Guests at Breakfast February 26

Minnesota lawmakers are going to be pleasantly reminded that production of good-tasting, high quality food still is Minnesota's No. 1 industry.

An all-Minnesota breakfast is being arranged for all members of the Minnesota legislature, Governor Andersen, and scores of other leaders in government, education, agriculture, industry, communications and promotion.

The meal — to feature Minnesota - produced foods — will be served at 8 a. m., Tuesday, February 26, in the cafeteria of the new highway building across from the state capitol.

On the menu will be tomato juice, scrambled eggs, turkey-and-pork sausage links, muffins with honey-butter, fried potatoes, and milk.

State Agriculture Commissioner Duane Wilson said he would be on hand to personally fry the first panful of eggs and sausage with the help of the dairy industry's Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Kathleen Hjelle of Argyle, who'll also serve the milk and honey-butter.

Purpose of the affair, according to Wilson, is to call attention at leadership levels to the importance of agriculture in Minnesota's total economy and point up the need for further efforts in promoting Minnesota-grown and processed foods.

"Our Minnesota farmers and food processors have mastered their techniques to a remarkable degree," Wilson said. "Now, it's time to devote more attention and energy to the promotion and sale of our commodities and the place to start is right here in Minnesota."

Individual organizations have donated enough food to serve more than 300 persons at the breakfast.

Load Limits Will Take Effect Soon on Trunk Highways

Truckers Are Advised to Haul Heavy Loads Before Annual Spring Breakup

With the annual load restrictions on many of Minnesota's trunk highways due to be imposed within the next few weeks, the highway department today issued a reminder to heavy shippers that time is running out. Restrictions on axle loads normally go into effect the first part of March, but the actual signing is dependent upon weather conditions and the ability of the highways to carry heavy loads.

As in former years, almost 7,000 miles of the trunk highway system will again be subjected to restrictions. These weight limitations are necessary, the Department points out, to protect these highways from unnecessary, severe damage to the surfaces and bases which would result in costly repairs.

Each of the 16 maintenance area engineers have made their recommendations to the department's maintenance division for maximum loads which each of their highways will be able to carry during the forthcoming spring breakup. These restrictions vary from four tons per axle to seven tons per axle, with a total of 6,780 miles being affected. Last year, 6,889 miles were restricted, which indicates a minor improvement in the upgrading of highways through construction.

Because of such necessary restrictions, the residents and industries of more than 400 communities cannot be served by trucks hauling normal loads over these highways for about eight to ten weeks each spring. Although the highway department recognizes the plight of these communities, there is little the department can do to alleviate this condition except as additional funds are made available to upgrade these highways.

Russell S. Embury Wins Sales Honors

Honored by American Hardware Insurance Co.

Russell S. Embury of Thief River Falls was given his company's highest award for sales achievement by the American Hardware Mutual Insurance company at a recent meeting in Minneapolis. In addition he gained recognition in four other categories for his ervice to customers in this area during 1962.

Mr. Embury has represented his company in Thief River Falls for the past twenty years. He, and his wife, Beatrice, will observe their silver wedding anniversary next April. His son, Steve, is a pre-medical student at St. Olaf College.

An avid sportsman, he is a member of the Trap club, Golf club, Curling club, Sportsman's club and Ducks Unlimited. His social and service organizations are the Elks lodge, American Legion, 40 et 8 Volture, Masonic Lodge, Rotary club, Shrine and the Chamber of Commerce.

Agriculture is by far the nation's largest single industry. While the percentage of farm people to total U. S. population is declining, there still are 14.3 million persons living on farms. The value of farm products sold in 1962 was in excess of 35 billion dollars.

GREETED with Valentines from members of the dietary department at Northwestern Hospital and a heart-shaped cake baked and decorated for the occasion was Ray Wells of Thief River Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Wells observed their 20th wedding anniversary on Valentine's Day and are shown looking over the many cards received. The cake was baked by Mrs. George Hovet and decorated by Mrs. Earl Arnold and Mrs. Myrtle Olson for a special coffee party held in the hospital room. Wells has been a polio patient for more than 10 years and conducts an accounting business from his home.

Minnesota Rates High In Use of Telephones

Minnesota has more telephones than many other countries in the world, according to J. M. Wilson, local manager of Northwestern Bell Telephone company. With 170 telephone companies in the state serving some 1,492,000 phones at the end of the year, Minnesota has more phones than Argentina, Brazil, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Denmark and many others.

There are now more than 42 phones for every 100 persons living in the state. In Argentina there are 6.4 telephones for every 100 persons. Throughout the United States the number of telephones per 100 population totals 41.8. Sweden was second in development per 100 population with 38.7 per 100 population, but was ninth in total number of telephones. The United Kingdom was second in number of telephones, but was ninth in number of telephones in relation to its population.

The United States was first both in total number of phones and in number per 100 population. World-wide there were 4.9 telephones for every 100 persons. Russia had 2.33 phones per 100 persons.

These figures were included in the 1962 edition of "The World's Telephones," issued recently by American Telephone and Telegraph Company. All figures are as of January 1, 1962, since it takes a year to obtain the data.

Russia reported it had 5,119,061 telephones at the beginning of 1962, compared to 4,300,599 a year before. This was a gain of 19 per cent. Despite its large percentage gain, Russia still had only 455,000 more telephones than New York City. At the beginning of 1962, New York had 4,663,632 telephones. Today it has about 4.8 million. The United States has some 81 million telephones today.

Canadians again apparently used their telephones more than anyone else. They averaged 551.6 telephone conversations per person. The United States was second with 529.7 telephone conversations per person, while Iceland was third with 487.3.

Northwestern Bell Telephone Company customers here can call some 98 per cent of all the telephones in the world. Overseas service was extended in 1961 to nine additional areas: Basutoland, Bechauanaland, Burundi, French Somaliland, Reunion, and Swaziland (all in Africa,) French Guiana in South America, Sarawak in Asia and New Hebrides in the southest Pacific Ocean.

Legislative Letter

from ANDREW SKAAR
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

One hundred pounds of reading material — that's one way veteran Capitol observers describe the volumes of reports, recommendations, studies, and the like which are placed on each legislator's desk during the course of a session of the Minnesota Legislature. Looking at the tall pile of such material that has already accumulated on my desk, I think it would be fair to say we have a good start toward that weight and the final total has probably not been exaggerated.

There's infinite variety to this printed matter — green, blue, blue-green, tan, yellow, orange, and white covers; ring-bound, stapled, punched, and clipped; and involving everything from the Governor's proposed budget (727 pages) to a report from the Minnesota River Recreation Development Association (15 pages). Despite such differences, however, each of them has one thing in common. Each of them represents a conscientious effort to inform members of the Legislature regarding certain of the almost countless phases of state law and government.

To give you a little more information on just what these documents are concerned with, let me give you the titles of a few of the ones that happen to be on my desk at the present time. They include "Report of the Governor's Property Tax Administration Committee"; "Natural Resources of Minnesota: 1962"; "Report of the Legislative Building Commission"; "Fiscal Facts for Minnesotans"; "Report of the State Claims Commission"; "State Aid to Public Schools"; and the biennial reports of the Highway and Civil Defense Departments, the State College Board, and the Minnesota Soldiers' Home.

Most of the material we receive can be termed "Official" — that is, it comes in the form of reports and recommendations to the Legislature which are required by law. A large number also come from non-profit corporations and organizations concerned with both specific and more general phases of state government.

The great value of all these documents, both official and unofficial, is that they give the legislator ready sources of reference information. We read as much as we can — starting with those which are most important, which pertain to matters soon to come before the entire Legislature, and which deal with the concerns of the particular committees on which we serve, but it would be humanly impossible for any member of the House or Senate to read all the documents, and those which are not carefully read therefore help comprise a legislator's "reference library". When the need for information in a hurry develops, these volumes prove to be invaluable.

These many documents, containing as they do countless charts, graphs, and maps, as well as hundreds of thousands of words and statistics, momentarily bring conflicting feelings to a member of the Minnesota Legislature. A person's first reaction is to be overwhelmed with the size of the state's government, and to experience some concern at the responsibility of serving as a member of the legislative branch. But, upon further reflection, you feel gratified that so many able people are spending so many hours in gaining knowledge and compiling information that will help the Legislature and assure the continuance of informed and efficient government.

Intelligent reports, studies and recommendations are absolutely essential to our form of government, and all members of the Legislature are grateful for the sizeable role they play in helping us do the job for which we were elected.

Once Roseau Man Named Officer of Investment Firm

Curtiss T. Olson of Detroit Lakes Minn., has been elected regional vice president of North Central Financial Planning Corp. of St. Paul to direct and further develop its operations in northwestern Minnesota, North and South Dakota.

The announcement was made by Theodore Sanborn, president of the St. Paul-based distributor of the Wall Street mutual fund.

Olson, a member of the Minnesota from Roseau county for five consecutive terms ending in 1951, joined the St. Paul firm in April 1962 and was a regional manager prior to his election as regional vice president.

Highway 59 Plans Are Discussed At Lake Bronson

Final Highway Links From Winnipeg To TRF To Be Built In '63, '65

At a public hearing held at Lake Bronson early this month, state highway department officials discussed the department's plans for construction in that area on trunk highway 59. Speaking for the department, Carl Larson, Bemidji, district engineer, stated that the present plans call for construction between Halma and Lancaster in two stages.

The first project calls for the reconstruction of the present highway from Halma to the point where it turns west, a distance of 8½ miles, to be built in 1963. From that point to Lancaster, distance of 7.6 miles, the highway will be relocated paralleling the Soo Line tracks, and is scheduled for construction in 1965.

Larson reviewed the record of progress in the development of this highway, pointing out that these two projects would complete a program of construction that provides an excellent road of 7 ton-axle capacity, paralleling the Soo Line from Thief River Falls to Lancaster and north to the Canadian border. The cost of new construction on this highway up to now is in excess of two million dollars, he said.

Attending the meeting with Mr. Larson were his assistant, E. W. Johnson of Bemidji and E. C. Pearson, resident engineer, and A. C. Larson, project engineer, of Thief River Falls.

Dr. M. W. Hoffman of Lancaster, president of Highway 59 Association, presided.

Moorhead Pastor Named President Augsburg College

Contingent upon his formal acceptance, the Rev. Oscar A. Anderson, 46, was voted unanimously as the seventh president of Augsburg College by the Augsburg board of regents at their quarterly meeting held Thursday, Feb. 14, in Minneapolis.

Mr. Anderson has been pastor of Trinity Lutheran church in Moorhead, Minn., since 1954.

Mr. Anderson would succeed Leif S. Harbo who has served as president since August, 1962. Dr. Bernhard Christensen served as Augsburg's fifth president from 1938 to 1962.

A native of Minneapolis, Mr. Anderson attended Augsburg College from 1934 to 1936 then transferred to St. Olaf College where he was graduated magna cum laude in 1938. He received his bachelor of theology degree from Luther Theological Seminary in St. Paul in 1942.

Mr. Anderson has been chairman of the Board of Regents at Luther Theological Seminary since 1960.

Editorials . . .

"I think I knew General Washington intimately and thoroughly: and were I called on to delineate his character, it should be in terms like these. His mind was great and powerful without being of the very first order; his penetration strong, though not so acute as that of Newton, Bacon or Locke; and, as far as he saw, no judgment was ever sounder. It was slow in operation, being little aided by imagination or invention, but sure in conclusion. Hence the common remark of his officers, of the advantage he derived from councils of war, where, hearing all suggestions, he selected whatever was best; and certainly, no general planned his battles more judiciously."

Oslo's New School

A new school addition at Oslo will be dedicated Wednesday. The new structure replaces the portion of an old building destroyed by fire in May of 1961. According to the Warren Sheaf this new building will provide 12 classrooms, along with some other facilities, at a cost of only $269,000, and in view of the fact that we are considering expanded school facilities in our community, that figure is especially interesting.

According to the Sheaf:

> "The new 2-story addition includes about 20,000 square feet. The first floor contains six classrooms, a general office, superintendent's office, health room, part of the kitchen, workroom, two storage rooms and toilets. The second story contains a principal's office, counseling room, six classrooms, two storage rooms and toilets. The basement is covered with an 8-inch concrete slab to provide space which can double as a community fallout shelter.
> "Cost of various phases of operation include: general contract, $157,944; plumbing contract, $39,464; electrical contract, $23,796; science laboratory, $4,795; boiler room, $29,000; architect fees, $13,809.

That sounds like a lot of building at a very reasonable cost, compared with what has been proposed for our school district at a cost of much more than a million dollars. The new building will be open for inspection on Wednesday and we would suggest that members of our school board and other citizens who are interested in providing adequate school facilities for our actual needs in the most economical way, might find a visit to Oslo on Wednesday very much worth while.

Sensible Conclusions

A unanimous Supreme Court decision probably will speed up the work of the three District Court judges who are charged with the responsibility of determining which of two candidates won the election as Minnesota's governor. They decided that if the intent of the voter was reasonably clear, the vote should be counted regardless of deviations from prescribed marking, providing the ballots were not marked so as to be easily identified. On this point the Court stated:

> "The reason for rejecting a ballot upon which the voter has placed a distinguishing mark is that such a mark identifies the ballot and affords means for the corruption and intimidation to the voter in violation of the letter and spirit of the Australian ballot law, which provides for secrecy of the ballot as a safeguard against such evils."

On irregular marking of the ballot the Court ruled:

> "Mere irregularities in the marking of ballots, such as neither create uncertainty as to the voter's choice nor serve as distinguishing signs, violative of secrecy, are not cause for rejecting ballots."

All of which makes sense and simplifies a great deal the problem of the three judges.

Big City Complaints

Don Brown of the Waseca Herald takes issue with the arguments advanced by Minneapolis and St. Paul in support of their demands for more financial assistance from the state. One of their complaints is based on the relatively large contribution they make to the state in the form of income taxes, and the proportionately smaller amount of these funds that is distributed back to them in the form of school aid. This complaint, according to Brown, ignores some of the important facts. He says:

> "They talk about the state income tax collections in the large cities and attempt to relate that to the aid given to elementary and high school education in their city and suburbs.
> "No mention is made of the fact that many of their corporations have stores or branches scattered throughout the state. Yet their income tax is paid at the company headquarters in the larger city. They forget that the insurance premiums we in the hinterlands pay, go to the large centers of population and it is there that the tax is collected on the profits.
> "And the stores and the wholesale firms and the distributors and many of the service companies draw considerable trade from our small communities. We in the rural areas make it possible for them to make huge profits on which their income taxes are based.
> "We country folk patronize the big city hotels, we park our cars in cold open ramp garages for which we pay a handsome fee, we buy some gasoline at their filling stations and we eat their food at prices we would never pay at home and we patronize their concerts and it is our extra business which is most profitable. Thus we create for big city business the profit which bears the heaviest income tax rate but we get no credit for it."

And the large cities have been relieved of much of their education expense as the population has moved into the suburbs.

The two large cities of the state should keep in mind the fact that they benefit substantially by state expenditures. The University of Minnesota, for instance, along with its student body and all of the school activities, is no doubt the greatest single asset Minneapolis has, bringing many more dollars to the city than the city gives to the state. And the state payroll, along with the various state activities that bring people to the Capitol City, pours many more dollars into St. Paul than St. Paul pays to the state. Our large cities have little reason for complaint.

Helping Brazil

Our government has agreed to give 30 million dollars to Brazil to help that nation through its financial difficulties. That seems like a waste of money. It would cost us much less to send economist Heller down there for a couple of weeks and let him straighten out their economic problems.

All they need to do is to lower taxes and spend more money, and that will quickly bring prosperity to the nation. Surely we can get along without Heller for a couple of weeks.

Ike on Relaxation

Is President Kennedy neglecting his duties when he takes off for a round of golf or a few days of sailing? Former President Eisenhower doesn't think so. He thinks a little recreation occasionally is essential to anyone who is so constantly under pressure. In his opinion, "The worst possible President would be one who always just stayed at his desk."

Referring to criticism of his own leisure pursuits, the General said:

> "I paid not the slightest attention to it. As a matter of fact, I stopped reading that kind of thing. It didn't bother me for this simple reason: To be in condition—to do the things I needed to do—I just couldn't sit at the desk all the time."

More Resentment

Newsweek magazine published a four-page report on Canada's recent political explosion, and added coals to the smoldering fire of Canadian resentment. The Winnipeg Tribune published the entire report along with the following editorial comment:

> "Newsweek, a news interpretive magazine, has given Canada the "cover" treatment. Gone are all the platitudes and the cloying tributes which featured its previous rare excursions north of the border. Today we aren't very nice people. At best, it appears that Canadians are a bunch of timid tenants overdue on their rent for half of the continent.
> "There is no purpose in disputing the conclusions of this magazine. Its version of the events in Canada recalls Dr. Johnson's riposte: "I have found you an argument, but I'm not obliged to find you understanding."
> "Argument is easy, understanding is difficult. We doubt if Newsweek could grasp that.
> "Just the same, it is interesting to see how the Canadian confrontation — for that's what our election has become in the U.S. — is being processed by a mass media circulator on which so many Americans depend for guidance. There is no point in disputing the superficial conclusions.
> "Newsweek has served a useful purpose for it reveals the gulf separating large bodies of American and Canadian opinion. It is made apparent that even in sharing the same language, we do not automatically achieve understanding.
> "Both countries have been careless about this matter. The merest whiffs of controversy result in charges of anti-Americanism, anti-anti-Americanism, and anti-Canadianism. It is not a compliment to our common heritage and our vaunted freedom-of-speech to realize how much misunderstanding exists.
> "It is more distressing to note the emphasis on such "anti" speculation in view of the mutual trust and respect that is the basis of our friendship. Both nations are to blame for this diversion because of the lack of candor in times past.
> "In the current Newsweek article Canadians are under the microscope. That's the way some Americans see us. Although we don't agree with Newsweek's assessment, the fact cannot be escaped that Canadians are on the hot seat.
> "That's Canada they're talking about —not the Congo."

Gov. Elmer L. Andersen

St. Peter State Hospital

In the wake of a television show about the Security Hospital at the St. Peter State Hospital for the mentally ill there have been questions, suggestions and public concern.

Even though I had had investigations and studies of my own during the past two years and some corrective measures underway, I felt it would be well to have a special fact finding committee go to St. Peter and make a public report of just what the conditions are, what is being done to correct them, and what more should be done. This committee is at work.

In reviewing the law, a provision came to light, of a committee to screen patients in our mental hospitals, that has never been used. I have directed Mr. Hursh to activate such a committee and have them review every case in the Security Hospital to be sure no one is there who should not be there.

I am hopeful that this public concern will express itself in communications to members of the legislature urging them to support my budget request for new personnel for our mental health program. This is our greatest need—more patient care and better living conditions for patients through more people to look after them.

An enormous amount of progress has been made since Governor Luther Youngdahl went to work on this problem in 1949. As State Senator from '49 on, as well as Governor, I have been involved in a great many improvements. It is only fair to say that with less staff than needed the concentration tends to be on patients with the best chance for speedy recovery. Our discharge rate has gone up substantially in just the last two years. Patients committed for a long prison term, with particularly difficult problems can tend to get less attention. I don't excuse this, but am simply stating the reality.

Not all people in the Security Hospital are there because of crimes committed. Some are transferred there because of extreme behavior problems or homicidal tendencies, to protect other patients as well as the individual himself.

Just as the television show that focused on the St. Peter State Hospital shocked many deeply, so a television show could be produced showing excellent facilities, fine treatment, before and after testimonials and a presentation of the best side of our mental health program. Be assured, outstanding work is being done.

What we need is a balanced view, a knowledge and understanding of how difficult the problem of mental illness is, how much progress has been made, how much needs to be done, and a strong and continuous public support for the research, personnel training programs, building, equipment and supplies needed and an understanding of the personnel shortages nationwide that make recruitment difficult even with available funds — and finally a personal and deep sense of gratitude for the people who work with the mentally ill in our hospitals. Visit one sometime and ask yourself how you would like it as a steady job.

Public concern is good—through it comes progress — particularly when it is mature, informed and sustained.

G. Forks Tips Prowlers 71-43; Locals Take EGF

The hot-and-cold Prowlers played some hot-and-cold basketball in the two games on the weekend's schedule, and the result was that coach Jack Junker's cagers marked up one win and absorbed one loss. Playing at East Grand Forks on Friday night, in a District 31 conference game, the Prowlers ripped through the East Siders for a 66 to 48 win and remain undefeated in conference competition. In the first period of the game, the Prowlers scored on ten of the twelve field goal tries.

On Saturday night, playing on the local court, the Prowlers were held to but seven points in the first period, and another seven-point cluster in the second period, as the Grand Forks Central team racked up a 40-point first half and went on to gain a 71 to 43 decision.

The Prowlers will conclude their 1963 schedule this week when they meet the Warren Ponies and the Halstad Pirates on Friday and Saturday on the local floor. The Warren Ponies will play here on Friday night in a conference game and the Halstad Pirates will close out the season by playing here on Saturday night.

The Prowlers clinched first place in the district conference standings by virtue of their 66 to 48 win over coach Larry Selk's East Siders, and the locals increased that margin to 36 to 23 at the intermission.

The East Siders trailed by 11 points, 40 to 29, midway in the third period when the Prowlers reeled off five field goals to "break open" the game. Tom Lindberg, who was the game's leading scorer with 19 points, rolled in a rebound shot; Rick Jensen scored on a lay-up; Bob Olson, from close in, shoved in a field goal; John Aune, intercepting a pass, scored from close in; and Jensen hit on a jumper. After Gary Raymond had marked up a Green Wave free throw, Jensen and Jerry Erickson scored Prowler field goals to shove the locals into a 54 to 30 lead.

The East Siders outpointed the Prowlers, 13 to 11, in the final period, but were unable to get back into contention and the Prowlers recorded a well-deserved 66 to 48 win.

State Loses Part of U.S. Wildlife Funds

The long battle between the federal government and the conservation departments of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan and Colorado over the method of allocating federal aid funds for wildlife programs has apparently come to an end.

The final defeat for the states in the three year old legal fight came with the announcement that the U. S. Supreme Court had denied an appeal to review the case which the lower court had decided in favor of the federal government.

At issue was the federal government's method of determining the number of paid hunting license holders in each state in the formula used to allocate Pittman - Robertson federal aid monies for wildlife restoration projects.

The formula says "paid license holders", but in many states the hunter is required to purchase several different hunting licenses to hunt the various species of game which he is interested in bagging.

The question was: Does each hunting license sold create another "paid license holder" or does the term mean that each hunter is counted only as one paid license holder regardless of how many licenses he buys?

The federal government, and now the courts, believe the term restricts the number of license holders to the number of individual hunters in each state and that the total number of licenses sold is immaterial.

If the case had been decided otherwise, Minnesota stood to gain around $158,000 in federal aid funds which had been withheld by the federal government pending outcome of the legal struggle.

It will be necessary for the conservation departments of Minnesota and the other states to devise some method acceptable to the federal government of determining the number of individual hunters in their respective states.

3,903 Arrests on Game Law Counts During Past Year

Minnesota game wardens made a total of 3,903 arrests during 1962 for violations of the state game and fish laws, the conservation department reported.

Transporting loaded or uncased firearms in motor vehicles resulted in 940 arrests. Other common violations were for fishing with two lines (457 arrests) and fishing without a license (245 arrests).

Non-residents caught using resident licenses brought 33 arrests during the year. The possesion of redhead, canvasback or other protected migratory waterfowl resulted in the arrests of 21 hunters and 48 persons were found hunting without licenses.

Prowler 'B' Quint Splits Two Games

Whip EGF 'B's 45-30, and Lost to Grand Forks 48-45

It was a win and a loss for coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' cagers this past week. Playing at East Grand Forks on Friday night, and with forward Rich Nelson racking up twenty points, the locals scored a 45 to 30 win over coach Ron Thompson's East Grand Forks 'B' squad.

On Saturday night, playing on the Lincoln high school court, coach Joe Rich's Grand Forks Central 'B' team, with agile guard Gary Gillis tallying six field goals and eight free throws, edged out the Prowler B's, 48 to 45. The Red skin 'B' squad marked up their winning points in the second period when they outpointed the locals, 14 to 8. Mark Steen paced the Prowler scoring in Saturday night's tilt, scoring six field goals.

Toasts 'n Tidings BY Your Minnesota Hostess

February winds blew in this news from London, England: a British brewery has designed what it terms "the perfect beer glass." Goblet-shaped, with slightly nipped-in top and round stem, it's said to help one get beer into the mouth . . . and not down one's shirt-front! Of course we American hostesses often serve beer in goblets; it's so attractive at the table. Beer tastes fine in any-shape glass! But it will hold its foamy collar better if you'll rinse the glass in cold water first. (No wiping, please.)

Lenten Lifts

Soon you'll be serving more "meatless" meals, for Lent starts early this year! That's an excellent time to experiment with beer cookery. For instance, the new canned cheddar cheese soups take on "continental" flavor when you substitute beer for the prescribed liquid. Shrimp, boiled in beer and seasonings, is excellent hot or cold. Many vegetables may likewise be simmered in beer. Red cabbage is especially good that way. (I add just a bit of onion and sugar to mine.) Remember, you may have my cookbook free! Write Minnesota Hostess, 333 WCCO Bldg., Minneapolis 2, Minn.

IT'S A FACT! IN STATE TAXES ALONE, THE BREWING INDUSTRY PAYS ANNUALLY ENOUGH MONEY TO BUILD 13,750 NEW $20,000 HOMES... ...OR PAY FOR 91,666 NEW $3,000 AUTOMOBILES. IN 1961 THE BREWING INDUSTRY IN THE UNITED STATES PAID $275,000,000 IN STATE TAXES—STRONG SUPPORT FOR THE CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE OF SUCH VITAL PUBLIC PROJECTS AS HIGHWAYS, SCHOOLS AND HOSPITALS.

Last Call

Wednesday evening, Feb. 20, will be the last chance for sports fans to watch the Prowler wrestling squad in action this season. The Prowlers, who are boasting a season's record of ten wins and two losses, will meet the Warren Ponies' A and B squads in the Lincoln high school gymnasium.

The 6th annual Region Eight wrestling tournament will be held at the Bemidji high school gymnasium on Saturday, Feb. 23.

Oh yes, there has been an added attraction arranged for Wednesday evening's finale. Coach Al Shaff says that a pair of "pros" will put on an exhibition match, according to television rules, during the intermission between the B and A squad matches. No time limit, and no holds barred!

Just to add a humorous note that came as a post script to the Prowlers vs. Crookston Aggies match at Crookston last week. It's funny now, but it wasn't so funny when it happened. Following the matches the wrestlers took advantage of the opportunity to use the swimming pool at the A. C. Luke Kaushagen dove into the pool, and after trashing around in the water and swallowing several mouthfuls, he shouted for help. Ray Ulrich, an expert swimmer, made the "rescue". Said Luke, after being emptied of the water he swallowed, "That's funny, I could swim last summer."

Will Make a Serious Bid

That the Grand Forks Central Redskins intend to make a serious bid for the North Dakota state high school basketball title this season can be judged by the fact that on Friday night head coach Marv Skaar made a trip to Rugby to scout the Williston Cowboys vs. Rugby Panthers game. And assistant coach Joe Ford travelled to Jamestown to watch the Jimmies in action. The two coaches were not too distrubed by the play of these highly-rated western North Dakota teams. The Williston team, which during mid-season was considered the strongest in the west, has run into some crippling injuries and appears on the downgrade.

The defending state champion Rugby team has Paul Presthus in the lineup, and if he gets some assistance from his youthful teammates, the Panthers may be a threat.

The Grand Forks club looked very impressive here Saturday night as they rolled over a luckless Prowler team, 71 to 43. The Redskins received a strong game from six-foot six-inch Dave Lee, and coach Skaar said that Saturday night's game was the best that the big center had turned in this season.

In Good Position

The senior hockey Thieves, in spite of having a short-handed and crippled roster, are in a strong position to win the Northwest Hockey league title. Sunday afternoon, at Crookston, the Crookston Pirates defeated the Grand Forks Warriors, 6 to 4, and that win boosted the Irates into a tie with the Thieves for first place in the league standings, with each team having twelve points.

But the Pirates have played one more game than the Thieves, and have but one game remaining on the schedule. The Thieves, meanwhile, have two games to play, one with Roseau, which will be played tonight, Monday, and the other, a game at Grand Forks next Sunday.

At present, the Thieves have a six wins and four losses record, while the Pirates have a six wins and five losses mark. If the Thieves win tonight's game, the locals will be assured of a tie for the league title, and if they win next Sunday's game, the Thieves will win the championship. The title is worth plenty this season as the league champion will be seeded into the senior A tourney to be played at Coleraine on March 2 and 3.

Schedule, Thursday, Feb. 21:

7:00 P.M. draw:
Edith Nabben vs. May Jahr
Bonnie Tunberg vs. Fern Liden
Betty Liden vs. Helen Olson
9:00 P.M. draw:
Alice Liden vs. Lois Amundgaard
Clara Mae Swanson vs. Margaret Ose

In last week's feature match the Bonnie Tunberg rink defeated the Clara Mae Swanson rink, handing the latter foursome its first defeat of the season. And the Alice Liden rink scored a victory over the highly-regarded May Jahr rink. The win by the Tunberg rink, and the losses by the Swanson and Jahr rinks, moved the Tunberg team into first place in the league standings.

This week's schedule will find the league-leading Tunberg rink meeting the Fern Liden rink on the 7:00 p.m. draw on Thursday. The Clara Mae Swanson rink, with only one loss on its record, will meet the Margaret Ose rink on the 9:00 p.m. draw.

The May Jahr rink, just one game off the league-leading pace of the Tunbergs, will play the fourth place Edith Nabben rink on the 7:00 p. m. draw.

Snow Lack Retards State Moose Tally

Area West and North of Red Lake Not Counted

The yearly winter tally of Minnesota's moose herd is being delayed for lack of snow in one of the primary moose ranges.

The department of conservation, game and fish division, reports that the annual aerial census is complete in the Superior national forest in northeastern Minnesota, but that lack of snow in the other primary range north and west of Red Lake has prevented counts being taken there.

Snow cover is needed so that observers in aircraft can see the moose which show up black against the white background. Census crews will fly sample plots in the Red Lake area as soon as there is sufficient snow on the ground so that the animals can be seen.

Aerial counts have been taken most years since 1959 with continued increases being noted in the state's moose population.

Subzero Cold Is Hard on Pheasants

Conservaton Dept. Tells of Survey During January

Persistent below zero temperatures during January were not very popular with Minnesota pheasants, according to a report just released by department of conservation research biologist Maynard Nelson.

However, food is not the problem, judging from field checks by biologists of the Madelia research center. "In fact," says Nelson, "we can't even get them to use corn that we have put out in roosting areas where we want to trap and band birds. There is plenty of waste corn and weed seed available since the wind has done a good job of preventing snow from piling up in the fields."

The real problem is a scarcity of good cover, he said. The burning of dry marshes and swales last fall hasn't helped matters any. Small thickets and open woodlots which provided attractive cover last fall have now filled with blowing snow. Fortunately, said Nelson, most flocks have abandoned such skimpy cover and have found shelter in large sloughs and dense farm groves, especially those with evergreens.

However, some pheasants are reluctant to abandon familiar territory when danger threatens. During such times nature acts swiftly and birds which are slow to adapt to changes in the environment are culled from the flocks. This was the fate of half of the 24 dead pheasants found recently by biologists doing survival checks in Fraser Township near Fairmont.

Birds which had died of exposure were picked up at scattered locations in small thickets, open groves and even in corn stubble where several birds appeared to have succumbed while feeding.

Minn. H.S. Hockey Tournament Slate Is Now Complete

International Falls Tips Hibbing to Win Berth in Event Opening Thursday

The slate of teams to compete in the eight-team state high school hockey tournament in St. Paul this week was completed on Saturday night when, in the finals of the Region Seven tourney, coach Larry Ross' International Falls Broncos, the defending state champions, edged out the Hibbing Bluejackets, 5 to 3.

The tournament will begin on Thursday, Feb. 21, with the opening game being scheduled for 1:30 p. m., and in this tilt the Roseau Rams of Region Eight will play Richfield of Region Six. At 3:00 p. m., coach Bob Johnson's Minneapolis Roosevelt team of Region Five will meet coach Rube Gustafson's St. Paul Johnson team, the Region One representative. The Thursday evening session will find the Warroad Warriors, representing Region Three, meeting the St. Paul Murray team at 7:30 p. m. And at 9:00 p. m., the Alexander Ramsay team of Region Two will meet the Region Seven and defending state champion International Falls.

The semi-finals are scheduled for Friday night, with the consolation, runner-up, and championship finals billed for Saturday night.

KTRF, with Maynard Troland on the play-by-play and Don Olson doing the "color", will carry the games in which the Roseau Rams and Warroad Warriors compete, and will broadcast the championship finals game.

Roseau, Warroad to Play in State Hockey Tourney

The Roseau Rams and the Warroad Warriors, winning Region Eight high school hockey tournament semi-finals games on Thursday night, gained berths in the state high school tournament. And in the championship finals on Friday night, coach Oscar Almquist's Roseau team, by a 2 to 0 score, defeated coach Myron Grafstrom's Warroad squad to successfully defend its Region Eight title and will represent Region Eight in the state tourney. The runner-up Warroad club will compete in the state tournament as the Region Three representative. Roseau will meet Richfield at 1:30 p. m. on Thursday, while Warroad will play the powerful St. Paul Murray team at 7:30 p. m. on Thursday.

In the opening game of the Region Eight tourney at Roseau, the Rams, after being held to a scoreless draw in the first period, erupted for four goals in the second period, and added three goals in the third period to register a 7 to 1 win over the Baudette Bears.

Gary Johnson, a transplanted goalie, led the scoring for coach Almquist's Rams, with the right-winger connecting for three tallies. Johnson marked up a goal in the opening minute of the second period, and added a pair of goals in the third period. Dick Thompson's goal, at the 2:49 mark of the second period, was the lone Baudette score of the game, and it tied the score for a brief period.

In the second game of the semi-finals, an inspired band of Warroad Warriors, taking advantage of some unsteady play by the Prowlers, hit the nets for three goals in the first period to take a commanding 3 to 0 lead. Vern Hodgson, on a shot that was partially screened, scored at the 1:57 mark of the opening period, and a couple of minutes later Ted Storey, on an assist from David Foster, flipped in a goal. The Warriors boosted their lead to 3 to 0 at the 10:52 mark when Hodgson, on a backhanded shot, found the net.

The Prowlers, making a desperate bid to keep their state tournament hopes alive, got a "life" early in the second period when Tony Poole, on an unassisted goal, beat goalie Duane Foster at the 2:25 mark. But that goal proved to be the final tally of the game as coach Grafstrom's club, playing cautiously, held off the charging Prowlers in the third and final period and gained a 3 to 1 win.

In the championship finals, Bob Lillo and Larry Skime accounted for the game's only scores as the Rams defeated the Warroad Warriors, 2 to 0. In the consolation game, played following the championship tilt, coach Gene Sack's Prowlers bested the Baudette Bears, 4 to 2. Tony Poole and Elroy Froiland scored in the first period, giving the Prowlers a 2 to 0 lead.

Buzz Olson added a Prowler goal early in the second period, but Baudette, on a tally by Larry Levasseur, pared the Prowler lead to two goals at the 10:10 mark of the period. Don Mathieu again boosted the Prowlers to a three-goal lead by beating goalie Roger Koster at the 11:41 mark.

The game's final goal was scored by the Bears' Dick Thompson early in the third period. The Prowlers, although assessed a pair of penalties in the period, were able to repel the ever-trying Baudette club, and the result was a 4 to 2 for the locals, the first that the Prowlers had scored in three tries against Baudette this season.

At Boss-Employee [illegible]quet

Tunberg, LaFave and Muzzy Given Jaycee Citations

Roger Tunberg, William LaFave and James R. Muzzy were named recipients of major awards at the annual Jaycees Boss-Employee banquet held Wednesday evening in the Veterans of Foreign Wars club rooms in Thief River Falls. John McGinley served as master of ceremonies for the event.

Tunberg was presented with the Outstanding Young Man award, LaFave was named the Outstanding Boss and Muzzy was presented with the Outstanding Young Farmer award. All awards were given by the local Jaycee chapter to outstanding individuals who have devoted time and effort to community service and have shown notable leadership and advancement in their chosen fields.

Guest speaker for the event was Stephen W. Haugen, district director of traffic and sales for North Central Airlines. Haugen traced the history of regional airline service and told of the progress of North Central, the largest regional airline in the nation and the largest short-haul airline in the world.

Haugen also showed a film entitled "Northliner" which depicted the services of airline travel and included hunting and fishing scenes. He noted that North Central began in Wisconsin as Wisconsin Central Airlines and had grown to the point where it now operates 28 DC-3 aircraft and 18 Convair planes. Profits since its beginning have totaled more than $25 million.

Award Presentation

Gene Belto, 1962 recipient of the Outstanding Young Man award, made the presentation to Roger Tunberg and gave a resume of the recipient's community service record. Tunberg has been an officer of the Lions club, director of the local golf club, treasurer of the Northwest Shrine Club, member of the city planning commission, director of the Chamber of Commerce, member of the Elks, VFW and American Legion clubs.

A 1928 graduate of Lincoln high school, Tunberg was active in ath-

Signup for Feed Grain Program Is Now in Progress

Pennington County ASC Office Reports Farmers May Sign up Thru Mar. 22

The signup for the 1963 feed grain program now is under way in the ASCS office in Thief River Falls, Winton Knutson, chairman of the county committee, has announced. The signup period started Feb. 1 and will continue through March 22. As for 1962, the program covers the three major feed grains for corn, grain sorghum, and barley.

In general, the chairman said, provisions follow those for 1961 and 1962 crops by giving feed grain producers an opportunity to participate in the program by reducing acreage at least 20 per cent and devoting them to an approved conserving use. By participating, they will receive diversion payments and price-support payments, and they will be eligible to take part in the price-support loan program.

One important change from programs for previous years Knutson explained, is the price-support payment which participating farmers will receive on the normal production of the acres planted to the feed grains in 1963. The payments have been set at 18 cents per bushel on corn, 16 cents per bushel on grain sorghum, and 14 cents per bushel on barley. Unlike the regular price-support loan, the rates for the price-support payments will be the same throughout the country; they will not vary by by counties.

Also, this year, the price-support loans or purchase agreements will be available to program participants on the entire crop produced on the 1963 feed grain acreage; in 1962, the loan was restricted to the normal production of such acreage.

From now on, the chairman stated, county office personnel will be increasingly busy explaining the program to farmers and helping them fill out the necessary forms indicating their "intention to participate" in the 1963 feed grain program. He urges interested growers to visit the office soon, and thus avoid undue delays.

175 Fathers and Sons at Banquet in Trinity Church

The annual Fathers and Sons dinner held Tuesday evening in Trinity church under the sponsorship of the Men's Brotherhood was attended by 175 men and boys. Maynard Troland, sports announcer at Radio Station KTRF, served as toastmaster.

Guest speaker was Rev. Douglas Augustine, former St. Hilaire pastor, now serving as a missionary to Tanganyika, East Africa, who also showed slides of African scenes. Fred Sorenson extended greetings in behalf of the fathers, and the response was made by his son, Fred. Bryant Ulseth led group singing, and Rev. Reuben Wangberg offered the invocation.

Prizes were awarded to Hjalmer Peterson for being accompanied by the oldest son, and Philip Knys, for the youngest, while Don M. Olson, father of seven, received a prize for having the most children.

Schools, Offices to Close Friday

The local schools and public offices, including the postoffice, will remain closed Friday, February 22, in observance of the birthday of George Washington. Business places, however, will be open as usual.

Also remaining closed all day Friday will be the Carnegie public library, Miss Frances Shanahan, librarian, announced.

Christmas Seal Drive in County Totals $2,616

Pennington county's Christmas seal campaign now stands at 93 per cent of the amount collected in the 1961 campaign, according to statistics received from the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association. Collections for 1962 total $2,616 while $2,815 was collected in 1961.

Within the northwest region, Hubbard, Lake of the Woods, Marshall and Roseau counties have surpassed their 1961 totals. Marshall county contributions in 1962 total $3,257 for 102 per cent while Roseau county totals $2,321 for 104 per cent. Minnesota's total has surpassed the 1961 total of $740,936 to currently stand at 103 per cent with $764,657.

Lincoln PTA and Citizens Group To Meet Monday

Lincoln high school Parent and Teacher association will meet at 8 p. m. Monday in the school cafeteria for a short business meeting. The meeting will be adjourned to permit members to attend the Citizens Committee on Education meeting for canvassers at 8:30 p. m. in the school auditorium.

The Citizens Committee meeting will include a review of the issues at stake in the forthcoming school bond election and discussion in detail of the facts disclosed by the committee. City and rural canvassers are all urged to be present at the meeting.

Lunch will be served by mothers of ninth grade students.

Voting Hours for School Election Start at 3 p.m.

At a special meeting of the Thief River Falls board of education Tuesday afternoon, voting hours were changed for the special school bond election to be held Tuesday, March 5. Polls will be open from 3 p. m. to 9 p. m. on that day rather than 4:30 to 9 p.m. as originally set. School will be dismissed at 3 p. m. to avoid confusion during the election hours.

Curfew Law Is Reviewed Under City Ordinance

Youngsters Under 16 Must Be Off Streets by 10 o'clock Each Night

Curfew violations in Thief River Falls have increased during the current school year, according to the Thief River Falls police department, and the department has requested the Times to inform the public of regulations under the city loitering ordinance.

The ordinance states it is unlawful for any minor under the age of 17 years to "loiter, idle, wander, stroll or play in or upon the public streets, highways, roads, alleys, parks, playgrounds or other public grounds, public places and public buildings, places of amusement and entertainment or vacant lots" after 10 p. m.

Exceptions to the ordinance include situations when the minor is accompanied by parent, guardian or other adult having custody of the minor or where the minor is upon an emergency errand or legitimate business directed by guardian or adult charged with his custody. The ordinance is automatically waived by the Mayor for Friday evenings when group youth activities such as teenage dances are being held.

Parental responsibility is also covered under the law which makes it unlawful to permit minors to loiter as outlined above. The ordinance is in effect all year with minor modifications being made during periods of daylight saving time.

Smoking in public places by minors under 18 years of age is prohibited by state law, the police department also noted, as is the sale of cigarettes or tobacco to minors.

Burglars Enter 2 Newfolden Places

Take $400 Cash and Checks at Co-op Oil Station

Two burglaries, one semingly an amateur job and the other a professional, were reported in Newfolden last weekend by Sheriff Oscar Erickson of Marshall county.

Early Sunday morning entry was made into Gordon Elseth's Fairway store. The till was opened and silver in it was taken. Merchandise taken included several types of .22 shells, 30-30 shells, pipe wrench, several pocket watches, Timex wrist watches and possibly several caps. Entry was made by breaking into the rear door of the store.

Early Monday morning a more professional burglary job was reported at the Coop Oil Station when entry was made through breaking into the west door. The dial was knocked off the safe and the safe punched open. About $300 in cash and $100 in checks was taken.

County ARA Group Names Committees

Cy Carpenter Heads Board of Directors for Local Association

Newly organized Pennington County Area Development association met February 15 to appoint standing committees and consider other business brought before the board of directors. Primary purpose of this association is to develop and effectively coordinate the natural, human and economic resources of Pennington county and also develop, coordinate and expand trade areas of its communities.

Serving as temporary officers of the board are Cy Carpenter, president; Jon Metusalem, vice president, and Mrs. Silas Hanson, recording secretary - treasurer.

Other directors include Harold South, Goodridge; Stanley Radniecki, Oklee; Mrs. Orlando Chervestad, Oklee; Carl R. Anderson, Red Lake Falls; Maurice Steiger, Red Lake Falls; Philip Bergland, Rev. Marvin Carlson and Larry Rullen, city.

Requests for information on processing of agricultural products, affairs relating to transportation services and recreational development have already been extended to the group. Directors have acted on these by appointing three special study committees who will remeeting. Standing committees have been confirmed representing civic, church, farm, business and other interested groups.

The public is encouraged to attend when committee members meet with the board of directors on February 28 at 7:30 p. m. This meeting will be held at Thief River Falls in the courthouse meeting room. Ken Egertson, extension specialist in marketing, will be on hand to discuss the subject of Rural Areas Development and generate ideas on special projects.

All residents of Pennington county and vicinity, who are 21 years of age or older and interested in promoting any type of community progress, are invited to become members. The membership fee is $1; however, individuals or business firms so desiring may become sustaining members upon payment of a $10 membership fee.

RAD will work closely with USDA agencies and others to formulate and carry out a program of sustained economic development. Such a program calls for a concerted effort by all groups, agencies, organizations and individuals and, in the final analysis, community or area improvement must stand or fall on the enterprise, imagination and drive of local people, the directors report.

Elks Fathers and Daughters Dinner Entertained 265

The third annual Elks Fathers and Daughters banquet, held Tuesday evening in the lodge rooms, attracted the attendance of 265 men and girls, setting a new high mark for attendance.

Edwin Broughton, exalted ruler, presided over the program, which included greetings by J. J. Womack in behalf of the fathers, and response by Nona Pukari. Lincoln high school senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Pukari.

Games and the showing of movies followed the dinner.

Washington's Birthday

Merchants Will Hold 1-Day Sale

Thief River Falls merchants are up to their ears in chips as they whack away at prices for the George Washington's Sale — a one-day sales promotion sponsored by the retail trade committee of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce Friday, February 22, is the big day.

Today's edition of the Times contains advertising from participating merchants who have adopted George Washington's cherry tree whittling tactics and chopped dollars off the prices of quality merchandise. Discriminating shoppers are sure to find extensive bargains by shopping the advertising columns of this issue and local stores on Friday.

Morris Goddard and Richard Bjorkman are co-chairmen of the promotion and stated that local merchants can't afford more than one day of such drastically reduced prices. Be sure to shop in Thief River Falls Friday during the George Washington's Birthday Sale. It's your chance to buy 1963 merchandise at prices popular in the 1700's.

FIRE of unknown origin swept through the St. Hilaire liquor store early this morning, causing a total loss to building and most of the contents. Firemen from St. Hilaire, Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls battled the blaze as the temperature stood at —26 degrees. Amount of the loss has not been determined at the time of this writing. At latest report it is believed that some of the liquor stock and booths in the lounge addition can be salvaged although smoke and water damage is considerable to the booths.

Plummer, St. Hilaire Liquor Stores Burned

SMOKE billowed skyward from the municipal liquor store at Plummer Wednesday morning as fire of unknown origin leveled the structure. A strong west wind whipped the flames away from the adjoining Plummer Cafe as firemen from Oklee, Plummer, Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls could only hope to contain the fire to the store.

Fires Wednesday And This Morning Destroy Stores

Fire destroyed municipal liquor stores at Plummer and St. Hilaire in two early morning blazes Wednesday and today. Fire at the Plummer store was first noted about 9:30 a. m. Wednesday and the fire at the St. Hilaire building was noticed about 7:30 a. m. today. Damage estimates are not available but both buildings were totally destroyed, much of the furnishings and most of the liquor stock was lost.

Pony Toulouse, manager of the Plummer establishment, first noticed the fire at about 9:30 a. m. Wednesday, shortly after he opened the store for the day. The fire apparently started in a wall between the store and warehouse toward the west side of the building.

Toulouse turned in the fire alarm by racing to the fire hall after calling the fire number which failed to bring a response. Fire departments from Thief River Falls, Oklee and Red Lake Falls were called upon to assist the two Plummer fire trucks in fighting the flames.

West winds at about 30 miles per hour whipped the flames into a frenzy but were actually a boon to firemen as they helped prevent the spreading of fire to buildings adjoining the store on the west. Had the wind been of the same velocity from the east, it is likely that the entire block would have been destroyed.

When the fire was first discover-

Council Approves Master Plans for Municipal Airport

Approval to master plans for the Thief River Falls municipal airport was given by the city council at the regular sesion held Tuesday evening at the council rooms. The plans will now be submitted to the Minnesota Department of Aeronautics for further approval.

City fathers also issued calls for bids on aviation gasoline for the airport and proposed remodeling and improvements at the municipal liquor store. Bids on both proposals will be opened at a special meeting of the council called for March 12 at 7:30 p. m.

With nearly three hours devoted to discussion of the merits of various equipment and alternates, the council also purchased a 2½-ton truck and a hoist, box and one-way snowplow for the city street department. Successful bidder on the truck was Northern Chevrolet of Thief River Falls with a bid of $3,295. Awarded the contract for hoist, box and snowplow was Bert's Truck Equipment company of East Grand Forks with a bid of $2,125.

Union and Northern State Banks were named official depositories of city funds and the Times was named the official newspaper for

Jungs Bakery Is Bought by Fergus Falls Bakery Firm

Walter Jung, who with his brother, C. Herbert Jung established Jungs Bakery in Thief River Falls in 1915, today announced the sale of the 48-year-old business establishment to the Park Region Bakery of Fergus Falls. The transfer will be effective Friday, February 22.

Jung stated that the new owners will maintain a depot in this city from which products of the large Fergus Falls plant will be distributed in this area. In addition to the 27 trucks now operated by the company, the four present Jungs Bakery trucks and their drivers will be retained. The Big Ben brand of bread established by Jungs will also be continued, Jung said.

The building now occupied by Jungs Bakery will be razed, and will be part of the site for the new J. C. Penney store to be erected this year.

Walter Jung, who has reached retirement age, stated that he will continue to make his home in Thief River Falls. He is a former president of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Minnesota State Elks association, as well as a past exalted ruler of the local Elks lodge and district deputy.

C. Herb Jung retired last fall, and is now living in California, where his sons are in business.

BPW Club Hears Talk on Public Relations Theme

The Business and Professional Women's club met Tuesday evening at the Rex Cafe for their regular dinner meeting. Sixteen members were present; two new members, Gloria Bugge and Ardis Tilberg were unable to attend. Guest speaker was Louise Anderson, who was accompanied by Susan Anderson, both of the cosmetology department of the local area vocational school. Other guests were Kathryn Gerlid of Minneapolis and Kathryn Laidlaw.

The educational portion of the program, on the February theme, "Personal Development and Public Relations", was effectively presented by Louise Anderson. She stressed the idea that everyone residing in a town can "sell" the town to outsiders through personality and a show of good will.

Clarice Collins, president, reported on the January board meeting held in Minneapolis, on February 2?, which she attended as a representative of the Thief River Falls club.

Initial plans were formulated for the spring district meeting to be held at the Rex Cafe on March 31, at which the local club will host the clubs from Bemidji, Walker, and Crookston.

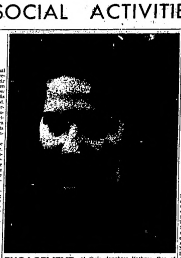
The March meeting will be held March 19, with Ruth Wilson as chairman. The topic will be "World Affairs."

Mrs. Gary Dargon given Post-Nuptial Shower

A miscellaneous shower was held February 17 at the Andrew Kisch home, in honor of Mrs. Gary Dargon (nee Jeanette Jones) who was a bride of December 15. Hostesses were Mrs. Kisch, Mrs. O. W. Johnson, and Mrs. Vernon Kees.

Each guest presented the bride with recipes and household hints, in addition to a gift. A social afternoon was enjoyed, followed by a tray lunch.

In addition to the guest of honor, those in attendance were Mmes. Sally Thoreson, O. E. Taxerans, Archie Anderson, Rayton Dargon of St. Hilaire, Mrs. Charles Jones, Miss LaVerne Kees, Mrs. Kisch, Mrs. Johnson, and Mrs. Kees. Joining the group later in the afternoon were Charles Jones, Archie Anderson, O. W. Johnson, and Vernon Kees. Those who sent their gifts because they were unable to be in attendance, were Mmes. Art Stordahl, Melvin Molden, and Myrtle Olson of this city, and John Ranum of St. Hilaire.



ENGAGEMENT of their daughter Kathryn Eva of Baltimore, Md. to Paul Williams, also of Baltimore, is annouced by Miss Sinding's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Sinding of this city.

Miss Sinding is a graduate of Lincoln high school and attended the area vocational school of this city. She is employed at Raymond's Beauty Salon in Baltimore. Her fiance, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, is an employee of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, where he is a revenue analyist.

Their wedding has been set for August 24.

Lions View Movie on Sales Tax Plan

Proposed Law Outlined to Club by Roland Larson

Benefits in the way of increased job opportunities that would accrue to Minnesota citizens thru the enactment of a state replacement sales tax were discussed by Roland Larson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, at the Wednesday luncheon meeting of the Lions club.

Introduced by Roger Tunberg, program chairman, Larson also presented a motion picutre depicting the advantages of a sales tax, enactment of which has been endorsed by the Minnesota Farm Bureau and the Minnesota Taxpayers association.

James Parkins, general chairman of the Lions midwinter district conference held in this city last week-end, thanked all committees for their efficient work, and said that the visitors had been free in their praises of the hospitality extended to them. He added that the attendance exceeded that of any previous conference.

Roger Tunberg urged club members to join in the good-will caravan to the Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston, departing at Noon today from the Chamber of Commerce office.

Ada Holstein Cow Gets Top Price at RRV Shows Sale

Paul Visser and Son, Ada, consigned the top-priced animals in the dairy cattle sale at the Red River Valley Winter Shows Tuesday. They were a Holstein cow which sold for $425 to William Lohmeyer, Elbow Lake, and a Holstein bull which sold for $280 to Chisholm Bros., Gary.

This was $20 less than last year's top-selling cow and $120 less than last year's top-priced bull.

Three Holstein cows averaged $335 — $6 less than last year's average. Four Holstein bulls averaged $195. This was $86 below last year's average. The 7 dairy animals in the open class sale averaged $255, compared with $278 last year.

One Futurity animal was also sold. It was a Holstein consigned by J. R. Muzzy, Thief River Falls, bought by Bennett Osmunson, Gully, for $155.

A total of 8 diary animals in the sale brought $1940 — for an average of $242.

NO PAYMENTS DUE UNTIL APRIL ON CHARGE PURCHASES MADE AFTER FEBRUARY 20

Marshall Polio Clinics Will Be Held on Sunday

Type II Sabin Vaccine To Be Offered at Nine Locations in County

Type II Sabin oral polio vaccine will be given at nine Marshall county community clinics to be held Sunday, according to Carlyne M. Raymond, Marshall county public health nurse. Type III of the vaccine will be administered on March 31.

Type II vaccine may be received whether or not persons have previously had Type I vaccine, Miss Raymond said. A charge of 25 cents per person will be made at the clinic but no one will be refused if they are unable to pay. Minimum age of people to which the vaccine may be given is six weeks and there is no maximum age.

While vaccination with Salk vaccine is effective in polio prevention, it will not prevent persons harboring polio germs in their body from being a carrier of the disease. The Sabin oral vaccine now being offered at the clinics will prevent persons from carrying the disease and transmitting it ot other people.

Places and times of the clinics on Sunday are as follows:

Alvarado school, 11 a. m. to 4 p. m.; Argyle school, 10 a. m. to 2 p. m.; Grygla school, 10:30 a. m. to 4 p. m.; Newfolden school, noon to 5 p. m.; Middle River school, 10:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Oslo school, noon to 3 p. m.; Stephen Legion hall, 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Strandquist school, 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.; and Warren high school, 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Tunberg, LaFave, Muzzy Honored by TRF Jaycees

letics and a co-captain of the basketball team. He attended St. Olaf college and the University of North Dakota and served for your years in the U. S. Air Force. He was chairman of the 1962 Jaycees Aquacade, a member of Trinity Lutheran church, past president of the Pennington County Auto Dealer's association and is active in the management of Tunberg Motors.

Outstanding Boss

J. J. Womack, 1962 Outstanding Boss, presented William LaFave with the 1963 award. LaFave is a native of Thief River Falls, was employed in a creamery here until named manager of the Bridgeman plant when the creamery was purchased from that firm.

He served two years as president of the Chamber of Commerce, is a past president and past district deputy governor of Lions, member of the recreation board, chairman of the roads committee, active in church activities, member of the city police commission and a promoter of wrestling, hockey and the community in general.

LaFave served on the hospital board at the time of merger and was an officer of that board. He was one of the organizers and is still serving as president of Jobs, Inc., and is a director of Union State Bank.

Young Farmer Award

Richard "Bud" Evans presented the Outstanding Young Farmer award to James Muzzy, as chairman of the Jaycee Young Farmer award committee. Muzzy farms 280 acres and has a herd of 62 registered Holstein cattle. His 25-cow milking herd was recently classified by the Holstein-Friesian association and two of the cattle ranked among the top animals in the state.

In addition to having his herd classified for type, Muzzy is a member of the Dairy Herd Improvement association and last year had a herd average of 450 pounds of butterfat with his top cow producing 755 pounds of fat. He purchased his farm from his father in 1956, is a Grade A milk producer and has shown cattle at numerous county fairs and large exhibitions in this area as well as the Red River Exhibition in Winnipeg and the International Dairy Cattle Congress in Waterloo, Ia.

Muzzy is a member of the Board of Managers for the Red River Valley Winter Shows, state director of the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee and Region I MDIC chairman, president of the Red River Valley Holstein club, member of the Thief River Falls Sportsman's club, member of the Pennington County Fair association and a past board member of Community Methodist church.

Warren McIntosh, Jaycee president, gave the welcome to open the meeting and musical entertainment was provided by Jerry Jorlngdal at the piano. Ninety persons were in attendance at the banquet.

RISING above the smoke like a building above the fog, the Plummer water tower provided water for fighting the Plummer liquor store fire Wednesday morning. The 60x100 building was completely leveled but a strong west wind aided firemen in preventing the flames from spreading to other buildings to the west. The thermometer read —19 degrees at the time of the fire and the heavy smoke obscured part of the village.

FLAMES gnawed tenaciously at the Plummer liquor store Wednesday morning although firemen poured water on the blaze from a number of hoses. Liquor bottles exploded and contributed their contents to the intense heat of the blaze. About half of the $10,000 inventory of the store was believed lost due to fire or breakage when removed from the building.

Elmer C. Johnson Construction company of Warren was granted a moving permit to move a grain storage elevator from a site south of Lincoln high school on the Great Northern tracks to the present site of the Farmers Co-Op Grain & Seed association on the north edge of the city. The 32x38 elevator will be moved down main street so that power lines will have to be moved in only one location on the route. It is expected that the job will require several hours of actual moving time.

Neil McKechnie was granted a building permit in the amount of $8,300 for the purpose of improving the Texaco service station located at Main av. N. and Sixth street. Swedberg Construction company's request for a building permit to remodel and extend the former Montgomery Ward building on Main av. N. and Third street was tabled pending more complete plans by the contractor to see if the construction conforms to the city's building code for the commercial area.

A number of items on the agenda were carried over to the adjourned meeting which was set for Tuesday, February 26, at 7:30 p.m.

Pioneer FU Local To Meet Thursday, Feb. 28

Pioneer local of the Norden Farmers Union will meet Thursday, February 28, at the Harold Langnas home with the meeting to begin at 8 p. m. Mrs. Langnas will serve lunch following the meeting.

John Deere Day Wil Be Held in TRF On Tuesday

Amundgaard Implement To Sponsor Movies and Free Lunch to Farmers

Farmers from throughout the area will participate in John Deere Day activities Tuesday, February 26, with a free lunch to be served at noon to all farm families. Showing of special movies will be held at the Falls Theater at 10:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. with the free lunch to be served at the display room of Amundgaard Implement company, sponsor of the event.

This year's presentation has been described by the host firm as one of the most entertaining John Deere Day programs ever offered here. The day is to be devoted entirely to farmers, their wives and children, as an attempt to acknowledge the great contribution of the farmer to the American enterprise.

Included in the film presentation will be movies on new farm equipment shown in actual working conditions, new advances of chemistry in farming, new work methods and recent innovations which keep agriculture in pace with world progress. Other entertainment films star Charlie Weaver, Andy Devine, Allen Jenkins, Donna Douglas and "Titus Moody" of "Fibber McGee and Molly" fame.

Admission to the program is free and no tickets are required. Every farmer in the vicinity is welcome and an invitation is extended to all farmers, no matter what type of equipment they prefer. Farmers are also invited to bring along anyone interested in agricultural progress.

REAR VIEW of the St. Hilaire Liquor store fire is shown in this Times photo taken about 8:30 a.m. today. Smoke rolled from the building in a heavy gray cloud which obscured vision on highway 32 as it rolled eastward. With firemen from St. Hilaire, Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls fighting the flames, the fire was under control about 9:30 a.m.—approximately two hours after it was first noticed.

Fires Destroy St. Hilaire and Plummer Stores

ed, several men attempted to extinguish it with chemical extinguishers and a bucket brigade from the store's water tap. Apparently the fire had too much headway, however, and the entire 60x100 building and warehouse was destroyed. About half the liquor stock was carried from the building before smoke became too thick to permit entry into the building and remaining bottles popped intermittently during the fire.

Toulouse said the store normally carried about $10,000 in liquor stock and a new heating plant costing $3,900 had recently been installed. While the cause of the fire was unknown, it was believed to have been started by defective wiring.

Creating speculation that the fires could have been started by an arsonist, the St. Hilare blaze broke out early this morning. Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls firemen were called upon to assist the St. Hilaire department in fighting the blaze which was under control by about 9:30 a. m.

In this particular case, the lack of wind was a contributing factor to saving adjoining property. Temperature this morning was —26 degrees and the extreme cold made fire fighting an especially unpleasant task. None of the liquor stock was removed before firemen extinguished the flames but at least some of it was believed salvageable at latest report.

Booths in the lounge addition to the store were said to be almost untouched by the fire but suffered considerable water and smoke damage. Cause of the fire has not been definitely determined but it is believed that the fire could have been caused by the heating plant. The fire apparently began in the heating plant area of the building.

The speculation of arson stemmed from two fires in liquor stores in the same area on successive mornings. An investigation is being conducted by the state deputy fire marshal stationed in Thief River Falls.

Solicitation for Heart Fund to Be Made here Sunday

The 1963 Heart Fund drive will reach a peak next Sunday when local Heart Sunday volunteers will ring doorbells at virtually every home in Thief River Falls to collect contributions.

Chairman of Heart Sunday is Mrs. Robert J. Looker. She said an attempt will be made to give all persons in the community the opportunity to contribute personally to the fight against heart disease.

Heart Sunday headquarters will be located in the Elks Lodge rooms from 2 to 5 p. m. Coffee and cookies will be served.

4-H Crops Winners at Shows Listed

Teddy Haugen, St. Hilaire, Is Awarded Blue Ribbon

Exhibitors from Clay, West Polk, and Lake of the Woods counties won sweepstakes honors in the 4-H crops show at the Red River Valley Winter Shows.

Sweepstakes winners were: Potatoes, Desta Carlson, Williams; corn, Charles Brendemuhl, Moorhead; and small grain, Mark Vanyo, Warren. The winning varieties were: Norland potatoes, Dakota durum wheat, and hybrid corn.

Reserve sweepstakes honors went to Wayne Thureson, Baudette with his Russet potatoes; Harold Peterson, Drayton, Creamette peas; and Wesley Turner, Glyndon, corn.

Blue ribbon winners included: Potatoes: Donald Strickler, Euclid; and grain: Teddy Haugen, St. Hilaire.

The Red River Valley Development association provided premiums and ribbons for the winners; also, bronze plaques to the Sweepstakes winners.

Science Program Will Be Offered To LHS Students

Students at Lincoln high school will witness a scientific program on liquid air on Tuesday at 2 p. m. when DeForrest appears under the auspices of the University of Minnesota Program Service, a division of the Department of Concerts and Lectures.

Liquid air exists in the normal atmosphere at 312 degrees below zero and boils at such a low temperature that if it is placed in a teakettle and set on a cake of ice it will cause the kettle to sing merrily. DeForrest has traveled around the world demonstrating the scientific significance of liquid air.

Don Schirrick Is Winner in Silage Division at Shows

Other first place winners in the silage competition were: Grass and alfalfa silage, Don Schirrick, Red Lake Falls; other silage — Godfrey Johnson, Hawley.

Adventist Welfare Center Open Monday

The welfare center of the Seventh-day Adventist Church will be open from 9 a. m. until noon on Monday, February 25 to distribute clothing to those in need.

The center is open each second and fourth Monday of each month with the exception of the summer months when it is open once each month. It is located above the Thief River Clinic at 109 LaBree av. S.

Wisconsin Youth Kills 5 in Family

Kills Parents and Three Brothers and Sisters

A Green Bay, Wisc., high school youth, whose broodings over his place in the family circle exploded into a burst of gunfire, has told authorities how he shot and killed his father and stepmother and her three children.

Harry Hebard, 16, described by his minister as "a good, quiet boy who was real active in the church," apparently had planned the slayings for some time, according to Dist. Atty. Robert Warren.

The boy was scheduled for arraignment today on first-degree murder charges. Warren said he will seek a psychiatric examination for him.

Harry, a high school junior, surrendered meekly Tuesday about six hours after the bodies were found in the family home.

Killed by shots from an automatic pistol and rifle were the boy's stepmother, Joyce, 35; her three children by a previous marriage, John Rudell, 15, and Judy and Janice, 11-year-old twins; and Harry's thrice - married father, Jack Hebard, 38, a part-time automobile thrill driver and stunt man.

The boy told the district attorney he "had a general feeling of being left out of the family circle." He declined to see his minister, the Rev. David Thompson, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, and son of Rev. and Mrs. G. S. Thompson, formerly of Thief River Falls.

The Rev. Mr. Thompson said he was "aware of trouble" involving the boy and his family. A spokesman at the high school Harry attended said he had always been moody.

States-Dominion Bonspiel to Open Here Friday Noon

The seventh annual States-Dominion bonspiel will begin competition at 12:00 o'clock noon on Friday, Feb. 22. On the opening draw of the bonspiel, which has attracted thirty-two rinks, the Al Cera rink of Winnipeg will meet the defending champion Ardell Liden rink of the local club; the Charles Woods rink of Winnipeg will meet the Roger Nygaard rink; the Hal Haluptrok of Bemidji will meet the Wally Tunberg rink; and the Frank Cancilla of Winnipeg will meet the Leo Nelson rink.

The local entries in the thirty-two rink field were limited to ten rinks, with the out-of-town contingent being boosted to twenty-two rinks. The majority of these out-of-town rinks are from the Winnipeg area, and included in this group are several rinks that participated in the recent Manitoba bonspiel. The Frank Cancilla rink was a major trophy winner in the Manitoba 'spiel, winning the New York Life event.

An innovation in this season's States-Dominion bonspiel is the sponsoring of the three major events by the L. B. Hartz Wholesale, Bridgeman's, and the Border Drugs. The L. B. Hartz trophy will represent the first event; the Bridgeman's trophy, the second event; and the Border Drugs trophy, the third event.

Draws will be held on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday at the Fair Grounds curling arena. The event finals are scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

Goodridge Edges Plummer 44 to 42

Toupin, Saurdiff and Dave Parnow Top Scorers

The Goodridge Huskies edged out the Plummer Cardinals, 44 to 42, in a closely-contested basketball game played on the Plummer court on Friday night.

Goodridge held a 10 to 9 lead at the end of the first period, and a 23 to 21 lead at the intermission. Plummer pared that lead to one point, 35 to 34, at the end of the third period; and with less than a minute to play, the score was knotted at 42-all. The Huskies notched a field goal to take the lead, and gaining control of the ball managed to stall out the final seconds of play.

Plummer's Greg Toupin was the game's high-point player with 13 points. Dave Parnow and Dick Saurdiff, with 11 points apiece, led the Husky scorers.

88,600 Northern Pike Are Rescued in Roseau County

Some 88,600 northern pike weighing 58,845 pounds were rescued this winter in the Roseau River wildlife management area. The department of conservation game and fish division said the fish, which were saved from freezing out in shallow water areas, were moved to deeper lakes in nine counties by truck.

Lake Bronson in Kittson county was one of the lakes receiving fish under the project.

Newfolden Quint Ends Its Schedule

To Enter Sub-district Tourney Next Tuesday

The Newfolden Nordics closed their last week of the regular basketball season by breaking even with two Border Conference teams to end up in a three-way tie with Middle River and Warroad for second place. Greenbush won first place. In a draw for placings in the Sub-District Tournament, the Nordics were drawn for second place, Middle River for Third, and Warroad for fourth.

This means that the Newfolden Nordics will play Baudette at 7:00 p. m. Tuesday, February 26, at Roseau high school in the second night of the East sub district 32 basketball tournament which is a two-night single round elimination event to determine the four teams to enter the District 32 Tournament which will also be held at Roseau also on March 5, 8 and 9.

The Nordics were defeated by the Greenbush Tigers on Tuesday of the last week. The final score on the scoreboard read 47 to 44, but the final count in the scorer's book was 47 to 42. This was a nip and tuck game all the way with the count see-sawing between the two teams.

In their final game of the season, the Nordics gained revenge for an earlier defeat by the Warroad Warriors, as they downed the Warriors 53 to 39.

Other pairings for the East sub-district 32 tourney find Greenbush playing Williams at 7:00 p. m. on Monday, February 25, with Warroad meeting Roseau in the second game that night. The second game on Tuesday night pits Middle River against Badger.

17,174 Acres of Wildlife Lands Bought Last Year

The Minnesota conservations department's game and fish division acquired 17,174 acres of wildlife lands during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1962.

Of the total, 15,538 acres were located in wetland units which are managed primarily for waterfowl. There were also 1,636 acres acquired in larger wildlife management areas.

Most of the funds for land acquisition were provided by an $100 surcharge on the small game hunting license and from federal aid under the Pittman-Robertson Act.

The various wildlife lands are located in 450 different projects in 76 of Minnesota's 87 counties. Not included in the figures given are the many public access sites to boating, fishing and hunting lakes acquired during the past years.

Access sites are financed under a separate program, it was explained.

HUCK OLSON

Master Angler Certificate

It is agreed that Vern (State Farm) Nelson is an expert angler, and to support this contention there is the fact that a couple of weeks ago Vern caught an 11¼-lb. walleyed pike. This pike, which is undergoing taxidermy, is one of the best taken out of Lake of the Woods this season.

But the recognized angler in the Nelson family, and she has a Manitoba Master Angler's certificate as proof, is Vern's wife Bernice. She is rightly proud of the receipt of this certificate, but it is somewhat embarrassing to Vern.

A Varied Menu

The town will be filled with sports teams and fans this weekend, with basketball, curling, and hockey being the feature attractions.

Coach Jack Junker's Prowler basketball squad will close out its 1962-63 schedule by meeting the Warren Ponies on Friday night and the Halstad Pirates on Saturday night, with both games being played on the Lincoln high school court.

The seventh annual States-Dominion bonspiel will begin on Friday and conclude on Sunday afternoon. The bonspiel, in its seven years, has developed into a first-rate attraction. There were a number of rinks whose entries had to be returned as the thirty-two rink field was quickly filled. It is not too far-fetched to predict that this event can be promoted into a 64-rink bonspiel.

And, of course, the state V. F. W. Bantam hockey tournament will be in action at the Arena rink. These youngsters, thirteen years of age and younger, provide fine hockey entertainment, and they deserve the patronage of the sports-minded fans.

Thieves Six Defeats Roseau Monday 6 to 5

The senior hockey Thieves clinched at least a tie for the Northwest Hockey league title by scoring a come-from-behind win, 6 to 5, over the Roseau Cloverleafs in a game played at Roseau on Monday night. The local sextet can win the league championship by defeating the Grand Forks Warriors in a schedule-ending game that will be played at Grand Forks on Sunday afternoon. The Crookston Pirates, with one game remaining on their schedule, trail the Thieves by two points.

In Monday night's game, the Roseau Cloverleafs, after a scoreless first period, tallied four goals in the second period to take a 4 to 1 lead. The Thieves' tally in the period was scored by playing coach Duane Glass.

In the third period, Dale Wennberg scored a pair of goals to spark the Thieves' rally, and which was capped by Monty Markstrom's winning goal with less than a minute of play remaining. In this final period, in addition to the goals by Wennberg and Markstrom, Paul Bedard and DelRay Offerdahl notched goals for the locals.

For the losers, Jeff Vacura scored a pair of goals, and Jerry Greften, Wayne Hites, and Ken Rygh scored singles.

The summary:

Card of Thanks

Words cannot express how deeply grateful we are to everyone who assisted us during the illness and death of our husband, father and son, Harry Liedberg. A special thanks to Pastor Steen for his visits and comforting words; Mrs. Harold South, the organist; Oscar Quern, the soloist; to the pallbearers; those who helped dig the grave, and to the Green Funeral Home. Also to those who gave memorials and flowers; those who sent food to the home; to the Ladies Aid for serving after the services; and anyone else who helped in any way. Your kindness will always be remembered. God bless you all. Mrs. Harry Liedberg, Rosemary, Jane, Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Liedberg. 1t15c

Card of Thanks

I wish to say a hearty thank you to Dr. Herber and the staff at N.W. Hospital for the wonderful care given me. Special thanks also to Pastor and Mrs. Haakenson for their visits and all who came to see me, sent cards and gifts and helped out at home and cared for the children. God Bless you all. NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Farmers Cooperative Creamery Association, Goodridge, Minnesota will be held on February 22 1963 at 1 P.M. at the gymnasium in Goodridge, Minnesota for the following purposes:

1. To hear the annual report.
2. To elect 3 directors.
3. To transact any other business that may properly come before said meeting.
4. To consider the following resolution.

Resolved further, that the business to be brought before said regular meeting shall be the adoption or rejection of the resolution hereinafter set out for amendment of the By-Laws of the association;

Resolved further, that the board of directors of this association hereby recommends to the membership the adoption of the following resolution for the amendment of the By-Laws of this association:

"Resolved, that a new article be added to the By-Laws of this association, reading as follows:

"ARTICLE VIII

Taxation of Patronage Distribution

"Each person who hereafter applies for and is accepted to membership in this cooperative and each member of this cooperative on the effective date of this by-law who continues as a member after such date shall, by such act alone, consent that the amount of any distributions with respect to his patronage occurring in any fiscal year beginning after December 31, 1962, which are made in written notices of allocation (as defined in 26 U. S. C. 1388, the Internal Revenue Code) and which are received by him from the cooperative, will be taken into account by him at their stated dollar amounts in the manner provided in 26 U. S. C. 1385 in the taxable year in which such written notices of allocation are received by him— it being the intent of this by-law to provide a consent binding on all members who retain or obtain membership in this association after the adoption of this by-law and receipt of a written notification and copy of this by-law, for the purpose of making such distributions 'qualified written notices of allocation' within the meaning of 26 U. S. C. 1388(c)."

Robert McCrum Wins District 4H Speaking Contest

Robert McCrum of the Smiley 4-H club in Pennington county and Robert Blaeser of Mahnomen were named co-champions of the district 4-H radio speaking contest held in connection with the Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston Saturday. Judy Johnson of Oklee and Sylvia Erickson of Badger were co-winners of second place. All are 17 years of age.

First place winners received a $15 cash award and qualified for the state contest to be held March 4 and 5 in St. Paul. In the state contest they will compete with other district winners for a top award and qualify for the state award of $200 and a second place prize of $100. Contest topic was "How Should 4-H Prepare Me for Responsible Citizenship?" Ten entrants took part in the district contest.

Scouts Deliver Fallout Booklet

Thief River Falls Boy Scouts delivered fallout protection manuals to all homes in the city Monday evening, according to Kendall Gustafson, Pennington county civil defense director. All scout troops participated in the campaign as a result of Governor Andersen's request that all citizens have a copy of the booklet in their homes.

State V.F.W. Bantam Hockey Tourney Here

Bantam hockey teams representing eight districts in Minnesota will compete Friday and Saturday for the state Veterans of Foreign Wars hockey championship in the Thief River Falls arena. Thief River Falls, as host for the tourney, will have its Bantam team representing District 5 in the tournament which opens at 8 a. m. Saturday.

Players and coaches will be housed in the city auditorium on cots provided by the Minnesota Department of the VFW and hauled to Thief River Falls free of charge by the Schmidt Brewing company. At 9 p. m. Friday a meeting of coaches and officials will be held at Hotel Pennington to arrange final details for the tournament.

Team trophies will be presented to the first and second place teams, third place team and consolation winner with individual trophies to be presented to members of the first and second place teams.

Presentation of trophies will follow the championship game. Trophies are now on display at Northern State Bank's east display window. Members of the state championship team will also receive jackets from the Department.

A large following of fans for the teams is expected with Rochester fans having reservations for 11 couples at a local hotel and one Minneapolis team planning an eight-car caravan to follow the team bus. No meals are being furnished to the teams during the event and they will be using local restaurant facilities.

Walter "Bud" Longen, St. Paul, assistant Department athletic chairman and chairman of the VFW hockey committee, will be present as well as Department and Ninth District VFW officials. International Falls is the defending state champion.

Pairings for the event are provided in an advertisement elsewhere in today's Times. Games Saturday will be played at 8, 9:30 and 11 a. m. and 1, 2:30, 4, 7 and 8:30 p. m. Consolation round will be played at 11:30 a. m. Sunday with the game for third place to be played at 1 p. m. and the championship slated for 2:30 p. m.

Advance sale of tickets at a price of $1 each to cover all 11 games of the tournament is now in progress. Individual admission at the gate will be 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for students and 10 cents for children under 12 years of age.

Out of nearly $99 billion that consumers spent for food and clothing in 1960, about 35 per cent went to farmers and 65 per cent went for marketing services.

TURN TO PAGE 6 FOR ADDITIONAL SPORTS

Prowler Matmen Enter Regional

The sixth annual Region Eight high school wrestling tournament will be held Saturday, Feb. 23, at the Bemidji high school gymnasium.

Ten schools will compete for the championship title captured last year by the Bemidji Lumberjacks. The top threat for the team title will be the Thief River Falls Prowlers who have matched Bemidji's eleven wins and two losses dual match record, and dropped a one-point decision, 20 to 19, to Bemidji a couple of weeks ago. Also competing in the tourney will be Ada, Crookston, Fertile, Greenbush, Mahnomen, Park Rapids, Warren, and Waubun.

The preliminary matches will begin at 11:00 a. m., with the quarter-finals slated to begin at noon, and the semi-finals at 2:00 p. m. The consolation matches will begin at 7:00 p. m., with the championship matches being slated for 8:00 p. m.

This will be the first time that the regional tourney has been held in Bemidji. In previous years the meet has been held in Park Rapids, for four years, and in Crookston, for one year. Bemidji has won three team titles and shared the team title one year with Mahnomen. Park Rapids was regional champion in 1960.

Six of last season's champions will return for this year's meet. These include Bemidji's Tom Detschman, George Himmelright, Rod Leyendecker, and John Brouillard; Park Rapids' Doug Cheney; and Greenbush's Vince Ames. Two other champions, Gary Binkert of Bemidji and Roger Holmer of Park Rapids have been sidelined by injuries. Detschman and Ames are undefeated in match competition this season. In addition, seven of last season's runners-up will be in action on Saturday.

In addition to Detschman and Ames, other unbeaten wrestlers entering the meet are Bemidji's Leyendecker and Brian Connolly; Greenbush's Larry Gonshorowski and Joe Ismal; and Warren's Allen Schoenack. The most hotly-contested division may be the 95-pound class, where Ismal, Roy Delorme of the Prowlers, Schoenack, Tom Burlingame of Bemidji, and Larry McStotts of Park Rapids will be competing.

Other top-flight wrestlers competing will be Roger Wilson, Joe Taylor and Dwight Myhrer of the Prowlers; Arlen LaBonte and Ralph Christofferson of Park Rapids, Alan Snare and Dick Lorenson of Greenbush; Miles Chapman and Paul Brewer of Crookston; Tom Drews of Warren; and Marvin Gunderson of Ada.

The winners of each weight division will advance to the state tournament at Manakato on March 1-2.

Arena Facilities Meeting

A meeting will be held this evening, Thursday, at the American Legion club room by the recently organized Arena Improvement association. This group held a preliminary meeting a couple of weeks ago, and at that time delegates were named to discuss the Arena problem with the city's service clubs and fraternal groups. The reports from these delegates will be heard this evening.

The meeting tonight, and it is open to all fans interested in bettering the winter sports facilities here, will be under the direction of Tony Dorn, who is the organization's president.

Should be a Highlight

One of the feature games of the opening round of play in the state V. F. W. Bantams hockey tournament that will be played on the Arena ice here on Saturday and Sunday, could be the game slated for 1:00 p. m. on Saturday.

This game will find the Rochester Bantams, coached by former Prowler and Thieves player, Rob Amundson, meeting the local Bantams, coached by Morris (Mouse) Efteland. Rob and Mouse, for a number of years during their respective hockey careers, were teammates. It will be interesting to watch the two coaches as they direct their teams in the tournament.

The Rochester vs. Thief River Falls game at 1:00 p. m. will conclude the opening-round schedule. Other games on the first-round will find the Lucky 'Leven team of Minneapolis meeting the International Falls team at 8:00 a. m.; and 9:30 a. m. the highly-regarded Roseau V. F. W. team will meet the Fred Babcock post team of Minneapolis; and at 11:00 a. m., the Joseph Irvin post of St. Paul will meet the Grand Rapids Bantams.

Class Will Tell

These were the words of one of the members of the T & S Implement team as he looked over the standings of the Service league following Monday night's session of bowling.

This team member, who is the unofficial spokesman for the squad made this comment when he noted that, after Monday night's results are posted, the Implement boys will have a mark of 60 and 28, while the runner-up Farmers Union Oil will have a mark of 58 and 30. The Daleford Farms, according to the T & S, have "had it", and will be fortunate to hold third place, which they now occupy with a 57 and 31 mark.

Safety Chief Asks for Periodic Car Checks

A periodic check-up of motor vehicles would help eliminate a "virus" that is largely responsible for the epidemic of needless traffic accidents on Minnesota roadways, according to Garnet E. Hall, state highway safety director.

"Voluntary vehicle safety checks last year disclosed that at least one out of six vehicles checked was infected by a 'vehicle virus' in at least 10 different areas," Hall said today. "Results showed mechanical defects in brakes, exhaust systems, lighting systems, and made vehicles unsafe for operation."

"The cure was quite simple. Immediate repair or replacement of defective equipment restored the sick vehicles to tip-top condition. Such emergency attention would not have been necessary if the vehicle operators and owners had been truly safety-conscious and seen to it that their vehicles had undergone periodic check-ups by mechanics.

"Such reluctance on the part of vehicle owners to voluntarily take good care of vehicles contributes greatly to the traffic problem. In Minnesota last year, at least 3,000 accidents were caused by mechanical defects, and it is difficult to say just how many other mishaps were charged to other causes when defects were the real underlying factor."

Hall said that vehicle maintenance is becoming increasingly important as the ever-changing traffic picture includes higher speed limits and the need for skilled maneuvering in complex traffic patterns.
